Kirkland All-Stars at Timmins Saturday

By Popular Request All-Star Teams from the Two Camps to Battle Here on Saturday.

Announcement is made in this issue of an exhibition hockey match between Kirkland Lake All-Stars and Porcupine All-Stars at the Timmins arena on Saturday, March 30th, commencing at 8:15 p.m. The line-up as given in the advertisement elsewhere in this issue suggests that this is a game than none should miss who enjoy good hockey. It is likely to be the last big hockey match of the season so all the fans should be there to have something to remember in the hockey line until next winter. The game is staged by popular request to settle the argument as to which camp has the real hockey players. "If Porcupine camp had followed the Kirkland Lake plan and picked the best from the several teams to represent the camp, the result would have been different," many suggest. Be there on Saturday to see how much is in that idea.

Departmental Store at the Sault Scene of $60,000 Fire

Mr. Friedman, who was in Timmins last week in connection with the preparations for the opening of Friedman's new departmental store in Timmins, went by airship to Sault Ste. Marie on Sunday on account of a serious fire in his store at the Sault. The Sault store is known as the Soo Jobbing Company, and despatches from Sault Ste. Marie tell of the fire as follows:—"Fire, starting from an explosion in the furnace, caused at least $60,000 damage to the Soo Jobbing Company store late Saturday. A store worker who entered the basement discovered the blaze and was almost overcome by smoke, but managed to give the alarm. The store was crowded at the time of the fire and customers scrambled for the exits. Stock in the grocery and basement was destroyed and damage to the building was estimated at $30,000. Stock on floors above the basement was damaged by the smoke. Residents of apartments above the store were forced to leave the building for several hours until dense smoke cleared. Their furniture was slightly damaged."

Warning Sent from Kapuskasing Farm

Fieldman for Northern Ontario Calls Attention to Condition of Some Seed Sown Here.

Writing from the Experimental Farm at Kapuskasing to The Advance this week, L. H. Hanlan fieldman for Northern Ontario says:

"Owing to adverse weather conditions during the harvesting season of 1934, and perhaps in certain instances of frost injury, many samples of grain in Northern Ontario, that have been tested, are not giving a very high percentage of germination. This situation becomes serious when it is viewed from the standpoint of materially reducing the possible yields of grain crops in 1935."

"There is only one safe method of avoiding possible disappointment in this matter and that is by sowing only seed that has been tested for germination. If a farmer is planning on sowing his own seed he can test this seed for germination himself by counting out a definite number of kernels and exposing these to heat and moisture conditions, between blotting paper, in shallow sand or sawdust, for about two weeks. All dependable kernels will have germinated inside of 12 days."

"Samples of seed may also be sent to the Office of the Seed Branch serving each particular section. Three samples or less will be tested and reported on free. If these samples are from that portion of Northern Ontario west of Lake Nipigon, they should be sent to the Seed Branch at Winnipeg, Manitoba; if from Muskoka and Parry Sound, to the Seed Branch at Toronto, and if from the remaining portion of Northern Ontario, to the Seed Branch at Ottawa."

"Those samples which are sent to Ottawa may be sent postage free, providing each sample is less than one pound in weight after wrapping. The samples sent to Toronto and Winnipeg, require the regular prepaid postage, but as two or four ounces is quite sufficient for a germination test, the postage is a very small item."

"Do not continue to wonder whether or not your grain is suitable for seed; either test it yourself or have it tested, and find out for sure. Grain that is low in germination, say 65 to 80 per cent may still be used for seed, but a correspondingly extra quantity should be added to the rate per acre in seeding."

Prospectors Meet in Toronto Tuesday

Ontario Association Takes up Many Questions. Dr. J. A. McInnis Among the Speakers.

Despatches from Toronto give particulars of the annual meeting of the Ontario Prospectors' Association, held on Tuesday evening, many matters of interest being discussed. One despatch from Toronto gives the following account of the meeting:—

Various problems facing prospectors and the mining industry in general were freely discussed at the annual meeting of the Ontario Prospectors and Developers' Association Tuesday night. The question of taxation, however, drew principal attention and a resolution was presented by Cyril Young, favoring placing taxes on profits, and it will be redrafted and forwarded to the Ontario Government.

There was no special criticism of the Federal Government's latest tax proposal for gold mining companies and the meeting was in favor of dropping all tax on production, and placing it on profits. It was suggested that the Government would show a sound business viewpoint by leaving new mines and low grade producers to carry on without excess taxation. This would mean that by taking a greater proportion of taxes from the larger mines it would enable the smaller mines to expand and reach the stage where heavier taxes would not necessarily be a heavy burden. While the members were free in their criticism of the bullion tax, they had very little complaint regarding the new tax on profits.

D. A. McKenzie of Porcupine stated that prospectors and mining men in his district were fully in accord with the activities of the association, and stated that prospectors should not have to depend on brokers or other interests to finance prospects and small operations. He stated that the association might be used as a protection for the small mining men and with the confidence and backing of the Government could play an important part in the development of the mining areas. He also suggested that the prospector who makes the first discovery in a new field should be protected.

In this connection two or three claims should be set aside free without the necessity of doing assessment work to keep them in good standing. As the matter now stands, a prospector makes a strike and as soon as news gets out there is a staking rush to the area and ground is taken up in every direction by the speculator. The latter, he stated, usually sits back until the original ground has been tested and then steps in and takes advantage of the work that has been done to sell shares in other companies.

Dr. J. A. McInnis of Timmins made special reference to the fees that are charged to prospectors who are responsible for bringing the numerous gold mines into existence. He recommended that the Government be approached with the idea of reducing some of these heavy charges when prospectors are urgently in need of all their capital for a grub-stake. He stated that the present license fee for those who make prospecting their business is too high and should be reduced to $1, while recording fees should not exceed $1 to $2 and fees for transfer of claims cut to 25 cents.

He also drew attention to the fact that men who cut trails and wagon roads into the remote districts and who are daily playing a major part in reducing the forest fire hazard are charged the highest prices for all supplies and materials they purchase. Those taking wood from claims they have staked are forced to pay heavy costs for this material when used in building camps and providing fuel. It was stated that in the Sturgeon River area the prospectors were charged $1 per cord for firewood that otherwise would be useless to the lumbering companies. It was suggested that these matters be taken up with the proper authorities by the association.

Many other complaints were presented by various members regarding the difficulties they had encountered in the carrying out of their prospecting operations. It was pointed out, however, that of eight or ten major questions brought before the Government since the association was formed all had been Weldon C. Young, manager of Margo Mines, Limited, in a communication to shareholders states that Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines has entered into an agreement to develop the Margo property in the Matachewan district of Northern Ontario.

Two Fathers Sentenced for Defying Court Order

A despatch from Kitchener on Wednesday said that the strike of 25 Bridgeport school children to emphasize claims that they are undernourished because of inadequate relief on Tuesday underwent a grim development as fathers of two of the pupils went to jail for ten days for not sending their children to school as ordered by the court.

The penalty imposed by Magistrate J. J. Weir was $5 and costs or 10 days in jail. Neither of the two fathers had the money. The wife of one screamed as she heard the ruling and clung to her husband, demanding that the two be sent to jail with him.

The children went out on strike last Thursday after members of the Unemployed Association had declared that relief was inadequate and the pupils were not well enough nourished to go to school. The medical officer of health of the municipality said the claims were unfounded.

Magistrate Weir, in imposing the penalty upon the fathers, said it was a clear case of "obstinacy," and said he accepted the statement of the M.O.H. that the children were not suffering from lack of nourishment. "It is quite evident that the parents are against good government and are trying to take it out on the children," he said. "These people come out to this country to get the benefits of the country's freedom. They take the oath of allegiance, and what are they? Foreigners still."

Magistrate Weir, who issued an order Saturday for the parents to have their children back at school Monday, and who had the parents in juvenile court Tuesday when the order was not obeyed, said that if the children were not sent back to school, there would be further action.

Names of the town men sent to jail were not available, as names are not released from juvenile court. Bridgeport is a suburb of Kitchener.
