Wages and Water Topics at Special Council Meet

Arrangements Made for Reduction in Water Rates. Salaries of Town Officials Dealt with. Other Matters Before Special Meeting of Council Monday.

The special council meeting on Monday night paved the way for the coming general reduction in water rates. The old rates still stand pending the signing of a new contract with Hollinger at a reduction of one-half cent per thousand gallons but it is expected that before another quarter's water rates are due, the reduction, which will be considerable, will be passed along to the public.

Water and salaries of town officials were apparently the big subjects under discussion in a meeting that lasted from 7:30 p.m. until nearly midnight. The mayor and all councillors were present.

Reduction in the rental charge for meters will go into effect next quarter. Where the rental charge used to be 25 cents a month, it is now 25 cents for three months. Reduction on rentals for all sizes amount to one-third. Here are the new rates:—half-inch meters, 25 cents per quarter; three-quarter inch meters, 35 cents per quarter; one and one-half inch meters, one dollar per month; and two inch meters, $1.25 per month. Of the 126 meters now installed in the town of Timmins, the half-inch ones are well in the majority, as there are more than 75 of them, compared with about 25 three-quarter inch, six one inch, nine one and one-half inch and five two inch. Only very large users of water such as the schools, hospital and hotels require the larger sized meters.

Flat Rate for Some. In the case of some places where meters were at one time installed and have since been taken out owing to the fact that not enough water to warrant the use of a meter was used, a list of business places in town was placed on a flat rate of two dollars a month. They will now pay three months in advance instead of after they have used the water. The change will not cost the user more money, nor will it deprive the municipality of any revenue.

In the April, May and June quarter of water rate payments, the discount for prompt payment of accounts will be increased from 15 per cent, to 20 per cent. This should mean a considerable saving for those water users who take advantage of it. This, as well as the other changes, was made on the recommendation of the waterworks committee.

Town Salaries Adjusted Salaries of town employees and officials have been re-adjusted. Some are slightly higher, others remain the same.

Scenery and Lighting at High School Theatricals

In the report in The Advance last week of the theatre nights at the Timmins High and Vocational School on Feb. 14th and 15th the confusion of some lines of type in the making of corrections on the proof left one paragraph incomplete and somewhat mixed. This paragraph referred to the scenery, stage effects and lighting for the theatre nights. The scenery, lighting and stage effects were outstanding and those responsible deserve the highest credit. As a matter of record and fairness The Advance would repeat here what was written last week.

Special mention should also be made of the scenery, stage settings and the lighting effects. These were unusually well made and arranged. For the "Romance of the Willow Pattern" the effects were strikingly beautiful and artistic and won general approval. The scenery was by Miss Briffett, Mr. McDowell, Mr. Worthington and the students of the Art and Woodworking departments. The lighting was by Mr. McDowell, Mr. Vogel, and the Electrical department. The scenery, stage settings and lighting effects were equal to those of any first-class professional company.

Rare Moose Head Lost in Massey, Ont.

Monster Moose Head with Double set of Antlers, and Very Valuable, Destroyed in Fire at Massey, Ont.

Recently John Andrews billiard room and barber shop at Massey, Ont., was destroyed by fire, the building and contents being a total loss. H. A. Preston, old-timer of the North, points out to The Advance that one of the rarest moose heads in the world was destroyed in that Massey fire. It was a monster head and had a double set of antlers with about thirty prongs and wide blades. Such a head would earn a fortune in New York in time by drawing business, Mr. Preston thinks. There are very few moose in the world with double antlers, he notes, and this one was an unusually remarkable specimen. Mr. Preston at one time offered Mr. Andrews $300.00 for the head, but Mr. Andrews would not sell it then. Several Timmins people, some of them formerly living at Massey, and others visiting there have seen the head.

FLYING HAMBURGER, EUROPE'S FAMOUS STREAMLINE TRAIN

Most famous of all the European streamlined trains, the Flying Hamburger of the German Railways, accelerates swiftly to the maximum speed of 100 miles an hour so smoothly that passengers aboard hardly feel the effect of speed, according to E. L. Diamond, British engineer, who describes a ride on this famous train in an article published in the February issue of the Canadian National Railways Magazine. Despite "slow orders" here and there along the route during the journey, the Flying Hamburger completed her run of 178.1 miles from Hamburg to the Lehrte Bahnhof (Berlin) in only 139 minutes 30 seconds on the occasion described.

Several Jail Terms at Tuesday's Police Court

Woman Vagrant Sentenced. Lad of 17 Committed for Trial for Robbery with Violence. Jail Term for Securing Credit by False Pretences. Other Cases This Week.

Thirty-six cases were disposed of in Timmins police court on Tuesday in less than two hours and a half. The majority were common drunks, each of whom paid $10 and costs for their fun. Five were for parking of cars contrary to the town by-laws and each offender paid one dollar and costs or a total of seven dollars. Five speeders were assessed $10 and costs each. One motorist pleaded guilty to not stopping at the corner of Spruce street and Third avenue. His fine of two dollars and costs amounted to eight dollars.

With the warning that "We're going to put a stop to all this business," Magistrate Atkinson assessed two men $10 and costs each for indecent exposure. For rapping on people's doors on Balsam street north at an early hour in the morning, a man was assessed two dollars and costs on the evidence of a town constable.

A woman, who when asked why she was not able to go on with her case, said she was sick, was asked, "Have you a doctor's certificate?" She said she had, and produced a bottle of medicine. The case will be heard next week.

Reckless driving charges, resulting from an accident in which a taxi and another car driven by a young man were involved, were finally concluded. On the evidence of an eye-witness, the testimony of the taxi-driver was upheld, which showed that the young man had been driving quickly and the accident was the result of this speed. He was fined $10 and costs.

Woman Vagrant Sent Down

A young woman who has been watched by Timmins police since October, Jeanette Caron, was charged with vagrancy. Police evidence was to the effect that she had been in St. Mary's hospital in October where she admitted to being a dope addict and to making her living by prostitution. On Feb. 7th she had been brought in drunk and was supposed to leave town on the 9th. "She has frequented every common bawdy house in the town of Timmins during those four months. She has no visible means of support," said the constable. She was sentenced to not less than three months and not more than two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory.

A boy 17 of age, charged with robbery with violence, elected to be tried by judge and jury rather than by the magistrate. At the conclusion of the hearing, he was committed for trial. He is charged by William Dedock with beating him with a stick and taking a $20 bill from his pocket. The incident, according to both Mr. and Mrs. Dedock, occurred on Feb. 12th. Dedock claimed he had found the boy in his yard and on asking him what he was doing there was struck over the head with a stick. They boy had a companion whom he did not recognize and he was forced to run from them. According to medical evidence, the wound caused by the blow required three stitches. On questioning, Dedock was not quite sure which one of them hit him or how the money came to disappear. His wife had heard the noise and saw the boys chasing her husband up the lane.

Doesn't Like Jail Charged with offering to buy a job from W. King, employment agent at the Hollinger, Nick Todd asked for a remand to get witnesses but said he "couldn't stay in that jail." He claimed to have become ill while there. Bail was set at $100 cash or $200 property.

Archie Lapointe was charged by a Mrs. Danis with having used grossly insulting language in speaking to her. Lapointe admitted that he had and produced the language all ready written out for the magistrate to read. He claimed Mrs. Danis and some other women followed him about town.

Credit Under False Pretences George Odinak, a native of the Ukraine, whose knowledge of English is limited, was charged with having obtained credit in October, 1934, under false pretences. He had gone to a local merchant and brought $18 worth of clothes, saying that he was employed at the Hollinger, and showing a brass check to "prove" it. It was later ascertained that he had not been at the mine at that time. At first George had the case mixed up with another one which had been withdrawn but when it was all straightened out, he asked to be tried by Magistrate Atkinson and admitted to the fraud. To the amusement of the court, he referred to the magistrate each time he spoke as "Mr. Lloyd George." Finally it became a little too much for his worship and George was told that he was not in the presence of the great Welshman. It is possible that what the man wanted to say was "Lord Judge." George was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Louis Mammoletti, who had in his possession two wheels that had been stolen from a wrecked car by someone, was charged with retaining in his possession goods he knew to be stolen. He claimed he had found them in the bush, 75 feet from the car and had sold them when he needed money. In reply to the crown's question as to why he took them, he said "If I didn't take them, somebody else would have." He was bound over to keep the peace for two years and to make restitution to those to whom he sold the wheels.

30 Days For Wood Theft Two and a half cords of wood were involved in a theft charge against L. Bastien. A Mr. Lemire, who lives across the bridge in Mountjoy township had a pile of wood in his back yard and when he returned one day, he noticed that a large quantity of it had disappeared. Provincial police were informed and Bastien was arrested and charged. He claimed that he had bought the wood from some unknown person whom he had met at the Lemire house, for three dollars a cord. He had tried to sell it to the proprietor of a local hotel for the same price but said there were three cords. The wood was measured and found to contain only two and a half cords. Bastien accepted eight dollars, paid a truck driver $1.25 for hauling it and another 25 cents for a team. Other evidence was to the effect that Bastien had gone to Lemire's neighbour and asked if Lemire were in. He then had the truck driver take on a load of Lemire's wood and deliver it to the hotel. He was sentenced to spend thirty days in jail.

George Smith, charged by Provincial Police Constable Pretorius with having moosemeat in his possession out of season, was assessed $20 and costs.

BRITISH LOCOMOTIVE RAN ONE HUNDRED MILES PER HOUR Despite the inroads of Diesel-propelled locomotives into the realms of speed, the London North Eastern Railway engine, "Flying Scotsman", demonstrated that coal-burning locomotives are far from the discard, states F. J. Gemmill Smith, of London, in the Overseas section of Canadian National Railways Magazine for February. Using a locomotive which had been in operation for 653,000 miles, with 44,000 miles travelled since its last overhaul, Driver Sparshatt and Fireman Webster of the L.N.E.R. hauled a train of three cars and a dynamometer car between King's Cross (London) and Leeds, 186 miles in 152 minutes, an average speed being made of 73.8 miles an hour. A speed of 100 miles an hour was reached during the run and maintained for 600 yards.
