Moose Expect 1500 at North Bay Event

Timmins, Iroquois Falls, Cochrane, Kirkland Lake and Other Northern Towns to Be Represented at Annual Convention

North Bay is busy these days preparing to receive and accommodate 1500 or more delegates from all over Ontario and Northern Quebec at the annual convention of the Loyal Order of Moose to be held at North Bay on August 4th, 5th and 6th. In addition to around 1500 delegates there will be members of the families of the delegates to be accommodated and as North Bay intends to make the occasion a memorable one arrangements are being carefully made to assure a pleasant and successful event.

According to word from North Bay letters have already been received from the following points asking that accommodations be arranged for the delegates: Noranda, Rouyn, Timmins, Cochrane, Kirkland Lake, Iroquois Falls, Ansonville, Kapuskasing, Capreol, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Brockville, Port Hope, Cornwall, Pelee Island, Welland, St. Thomas, Belleville, Sarnia, Lindsay, Brantford, Peterborough, Oshawa, Ottawa, Leamington, St. Catharines, Woodstock, Galt, Hamilton, Wallaceburg, Trenton, London, Picton, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Kingston, Windsor, Kitchener and Stratford.

Meetings were held last week at North Bay to perfect arrangements for the convention. Mr. Maul, the L.O.M. organizer, will remain in North Bay until the convention to assist the North Bay lodge in its plans and arrangements for the convention.

Mines Department to Remain Separate

Hon. Peter Heenan Says Two Northern Departments Too Important to Be Merged, Too Big a Job to Handle Two Departments, He Says

Despatches last week from Sudbury tell of an interview there with Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labour in the Mackenzie King cabinet, and slated for the position of Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ontario Government. Hon. Mr. Heenan showed the proper regard for everybody and everything concerned in his answers to questions and in his general attitude. He answered the questions that should be answered and showed why he should not answer other queries. For instance, when asked if it was definitely decided that he was to be minister of Lands and Forests in the new Hepburn government he gave frank and full reply. He said that it was settled that he should be the Minister of Lands and Forests. On the other hand when he was asked: "Will it be a policy of Hon. Mr. Hepburn and yourself as Minister of Lands and Forests to demand payment immediately of amounts owing by lumbering concerns on timber fees?" his reply was that he could not say. You understand that the policies of the Government will not be decided until after Mr. Hepburn takes office," he said. That is a reasonable attitude and seems to be the one that should prevail under the circumstances.

In reference to his taking over the Dept. of Lands and Forests, Mr. Heenan said that he had just come from Kenora where he had met and consulted his constituents on the matter of joining the Hepburn cabinet. He said that his Liberal and Labour followers were agreeable to his resigning from the Federal House and taking up the provincial work as a member of the cabinet. The Kenora provincial seat will be vacated to permit this change.

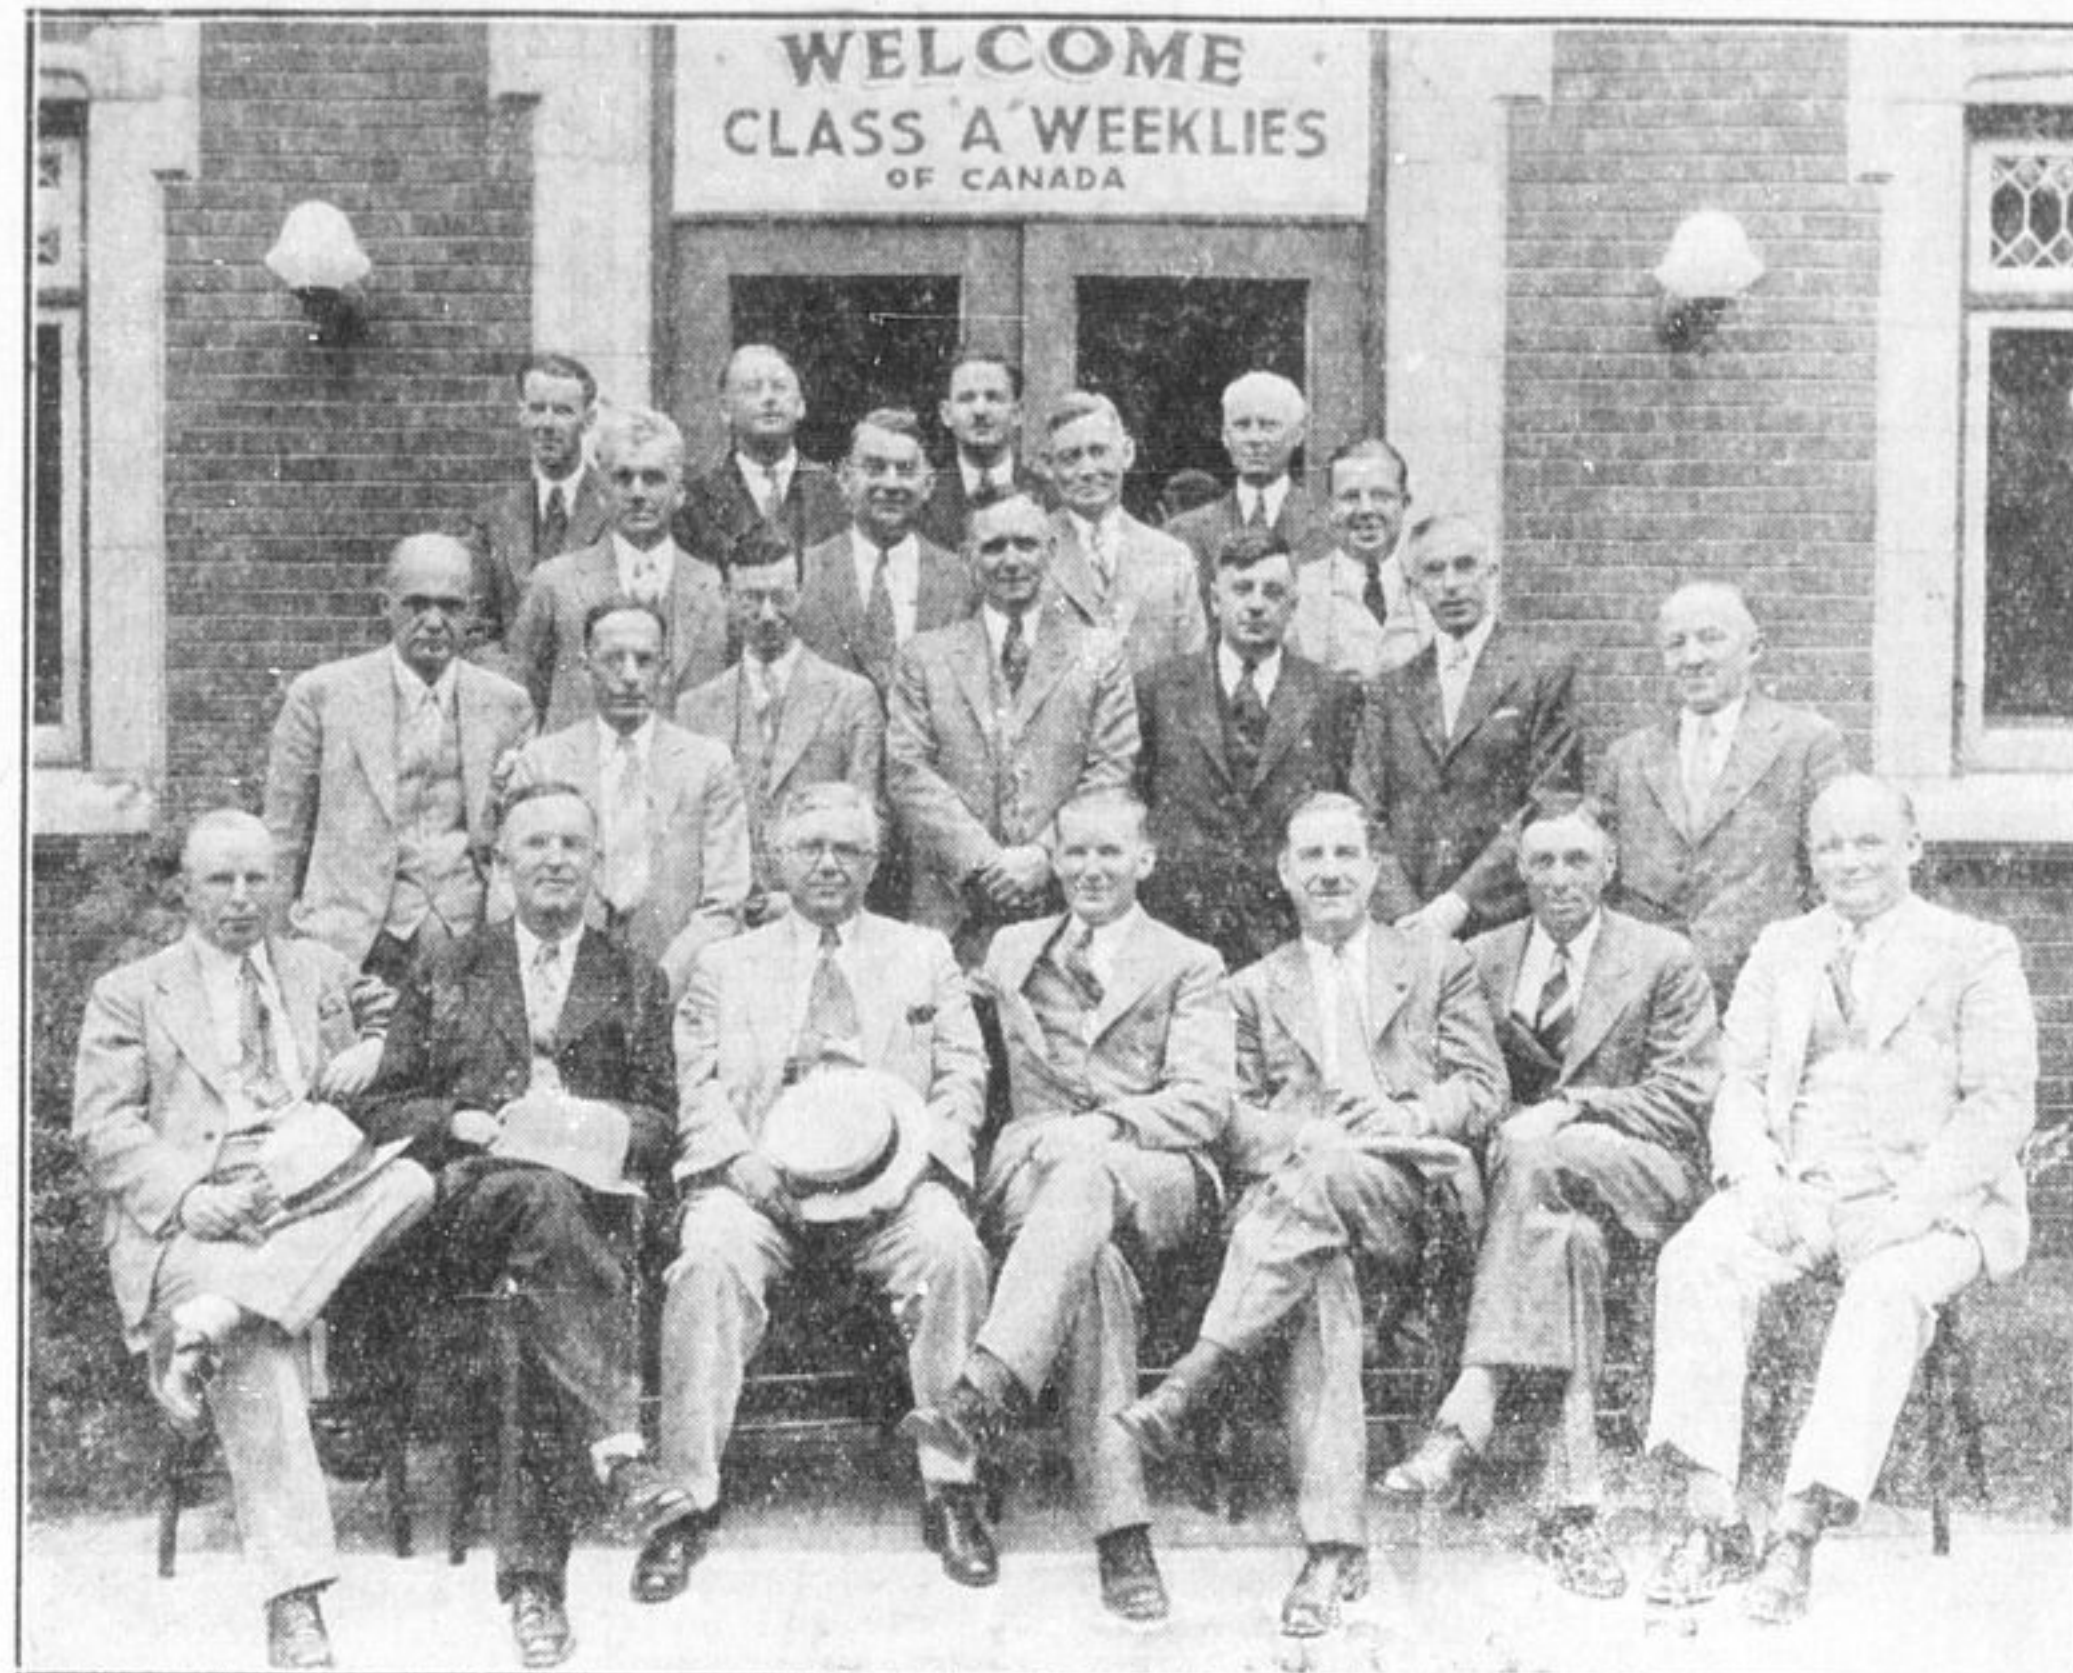

In reference to the suggestion that the Dept. of Mines and the Dept. of Lands and Forests should be merged, Hon. Mr. Heenan pointed out that he did not consider such a merger would be practical or in the interests of the North Land or the province. "It would be too big a job for me to handle the Dept. of Mines and the Dept. of Lands and Forests," he is quoted as saying. He added that he would take over the Dept. of Lands and Forests. In this, also, his attitude and references will find approval. There is a general feeling in the North that any capable man will be found to be fully occupied looking after either one of these departments and that they are both so important not only to the North but to all Ontario that a separate minister for each is an essential matter.

While in Sudbury on his way to Ottawa last week Hon. Mr. Heenan discussed affairs with E. A. Laprairie, member-elect for the provincial legislature for the riding of Sudbury. Other representative members of the Liberal party in Sudbury and district also met and conferred with Hon. Mr. Heenan during his stay in Sudbury last week.

Met Terrible Death in Double Blast at Sudbury

An unusual cause is given for a mine fatality at Sudbury last week. Apparently John Germanovich, 32 years of age, sought safety from one blast, forgetting that another blast was also being put off at the same time. The unfortunate man crouched down behind some timbers to be safe from the one blast, but the timbers he hid behind were right over the second blast. Germanovich was literally blown to pieces. He had been working for only two days at the O'Donnell roasting beds of the International Nickel Co. During the first day he was at work only one blast was put off at a time, it is said, but on the second day there were two blasts put off at the one time. It is understood that the workmen were carefully warned in regard to the two blasts, but evidently Germanovich forgot about the second blast. Germanovich was unmarried. He had been a resident of Sudbury for about six years.

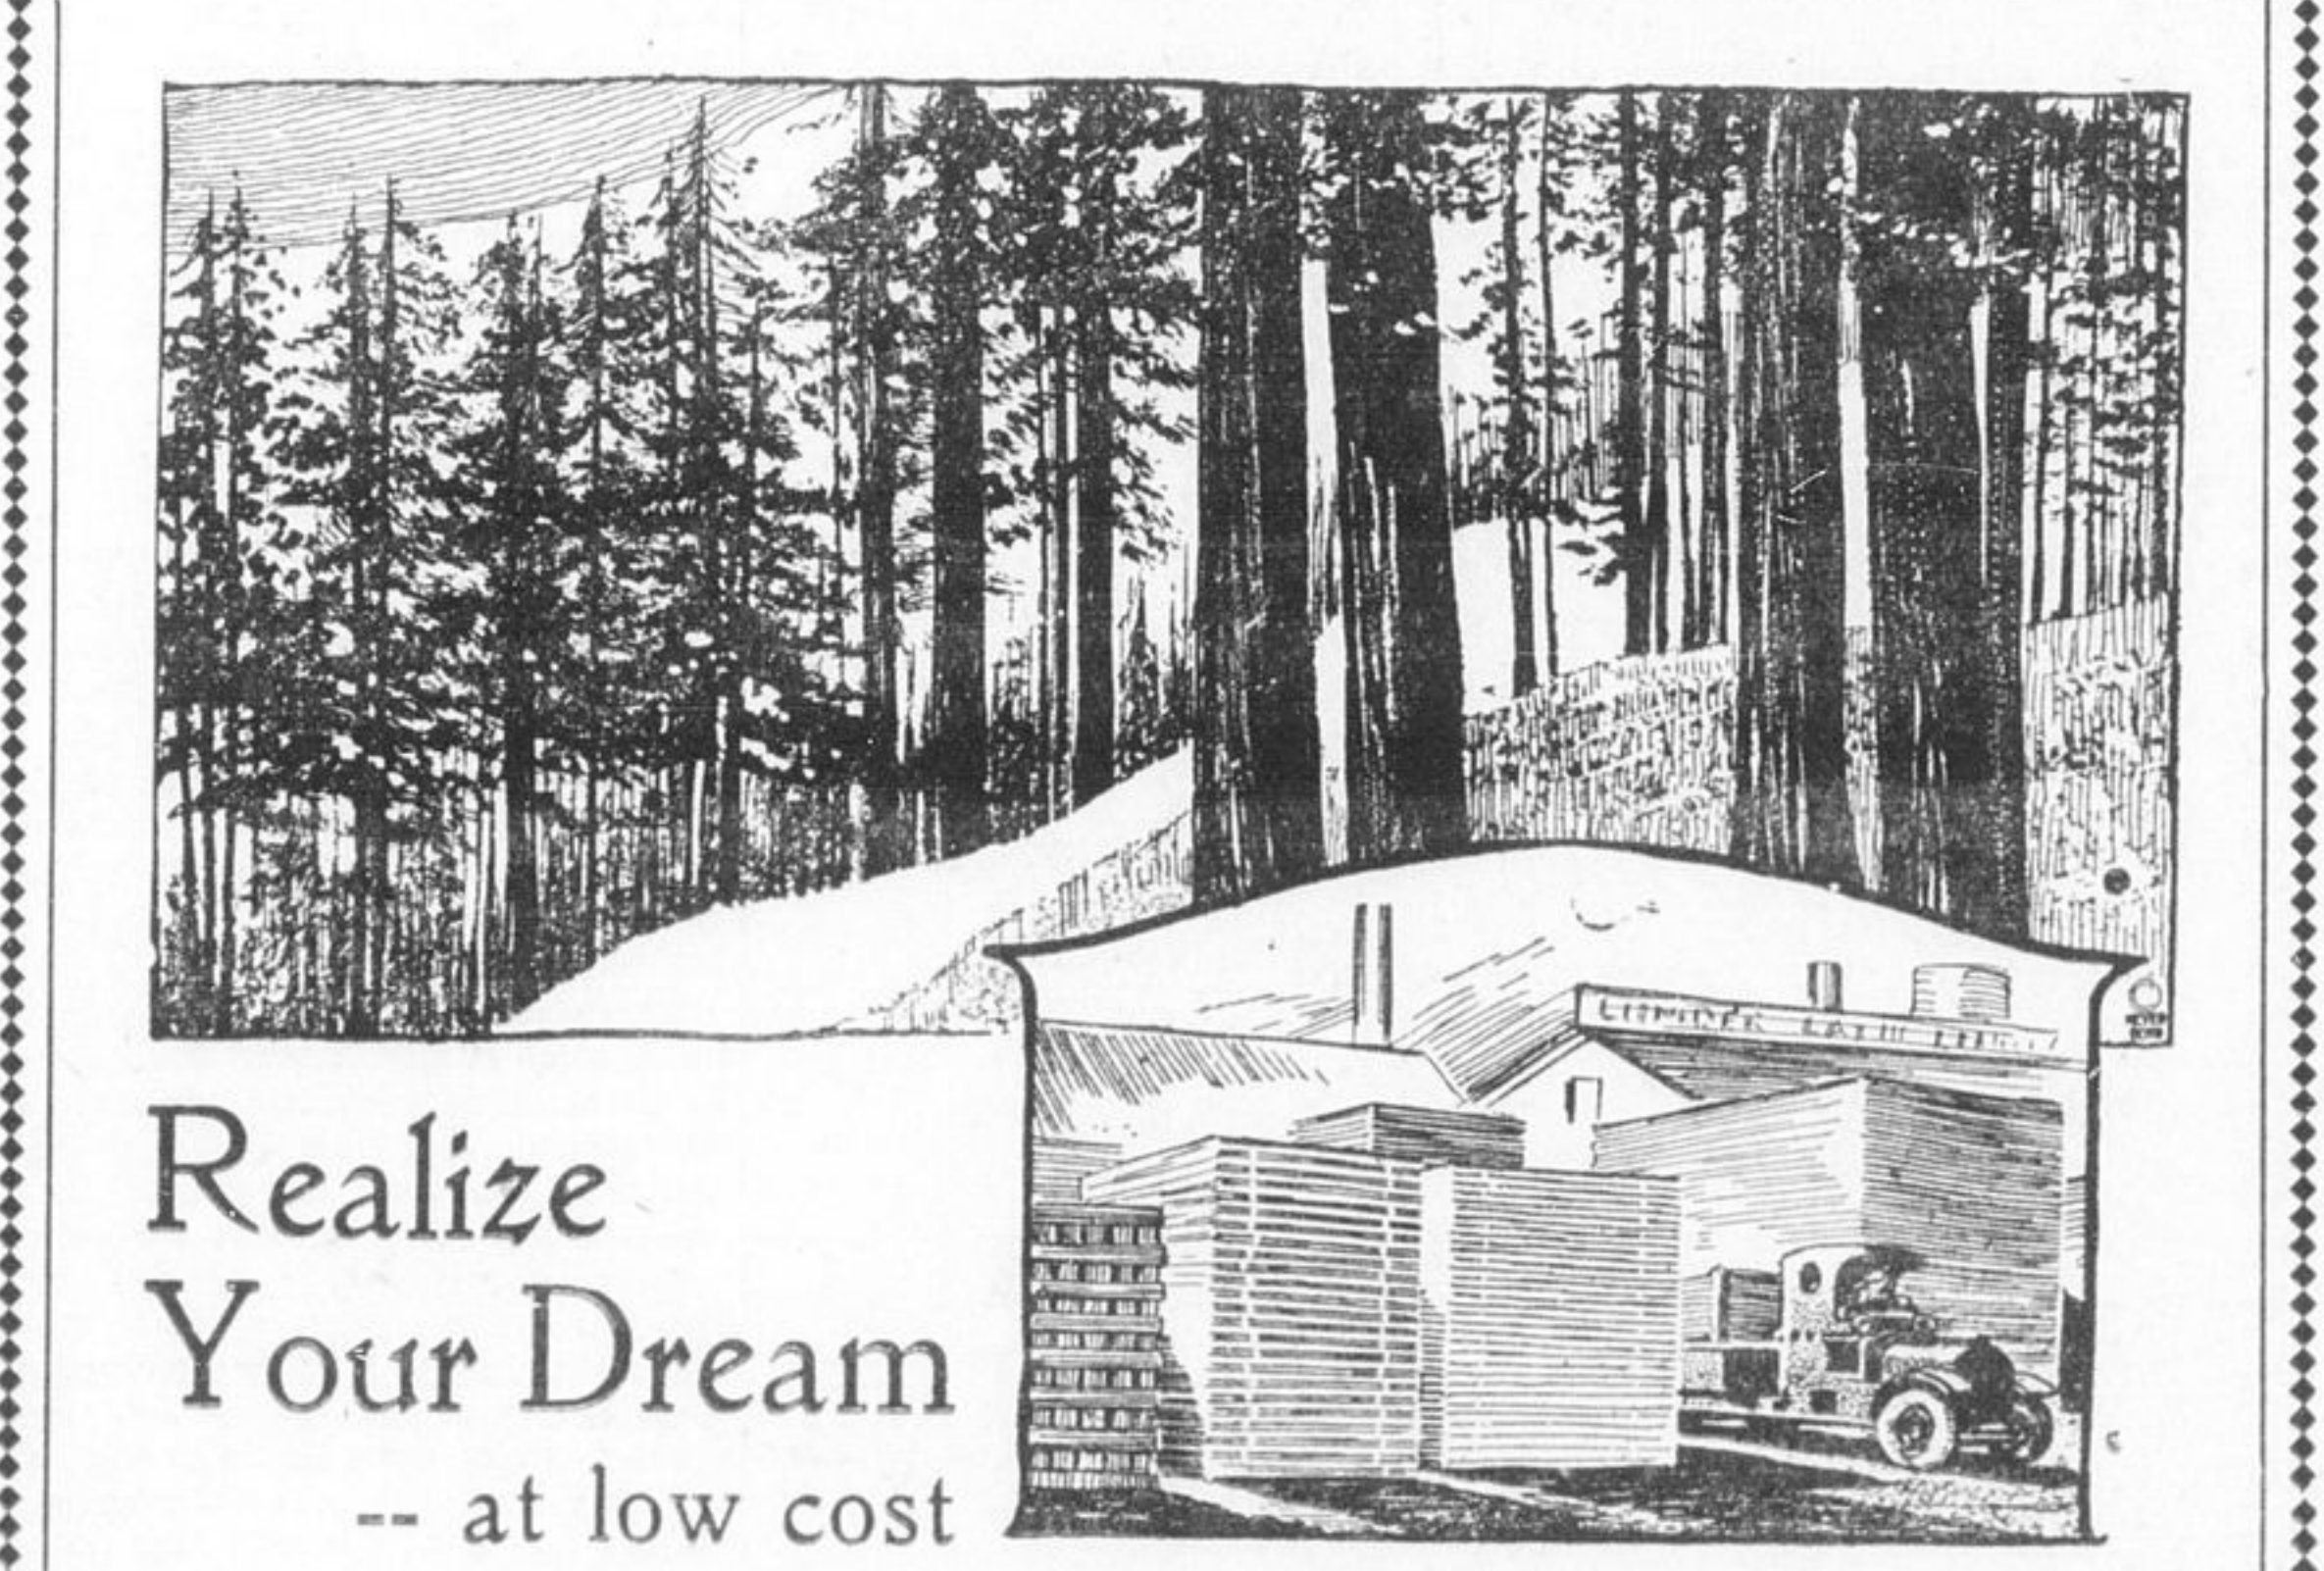

Golfers from Iroquois Falls and Cochrane Here

Last week-end several members of the Iroquois Falls and Cochrane golf clubs paid a visit to the Timmins golf club in the form of an inter-club match. The weather was ideal and after playing around the course in the morning, lunch was served in the club house and several of the visitors and members of the local club played in the afternoon.

Those from Iroquois Falls included: Clark Davis, C. Olliver H.R. Soderstrom, A. R. Mobbs, F. Lavelle, Willson, Hay, A. R. Armstrong, S. Olliver, F. Woods, Osborne, A. T. Hurter, J. Brown. From Cochrane: J. M. Greer, Sr., J. Greer, W. L. Warrell, N. McLeod, H. Wright and W. B. Hutcheson.

Astonished at Progress of the Towns in the North

The Pembroke Standard - Observer last week had the following paragraph in the Ottawa Valley news: "Mr. and Mrs. Ted Leeney and party of Renfrew spent about a week motoring through the mining regions of New Ontario and were much enamored with that part of the province. Business was everywhere booming and many old friends were met, Mr. Leeney shaking hands with former residents of Pembroke and Mrs. Leeney with ex-Renfrewites. Timmins was made the turning-point. The Renfrewites were astonished to find towns so new enjoying all the conveniences of the older communities of Old Ontario. One point of interest was the Temagami forest reserve, through which runs a highway 67 miles in length with no gas stations showing nor any sign of habitation."

Men from Toronto to Work at the Airports

Hundred and Seventy-six Men Taken to Camps Last Week From City. Still Places Open to Any in District

A Timmins man returning last week by car from Toronto was somewhat excited because he said that 176 men had been brought from Toronto to work on the building of the airports in the North. He said: "Are there no unemployed in the North for this work? Is it necessary to bring further men from the South to add to the men looking for work already in the North? Is the North always to be a dumping ground for the unemployed in the South?"

In answer it might be said that while it is bad enough to have the unemployed from the South, and especially from Toronto brought to the North, this is not so bad as having the unemployed brought here. If the men brought north last week to work at the airports were simply unemployed, then they have jobs now and it is not too bad. The trouble has been that too many unemployables are sent here and these fellows cannot or will not work at anything for very long without some form of trouble.

However, the bringing of the 176 men north last week is all right, according to information given out. They are not taking the jobs away from anybody else. Indeed, it is likely that further men will be brought from the South for the airport work, as enough men can not be secured north of North Bay. This may be taken as a comforting sign if it is just as it appears. When there are not enough men available for such work as that at the airport camps that may be taken to mean that better jobs are open to the men of the North. It is sincerely to be hoped that this is the case. The airport work is simply a form of relief, and if real jobs are available, so much the better for all concerned.

Last week the 176 men brought from Toronto were distributed to the airport camps as follows: To Round Lake camp, 43; to Ramore camp, 45; to Gillies Depot camp, 21; and to Tudhope camp, 67.

The men were recruited at Toronto when it was found that men for the work were not available in the four districts concerned or at North Bay. Officials at North Bay headquarters explained that no preference was being given or would be shown to Toronto. It was simply a case of filling the vacancies on the forces at the several camps. There are still further vacancies at the camp and if there are suitable men available in the districts concerned these men will be given the preference in filling the vacancies that exist now, or that may arise from time to time.

The 176 men brought to the North last week from Toronto travelled together as a party. It was necessary to add a special section to No. 47 from North Bay to accommodate the party going north for work on the airports.

RICHARD HALE PENSIONS OFFICER FOR THE LEGION

Appointment of Richard Hale as chief pensions adjustment officer of the Canadian Legion was announced by the Dominion Command of that organization at Ottawa last week. Mr. Hale, who has been in pension work since 1918, has been associated with the Tuberculosis Veterans Association during the whole of that time. When the Legion was formed as a result of the late Earl Haig's visit to Canada in 1925, the Tuberculosis Veterans merged with the larger body, although retaining their identity.

For more than two years after re-organization Mr. Hale was supervising officer of legion service bureaux in Toronto, London, Ont., Windsor and Northern Ontario. He came to Ottawa in 1928 as Dominion adjustment officer of the Tuberculosis Veterans' section at Legion headquarters.
