Planning to Assist the Pulpwood Trade

The Ontario Government will decide in the next few days whether to reduce stumpage due on pulpwood as it has done on lumber, Premier Hepburn announced at Toronto Monday night.

Reduction of stumpage on wood used in lumbering operations provided employment for 10,000 additional men, said the Premier, adding the Government is trying to give the same consideration to pulpwood operators.

The Government is interested in finding a market for Canadian sulphite pulp in the United States where imports from Scandinavian countries have shown a startling increase during the last few years, Mr. Hepburn stated.

In 1918, the United States imported 112,000 tons of sulphite pulp from Scandinavian producers and in 1932 this increased to 262,000.

The Premier said a reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States would help this situation but he didn't believe Canada's bid for the pulp trade would be successful unless Canada could quote competitive prices.

and others who have important letters not in time for the closing of the mails at the post office.

The third suggestion will also be considered a good one by most people. It is to the effect that mail receiving boxes be established at strategic points throughout the town. Such mail boxes would be a great convenience to the residents in general, if the cost of the boxes and the necessary cost for clearing were not too great.

Fire Does Big Damage at Lancaster, Ontario

Word this morning from Lancaster, Ont., is to the effect that a bad fire in the business section of the village caused a damage loss of probably $35,000. Misfortune has blocked every effort of the fire-fighters to check the spread of the flames, and eventually it seemed that the people could do little more than stand back and see the fire burn itself out. For twelve hours yesterday the fire raged in the business section of the town wiping out four buildings and damaging a fifth. The loss from yesterday's fire at Lancaster is placed at $30,000 to $35,000.

Highlights in the Trial of Hauptman at New Jersey

The chief highlights in the Hauptman trial this week has been the grueling cross-examination of the man accused of kidnapping and murdering the baby son of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh. The State Attorney made Hauptman admit to a number of misstatements and had the usually cool and collected prisoner stammering and sweating. In the main, however, Hauptman stuck to his story that he got the money from Fisch and that he had nothing to do with the kidnapping and murder. His alibi as to his whereabouts the night of the crime are also holding up to some extent. Hauptman's wife was on the stand and gave evidence in her husband's favour. Carlstrom, an unemployed carpenter, electrified the court on Tuesday by insisting he saw Hauptman in the Bronx bakery where his wife worked on the night of March 1st, 1932 when the baby was stolen. The State, however, is said to have evidence to upset this and will also move to prosecute Carlstrom on a charge of murder. The trial drags along.

Toronto Trains to Make Better Speed

Will Better Present Time by 2 1/2 Hours in Run from Toronto. Still Running over C.N.R. Lines.

In the article last week giving details of the new train service effective on Sunday, Feb. 3rd, a typographical error made it appear that the trains Nos. 46 and 47 would run over the C.P.R. right-of-way between North Bay and Toronto. Of course, it should have read C.N.R. right-of-way.

The chief point however, is that on the C.N.R. between North Bay and Toronto the new service is speeded up, saving about an hour and a half in running time, while nearly another hour is saved in running time between North Bay and Timmins. This brings No. 47 into Timmins at 4:45 p.m., instead of 5:35, though the train leaves Toronto at 11:10 instead of 9:35 p.m. as at present. Similar speeding up also obtains on the service to Toronto. The Toronto train now comes into Timmins instead of going to Cochrane as has been the case in recent times.
