

The Household by Lydia Le Baron Walker

SOME WAYS OF TREATING WINDOWS WITHOUT VIEWS SO LACK IS NOT FELT.

It is the province of a homemaker at one time or another, to decorate a window without a view, or from which an uninteresting vista presents. The object in such cases becomes one of making the window in itself decorative. Those who have lived in city apartments, even of high rentals, are apt to have at least one such window to treat thus. Today let me tell you of some decorative windows which have given an impression of green foliage without, or have made gay features in rooms. One thing which is pleasant to realize is that these treatments have not been expensive.

Colour Combinations

One homemaker in a city apartment had a living room with three windows. One of these windows had a good view and was sunny. The other two had no sun. Another apartment house was too close. The brick walls were uninteresting. A green cotton crepe with tiny dull red motifs was selected. It fell in soft folds, down each side of the windows, leaving a narrow space between which showed sunlight-yellow net curtains of close weave which shut out the view.

Sunshine and Foliage Effect

Beneath one window was a window seat upholstered in the same green crepe with two upstanding cushions across the back also covered in the crepe. Hanging down rather low from the centre top of the window was an ivy bowl; an amethyst glass bunch of grapes, with sprays of ivy trailing from it. The whole thing was silhouetted against the yellow net. The colour scheme was delightful, the effect of sunlight was attained, while the crisp green of the growing leaves suggested outside foliage.

Fern for Greenery

The other window was dressed in the same way except that a flourishing fern on a colourful tiled stand, spread its fronds across the draperies, instead of the ivy. The sunshine and foliage effect were present. From the window fronting on a park the yellow net curtains were drawn back enough for the view to attract the eye. The window treatment was a great success adding to the attractiveness of a room which otherwise could so well have been marred by inadequate draperies.

Dining Room Window

In a New York apartment of very high rental, one of the windows in the back of the dining room had no outlook. The furnishings were handsome and the window, while permitting light to enter must be adequately treated. A Madras curtaining was successful. The colours were exquisite and rich. Light could seep through them, while the café au lait background let the light in well without revealing what lay beyond the window.

Health Insurance for Poor of Province

Plan Announced by Hon. D. Croll, Minister of Public Welfare. Some of the Special Provisions.

A despatch from Toronto says that compulsory health insurance for destitute in all Ontario organized municipalities with the province and municipalities sharing the cost was announced by Hon. David A. Croll, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs.

The plan, which will become effective March 1, affects recipients of direct relief and war veterans, drawing small pensions, and their wives and children. Special arrangements for the unorganized Northern Ontario districts are now under consideration, Mr. Croll said.

Pay 25 Cents a Month

The Minister described the plan as an agreement between the Government and the medical practitioners of Ontario, through the Ontario Medical Association, whereby the province and municipality will pay 25 cents per person per month for every destitute man, woman and child in organized municipalities and the association in return undertakes to provide treatment and medicine through the family doctor and local druggist.

The 25 cent fee will be divided on the same ratio as the division of direct relief costs, Mr. Croll said, adding in most instances the division in most instances the division is two-thirds from the province and one-third from the municipality. He did not anticipate any advance in medical relief costs.

Declaring it is the first time so extensive a venture towards state medicine has been made in Canada, Mr. Croll said the plan was evolved at a series of conferences between himself and the executive of the Ontario Medical Association. The proposal today received the approval of the Government of Premier Hepburn.

"The kernel of the plan," Mr. Croll said, "is that public health becomes a matter of immediate economic advantage to the physician. We pay the doctors to keep people well."

Limited to Essential Medicines

Treatment will be confined to what is proper and necessary in the individual case, he said, and will be limited to essential medicines, dispensed by a qualified pharmacist, except in outlying districts where the doctor must dispense his own medicine.

"Administration will cost us nothing," he stated, "but will be in the hands of small local committees representative of the medical profession and including at least one druggist and relief officer. The committees will be subject to the regulations laid down by the Department of Public Welfare."

Canada One of Nations with a Million Phones

Canada is one of the five nations of the world in which there are a million or more telephones. United States has 53 per cent. of all the telephones in the world. The other nations in order of their number of telephones are Germany, Great Britain (including Northern Ireland), France and Canada.

W. F. B. Cadman, now of New Liskeard, but formerly of Timmins, used to hold that the number of telephones any place would be found to be about equal to the number of automobiles. This has been proven to be the fact in regard to Timmins and other North Land towns and one or two Southern places where a check-up was made. If it is true over the world, then it follows that in number of automobiles Canada stands fifth in the world.

Recommendations to Fish and Game Dept.

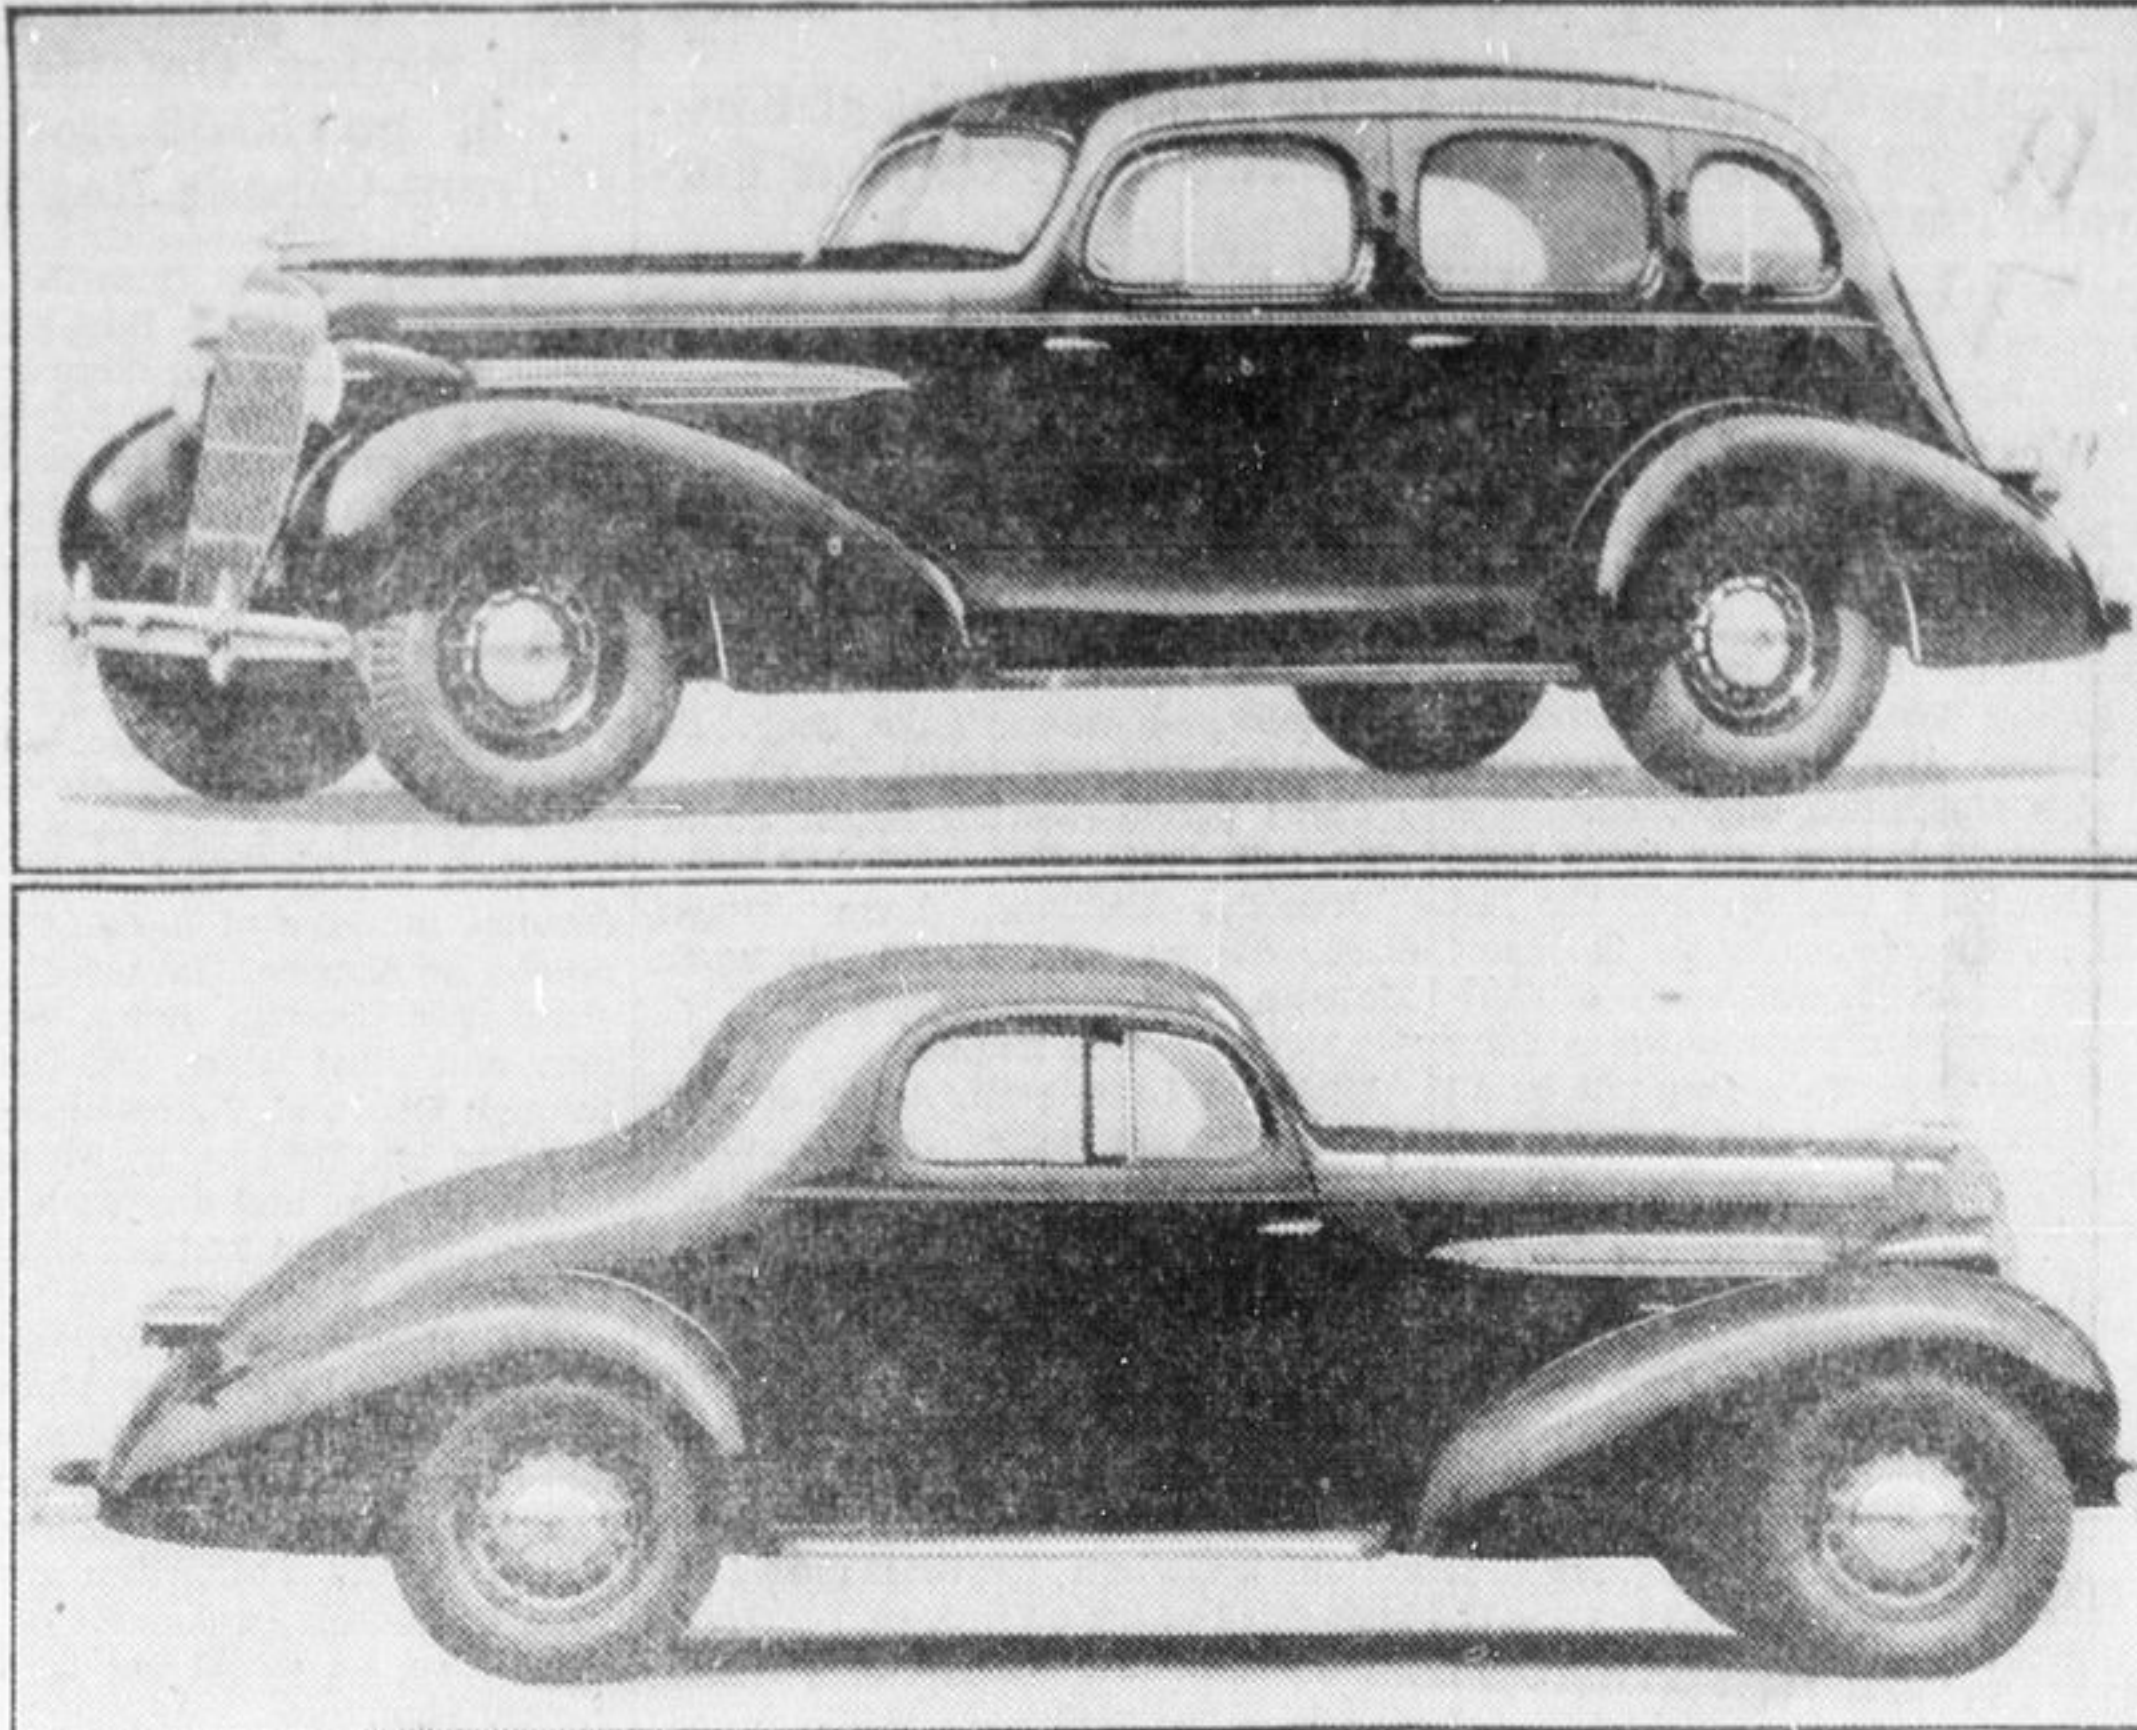

Game Protective Association Asks Regulations to Meet Conditions of Present Day.

Zoning of the province into districts, in each of which laws affecting gun licenses, seasons and use of rifles shall be specifically adjusted to cope with local seasonal and other conditions, was recommended for consideration by the Department of Game and Fisheries at the annual meeting of the Ontario Hunters' Game Protective Association at Toronto.

Other measures approved for submission to the department were:

1. Two years' license suspension for game law infractions in addition to present penalties.
 2. Restriction of the duck season by 30 days to the period from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1.
 3. Approval of international consideration of a one or two-year closed season on ducks.
 4. Establishment of a season, Oct. 1 to Feb. 1, on cottontail and jackrabbits.
 5. Prohibition of the use of rifles of any calibre in Southern Ontario.
 6. Prohibition of ferrets in rabbit hunting.
 7. Limitation of "drive" parties to 15 members.
 8. Prohibition of the feeding of ducks for bait purposes.
 9. Establishment of sanctuaries for water-fowl and upland game.
 10. Serious consideration of an open season on bear, with a bounty for pelts.
 11. Appointment of a commission to study wolves, with particular search for a lure to aid in attracting them to traps and guns.
 12. Recommendation that dogs be allowed in deer hunting, and recommendation of an open season on muskrat south of the French and Mattawa Rivers.
- J. L. Reid, president of the Eastern Ontario Association, said that his association had urged his attendance at the meeting for the specific purpose that he should propose a committee, formed of all allied hunters' associations, which would work in an advisory capacity with the department in considering a zoning plan. This was received enthusiastically by the meeting and a recommendation to this effect passed.
- Charges that "Ontario is paying bounty on old dog wolves that are so decrepit that they can't hunt and tumble into traps," were voiced by L. J. Houston of Nakina. Mr. Houston stated

T. & N. O. Revenue Showing Increase

Col. Mac Lang Chairman, Says Costs are lower than the Canadian Pacific or Canadian National.

Word from Toronto is to the effect that Col. Mac Lang, chairman, and A. H. Cavanagh, general manager of the T. & N. O. Railway, had a conference one day last week in the city with Premier Hepburn. After the conference, which lasted over an hour, none of those present would give out anything for publication. It is understood, however, that the discussion was in regard to finances and the general operation of the railway. Special features of the work of the commission were not dealt with, but the general situation was considered in broad way. Premier Hepburn is said to be anxious to get a general grip of the position and general situation of the railway so that he will be able to answer questions and defend the policy of the government in the matter when the legislature opens this week. There is every reason to expect that a great number of questions will be asked in regard to the attitude of the government towards the T. & N. O., and the premier is trying to post himself so that his answers will have a certain amount of plausibility. Some people would think that the premier had posted himself on the T. & N. O. before the last election, but this is not the case. He made broad statements in regard to the railway and its operations and since then has been attempting to justify his pre-election attitude. It is understood that after the meeting last week announcement was made that the costs of operating the T. & N. O. are lower than either the C.P.R. or C.N.R.

Premier Hepburn has been quoted since the meeting as declaring that increased business has been enjoyed recently by the T. & N. O., due to greater lumbering activity and also to expansion and development in the mining fields.

North Demands Proper Broadcasting Station

Continuing its discussion of the radio needs of the North, The New Liskeard Speaker last week reprinted an editorial from The North Bay Nugget, prefacing the editorial with the following comment:

"For some time past The Speaker has urged upon the Radio Commission and the Federal Government the undisputed fact that Northern Ontario and Northwestern Quebec has been given a raw deal so far as broadcasting is concerned. If the Radio Commission thinks otherwise it has been sadly misled. Following the motion of the New Liskeard Board of Trade, the demand has been general for the correction of this condition. We have it on the authority of the president of the Associated Boards of Trade that information given before that board at its meeting in Timmins, when a snap vote was secured, was not in accordance with facts, and he (the president) repudiates the resolution which then requested the government to install a line for the benefit of private interests. Private interests should have nothing to do with such an undertaking. Following up the discussion connected with Northern Ontario's demand for the installation of a broadcasting station suitable to the needs of Ontario's North, The North Bay Nugget adds its ideas, with which we thoroughly agree. Let every organization and every municipality forward resolutions to the secretary of the New Liskeard Board of Trade expressing their demands for better radio broadcasting."

Planning to Cut off the Government House Costs

The resolution by means of which the Hepburn Government will seek this session to end provincial contributions to the maintenance of Chorley Park, official home of the Lieutenant-Governor, will, it was rumored at Queen's Park, Tuesday, says The Mail and Empire, be introduced shortly after the House assembly. In view of the leadership which Mr. Hepburn personally has given to this anti-maintenance issue, it is likely that he will move the House's acceptance of the resolution.

In unofficial circles at Queen's Park it is believed that the moment that such a resolution is adopted—and the Government admittedly has sufficient support in the House to carry it—present provincial aid to the upkeep of Chorley Park automatically ceases notwithstanding the fact there are money votes on record providing for the maintenance to the end of the current fiscal year on Oct. 31.

Mr. Hepburn is reported to take the stand that estimates already voted will not be interfered with, but should the proposed resolution have the effect claimed for it in other quarters, he probably will see the Lieutenant-Governor dispossessed of his formal home sooner than he calculated.

Goward Gold Mines to Take Over the Central Temagami

Central Temagami Gold Syndicate held a meeting of unitholders in Toronto last week, and approved a by-law to form a new company to take over and develop the syndicate's property in the Temagami gold area.

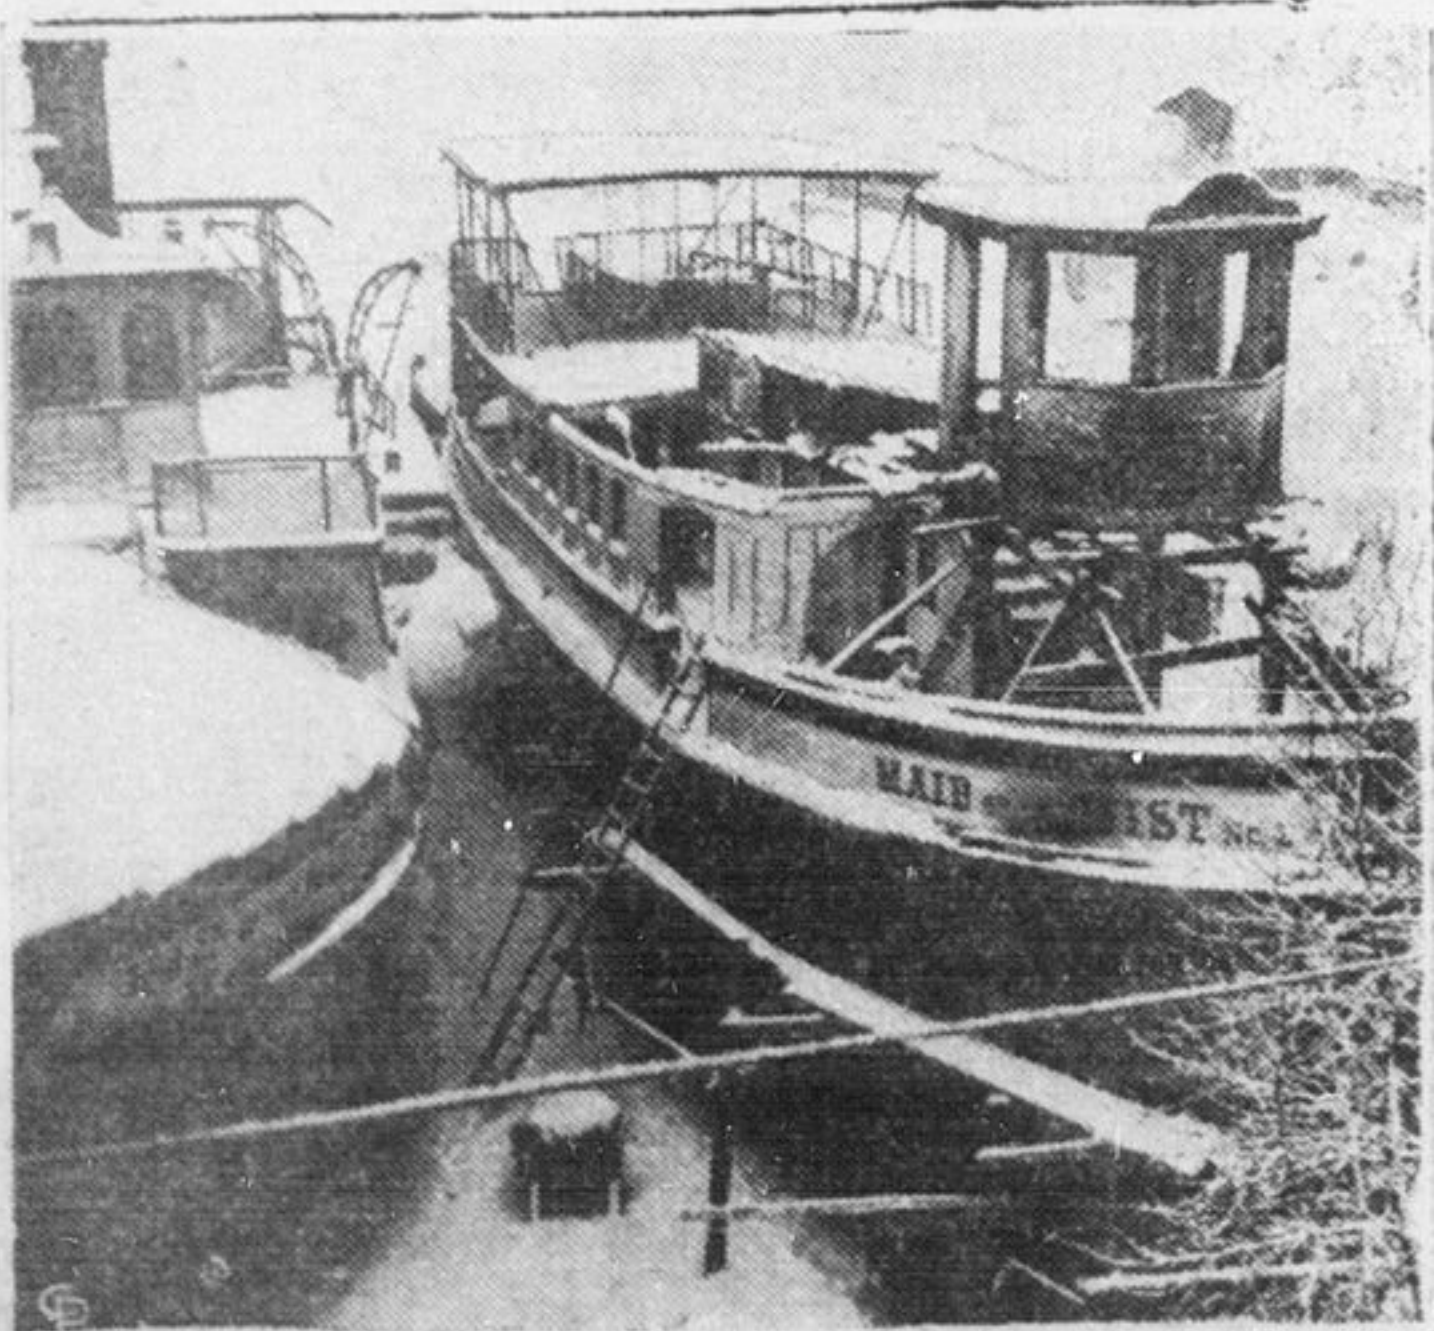

The proposed new company will be known as Goward Gold Mines Limited, and will be capitalized at 3,000,000 shares of $1 par value. Two hundred shares of the new company's stock will be issued for each unit held in the old company.

It is reported through P. G. Ferguson, the company's manager, that encouraging results have been secured at the property.

Central Temagami Gold Syndicate was formed on July 18, 1934, and has a capital of 2,500 units of $10 par value. Its holdings consist of 12 claims approximately 480 acres in Chambers and Strathly townships, one and a half miles south of the Cuntipau property. The company states that 14 veins have been discovered, running in length from 100 to 150 feet.

Stayner Sun:—More than one instance of radio programmes coming from stoves has been reported. To judge by the quality of some of these, that's the place for them.
