MOTORIST HAS ESCAPE IN TRYING TO AVOID YOUNSTER

Last week The Halleyburian had the following in reference to a motorist who took serious chances in order to avoid hitting a small child. The Halleyburian says:—

"Stanley Whorley, of Halleybury had a narrow escape from serious injury when he drove his car into the ditch on the Ferguson highway, between Cobalt and Bass Lake, on Sunday afternoon to avoid hitting a child who suddenly ran out into the road in front of the approaching vehicle. Mr. Whorley had no time to stop the car and his only alternative, he said, was to take to the ditch, which was strewn with boulders. In the crash the car turned over twice, according to the driver, but he escaped with only a small scratch on one hand. The car is badly damaged. The child, who caused the crash is the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland, of Cobalt."

A Word to the Wives is Sufficient, or Otherwise

These proverbs, gems of wit and wisdom, wise-cracks, or what-have-you, are from the columns of The Blairmore Enterprise:—

A soft answer sometimes turns away a husband's frown.
She who hesitates is bossed.
Enjoy the landscape, even if you don't own any land.
Cooking stops with honeymoon—but the Billing doesn't.
Sunny dispositions put trouble in the shade.
Beware! Some men earn their bread by the sweat of their frau.
Home's the place man is treated best, but some act the meanest.
Get acquainted with your neighbour—you might like her.
Don't say it—if you have nothing to say.
It's easy to please a husband if he isn't your own.
To have friends—be one.
A smile has more than its face value.
Love your neighbour's phonograph as you would your own.
A kiss is nothing divided by two.
Fine feathers make the hat cost more.

Pearls worn by others are always imitations.
It's the men who really follow the fashions.
Milk of human kindness beats cold cream for wrinkles.
Continue to believe your husband is the "man" you think he is.
Born leaders of men—women.
A man thinks he knows, but a woman knows better.
Don't spend today regretting what you have to do to-morrow.
Women love to be flattered—men have to be.
A word that lasts is better than a last word.

St. Catharine's Standard:—On Sunday morning a provincial police constable knocked at the door of a Vineland residence and calmly informed the occupant that his stolen car had been recovered. The man was not even aware that his car was missing, and yet five young Toronto men were locked up at Welland for the theft.

Different Ways for Serving of Chicken

Chicken-Noodle Mould, Chicken Salad Mould, Creamed Chicken and Ham on Toast, Chicken Pot Pie, Etc.

Written for The Advance by a well-known culinary expert:—
The tender, delicious meat of chicken is such a general favourite, and there are so many different ways to serve this fowl that it may appear on the menu with frequency and yet never become tiresome. Most housewives have one or two ways to present this flavour-some fowl, but they will find the recipes suggested below a welcome variation, no doubt.

Chicken-Noodle Mould
2 packages egg noodles
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg slightly beaten
1 cup chicken, chopped
3-4 cup milk
3 tablespoons butter
1-2 teaspoon salt

Cook noodles in boiling water, salted until tender. Drain and place in well-buttered mold, twisting the noodles round to make a nest. Heat milk, add flour which has been made into a smooth paste and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add beaten egg and butter and beat. Add chicken and pour into centre of mold. Steam for one hour, turn out on dish and serve. Serves 6.

Chicken Salad Mould
1 package gelatine, lemon flavour
1 3-4 cups boiling chicken stock, free from fat
Dash of cayenne
3 tablespoons vinegar
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chicken cut in small pieces

Dissolve gelatine in boiling stock. Chill. Combine cayenne, vinegar, salt, celery and chicken. When gelatine is slightly thickened fold in chicken mixture. Turn into loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unfold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Creamed Chicken and Ham on Toast
4 tablespoons of butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups rich milk
2 hard cooked egg yolks

Dash of pepper and paprika
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
1 cup cold cooked ham, diced
1 cup cold cooked chicken, diced
Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and stir till blended. Add milk and egg yolks which have been pressed through a sieve. Cook until thick stirring constantly. Season with pepper, paprika and Worcestershire sauce. Add ham and chicken, then sliced olives. Heat thoroughly and serve on buttered toast.

Chicken Pot Pie
This is a good way to utilize chicken left-overs. Remove chicken from the bones and cut in small pieces. Add gravy or broth and one can of mushrooms (pieces and stems) with the liquor that comes in the can. Grate one-half small onion and add with seasoning. Place in a casserole and cover with pie crust or baking powder biscuit dough. Bake until crust is cooked.

Chicken Chow
Cook a chicken until tender, adding salt and one or two small dried peppers. When tender pick the meat from the bones. Boil one package of noodles in salted water until tender. Put a layer of noodles in baking dish, then a layer of chicken, a layer of sliced hard cooked egg, add a little broth and finish the top with noodles covered with buttered bread crumbs. Bake for half an hour.

Chicken Imperial
1 cup chicken
2-3 cup cracker crumbs
1 cup hot milk
3-4 cup chicken stock
2 tablespoons pimento
1 teaspoon onion
1 tablespoon parsley
1 cup mushrooms
Salt and pepper

Dice chicken. Add crumbled crackers, milk, stock, canned pimento, onion, parsley. Cook over a low flame 3 minutes; add cooked mushrooms and cook 5 minutes. Serve on hot buttered toast squares.

Chicken and Ham Sandwiches
Between slices of hot buttered toast place slices of breast of chicken and slices of ham. Over this lay thin slices of dill pickle and spread with mayonnaise.

About the Extension of Golf Association

Sudbury Item Says Sault and Huntsville have been invited but have Not Accepted. Position Still the Same.

Word recently from Sudbury left the impression that a second club from Sault Ste. Marie and a Huntsville club had been added to the Northern Ontario Golf Association. This prompted Timmins golfers and others in this section of country to object. It looked as if the Northern Ontario Golf Association was going to go the way the Northern Ontario Curling Association. Any such extension of territory as seemed to be contemplated would make the area covered by the golf association so unwieldy that division of the territory would be a foregone conclusion. That is what happened in reference to curling. It led to the organization of the T. & N. O. Curling Association. A T. & N. O. Golf Association would likewise be needed if the Northern Ontario Golf Association attempted to take in so wide a territory as that embraced between Sault Ste. Marie and Huntsville. Comments along this line by golfers in this part of the North last week brought the following reply from the "Sporting Comment" column in The Sudbury Star:—

"A Timmins item says that there is widespread dissatisfaction among the golfing fraternity of Timmins, as well as other towns in that section, over the inclusion of a second club from Sault Ste. Marie and a new club from Huntsville in the Northern Ontario Golf Association. The Timmins golfers contend that the association will become too unwieldy and will be forced to break up in the same manner as the curling association. There are dark hints of forming another association for the T. & N. O. sector. The Timmins golfers seem a little too premature, as J. J. O'Connor, president of the association, reports that the two clubs in question have not accepted the association's invitation and the membership is the same as ever. It might be a good idea to make sure, before talking of breaking up the association. Incidentally, Sudbury golfers had no such complaints to make."

The comment above from The Sudbury Star does not alter the situation so far as golfers in this part of the country are concerned except that their objection apparently has come in time to be effective. Consultation of the official minutes of a meeting of the executive of Northern Ontario Golf Association held at the Nickel Range hotel, Sudbury, on July 7th, 1934, show the following resolutions as having been passed:—

"Moved by Geo. W. Lee, seconded by A. J. Hatcher, that the Huntsville Golf Club be invited to participate in tournament. Carried."

"Moved by R. D. Parker, seconded by A. J. Hatcher that the application of the Sault Ste. Marie Country Club be accepted. Carried."

"Moved by R. D. Parker and seconded by A. J. Hatcher that the Root River Golf Club of Sault Ste. Marie be invited to join the association. Carried."

If these resolutions do not suggest a tendency to extend the territory of the association then it is hard to say what they do mean. The fact that the one Sault Ste. Marie club and also the Huntsville club have not yet accepted the invitation given may be admitted to delay the necessity for action in the matter, but the tendency to extend the territory to unwieldy proportions seems to be clear enough. With the result of this extension in the case of the curling association before them, the members of the association in this section of the country are naturally against the idea of too unwieldy a territory for the golf association. If too extended a territory is accepted by the Northern Ontario Golf Association the inevitable outcome will be the formation of a separate association for the clubs along the T. & N. O.

It may be noted also that in this area there is no desire to "break up the association." What will break up the association will be the extension of the territory to such an extent as to make it impractical and unworkable. The Northern Ontario Golf Association as it has been extended enough in territory. The taking in of more territory is a sure way to force a splitting-up into associations that are more practical and workable for the majority of the clubs concerned.

THIS PARTICULAR PAINT STUNT WAS NO COMEDY ONE

Northern News:—When, in a so-called movie comedy, the picture of a man falling from a scaffold and covering himself with paint, is shown, howls of laughter greet the scene. But it was not so funny to Fred Prince of Matheson when the framework from which he was painting a school collapsed. He injured his shoulder, and the fall of paint falling on his face inflicted a deep cut.

Notable Progress on the Powell Rouyn Property

A report of much interest was recently made on the Powell Rouyn Gold property by The Quebec Miner, the following being extracts from the report:—

The Powell comprises 655 acres and is strategically located immediately adjoining the Noranda Mine on the North. It is interesting to note that the property was the scene of the first gold discovery made in the Rouyn copper-gold camp. It dates back to about 1922.

On the occasion of the Quebec Miner's visit, diamond drilling to tap the Powell Gold vein was under way with the 4th hole in the campaign just having been started. The management, which by the way, is Minefinder Limited, plans a few more shallow holes following which some deep ones will be put down to intersect the main vein and other occurrences at depth. The 4th hole is being put down a few hundred feet from the shaft section of the Powell vein and will go down to about 200 feet.

In conjunction with drilling, trenching and stripping on the vein is going forward, while a crew of samplers are busily engaged in sampling sections of the vein exposures in close proximity to the old inclined shaft, put down by Nipissing in 1923 when the search was all for copper. In fact, all present efforts are being centred on the area close to the shaft. The sampling presently being done will be in the nature of a check on former work, and it is being done in the new trenches where the vein material is freshly revealed.

The Quebec Miner examined very closely the various quartz exposures revealed by the new trenching along the Powell Gold vein. The vein is strongly defined, fairly well mineralized with pyrite and some chalcocopyrite and is of whitish hue resembling somewhat the texture of the Siscoe quartz. In addition to being gold-bearing, the vein has high silica content and fluxing qualities, important features when the ore is some day shipped to the neighbouring smelter. The Quebec Miner was particularly impressed with the vein showing in the collar of the inclined shaft, close to the water line. The walls are well defined and the vein shows out to great advantage over a width of at least 8 feet.

The Powell property was the first gold discovery staked by Tommy Powell, well known northern prospector, early records show, about 1922. The property has been intermittently developed since that time, mainly for copper, however, which explains the tardiness in reaching the producing stage as a gold producer. Nipissing developed the property in 1923 and 1924, sinking the inclined shaft to a depth of 250 feet on the Powell vein. This development, it is stated, indicated a large tonnage of $7.00 grade, which at that time was not alluring enough to warrant continuing operations, one factor being lack of transportation. Then the search for copper pushed gold finding into the background.

Since that time, however, the Powell picture has undergone a complete change. With the present high price of yellow metal, coupled with the new ore disclosures revealed as a result of careful and systematic sampling of the property, the mine-making possibilities of the Powell Rouyn can be considered as very promising.

Suggest that Renfrew Case may be Re-opened

James Fennessy, former councillor of the town of Renfrew, is quoted as saying that Premier Hepburn has promised to re-open the investigation into the administration of justice in the town of Renfrew, held originally in 1932. People in Timmins and district were particularly interested in this investigation when it was being held as the chief of police of Renfrew, Moses Greer, had been formerly chief of police at Timmins for a number of years. No one here believed the charges made against Chief Greer could be true. The investigation was made in 1932 by I. A. Humphries, K.C., deputy Attorney-General. For three weeks witnesses were questioned, apparently all witnesses suggested by Mr. Fennessy being called. Mr. Humphries' report absolved Chief Greer of any blame, and those who read the evidence in the newspapers felt that such a finding was the only one that could be properly given. The report, however, suggested improvements in the conduct of the magistrate's work, and this also seemed to be fully warranted by the evidence. After the investigation Mr. Fennessy was quoted as expressing dissatisfaction with the findings of Mr. Humphries. He is understood to have told the new premier all about the matter, and to have received a letter from Premier Hepburn to the effect that if the facts were as represented by Mr. Fennessy, the Renfrew charges would certainly be re-opened and again investigated.
