FOR THE TOWN OF TIMMINS

In accordance with resolution of Council passed July 12th, 1934

R. RICHARDSON, Mayor

BOY, SIXTEEN MONTHS OLD DROWNED IN FOOT OF WATER

A sad and unusual drowning case is reported from Trout Lake. A little lad of 16 months, Roger Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hughes, of Trout Mills, lost his life on Saturday. Playing with five or six children, the little fellow was drowned in a foot of water near the Hughes' camp about six miles from Trout Mills. His playmates did not notice him disappear from sight. He was taken from the water by his 18-year-old brother Donald, who had just come across the lake. It is believed the youngster was not in the water more than four minutes.

When first efforts at resuscitation failed, the little tot was rushed to North Bay by car where Dr. A. E. Ranney and Dr. A. H. McMurphy also tried to revive him, but to no avail.

E. M. Wilson, who has been manager of the Hearst branch of the Imperial Bank for the past four years, has been transferred to one of the Toronto branches. His place is being taken by Mr. Menuze, of Cochrane.

Unusual Wage Cases in Court This Week

Owner of House Sued when Contractor Fails to Pay Wages. Assault Case Dismissed when Witnesses Not Sure of Man.

"It's a corker the way police cases keep up," was the comment this week of one of the regular attendants at court, a local man who goes there oftener than to any other form of interest or entertainment in town. He was rewarded this week for again there were lots of cases and some of them had interesting points.

For instance, there was a man there charged with assaulting another man. This second man was in court to give evidence, as was also his son. Both father and son had lovely black eyes as a result of the assault, though only the one charge was laid. When the accused was asked to plead guilty or not guilty, he replied that he sure had hit the man, but it was in self-defence. The magistrate suggested that in such a case he had better plead not guilty so that the facts of the case might come out. This was a good break for the accused man, for when the case came to trial neither the father nor son would swear that the accused was the man that hit them. The black eyes they sported proved that somebody had hit them all right. As the witnesses could not bring themselves to say that the accused man was the one who struck them, there was nothing to do but dismiss the charge.

Another case out of the usual run was that in connection with unpaid wages. To be accurate, it was four cases, not one. The complainants were four men who had been working for a contractor building a house for a local man. The contractor had failed to pay them their wages, according to their complaints, and so they were suing for the unpaid wages. Following the provisions of the law they exercised their privilege to claim from the owner of the house rather than from the contractor. As the owner had protected himself by holding back some of the payments to the contractor, the matter may be adjusted. In the meantime the four cases were adjudged for a week.

Mr. C. W. Inksater whose appointment as Special Chrysler-Plymouth Representative in Western Ontario has been recently announced by Jno. C. McGuire, General Sales Manager, Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited.

The contractor in the cases noted above also faced a charge under the Master and Servant Act and judgment in this case was given against him for the amount claimed.

A woman who charged her husband with assault failed to appear but sent a note saying she did not want to press the charge. The case was dismissed.

Provincial Officer Pretorius preferred a charge against M. Driscoll for attempted suicide. The provincial officer was sent for after Driscoll was reported to have jumped from the bridge at Hoyle into the river. Had it not been for the prompt work of a couple of fire-rangers he would have been drowned. They rescued him from the water and gave him first aid. The police arrived and took Driscoll in charge. Later it was found that Driscoll had not been in the best condition for some days past and he was sent to the hospital for treatment. The case was adjourned for a week.

A reckless driving charge laid by the provincial police was dismissed. The accused said that his car got out of control and his foot slipped from the brake to the accelerator, causing the car to take the ditch.

A charge of indecent exposure brought a fine of $25.00 and costs. The accused said he had no thought of breaking the law but had simply gone behind some bushes near the tourist camp to enjoy a sun bath. He said that he did not think that anyone would see him. Two little girls saw the man, however, and when this was known the police were called. While it is quite probable that the man's story is correct and that he meant no harm and thought he was out of public sight, at the same time it is necessary to protect the public at Gillies Lake. The tourist camp is being conducted very well and all should assist in keeping it a place where all the public, children and women particularly, may enjoy without annoyance or offence.

A motorist, who was unable to produce his license when required by the town police was fined $1.00 a costs to remind him that the law requires him to carry his license with him. He had the license all right, but he was driving the motor and the license was at home.

A case of defective brakes was remanded to next week.

For falling to stop at an intersection one man paid $2.00 and costs.

A charge of reckless driving brought $10.00 and costs, while two speeders paid $10.00 and costs each and another man accused of speeding was remanded for a week.

Three common drunks were assessed $10.00 and costs, while a second offender in this line was fined $50.00 and costs, which makes an expensive drunk.

A remand of a week was given in a case where a wife charged failure to provide for her by her husband.

A young man, Gaston Goulet, was charged with having liquor not on permit, the liquor being at the International hotel, conducted by his father. As there was some doubt as to the actual ownership of the liquor the case was remanded and other charges may be laid.

Sun-Ray Gold Acquires the McEnaney Property

The McEnaney Mines, otherwise known as the old Hollinger Reserve, has been acquired under option by the Sun Ray Gold Syndicate, according to an announcement made by E. G. Black, treasurer for the syndicate. The property consists of seven claims, six of which are patented.

To date, three thousand feet of work has been done underground on the 100, 200 and 300-foot levels. It is claimed that 40,000 tons of ore with an average assay of $14 per ton has been blocked out in one chute. In addition a winze from the 300 foot level has been extended 190 feet in which it is claimed that the winze is in vein all the way and in places, the vein is wider than the winze. Free gold is showing in several places in the winze.

Six hundred channel samples have been taken on the underground development with very few blanks. Reported channel sampling resulted as follows: Eight wall channels over 40 feet averaged $171.74 on the 100-foot level, 15 wall channels over 60 feet averaged $27.88 on the 200-foot level; 20 wall channels over 108 feet averaged $22.05 on the 300-foot horizon.

It is the announced intention of the syndicate management to form a holding company to operate a number of developments. A company is to be formed for McEnaney Mines, controlling interest to be retained by Sun Ray Syndicate.

The engineering staff of the syndicate is now on the newly acquired property making further examinations. Word is expected daily from L. F. Kindle, geologist in charge of the technical staff.

REPORT NEW ORE LOCATED ON CHROMIUM PROPERTY

The Mail and Empire Wednesday this week says:

A. R. Globe, president of Chromium Mining and Smelting Corp., who is now at the property superintending operations, has wired a report to Toronto that the first diamond drill hole of a series of 20 to be sunk 650 feet from the shaft, has cut through 49 feet of mineralized zone.

This indicates an increase of about 20,000 tons of milling grade ore to the currently proven ore reserve and is sufficient to run the 75-ton mill for eight months.

Ores already proven average from 20 to 36 per cent, giving values of over $31 per ton.

Brampton Examiner.—Dr. G. A. Eddy, retiring president of the Canadian Medical Association, predicts that the family doctor is coming back. And it is the little Dionne quintuplets who unconsciously have helped a lot.

Now Game Wardens All to be Discharged

Announcement Said to be Made at Toronto on Tuesday of This Week. Government Newspaper Gives the Story.

The news is still very discouraging from the Toronto front, so far as Government employees are concerned. The latest to be promised the axe are the game wardens. Here is the story as told by the Government organ, The Toronto Star:

"Fulfilling his promise of a drastic 'shake-up' in the department of game and fisheries, Hon. Harry Nixon to-day decided to discharge every game warden and deputy warden in the province. Their salary bill is $145,791 per year.

"The orders for dismissal have not yet gone out, but are expected to be put in the mails within the next few days. The Star learned.

"The sweeping dismissal will affect 117 permanent and temporary game wardens of the districts at London, Orillia, Ottawa, North Bay, Sault Ste. Marie, Fort William and Sioux Lookout, the seven district headquarters for enforcing the Game and Fisheries Act. Five hundred deputy wardens who receive no salary are also slated to go, it was learned at Queen's Park to-day.

"District No. 1 at London has sixteen permanent employees with a salary list of $22,067 and six temporary employees paid a total of $2,967 slated to go.

"District No. 2 at Orillia will lose twelve employees, with salaries totalling $16,195, and five temporary employees at $3,871.

"Fourteen employees of district No. 3 at Ottawa will be dismissed. The permanent staff receives salaries of $21,075, while five temporary employees get $3,888.

"Ten overseers and the superintendent at the North Bay headquarters of district No. 4 will go. They received salaries totalling $17,624. Eleven temporary employees, also to be dismissed received $9,107 in 1933.

"Another twelve will be dismissed at Sault Ste. Marie, District No. 5 headquarters. Their payroll totals $16,400, with another $7,875 being paid to seven temporary employees.

"Seven game wardens are marked to get the axe at Fort William headquarters for District No. 6. They receive $11,500. Four temporary employees get notice of dismissal as well. Their salaries were $4,200.

"There are no temporary employees at Sioux Lookout, in District No. 7, but the six permanent game wardens will be dismissed. Their salaries were $9,022.

More Heads to Fall

"More heads were slated to fall at to-day's cabinet meeting, likely to last all day. At least $114,494 was saved last week in yearly salaries of discharged employees.

"Reductions in the pay of 46 Hydro employees earning more than $5,000 are yet to come. The saving on this item cannot be estimated as the terms of re-employment are subject to agreement between the engineers and Stewart Lyon, Hydro commissioner. Actual savings to date are: Salary reductions, $79,874; chief Hydro engineer (F. A. Gaby), $29,070; Hydro solicitor (J. B. Lucas), $10,000; road work (Monday), $18,000; building (Monday), $4,000; road work (Tuesday), $18,000; building (Tuesday), $4,000. Total, $162,944.

"While his investigations into public works in the province are in progress, Hon. T. B. McQueen is not saying whether he has uncovered anything of a questionable nature.

"It is an economy measure. We are investigating to see what work is necessary," he said.

"In the meantime, the order to stop construction work on public buildings is fairly general, the only ones excepted being the new employment office on Lombard St., Toronto, and the construction job on Burwash prison farm, which is being done with convict labor.

Work Involves $2,000,000 "The operations stopped total about $2,000,000 worth of work, while work stopped on the highways amounts to about $18,000 a day. In all, about 10,000 men were employed on these jobs.

"Hon. Mr. McQueen gives the following list of works affected: London, 200-bed dormitory at Ontario hospital, $250,000; Woodstock, nurses' residence, $125,000; Hamilton, Ontario hospital, nurses' residence, officially estimated at $160,000, but announced during the campaign as $275,000; Mimico, addition to Ontario hospital, nurses' home, $600,000; Brockville, boiler house of Ontario hospital, $80,000; Smith's Falls, 400-bed mental hospital unit, $600,000.

"Road foremen have been called off the jobs with their men. "When we have thoroughly investigated the work, we shall say what jobs are to be gone ahead with and what jobs stopped," the minister stated.

May Open Ditches Again

"Commenting on the widespread filling in of ditches along the provincial highways, started just shortly before the election, Mr. McQueen stated he feared that many of them would have to be dug out again so there could be drainage when wet weather comes.

"A hint that he might shortly have something to say about the Ontario milk board was dropped by Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, to-day. Mr. Marshall refused to say whether its powers would be curtailed, or what reconstruction might be expected.

Where all the Good Used Cars Come From

Some of the Beautiful Flowers of the North Land

A visitor to town this week remarked on the number of beautiful lawns, gardens and flowers in town. He was particularly impressed with the beauty of the grounds at St. Mary's hospital.

"The care taken of the grounds, the flowers, the shrubs, the plants, do great credit," he said, "to the Sisters and to all other concerned." This is all very true, but it might be added that the public could assist in keeping the hospital grounds looking their best by refraining from scattering papers between the sidewalk and the fence. This practice may be due simply to thoughtlessness. People coming from the post office, for instance, take occasion to throw away plain and fancy circulars. The effect does not help the appearance of the grounds. One day last week this practice made the strip of ground between the hospital fence and sidewalk very unsightly until it was cleared away. This imposition should not be placed on the hospital. St. Mary's hospital ground are giving hundreds of people pleasure and a little thoughtfulness would show appreciation and co-operation.

The visitor here was enthusiastic about the way that people on so many streets helped beautify the town by lawns, flowers and gardens. "I suppose," he said, "you have no real North Land flowers, which gives you so much keener interest." It was pointed out to the visitor that he was wrong about any lack of beautiful flowers in this North Land. In further proof of what was said about the flowers of the North, the following editorial from The Advance ten years ago is quoted herewith. It still holds true, thought it may be necessary in some directions to go a mile or two further afield than when this editorial headed the same as this article was written. Here is the editorial:

"Last year Mr. A. Anson brought to the Advance office a sample of an odd plant that he found while on a prospecting trip. Two lady readers of The Advance recognized the plant from the description given, as belonging to the Pitcher Plant family and being of the species 'Sarracenia.' One of the ladies brought in further and better specimens of the Sarracenia and gave interesting details as to the history and character of the plant. While the Sarracenia was attractive enough in appearance its chief interest lay in the fact that it was one of the insectivorous type of plants. In other words, it might be termed a 'fly-catcher.' It had cup-like leaves that open and contract and prove often the death chamber for insects, the plant drawing nourishment from the bodies of the little creatures so caught in the natural traps. A few days ago the same lady, who takes a deep interest in botanical matters, was kind enough to favour The Advance with further specimens of the Sarracenia, this time in the glory of their summer beauty. The plants have a tropical type of beauty, with striking colouring, the leaves shading from dark, deep red to a delicate pale green. The specimens were found north of the Whelpdale property, in the swampy section of ground there. There, also, was found a handsome specimen of the orchid family. Those who think this North Land but a waste of snow and ice in winter and a breeding ground for mosquitoes and black flies in summer, should take a jaunt out through the profusion of flowers, native to the land, and growing wild in the bush and by the river banks. The river banks are fragrant with wild roses, tinted white, pink and red. There are buttercups, daisies small, and large tiger lilies of startling beauty, wild iris, and other beautiful flowers and plants. And clover in all its charm will be met with very frequently. Nature shows a charming face in the woods and on the river banks of the North Land in summer-time."
