Death on Saturday of Henry Frederick

Highly-Esteemed Resident of Timmins for About Eighteen Years, Passes Away. Large Attendance at Funeral on Tuesday Morning.
Timmins lost another of its highly-esteemed residents on Saturday last, Aug. 25th, in the death of Henry Frederick, for some eighteen years a popular and esteemed citizen here, well known for his high character and his friendly disposition. Death was due to heart trouble.
The late Mr. Frederick came to Timmins some eighteen years ago from his native province of Nova Scotia. He worked for a time in Cobalt and Kirkland Lake mines but for the past fourteen years had been with the Hollinger Mines. At the time of death he was about 75 years of age. In addition to the bereaved widow, he is survived by four children:—Mrs. Ford Oickle, of South Brookfield, N.S.; Mrs. W. A. Cooldige, Boston, Mass.; Albert Frederick and Francis Frederick, at home. To these and to the other near relatives and friends the sincere sympathy of all will be extended in their loss.
The high regard in which the late Mr. Frederick was held by all who knew him and the sympathy felt for the bereaved family was evidenced by the large attendance at the funeral on Tuesday. The funeral took place from his late home, 13 Cambrai Avenue, and there was not room enough at the house for the many who came to pay their last tributes of regard. The First Baptist Church, where the funeral service was held, was also crowded to the doors. Rev. Mr. Wellington conducted the services. The late Mr. Frederick was a valued member of the Timmins Baptist Church.

What You Should Know About Houses

A Weekly Feature Service Supplied to The Advance by Home Builders' Service Bureau, 177 Jarvis Street, Toronto 2

A Splendid Example of English Domestic Architecture
The home shown is that of an "English Domestic" detached residence costing $12,750 and was designed by B. Evan Parry, F.R.A.I.C. of Parry and Smith, Architects, Toronto.
The accommodation, consisting of nine rooms, exclusive of sun room, sleeping porch, and recreation room in basement, is so planned that every modern thought upon labour saving arrangements is accomplished.
Not one inch of space has been wasted in the composition of the plan and the exterior appearance makes a strong appeal to those interested in the adaptation of English Domestic Architecture to Canadian conditions and requirements as applied to the home of today.
Finishing Hardwood
Door knobs, latches, locks, hinges, drawer-pulls, door stops, door checks, and all such items necessary for manual operation of doors, windows, drawers, shelves, etc., are always installed by the carpenter contractor.
Popular Choices
In the lower main section of the house it is customary to install hardware of bronze, dull silver, brass, or hammered iron. In the main section of the second storey dull silver, bronze or glass with dull silver trimmings is usual. In the service section cheaper grades are suitable, such as brushed brass or nickel. In bathrooms and lavatories bright nickel hardware, sometimes with glass knobs, is preferable. Basements and garages call for dull black fixtures.
Outside doors should be equipped with solid bronze or brass hinges or butts, as plated hardware soon rusts. To carry out the character and tradition of a Colonial type of home, hardware may be procured in either iron or Colonial brass finish, the door-fittings being the L & H type of old-fashioned hinges and thumb latches instead of knobs.
Fireplaces
Of the fireplace it is well said that "Here dwelleth Happiness," for it is the centre of interest in the room and, of course, must be of pleasing appearance.
A well-constructed fireplace should be equipped with metal throats and dampers having dependable means of operation and draft control. Dampers should always be placed in as forward a position as possible, permitting the building of an adequate wind-shield at the bottom of the smoke chamber. This is the best device for checking down-drafts.
The back of the fireplace should then be inclined forward to meet the back of the damper frame. The clear flue area shall never be less than one-twelfth that of the fireplace opening. If it is necessary to draw the flue to one side to clear any obstruction or connect with a distant flue, the angle should never be greater than forty-five degrees.

What Fuel Will You Use?
The size of the fireplace is governed entirely on the type of fuel to be used. For logs or coal the opening should not be less than 2' 10" in width and 20" deep. Some fireplaces have the wall at the back and sides tapering inward to throw the heat into the room.
This is a Convenience
An ash dump, with clean-out in cellar, is very convenient, as it eliminates dirt and the trouble of taking ashes through the house to the cellar.
The fireplace may be of brick, tile, stone, marble or any fireproof construction of pleasing appearance. Fireplaces are sometimes effectively trimmed with woodwork and also built in conjunction with bookcases, lending considerable charm to the whole room.

Liberal Rally Held at Scotty Springs

John Rowlandson, M.L.A., Jos. A. Bradette and Others Among the Speakers. Plans of New Government to Help Settlers.
The annual rally of the Scotty Springs branch of the Liberal Association was held in the school on the afternoon of Aug. 26th, and from a report sent The Advance the following particulars are given:—
There was a gratifying attendance, particularly in view of the unfavourable weather. The chair was occupied by the president of the branch, W. T. Smith.
John Rowlandson, M.L.A., said that the conditions faced by the present government were worse than anticipated, due to depleted funds and difficult adjustments necessary. Faced with the problem of coming winter money must be raised to provide some comfort for the settlers without raising taxes, he said. Every effort is being made to improve conditions and bring about necessary changes. He thought the investigations under way were bringing about the exposure of the exploitation of the North in the interests of a small elite. For about a year, he thought, it may be difficult, but the direction of revenue into proper channels will bring about improved conditions in the interests of the people. According to the report sent The Advance Mr. Rowlandson said there is to be no more relief but a fair wage for a fair day's pay. He illustrated one of his points by quoting the building of a piece of road at Ramore into the Hollinger property, the cost being only a few thousand dollars, apart from the gravel supplied by the company itself. The road should create markets for the farmers as well as work.
Joseph A. Bradette, M.P., said that he had cancelled two other engagements to be present for the third year at Scotty Springs. He pointed out that the member can only be as strong as the support accorded him by the people, and he asked for the co-operation of all in working for the North. He urged the electors to be patient and give the new provincial government a fair chance to work out its policies. He emphasized the need for more roads in the North, pointing out that in many places settlers still had to pack goods along trails. He spoke of the chance Premier Hepburn had to help the province and his qualifications for the position. Mr. Bradette said that in Mr. Rowlandson the people had a man of experience, a farmer, a prospector,
