Chickasaw Indian is Valuable Aid to Phillies.

A Chickasaw Indian who overcame the handicaps of illness and a broken pitching arm in his march to the major leagues is counted on by Manager Jimmie Wilson to help lead the Phils out of the baseball wilderness.

He is Euel (Chief) Moore, purchased last summer from the Baltimore Orioles. After coming to the Phils, a seventh-place club, Moore won five games and lost seven, not an impressive record, but showed plenty of big league stuff every time he went to the mound.

Like Carlisle Guard
The Chief has the same bulk and heft as those bucks Pop Warner used as guards on the Carlisle football team featured by Jim Thorpe. He puts his weight gracefully behind a great fast ball. His smoothness of delivery is a pleasure for all but the batsmen to watch. He has a fine curve, and in his brief career with the Phils has shown poise and courage in the pinches.

The story books tell of Indian dignity, indifference and bearing of superiority. Chief Moore has all of that. There have been times in his pitching life when he had to have it to survive.

He was born May 27, 1910, in Tishomingo, Okla., the town a blues song once was written about. He started pitching when 18 years old, travelling from town to town to hurl for semi-pro teams of the southwest. He wasn't captured by organized baseball until 1929, when signed by Abilene of the West Texas league. In midseason he broke his pitching arm (he's a right-handed pitcher) while sliding into a base.

Before the accident he had shown a lot of stuff. So upon his recovery, Wichita Falls gave him a contract, but the chief fell heir to a flock of illness and was released.

Comes Right Back
It seemed his career was ended at least so far as the Texas league was concerned, but he came right back with Muskogee in the Western Association, and won 13 games. Next he exercised his penchant for pitching for last place clubs by signing with San Antonio, back in the Texas League again. In 1931 he was the only Santone pitcher to finish with better than a .500 average. After a good season at Galveston, he was brought north to Baltimore. Last year, after he had won eight of the 18 games won by the Orioles during the first two months of the season, the Phils dug down and bought him. The Phillies greatly improved by Jimmy Wilson in his year of management appear certain to climb in 1935 an effort in which the Chief is pretty sure to be a big help.

Babe Ruth Hopes to Make it 750 Homers

King of Swat has 723 Home Runs Now to his Credit. Wants 27 More

A little stock-taking on the glamorous 30-year American League reign of Babe Ruth as he prepares to shift his big bat to the National League and perhaps starts another chapter in the saga of making life miserable for pitchers.

Baseball's all-time home run king has belted out 723 home runs—708 in pennant campaigning and 15 in World Series warfare. The total is just 27 shy of his lifetime goal of 750. Sixteen of the licks came with the bases loaded.

Pitchers contributing to the carnage numbered 218. The Babe poled 498 round trippers off righthanded hurlers. Southpaws were slapped 225 times.

Next to New York, where the Babe sent 346 drives soaring over the palings at the Polo Grounds and Yankee Stadium, the Philadelphia Park was Ruth's favourite. He trotted around the bases there 68 times. Detroit was good for 59 homers and Boston and St. Louis each provided 55. Washington was his jinx town. The Babe found the range there only 34 times.

Rube Walberg now of the Boston Red Sox, is president of the "Babe" Ruth Club, composed of the 218 pitchers who have contributed to Ruth's official homerun record.

Walberg, although a southpaw, was Ruth's victim no less than 17 times. George Daus, a right-hander formerly with Detroit Tigers, was nipped 14 times, bringing him the vice-presidency.

The Babe "kissed" Howard Ehmke of the Tigers, Red Sox and Athletics; Milt Gaston of the Browns, Red Sox and White Sox, and Walter Stewart of Browns and Senators 13 times each; George Uhle of the Indians and Tigers and Earl Whitehill of the Tigers and Senators 12 times each, and Jack Russell of the Red Sox, Indians and Senators 11 times each.

Walter Johnson, then whom nobody ever threw a higher or a harder ball, is among the six twirlers off whom Ruth fired 10 homers.

Seven members of the "Babe Ruth Club" since have transferred to the National League and will be in line for promotion when the firing starts this week.

Tom Zachary, once a world series hero with Washington and a nine-time Ruth victim did his spring training with Brooklyn this year. Waite Hoyt and Dany MacFayden, who functioned on the throwing end of Ruth homers five times each, are with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

Expect 100,000 at English Cup Final

West Bromwich and Sheffield Soccer Teams to Put up Gallant Battle on April 27th.

Thousands of soccer fans from Sheffield, Birmingham and other points will invade London, England by special train, motor cycle and aeroplane April 27 for the great game of the year—the English cup final.

More than 100,000 spectators, flaunting the colours of their respective teams, will crowd Wembley Stadium when West Bromwich Albion and Sheffield Wednesday go on the field for the last stand of a campaign for soccer supremacy involving many gallant fights.

West Bromwich and the Wednesday are no strangers to final crowds. The Trosties have played in the championship seven times winning the historic trophy three times. Sheffield has participated in the final bout three times, emerging victorious twice.

The finalists eliminated opponents of varying class with regularity until the semi-final when the Trosties ran into a snag against Bolton Wanderers. The second division outfit held West Bromwich to a 1-1 draw. In the replay the Wanderers made a gallant bid for the trips to London but their classier opponents exploded their hopes with a 2-0 win.

To reach the finals Sheffield hurdled two first division aspirants—one the powerful Arsenal—and three second division representatives. West Bromwich had a slightly easier journey, disposing of two class "A" squads, two second division and one third division eleven.

Team Records

Here are the teams' victorious drives: Sheffield Wednesday: Sheffield-Oldham Athletic 3-1, Wolverhampton Wanderers-Sheffield 1-2, Norwich City-Sheffield 0-1, Sheffield-Arsenal 2-1, Sheffield-Burnley 3-0.

West Bromwich: West Bromwich-Vale 2-1, West Bromwich-Sheffield United 7-1, Stockport County West Bromwich 0-5, West Bromwich-Preston North End 1-0, West Bromwich-Bolton Wanderers 1-1 (semi-final at Leeds), West Bromwich-Bolton 2-0 (replayed at Stoke).

Judging from the cup play the finalists should take the field on about even terms. In six games West Bromwich has scored 18 goals with only three against while Sheffield has rammed home 11 goals with four counters against. The Albion has blanked opponents three times, the Wednesday twice. Neither team has allowed more than a goal a game against.

Sheffield Wednesday's goals have been scored by forwards with Rimmer accounting for five and Palethorpe getting four. On the Albion line-up, W. G. Richards, prolific scoring centre-forward, led the attack with six goals. Gale was next in line for scoring honours with four.

By the irony of fate the cup finalists will meet in a league fixture at The Hawthorne, West Bromwich ground, Easter Monday, five days before the big game. It will be an interesting meeting from the point of "stocktaking" but both sides will play cautiously as promotion and relegation questions will not be affected by the game.

Pirates Are Dark Horse of National League Race

Big Lead Gold

by Jack Sords

Copyright, 1935

By BELL BRAUCHER
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

Since 1927, when the Pirates won the National league pennant, the club has been faithfully covered by one story each spring captioned "Corsairs Seem Keen Contenders."

The Pirates were sure to be tough. The team would run 1-2-3. But always some weakness cropped up to spoil pennant hopes. One year it would be bad pitching. Another year it would be the catching. The club always had too many left-hand batters and southpaws trained to cry for the privilege of pitching against the Buccaneers.

The Difference
Some years the bossing couldn't be rated more than so-so. In fact, since Donie Bush departed in 1928 the team has lacked leadership such as the Pirates might be expected to have.

Well, here's another spring and some of the same things might be written of the Pirates that have been set down in other years. The club still has too many left-handed batters and the catching still isn't anything to write home about.

This year there is this difference however. The club has improved in every department, particularly pitching and in the person of Pie Traynor it has field leadership of the sort Pittsburgh has not been blessed with since Fred Clarke left 20 years ago.

Traynor's building of the team has not been spectacular, but it has been sound. Defence is better, there is an aggressive spirit that in other campaigns was sadly lacking, and trades have helped to give the club strength and balance.

Taking up the weaknesses, the most striking concern that left-handed batters. All the outfielders hit that way, Big Poison and Little Poison Wanner, Babe Herman and Forrest Jensen. Herman, of course, adds to the punch, as he hits southpaw pretty well, too.

Third baseman Traynor, Second Baseman Harry Lavagetto and Shortstop Arky Vaughan are the only right-handed batsmen. Suhr, at first, is left-handed, as is Early Grace, first string catcher. Tommy Trevenow, reserve infielder, bats right-handed but his hitting is negligible. Last year, as second third and short in 122 games, he hit .271.

It is in the pitching that most improvement is noted. Guy Bush and Jim Weaver from the Cubs round out the best staff the Pirates have had in years. Birkofer, a southpaw beginning his second full year, is counted on for 15 games, and he may pass that figure. Waite, Hoyt, Lucas, Bill Swift and Hal Smith are other first stringers.

An 18-Game Winner
Bush adds a lot to the spirit of a ball club even when he isn't pitching. The Mississippi Mudcat is a great competitor and always is ready. That there are plenty of victories still in his arm is attested by his 18 wins for the Cubs last year.

All in all, the team has to be regarded as a dark horse. Pie Traynor is a manager every player will hustle for, and that alone is a pretty big fundamental on the Pirates' side.

Rulings Made by the C.A.H.A. in Session

Some of the Results of the Three Days Conference at Halifax, N.S., Recently.

What delegates to the 18th annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association did in the three-day session held in Halifax:

Re-elected E. A. Gilroy president; Cecil Duncan first vice-president, and W. G. Hardy second vice-president.

Refused permission to amateurs to try out with professional league after Dec. 1 of the current season. Players will be required to submit a detailed report of activities before rejoining amateur ranks.

Voted to leave Jan. 1 as date beyond which branch-to-branch player transfers cannot be effected, and adopted seven exceptions for clarification of branch-to-branch transfer rule.

Added names of presidents of branches of the C.A.H.A. not already represented to the registration committee.

Decided the western challenger for the Allan Cup must be decided by March 17 instead of March 12; the eastern by March 10 instead of March 5.

Seek Co-operation

Adopted a resolution to appoint a committee to investigate possibilities of establishing more co-operation between the C.A.H.A. and National Hockey League.

Gave Memorial Cup finals to Toronto for the following year, with Port Arthur or Winnipeg to get the Allan Cup series.

Appointed a committee of four members to confer with the Amateur Union of Canada on defining "amateur status," investigating the discrepancy between different branches of the union in prices charged for amateur cards, and inquiring into the possibility of the association issuing its own cards.

Seven Exceptions

Adopted seven exceptions to the C.A.H.A.'s branch-to-branch transfer rule, which President Gilroy said was "merely setting in writing what had always been the practice of the registration committee."

The exceptions are as follows:

1. In the case of a player whose par-

2. If a player graduates from university or college and takes employment in another city or town.

3. The attendance of a player at any school, prep school or university. If the university has no hockey team, a player can turn out with another club in that town.

4. Any player connected with permanent militia forces or the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who is transferred in the course of his duty.

5. There are all effective at any time in the year. The following are only accepted if the transfer takes place before Oct. 15.

6. In the case of a player not previously registered with any C.A.H.A. branch.

7. Where a player has not played in any scheduled game during the previous season.

8. Where an employee with six months' service in any firm is moved by his employer in the course of the operation of business.

9. Voted to pay expenses of 12 hockey players, a coach and manager, and a C.A.H.A. delegate, who will attend the Olympic games at Berlin next year.
