Half-Million Lost Yearly by Poor Street Lighting

(From Mail and Empire)
An interesting calculation to show that the City of Toronto loses at least half a million dollars annually through an inadequate street lighting system is made by Electrical News and Engineering. A survey of all after-dark motor vehicle accidents in Toronto proves that 43 per cent. can be ascribed to poor street lighting. During last year there were reported as occurring in Toronto streets a total of 2,381 motor vehicle accidents. Of these, 111 occurred at dusk and 845 after dark, meaning that about 950 accidents occurred while the street lighting was operating. Charging 43 per cent. of these to poor and dangerous street lighting, there were some 408 accidents which need not have happened if Toronto's street lighting was perfect.

It has been estimated, says our contemporary, that the average street accident means a direct economic loss to the community of approximately $1,500, which appears to be fairly conservative when all the various implications arising from an accident are considered, such as capitalizing damages for death, etc. Using this figure, therefore, we can estimate that during 1933 the City of Toronto suffered an economic loss of over $600,000 due to its inadequate street lighting. This loss of six hundred thousand dollars takes into account only the direct loss due to damage and death. There is also a loss of trade, such as tourist traffic, retail sales, etc., added costs of fire protection, police protection, etc., which would greatly increase the above figures.

No Unemployables Listed in Timmins

A Few at Age of 70, Still in Good Condition and Adapting Themselves to Odd Jobs. Large Number of Placements.

The Timmins branch of the Government Employment Bureau, under the able direction of Mr. Murphy, continues to do excellent work. One of the proofs of this is the fact that during the past year no less than 5123 placements were made. To place 5123 people in touch with suitable work is certainly an achievement of which to be proud. Mr. Murphy says that by consulting the files it will be found that there are no unemployables listed here at present. All the many on the list seem to be able and ready to work. As soon as the Employment Bureau found suitable work for an applicant he or she was placed in touch with the work, usually to the mutual satisfaction of both worker and employer. There are, of course, a few cases arising of men who will not or can not work. The Employment Bureau appears to know how to handle this type of case so that the town or district is not unduly burdened. There seems to be a steady improvement in the demand for female workers. In this department the placements of female workers totalled 646 for the year. Ninety applications were on file at the close of the year.

Placements made during the past year by the Employment Bureau in the mines group totalled 373. This is a comparatively small number in comparison with the large forces at mine work, but the mines having their own employment departments have a long list of applicants for places. Approximately 80 per cent. of the placements in the mine group made by the Employment Bureau are for skilled men, namely, mill superintendent, mine captains, shift bosses, mining engineers, solution men, master mechanics, hoistmen, shaftmen and other fully experienced miners. Very few inexperienced men or helpers were asked for, large numbers of inexperienced men visiting the mines each day.

During the past year the logging industry has been very active, the local employment bureau making 1010 placements in this group. Pulpwood cutting on a piecework basis comprises the largest field of employment in this group. Strikes declared by the Lumberworkers Industrial Union affected some of the camps.

There has been much activity during the year in the building industry, building of private residences, stores, extensions and alterations being very numerous in Timmins and district. There was a shortage of plumbers and tinsmiths for a time.

In the latter part of January of this year the Timmins town council decided to use the Government Employment Bureau branch for the employing of all men for the works department of the town, including the local relief work and supplying labour to contractors on municipal contracts. In co-operation with local relief officer and municipal authorities, the local employment bureau aided in the distribution of such work to married men who were in greater need.

The local employment office also assisted in the placement of men for work on highway and other road work during the year, also in regard to work at the airport camps.

Placement of men for work on farms of the district totalled 114. Farming in this part of the North is not established to the same degree as in Southern Ontario. Dairy farms are the most prosperous. Vegetables do well in this district. The local market for produce is very good.

Brownie Activities of Dome Mine Pack

Full Pack of Twenty-four Present at Meeting at Dome Public School on Tuesday of Last Week.

The regular weekly meeting of the First Dome Mines Brownie Pack, was held Tuesday, Oct. 30th, in the Dome public school. A full pack of twenty-four answered the roll.

The meeting opened with a variation of Fairy Ring and Brownie songs; this followed by the Promise and Laws. The Brownie Law is two-fold, "A Brownie gives in to the older folk. A Brownie does not give in to herself." The "reef" knot with its uses, was taught, as part of the Second Class Badge work. Health rules, with special attention to why we should breathe through the nose, followed.

At the next signal, Brownies disappeared and suddenly mysterious figures appeared. A ghost slunk along the wall; a cook and Japanese lady, came arm in arm; Mrs. Big Nose brought her bouncing baby; Ella Cinders and several fashionable ladies, together with others in Halloween array, danced merrily in.

Each group of six, put on a little impromptu act, and a song, causing great merriment.

Then came the "treat". Sandwiches, cakes, and candies, with apples, and a big pot of "witches' brew" was enjoyed. The Brownies are grateful to the friendly White Owls, who sent them lovely cakes.

A happy band of little folk then gathered up the papers and bits, and left the Pack room neat and orderly, as Brownies always try to do.

KING BORIS
of Bulgaria narrowly escaped death when the train in which he was travelling from Sofia to Varna caught fire. Reports state the King played a prominent part in extinguishing the fire, and, after saving the locomotive driver from a fiery death, drove the train himself for the rest of the journey.

Inquest was Held in the Case of John Maki's Death

An inquest was held last night (Wednesday) into the death of John Maki, who was fatally injured when struck by a train on the Porcupine branch. The inquest was conducted by Coroner Groumet, at Iroquois Falls. John Maki, who lived near Barber's Bay, was walking on the railroad track when he received the injuries from which he died. Apparently he did not hear the approach of the freight train that struck him. On the other hand it is equally apparent that the engineer did not see him in time to stop the train. The freight had just rounded a curve when the man was noticed just a short distance away. Before the engineer really realized that there was a man walking on the track the train was right upon the unfortunate man. He was in the centre of the track and seemed to be struck with great force. Maki died soon after being hit.

Adjournment Made This Week in Cochrane Cases
There were seven cases at Cochrane in police court on Monday of this week when lumberjacks were charged with disturbing the peace. The men are alleged to have caused trouble in connection with the so-called strike of the camp workers in the area around Cochrane. When their case was called before the magistrate on Monday counsel for the men asked for a remand for a week and this was granted by the court.
