Vimy Gold Planning Start in the Spring

Hydro Power Contracted for; Mill Parts and Supplies on Ground; Buildings to be Erected.

No results are available yet on the test ton of ore from Vimy Gold Mine shipped to Ottawa eight weeks ago. The government test mills and extraction plants are working overtime on quantities of ore shipped there from all over the country, so that they are behind their usual schedule in getting results out to companies submitting samples.

Vimy is controlled entirely by Timmins capital and it is expected that operations will be begun early this spring. Hydro power has been contracted for, transformers are on order, supplies of lumber and mill parts are already at the property, and workmen will go in on April 1st to begin development. The mine is in the Ramore area and has excellent surface showings.

Whether oil flotation or the cyanide process will be used in the first extraction process is unknown yet until the Dominion laboratories conclude their tests of the ore.

Contracts for hauling materials to the mine from the railway are being let to farmers in the neighbourhood and everything possible for the construction of buildings is being bought in Timmins. A local contractor has agreed to build a bunkhouse and cookery as soon as possible.

Sault Ste. Marie ALWAYS READY TO ASK FOR THINGS

Sault Ste. Marie City Council has decided to ask the Ontario Government for a third of all revenue from motor car licenses in the Sault and all gasoline tax paid in the city in January, February and March.

North Bay Nugget—If all the energy devoted to the Hydro debate could be harnessed, power rates would get a shaving.

Timmins Man Given Term of Two Years

John Boyle is Arrested at Sioux Lookout for Escape from Burwash for Second Time.

John Boyle, who lived for some time at Timmins, working in a lumber mill office here, and who made himself more or less notorious by escapes and recapture by the police, was sentenced at Sudbury on Tuesday to two years' imprisonment for his latest escape from Burwash. In January of 1933 Boyle was sentenced at Timmins to not less than three months or more than a year on three charges of the forging of cheques on a firm here for whom he worked for some time. Because of the apparent foolishness of his actions in the forgery there was some sympathy for the young man and this was increased by the fact that he left a young wife without support in Timmins when he went to jail. Effort was made to have Boyle paroled and a few days before the parole was granted Boyle escaped from Burwash. He returned to Timmins, grew a moustache, donned glasses and otherwise disguised himself, so that he escaped the notice of the police here. He secured work at one of the mines in the district and lived here for nearly a year before the police found he was in the district. He was arrested and taken to Sudbury where he was charged with escaping from custody at Burwash Farm. He told the Sudbury magistrate that he had heard that his wife and child were in want in Timmins and that he could not resist the temptation to come here to help them. The magistrate was kindhearted enough to take this story into consideration and Boyle was treated leniently being only sentenced to an additional two months for his escape. He started in to serve the term at Burwash but after a couple of months he got another chance to escape and he took the opportunity. Although his wife was still in Timmins the police found that he had not returned here, so local police did not take further action. Last summer Mrs. Boyle left Timmins and people here do not know where she may be at present. In the meantime Boyle was at liberty from July 15th of last year until about a week ago when the authorities again found trace of him. He was arrested at Sioux Lookout and again returned to Sudbury. At Sudbury Boyle was not so successful this time in getting off lightly.

"I was doing an indefinite sentence down there," he told the court, "and it's pretty hard to do an indefinite sentence when you know you can get work. I was working 12 days after I got away."

The magistrate this time sentenced him to two years with the recommendation that the sentence run concurrently with the unserved remainder of his original sentence.

Trans Canada Route Not Yet Definitely Decided

Contrary to Published Opinions the Rocky Road Route has Not been Actually Approved. Dominion Government Objects to Rocky Road Route.

There are some people who have the idea that the Ontario Government is definitely committed to the rocky road route by the north shore of Lake Superior for the Trans-Canada highway, but this is not the case. It is true that announcements by Hon. Peter Heenan seemed to leave this impression, but as the route has to be approved by the Dominion Government unless the Ontario Government is ready to assume the whole cost, the question is necessarily in abeyance pending the Dominion Government's approval. It is understood that the Dominion Government is convinced that the rocky road route would be prohibitive in cost, even were it practical to build, so Dominion approval is not probable for such a route.

W. O. Langdon, president of the Timmins board of trade, and also president of the Northern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade has been keeping in close touch in regard to this Trans-Canada highway route, knowing that the people of this part of the North are fully convinced that the logical route is by way of the Ferguson highway to Hearst and thence westerly to meet the section of the road already constructed.

Under the date of March 8th, Mr. Langdon received the following letter from the Department of Northern Development:

Dear Sir:—The request of the Northern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade to have the Trans-Canada highway built from North Bay to Cochrane and Hearst and thence westerly to Nipigon, presented by you to Mr. John Rowlandson, has been referred to this office.

At the present time information is being obtained on the alternative routes of the Trans-Canada highway. All the information has not been obtained yet and this matter will remain in abeyance until the reports of the surveys are received.

C. H. Meader,
 Assistant Chief Engineer,
 Department of Northern Development.

On February 16th of this year, the Department of Northern Development sent a letter to Mr. Langdon, following enquiries from here with which the latter letter does not appear to agree. This is the text of the earlier letter:—

Dear Sir:—Replying to your letter of the 11th instant to the Honourable Peter Heenan, Minister of Lands and Forests, which has been given me for attention, I wish to say that on the 19th day of November, 1934, the provincial government by order-in-council designated sections four and five of the Trans-Canada highway from North Bay to Schreiber via Sault Ste. Marie in the following manner:

Section four:—"Trans-Canada highway, commencing at the westerly limit of the city of North Bay thence westerly on and along the existing road passing through Sturgeon Falls, Sudbury, Blind River, Thessalon and Sault Ste. Marie, known as the North Bay—Sault Ste. Marie trunk road, plans of which are on file in the Department of Northern Development's office."

Section five:—"Trans-Canada highway:—Commencing at Sault Ste. Marie, thence northerly on the existing Batchewana Road to north of the Carp river, thence on survey location and proposed revisions to Michipicoten, and thence to White river, thence westerly on the surveyed route, of revisions thereof from White river to the town of Schreiber."

In order to comply with the Federal

Department of Northern Development reads as follows:—

"The clay belt of the North is occupying the attention of several officials of the Ontario Department of Mines, following discoveries that the clay, by a new process, could be utilized for some 200 purposes in ceramics which has hitherto been impossible.

"At the present time more than $2,000,000 worth of clay is being imported into Canada from the United States for purposes which it is now found the clay of the Northern belt is equal, if not superior.

"An official of the department informed The Nugget that recent scientific processes would mean the complete transfer of most of this business from United States to Canada.

"No estimate has yet been made as to the number of men who may in the near future be given employment in the clay belt due to the recent ceramic discoveries.

Start at Kapuskasing

"The first attempt to utilize the clay for the new purpose is getting under way in the near future. A company which aims to secure part of the trade at present going to the United States recently took out letters patent here and will commence operations near Kapuskasing in a few weeks.

"It is expected that with the new knowledge in respect to Ontario clay that other interests will begin similar work in other parts of the North in the near future. It is reported that some other interests are considering a reclamation of the hitherto 'despised clay' in the vicinity of New Liskeard.

"Col. Malcolm Lang, chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission, is vitally interested in the possibility of the clay belt assuming new importance in the industrial life of the province.

"Seen at the Parliament Buildings, he admitted that he was familiar with the possibilities of the clay belt and was optimistic that a new area of commercial activities might be opened up as a result of recent discoveries of new uses for Ontario clay."

The sun rose this morning at 6:35 a.m. and will set at 6:23 p.m.
