Cliff Moore, Pioneer of North, Passes on

One of the Best-known and Most Popular Early Residents of North is Dead. Was in the Porcupine in Early Days. Long in Cobalt.

All through the North there was genuine sorrow this week at the news that Cliff Moore, of Cobalt, had passed away. He was widely known throughout the North and held in regard by all who knew him. In the Cobalt camp, of course, he is particularly well known, having gone to Cobalt in its opening days in 1896. For the past 28 years he kept his Cobalt connections but he was also interested in practically every mining camp in the North. There are few men who have staked more prospectors than Cliff Moore. He said an old-timer of the Porcupine in speaking this week of the death of Cliff Moore. This Porcupine old-timer who was also an early resident of Cobalt, spoke in the highest terms of Cliff Moore. "He was one of the best," this old-timer said, adding that there was nobody who knew Cliff Moore who could speak anything but good about him. When the list of old-timers of the Porcupine was being prepared by The Advance this year, perhaps a dozen different people said, "And don't forget Cliff Moore." He was outstanding in popularity among the pioneers of the North. He was among the first to come into the Porcupine camp and his genial philosophy and his readiness to give a helping hand won him innumerable friends here as elsewhere. His humour was another characteristic that won him notice and popularity. Stories of Cliff Moore form a happy place in any gathering of Cobalt old-timers. Although he is said to have made considerable money from his mining ventures, he always continued his drug store business. "You can't always depend on a mine," he would say, "but you can always make a living from a good drug store." The late Clifton Henry Moore, pioneer druggist of Cobalt, was born at Fenelon Falls, Ont., a son of the late Henry and Esther Morgan Moore. At the time of death he was 55 years of age. After attending high school at Colborne, Mr. Moore graduated in 1902 from the Ontario College of Pharmacy. He first went to Sault Ste. Marie, where he engaged in business for more than three years, moving to Cobalt, then just opening up, in January, 1906.

For some months past Mr. Moore had not been in good health. A few days before his death his condition became critical, his death following a paralytic stroke. Death came to him on Saturday night.

Well known and popular, his death is very generally regretted all through the North. The late Cliff Moore was unmarried. He is survived by four brothers, Wilfrid, of Cobalt, James of Duluth, Minn., Percy and Frank, of Morganston, Ont., and one sister Mrs. J. L. George, Cobourg, Ont.

The funeral was held this week at Northam, Ont., where burial was made in the family plot.

Say Communist Agitators are Directed by Moscow

An editorial in The Toronto Mail and Empire on Tuesday of this week touches on the trouble at Flin Flon. The Mail and Empire says:—"Communist movements in the United States are still directed by the Third Internationale in Moscow notwithstanding Soviet Russia's official pledge to prohibit such activities. As a condition of American recognition, Litvinoff, Russian Commissar of Foreign Affairs, promised President Roosevelt that Russia would prevent, on her own territory, the activity of any group seeking the overthrow of social order in the United States. But these subversive activities, by direction of the Third Internationale, have been admitted to a committee of Congress by the executive secretary and another member of the central committee of the American Communist party.

"Communist agitators, suspected of being directed from Moscow, have frequently caused industrial troubles in Canada. The connection was clearly shown in the strike of 1,500 miners at Flin Flon, Man., lasting from June 9 to July 9. Premier Bracken, having made a careful personal investigation on the spot, issued a statement in which he said that the plant was closed down 'largely, in my opinion, due to the activities of Communist organizers working through the Mine Workers' Union.' Having referred to the suffering of the men and their families, Premier Bracken added: 'I am convinced that the men who went on strike have been deceived and misled as to the relationships of the organizations they were joining, and by the representations of outside agitators, that they realize they made a mistake in the manner of presenting their case and in associating themselves with an organization now shown to be affiliated with Communism, that these mistakes many of them now recognize, and the majority of the men manfully decided to acknowledge them, if given the opportunity.'

"Premier Bracken found that a majority of the men never voted to strike and that a very large majority wished to return to work. Under the circumstances the mine was re-opened on July 9; most of the men went back the first day and more of them later."

Lindsay Post.—The thought has probably never entered the head of the baby moose being reared on bottled milk at Digby, N.S., that they are just taking good care of him so that he will be a hall hat rack to be proud of some day.

Frood Mines to Play Off Tie with Scots

Third Game in D.F.A. Series won by Toronto Scottish, 2 to 1, Making Round a Draw. Play Again To-night.

Frood Mines are certainly worth representatives for the North in football. They have showed brilliance in the D.F.A. series at Toronto, winning the first game from the noted Toronto Scottish, playing the second game to a draw, and though they lost the third game, they were able to tie up the series and a match between the Frood Mines and the Scottish is to be played this (Thursday) evening. Elsewhere in this issue will be found a reference to the first match of the series, and also a brief review of the second match. The following report of the third game (played Tuesday evening) was written by Bill Scarborough of the Toronto Mail and Empire sports staff:—

Toronto Scottish came back strongly to defeat Frood Mines by 2 goals to 1 in the third game of the Dominion Cup Ontario playoffs at Oakwood stadium Tuesday night and as a result the round was deadlocked, both elevens gaining a win and a draw on the round. Thus making necessary a fourth game at Ulster stadium on Thursday evening.

Scottish were easily the better eleven during a stirring first session, scoring the only goal of the half and although the Miners forced the issue early, following the interval the Scots went further ahead by the penalty route, but within 10 minutes of the close Gray netted the Miners' only counter to round out a great performance.

The first half opened with Scottish assuming the offensive in masterly style, fairly hammering the Miners in their own half of the field for the greater part of the first ten minutes. France, the visiting custodian, was kept busy in defending his charge as the Scots' attack became more dangerous and it occasioned little surprise when George Phillips turned in Bromley's flag kick to open the scoring in the eleventh minute of play.

Frood broke away for their first visit to Wallace, but Gray skied well over from an advantageous position and Scottish were away again to force matters in the Miners' goal area where only the stellar display of France and Rayne prevented further disaster. Scottish should have improved on their score just before the breather when Bromley sent in a sizzler which looked labelled until France engineered a spectacular clearance at the post.

Play opened fast as the second period got under way and Wallace was called upon to handle cleverly as the Miners presented a robust attack on the Scottish goal. On one occasion Young headed in and the Scots' custodian pulled off a miraculous save at the expense of a corner. Disaster overtook the Miners when Meadows hooked Drummond in the penalty area and Harry Phillips put the Scots two goals up when his spot shot beat France all hollow.

The visitors were ever in the picture as their periodical visits to the Scottish area brought the best out of the home defence as play veered dangerously close to Wallace's net. During a Frood attack Gray netted when Lindsay sent across from the right. It was a beautiful effort and resulted in the best taken counter of the series. At the Miners' end Donald made France step lively to pull a letter down from the bar. Scottish found the going to their disadvantage and when the final whistle sounded the visitors were still hammering away at the Scots' end. The teams:

Toronto Scottish—Wallace, Weir and Noke, Meldrum, H. Phillips and Graham, Bromley, Drummond, G. Phillips, Donald and McIntyre.

SHED FLIES SAID TO BE TRAVELLING NORTH NOW

A week or two ago North Bay was cursing the shed flies. There was an epidemic of them at the Bay and the people did not like them at all. Last week New Liskeard was infested with the shed fly pests. In the meantime North Bay seemed to be relieved of the pests, so someone with no knowledge of natural history has suggested that North Bay simply shoo-ed the shed flies onto New Liskeard just as they have been doing with the transients since the depression started. New Liskeard is asked to kindly head these hunger marchers east, instead of North. In some past years Timmins has had enough of them to last two lifetimes. Shed flies may not do any serious harm but they surely are a desperate nuisance.

Stratford Beacon-Herald:—Premier Bennett refused to bring down his supplementary estimates before the election in Ontario was held. We regard that as a rather clear-cut and entirely desirable way of doing business.
