SOLVING THE PROBLEM

The two hundred business and professional men who heard Dr. Speakman's address at the annual board of trade banquet on Monday evening found it unusually interesting and inspiring. He gave a graphic picture of the resources of the North, with particular reference to the probable wealth of the lignite deposits north of Cochrane. His address indicated that from the lignite deposits and the clay beds of the North new industries may be developed to the advantage of the North. The round after round of applause given the guest speaker of the evening evidenced the appreciation felt for his excellent address.

There were some, however, who appear to have expected that Dr. Speakman would detail a plan or method whereby the difficulty of finding employment for the growing numbers of young men and young women in Timmins and district would be automatically overcome. Of course, there is no such plan or method possible. Even as gifted an observer and as keen a scientist as Dr. Speakman should not be expected to do the impossible. There were scores of hints, however, in the address of the evening whereby something may be done to overcome the difficulty. The address by Mr. Knox was also helpful in this direction. Other speakers, including Mr. Ennis, contributed thoughts that may assist in solving the problem.

The truth seems to be that the problem of finding suitable work for the young people is not a strictly North Land problem. It is a problem that faces other towns and cities in greater or less measure. Dr. Speakman's suggestions in regard to the reduction of working hours, greater attention to the employment of leisure hours, and a betterment of the aims and objects of life, point ways in which some alleviation of the situation may be expected. It is a large problem and must be dealt with in a large way. The addresses at the board of trade banquet were encouraging in the fact that they indicated that there are in the town and district men of talent and interest who are giving thought and interest to the solving of any problems that may present themselves. It should be kept in mind, however, that Timmins can not solve the particular problem that tempted President W. O. Langdon of the Timmins board of trade to induce Dr. Speakman to visit here and give his notable address. Were every young man and young woman now in Timmins to be gainfully employed to-morrow the situation would not long remain much bettered. There would almost immediately be another influx of people into the camp, with conditions quickly reverting to the unsatisfactory standing of to-day. Mr. Knox in outlining what the Hollinger had been doing to meet the situation told of the preference given to the sons of employees of the company and to the young men whose parents were old-time residents of the camp. Under ordinary conditions this would keep conditions so that they would not be too burdensome. The truth, however, is that there has been such an influx of outside people into the camp that nothing can be expected except unemployment that must naturally affect the young men and young women who are seeking their first work. In other words, if there had been no unusual outside addition to the population the expansion of the mines in the past few years would have absorbed a great part of the young men now seeking work.

To meet the situation in adequate way there must be a province-wide, a Dominion-wide, plan for the creation of employment for young and old. In this Dr. Speakman's suggestion for shorter hours of work should play important part. Mr. Knox's address showed that the mines have been attempting to solve the problem so far as Timmins is concerned. Other towns and cities must take up the question in earnest. If they do, it will be found that the situation in Timmins will not be worse than in other towns, but Timmins in this matter as well as in other affairs will be found to be well abreast of the times.

CARTING THE CART WHEEL

According to despatches from Ottawa this week it is the apparent intention of the Dominion Government to inflict the burdensome dollar upon a long-suffering public. A Canadian silver dollar is said to be about to make its appearance. Years ago the public had to carry round the cumbersome and weighty silver dollars. "Cart wheels" they were termed, and it took a strong man to cart many of them in his trousers pocket. Also it took strong pockets in the trousers. The Government has recently decided on the trimming down of the dollar bills. What will that profit if the unwieldy dollar is added to the currency of the day? The Government apparently is not satisfied with foisting extra change on the postage stamps for the people to lick but the administration at Ottawa also appears to be contemplating the weighing down of loyal people by making heavy silver a part of the day's burden.

The despatches suggest that the proposed new coin is to be only a little larger in circumference than the present half-dollar. Against this, it is admitted that the coin is to be just a little thicker. This may appear all right in print, but in the pockets of the people the new coins will likely weigh them down. There is something particularly depressing in the thought that the new silver dollar may be truthfully referred to as equivalent to "one-fifth of a pound."

The Canadian silver dollar is said to be considered as an appropriate way to commemorate the 25th anniversary of King George's accession to the throne on May 6th, 1910. Why blame it on the King. If he had been weighed down with silver dollars he would never have been able to ascend the throne.

The new dollar of silver is to be called the "George dollar." So they say! But it will be called worse things than that, before it is recalled.

The first minting of the new Canadian silver dollar will run to at least 100,000 which is a big load to carry.

There is no chance that anyone is likely to refuse a silver dollar these days. But that doesn't prove the popularity of silver dollars. The half-dollar is heavy enough and cumbersome enough in all conscience. When a man has a couple of half-dollar pieces in his pocket he has not room enough for his lunch pal; he has to carry it.

The new issue of silver dollars may be welcomed in Cobalt. It may help to rejuvenate the old silver camp. But if it doesn't it will be too bad for those concerned.

GRAVEL AND SAND—AND PLACER

At the annual banquet of the Timmins board of trade, the Porcupine Welsh Miner's Choir sang a number of choruses. The music presented by the Welsh Choir was unusually pleasing but still more pleasing was the generous and friendly spirit that prompted the choir to offer its services without costs of any kind.

A number of newspapers are greatly perturbed because a lady in Vancouver, after having been on relief for some time, is alleged to be in jail because she could not, or would not, pay the fine of $100 and costs, levied for failure to pay her current year's radio license fee. Frankly, The Advance does not believe the story as outlined herewith. It does not seem reasonable. It will likely be found that there are other circumstances and conditions in connection with the matter. It speaks something for something or other, that a woman on relief should have a radio and not be able to pay the small fee necessary to fulfil the law.

A young man whose last name is Ferguson and whose other names are Gordon Howard was in police court at Sudbury the other day. Fancy law officials appointed by the Hepburn Government dealing with "G. Howard Ferguson."

Newspaper editors have figured out that a recent issue of a Toronto newspaper contained enough newsprint paper to lay a strip 6 ft. wide by 700 miles in length. Why anyone should wish to lay a strip of 6 ft. wide passes understanding, but let that pass. The wood pulp required to make enough newsprint paper for that issue would denude 30 acres, the editors say, and they are alarmed about this because they see the end of Canada's pulpwood resources if this denuding continues. It is another instance of the topsy-turvy condition of the world to-day that while this fear about pulpwood resources is in progress, workmen at Iroquois Falls, Sturgeon Falls and other Falls are alarmed because they are not being supplied with enough work at the paper mills to keep them occupied, the demand for newsprint not equaling the supply.

New York newspapermen seem to have a queer sense of humor. They asked Dr. Dafoe his opinion of birth control.

Geo. W. Lee, former chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway commission, this week called upon the new commission in session at North Bay, congratulated them on their appointment and wished them well. That is like the genial former chairman and it is a reason why most people were so sorry when he was deposed.

There is considerable excitement among some of the newspapers because the Manitoba Government has proclaimed Boxing Day, Dec. 26th, a holiday for that province. For years past The Advance has advocated three-day holidays—a day to prepare, a day to enjoy and a day to sober up.

COMPLIMENTS ON THE NEW ISSUE OF SEMI-WEEKLY.

The Northern Miner, considered by most people who ought to know as the best mining newspaper published had the following note published in its issue of last week:—

"No better evidence of the growth of northern mining fields than the broadening out of the two principal newspapers that serve them. A few weeks ago The Northern News of Kirkland Lake went on a twice-a-week basis with a Canadian Press news service. On Monday the Porcupine Advance also graduated to the bi-weekly class. Splendidly edited and well printed, both papers are a credit to the communities they serve."

250 LB. MAN LOSES 20 LBS.

And Looks 10 Years Younger

"About three months ago," writes a correspondent, "I weighed 250 lbs. I started taking Kruschen Salts, and I lost 20 lbs. in a little over two months. I am feeling better than I have in years. My friends tell me I look ten years younger, and my step has an elasticity which is amazing. I shall boost Kruschen Salts wherever I go."
—J. McC.

Kruschen contains just the six salts blended in just the right proportion, that are essential to keep you in continual good health. Kruschen Salts keeps the system free from encumbering waste matter. Unless this waste is expelled regularly, it will give rise to rheumatic and other body poisons. And Nature is liable to take the defensive measure of storing this poison-breeding material out of the way in the form of fatty tissue.

Mac Lang Not to be Out of the Election

Chairman of T. & N. O. Says he will Contest Temiskaming in the Liberal Interests.

According to an announcement made at North Bay by Col. Mac Lang, the new chairman of the T. & N. O., he has no intention of dropping out of the Dominion election contest in South Temiskaming. Some weeks ago he was nominated as the Liberal candidate for that riding, a protest against the nomination being registered by Jos. A. Legris, of Haileybury, who claimed that the convention was irregular in many ways and particularly in the fact that a number of people voted whom Mr. Legris claimed were not accredited delegates. Col. Lang, however, beyond saying that the convention was regular, did not carry on any discussion in the matter but it was understood that he intended to be the Liberal candidate all right. Then along comes the appointment of Col. Lang as chairman of the T. & N. O., and reports at once became current to the effect that he would withdraw as a candidate on account of the new appointment he had taken in Government employ. It is these rumors of his resignation that Col. Lang now denies. He told newspapermen at North Bay this week that he was not resigning as the Liberal candidate in South Temiskaming. "I'll be right in the thick of the fight," he is quoted as saying.

If Col. Lang continues in the field in South Temiskaming, he will be running against Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labour, Minister of Mines, etc. Hon. Mr. Gordon and Col. Lang were opposed to each other in the last Dominion election and had a strenuous but friendly battle. There is talk that in addition to Col. Lang and Hon. W. A. Gordon a third and even a fourth candidate may be in the field in the riding. There is said to be a possibility that an independent Liberal candidate may enter the fight just as occurred in 1925 in the North Temiskaming riding. Also it is suggested that a straight Labour party candidate may enter the battle in Temiskaming South.

PARENTS OF QUINTUPLETS MAY VISIT WASHINGTON, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne, parents of the quintuplets at Corbeil, have been invited to visit the United States and if they do they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Herridge, Hon. Mr. Herridge is the Canadian Minister to Washington. They will not take the trip, however, if they finally decide to accept the invitation, until Dr. Dafoe returns from his holiday in New York.

DIVIDENDS OF HOLLINGER TOTAL $1.40 FOR THE YEAR

Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Limited set up a new record in the payment of dividends with the declaration Thursday of a five-cent payment plus a bonus of five cents, payable December 31st to shareholders of record December 13. The declaration brings the total for the year 1934 to $1.40 per share, the largest sum paid in the history of the company. Regular dividends for the year amount to 65 cents, while a total of 75 cents was paid in bonuses. Since 1930 regular dividends amounted to 65 cents, while bonus of five cents were paid in 1930 and 1931, 10 cents in 1933 and 20 cents last year.

Store Doors Should be Securely Locked

Business Places Should Help Protect Their Premises. Many Doors Found Open.

Recently the police have been finding as many as three and four store doors open in a night. On their nightly parole of the business section of the town the police try each and every door, front and back entrances. It is easy to see that a door left open leaves an easy help to burglars and thieves. The idea of the police in trying all the doors is to see that all is well and that no easy entrances are provided for these criminals inclined. Through the special efforts of the town police robberies and thefts have been reduced to a minimum, and they want to keep it so. For this reason the help of the business men should be very cheerfully given. One special way in which they can help the police and help themselves is by carefully noting that both front and back doors are securely fastened before the business place is left for the night. It would be well to see that the back entrance is as well guarded as possible so as to minimize the danger of burglars or thieves. In most cases also it is a good plan to leave one or more lights burning all night. If this is done consistently the police know at once that something is wrong if the light is out, and they will investigate. This system has been followed for many years by most banks and has been found of much advantage. When the light is burning in the regular way it is difficult for intruders to carry on improper work without being noticed. With the present careful and efficient police force a little co-operation from the public in general and the business men in particular will assure the best of protection. Be sure that the doors of your store or business place are securely fastened each night. It will save you time and trouble. When the police find a door open they notify the owner or manager of the store and remain in charge until the place is securely fastened.

Population Needed Hence Quintuplets

So Says Dr. Dafoe to the Newspaper Men at New York on Visit There.

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, famous as the doctor in attendance on the Corbeil quintuplets since birth, is on a visit to New York and has created more or less of a sensation there. He is accompanied by his brother, Dr. W. A. Dafoe, of Toronto, and the latter's wife. On their arrival at New York they were met by newspapermen, photographers, motion picture men and nine tall policemen.

He was able to handle the reporters in good fashion and evidently won their regard by his good humour and his sense of humour. He told the newspaper men that what impressed him about New York was its great size and the evident friendliness of its people. He expressed a desire to meet Al Smith who was considered an important man in and around Callender. Dr. Dafoe answered the questions of the reporters by saying that the quintuplets were doing extremely well and at a guess he figured their total weight as 58 to 59 pounds, as against 12 pounds nine ounces as a total for the five at birth.

"I want to see all of New York while here," he is quoted as saying. "I want to see the subways and the zoo and maybe a night club if we have time. I've heard of such things. I want to see what we don't have up north."

When asked seriously by a lady reporter if he thought modern women spent too much time in night clubs, the New York newspapers say that he answered:—"I don't know. All they do up north is have large families."

"Do you agree with Arthur Brisbane that Mrs. Dionne is the first woman of 1934?"

"As far as the north country is concerned," he said, "we need the population. The Dionne five came from good stock. The French-Canadian stock was as good as there was on the North American continent, virile, free of diseases, 'A-1' and led a normal life."

Dr. Dafoe said there were no new medical discoveries made when the quintuplets appeared on the scene. The only feeling he had was that he didn't know much about it. He felt as though he had had a bad dream, he was amazed, it seemed unreal.

Mrs. Dionne was pretty sick and didn't know about the arrival of the quintuplets for a couple of days. Her first expression when she knew about it was, "Holy Mary!"

He admitted to having assisted at around 1400 births. The Callender district had a high birth rate, he said, as was evidenced by the fact that a section of 1000 population 400 were going to school. Another paragraph given by New York papers about the interview reads as follows:—"It was the healthiest climate in the world about there, cold but steady. People didn't have T.B. or much of anything except babies. They didn't bother with inoculations because there was a sort of feeling against it."

The reporters asked him the most intimate and personal questions but

Thieves Cause Damage and Loss at Schumacher

While J. E. Harvey, 12 Railroad St., Schumacher, was at work on the evening of Dec 7th, or the morning of the 8th, his home was broken into and he suffered both loss and damage from the thief or thieves. A trunk in the house was forcibly opened and twenty dollars taken as well as a gold Albert. The clothing in the trunk as well as numerous papers and documents were scattered over the floors. Effort was also made to secure other articles of value, even the pictures on the walls being removed. The police at Schumacher were informed of the crime and are at work on the case. The robbery took place sometime between ten at night and seven in the morning, but it is difficult to decide on the exact time of the robbery and damage. Live other cases of sneak-thieving not only was there loss from the goods stolen but also from the damage caused by the miscreants in their work.

Odd Items to be Found in the News of the Day

Several readers of The Advance have mentioned the little collection of odd items of news published in The Advance on Monday. They liked the items, oddity and the unusual having quite a popular appeal. Here are a couple more from the Chronicle News Bits of the Huntingdon Gleaner:—

The first is about a man who has the odd occupation of hunting for doubles for famous people who like to have doubles at command on occasion for various reasons.

"The occupation of Carl W. Loigren, Worcester, Mass., is to hunt doubles of celebrities, particularly movie stars. During his 13 years in this job he estimates he has interviewed 1,700 persons, most of whom he photographed because of their likeness to famous persons for whom doubles are wanted. A favorite spot from which Loigren conducts his search is Times Square, New York city, where he can study the faces of thousands of passersby in a single day. Sometimes he has trouble convincing a stranger he has stopped that he is not a faker of some kind trying to work some slicker game, but on presenting his credentials and convincing his prospect of his mission, he rarely has further difficulties. A photograph with name and address are then filed for future reference."

The second is one of the sort of items that would be difficult to believe were it not sponsored by The London Lancet, world-known for its accuracy and scientific carefulness:—

"In an English medical journal, the Lancet, Dr. T. East reports the case of a man who complained of a stomach ache after supper, but took his wife to a movie just the same. In the wait between shows the man took out a cigarette and scratched a match, but when he applied the light to the end of the cigarette there was an explosion which blew the cigarette across several rows of seats, singed the man's moustache and burned his fingers. Dr. East explains this mishap was caused by the gas from the victim's stomach mingling with air taken in by breathing in just the right proportions to make it inflammable. He literally ignited his breath, causing the explosion."

From the Deseronto Post.—Mrs. Irene Castle, featured on the Hoover radio program on Sunday afternoon, was once a resident of Deseronto at the time of the war. She is still remembered by many as the first lady in Deseronto to openly smoke cigarettes and wear bobbed hair.

Booting the Famous Five Babies at Corbeil, Ont.

According to word from Auburn, Maine, a shoe factory in that fair city is busy at present making five tiny pair of shoes from the cleanest and most pliable of leather obtained. The shoes, selected from hundreds of lasts by a board of specialists, will be Christmas gifts to the world-famous children. Now only a little more than six months old, the quintuplets are not likely to give them any wear for some months yet.

Is This the Limit in the Line of Meanest Thefts?

The meanest crook in the world has been discovered. He is the man who literally steals another man's teeth. As a result of his theft the Canadian National Railways are supplying transportation to bring an unfortunate Pickering River guide on a round trip of more than 500 miles.

Dr. W. J. Langmaid of Oshawa and a party of friends were hunting about 25 miles up the Pickering. In recognition of the guide's excellent work the doctor promised to readjust the false teeth which fitted badly. The necessary measurements were taken of the guide's mouth and the plates packed in the doctor's travelling kit. Someone broke into the baggage car, in which the kit was contained, at the Toronto terminals, and among the few things taken were the teeth.

Yesterday H. C. Bourlier, general passenger agent of the National system, authorized a ticket to be sent the guide from Pickering River to Oshawa and return, and over the week-end he will start on his long journey to be furnished with a new set of teeth.

"CANADA'S NATURAL RESOURCES AND THE MUSCLE AND BRAWN OF HER MEN"

The FORESTS

The great forests that cover one-third of Canada, and which rank second to agriculture as a source of natural wealth, provide means of livelihood, directly or indirectly, to millions of Canadian men and women.

Since the time of the hardy pioneers, strong men have voluntarily forsaken the comforts and security of home to ally themselves with the work of turning this vast wealth into productive forms. Gripping stories have been written of the men—of the hazards they faced—the hardships they endured—of the camp conditions, now happily obsolete, which prevailed in the genesis of Canada's lumbering activities.

For the past twenty-one years—short years in Canada's lumber trade history but years marked by rapidly changing conditions and methods—"Canada's Biggest Cook" has been prominently identified with the lumber industry. Serving strengthening, heartening food to the men in the bush, establishing and improving housing conditions in the camps and relieving executives of the details of maintenance, Crawley and McCracken are proud to have participated in the development of Canada's natural resources by promoting the welfare of the men in the field of action.
