Conservatives Now Have Election Body

Gordon Gauthier Chosen President of Federal Riding Association at Cochrane Saturday.

Conservatives selected a campaign committee from the executives of two provincial associations at a meeting in Cochrane on Saturday. Gordon H. Gauthier is president of the federal riding association and acting with him are Dr. H. H. Moore, of Timmins, and Tom Moore of Smooth Rock Falls, vice-presidents; A. V. Waters, ex-M.P.; A. C. White of Hoyle; H. Ewart of Kapuskasing; J. D. Bastien of Ramore; David Chener of Cochrane; Frank C. Evans of South Porcupine; and W. H. Dawson of Iroquois Falls.

The big turnout was enthusiastic about the party's chances in the coming federal election and although no definite plans were laid, it is understood that activities will be begun soon.

The choice of a convention town and the date at which a candidate will be chosen, were left to the campaign committee, which will meet again in the near future. Saturday's meeting was held in the Knights of Columbus hall, Cochrane.

New Measures Announced in Connection with Relief

After Premier Hepburn, Attorney-General Roebuck and Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare, had visited a number of homes where relief was being given, announcement was made that certain measures would be taken to further assist those on relief. Food allowances, it is said, will likely be increased to some extent in some cases, while tenders for 20,000 mattresses to be supplied will be called for at once. While in some ways those on relief may expect a little more assistance, another announcement by Premier Hepburn suggests that some on relief will not find their plans accepted as easily as in the past. Hon. Mr. Hepburn made it plain that those able to work must work for the relief extended and that if they refused to do so they could not expect to be given relief or consideration.

STRIKES IN CANADA MAY BE SETTLED SOON, IS HOPE

Strikes and proposed strikes in many different parts of Canada are quickly coming to a head, it appears from today's despatches. Premier Hepburn will again visit the Crowland relief strike area in an effort to smooth over the trouble there. R.C.M.P. officers, 50 strong, left Regina Saturday for the British Columbia miners' strike. Vancouver's threatened general strike may turn out to be a one-hour "sympathy strike" on the part of seamen and longshoremen, it is indicated.

Corporal E. Covelle Returns South After Eventful Patrol in the Far North, where he was Known as "Friend of the Indians."

A despatch last week from Cochrane has the following to say this week:—"Friend, counsellor and advisor to bands of wandering Indians, the nemesis of Canadian laws in the outposts of civilization, Corporal Ernest Covelle of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has his farewells to his detachment at Mooseonee, which had been his home for seven years, and left for Toronto where he is in line for promotion after a term replete with grim drama of the North Land. Corp. Covelle reached Cochrane recently and went south after one of the longest patrols on record.

"Coming to Cochrane seven years ago in charge of a detachment of three men, Corporal Covelle witnessed epic changes in the lonely fort of the Hudson's Bay Company on Factor Island, a change which marked the transition from the old fur trading days to the mechanized ways of modern fur traders. Stationed at Mooseonee prior to the coming of the Cochrane-Mooseonee line of the T. & N. O. Railway, Corporal Covelle carried Canadian law enforcement into the hinterland of Canada's sub-Arctic country and was a dispenser of justice over an area equal to that of many European nations.

Tall, Mighty, Fearless
"Measuring six feet six inches, Corp. Covelle was well fitted to battle the physical hardships of the James' Bay country, and this superb physique stood him in good stead in many of his history-making patrols. It is recorded that he once delivered the mail to Fort George, a distance of 1,200 miles, by dog-sled across the barren wastes of James' Bay, all in the line of duty while on another occasion he "mushed" more than 600 miles to capture four Finlander who were evading the game and fisheries laws by poisoning foxes and other animals without license, to secure convictions in all cases. Although "death" to the infraction of any law, Corp. Covelle was given the greatest send-off ever granted any person leaving Mooseonee, hundreds of Indians for hundreds of miles around gathering to wish him "happy hunting."

"Corp. Covelle was a keen student of the North Land and was intensely interested in all its problems. While journeying from encampment to encampment distributing treaty money to the various Indian tribes, he took great delight in photography and has a wonderful collection of motion pictures taken by his own camera of life among the Indian tribes of Hudson Bay. His showing of these pictures to a group of Cochrane people was greatly enjoyed."

Born August 26, 1908, in North Bay, Miss Paquette had resided here all her life. She attended St. Joseph's School and St. Joseph's Academy before accepting a position in a local store, where she was employed before her illness. Besides her parents Miss Paquette is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Ormeus Bedard, (Dora), North Bay; Eva, Timmins; Simone and Theresa, North Bay; and three brothers, Lionel, Oscar and Paul, all of North Bay."

Judgment Reserved T. & N. O. Complaint

Chairman of Railway Board Sees C. P. R. Telegraph Rivalry as Serious Matter

According to a despatch from Toronto last week-end, the Ontario Railway Board reserved judgment on Friday on the complaint of the T. & N. O. Railway that the Northern Telephone Company had illegally entered into an agreement with Canadian Pacific Telegraphs for the handling of messages.

This marked the preliminary skirmish in the T. & N. O. Railway's fight to prevent competition from the C. P. R. in respect to its new agreement for the handling of telegraph messages with the C. N. R.

L. A. Landrieau, K.C., appearing for the respondent, Northern Telephone Co., contended that his company had not entered into any agreement which had to be submitted to the board for ratification. He suggested that the Ontario Telephone Act only applied to companies transacting business strictly within the meaning of telephonic communication. "The agreement with the C.P.R. is not within the jurisdiction of this board," he said.

C. R. McKeown, chairman of the board, said the dispute was one of grave importance and should not be decided immediately. A hasty judgment might seriously reflect on the board more than anyone else, he held. He offered both sides the opportunity of filing additional testimony or legal citations which would assist it in making up its mind.

The T. & N. O. objected to the Northern Telephone Co., entering into an agreement with the C.P.R. for the transmission of the latter's telegraph business, said James Cowan of Slight and Cowan, who with Mr. Ferguson, appeared for the T. & N. O. Railway Commission.

Mr. Cowan informed the board that the Northern Telephone Co. had no power under its charter to carry on a telegraph business and compete with the T. & N. O. He sketched the growth of the Northern Telephone Company from its incorporation in 1905 under the name of the Temiskaming Telephone Co., and asked the Board to examine the original objects of the company and those granted subsequently.

The company was given authority to carry on within the District of Nipissing a general telephone business. It has no other rights than those," said Mr. Cowan.

"Is there any difference between a telephone and telegraph company?" asked Chas. McKeown, chairman. "There is," said Mr. Cowan. "There are two separate acts in the Ontario Statutes. One for telephone companies. The other for telegraph companies."

Mr. Cowan summed up his objections as follows: That the agreement with the respondent telephone company and the C. P. R., had not been validated by the Board as required by the Telephone Act, and that the Northern Telephone Co. had no right to use its lines for anything but telephones.

It was bad faith on the part of the Northern Telephone Co. to carry on such a business without asking the authority and approval of the Board, continued Mr. Cowan. He declared the T. & N. O. had faithfully and efficiently served Northern Ontario and now the C. P. R. was attempting to commandeer business which had taken years to build up.

H. L. Cummings, vice-chairman, asked if the T. & N. O. had any evidence which would prove that the action of the Northern Telephone Co. was going to increase business. "This is a most important matter. It is not one which we can make a blind jump at. There is little doubt that regardless of the way our judgment goes there will be an appeal," he said.

SAYS JOS. A. BRADLETTE, M.P. STARS AS VOCAL SOLOIST

According to a despatch from Cochrane last week Jos. A. Bradlette, M.P. for North Temiskaming, is a singer of special merit. In the report of the monthly supper meeting of the Church Community Club in the basement of the United Church at Cochrane on Monday evening of last week, the following reference is made to the singing of Mr. Bradlette:—"The programme for the evening was presented by the French-Canadian members, led by Dr. E. Brunet, and was greatly enjoyed. "Soupe au P-Is" headed the menu and many were the compliments handed to the chief chef, Dan Pomerleau, on the quality of the soup. The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's United Church served the remainder of the supper. The musical program brought out surprise talent, none more so than for many of the English members to know that the Dominion member, Jos. Bradlette, has a wonderful singing voice. Solos were also sung by Charles Reneau and guitar music was supplied by Messrs. Bouvier and Dubois. Choruses by the French-Canadian members and a reading by Dr. Brunet completed the fine entertainment."

Ottawa Journal:—Premier Pattullo of British Columbia is finding the going tough. He went into office with high ambitions and splendid promises, but the conditions he promised to remedy—and for which he used to blame his predecessor—continue without much abatement.

The Household by Lydia LeBaron Walker

Daffodils blossom on this gift of cushion slip cover with smart novelty patchwork Posy Panel

PATCHWORK POSY PANELS THE LAST WORD FOR CUSHION SLIP COVERS—A GIFT HINT.

Patchwork Posy Panels for cushion and pillow slip covers are among the season's novelties which lend themselves admirably to Summer decoration and for gifts. The slips protect the heavier and more expensive winter textiles on sofa pillows or smart slips for new cushions. Developed in chintz both in texture which is cool, and in harmony with summer styles of room treatments these covers are admirable. They are just the things for summer porches, verandas and patios. The posies introduce a garden element, and they are set off to advantage by the panel of pleasing color contrast with the background of the cushion cover. The flowers nod over the panel and are partly silhouetted against this cover.

Daffodils for Patchwork Posies
Daffodils are chosen for the Patchwork Posies, partly because they are so seasonable, partly because of their interesting silhouettes, and partly because they can be developed so artistically in patchwork applique. The colour is gay and makes a charming contrast with the green of the frond-like foliage especially when a soft brown or tan for the pillow cover with a darker brown for the panel.

Other Colour schemes
Another colour combination that is effective is pale orchid with a deeper tone for the panel on which the posies stand in gay array. Or pale old blue can form the cover with a deeper blue for the panel, suggesting a background of sunny sky partly shaded by clouds where the panel comes. In all these schemes the colours of the daffodils are kept true to nature, the outer petals being richer in their tone of yellow than the centres, and the foliage being green. However, for colour scheme decoration solely, these hues can be arbitrary, being all in one shade, black possibly or white or very gay.

Summer Gift Suggestion
For summer gifts nothing could be more appropriate nor welcome than these Patchwork Panel Posy cushion slip covers, so quickly made and so inexpensive. They are exclusive and smart.
