Bargain Rates Given in 52 Traffic Cases Here

Those Not Stopping at Intersection Escape Some of Usual Costs. Number of Remands at Police Court on Tuesday of This Week.

Tuesday was bargain day at Timmins police court when 52 charges of not stopping at the intersection of Pine street and First avenue were read. The usual $2 fine was levied but the costs of court were more than cut in half, to $3, making the total for Sunday evening drivers who failed to take notice of the new stop signs at the Moneta intersection, $5.

Thirty-five of those whose numbers were taken pleaded guilty. Eleven were not served and will come before the court next week. Four were withdrawn and one man whose name was called did not appear. Just one offender pleaded not guilty and when the evidence was brought out, it cost him an additional $3. According to police he did not stop nor did he make any attempt to stop though the driver himself said that he had stopped behind another vehicle and had then proceeded.

Perrault and De Luca Remanded
Charges against Henry Perrault and Romeo De Luca were laid over for another week and bail was again renewed. Crown Attorney S. A. Caldbick intimated that he expected the cases will be ready to go ahead with next week. "So much work has been done on the books that I am inclined to think it will be complete then," he said; "but if I find by the end of the week that it won't be complete we shall arrange to have the bondsmen here again." This arrangement was satisfactory to the attorneys for the defence of both Perrault and De Luca.

John Gasparach, who faces charges of attempted murder and attempted suicide, has been remanded for another week. Last week he was examined by Dr. Mitchell, a psychiatrist sent to Timmins by the attorney-general's department in Toronto. His report on Gasparach has not yet been received and until it is, the case cannot be proceeded with, the Crown-Attorney told Magistrate Atkinson. There is a chance, it is understood, that Gasparach may yet be judged sane, despite the opinions of two local doctors that he is insane.

Face Obstruction Charge
Hubert Bannett, Edmond Beaudoin, Donat Beutin and Albert Rivet face charges of obstructing the police in the execution of their duty. They have been released on bail of $50 each, posted by Emil Brunnet, Edmond Beaudoin was also charged with reckless driving.

Armand Bouffard pleaded not guilty to reckless driving. Police evidence was to the effect that he had narrowly missed hitting another car on Fourth avenue when he turned the corner of Birch swiftly and without stopping. "He changed his mind in a place where he shouldn't have," said the constable, "and the car almost overturned." Two passengers in the car had fled on the approach of the officer and it was found that Bouffard had only a 60-day driving permit, good only if he were accompanied by a properly licensed driver. He paid $25 and costs and had his temporary permit cancelled for the balance of the period, 20 days.

Dominico Cecci pleaded guilty to reckless driving. He had come up behind a car stopped at the intersection of Pine and First, had swung out around it and crossed Pine going about 25 miles an hour, according to police. He paid $10 and costs.

Three speeders paid $10 and costs after pleading guilty and two summonses for the same offence were not served at the time.

A young man who gave his age as 21, paid $1 and costs, a total of $7, for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, contrary to the town by-law.

Another paid $1 and $9.25 costs for driving without lights on his car.

Warrant Issued for Woman
Two Liquor Control Act charges laid some weeks ago against Frank Haikaia were withdrawn and a bench warrant issued for his wife, Emilia, on whose permit police claim the liquor in question was purchased. Emilia was to have appeared in court Tuesday to answer a joint charge but failed to answer to her name.

Counsel asked a week's remand in the case of Frank Pettilia who is charged with obstructing police. He was released on posting of $100 cash bail or $200 property.

Teffel Bernard was charged with having liquor in a place other than a private residence, and was fined $25 and costs or 10 days in jail. Counsel entered a plea of guilty but said that Bernard was almost 60 years old and

Opening Dance for Season at Pavilion

"Battle of Music" to Feature Event at Riverside Pavilion To-Morrow (Friday) Night.

To-morrow night marks the opening of the summer dance season at Timmins' big pavilion, the Riverside. Judging from the crowds that have been attending the regular Wednesday and Saturday night dances for the past few weeks, the young people are ready for a more extended programme.

The "battle of music" on Victoria Day is expected to be a big event. It was popular last year and should be even better this season. Four dance nights this week—Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday—should see the summer dance season well away.

Announcement is expected next week as to additional regular nights at the Riverside for the next month.

Inspiring Talk on Navy by Speaker at Kiwanis

David Cochrane, of New Brunswick, Urges Canada to Think of Naval Needs of Country. Interesting Address on Canada's Naval Activities During War.

There is no good reason why Canada should not have a good navy, David Cochrane of New Brunswick told the Timmins Kiwanis Club on Monday. Other dominions of the Empire, Australia and New Zealand, have their own small navies that would be of material aid in the event of war, he pointed out. Mr. Cochrane has just returned from a trip to England and Scotland and found conditions there very unsettled. With a large proportion of the people on the dole in the British Isles and the affairs of Europe in a turmoil, he sees the time not far distant when Canada will need a larger naval force. As a lieutenant-governor in the Royal Naval Reserve Mr. Cochrane was enlisted in the navy. Canada has no lack of trained men for a navy, Mr. Cochrane pointed out and in view of world conditions, he believes that additions should be made as soon as possible.

Mr. Cochrane is a magistrate in New Brunswick and is a past district deputy grand master in Masonry. He was introduced to the Kiwanis club by Kiwanian Wils. Lang.

There was a large attendance at the Monday luncheon and a new member, S. Cohen, was welcomed to the club. The committee in charge of the float on May 6th was highly complimented on the manner in which the job was carried out.

had not known the house he rented was a public place, made so in a judgment against former tenants. The present occupant had only come to town in December, counsel claimed, had no regular job and was struggling to get along. He has eight children at the house ranging in age from 3 to 14. The beer found by police on the premises was said to have been brought there by an elder son who works out of town. The son had gone back to his job. The crown attorney said the police had been watching the place for some time. Magistrate Atkinson suggested that places made public should bear a placard in order to warn future tenants that liquor could not be kept there.

St. Onge Charges Dropped
Charges of evading the Excise Act, laid against Arthur St. Onge, were dropped when it was not clearly shown that St. Onge had knowledge of the "moonshine" being in a shed to which he had access at the rear of his place. The man who had formerly occupied the premises is now in jail. St. Onge admitted having been in the ice house where six and one-half quarts of home brew were found, but said that it was up on a shelf where he had not noticed it.

A solitary drunk paid $10 and costs. A dispute for $3.25 wages under the Masters and Servants Act was settled in court without costs. Defendant claimed that he had been going to pay it that day anyway and had told the plaintiff so some time ago.

One common assault case was adjourned for one week and the defendant in another had not been served. Bruce Sopha, charged with attempting an immoral act on a young boxer, was unable to appear in court. He is still in the hospital recovering from a beating up he received.

SAYS ROAD AT OPASATIKA NEAR HEARST NEEDS FIXING
The Northern Tribune of Kapuskasing last week says:—"It is about time the government got that wretched loop gap of road at Opasatika brought up to proper level. Every spring the Opasatika river floods on both sides for about half a mile, and it is weeks before the water subsides enough to let motor cars get through to Hearst. As this is to be part of the trans-Canada highway, surely it ought to be put in a satisfactory condition this year."

No Lack of Trained Men
Thousands of Canadians joined the British navy during the war, he said, and were highly regarded in the service. Mine sweepers and convoy ships, built on the Georgian Bay, did hazardous work and were partially manned by Great Lakes sailors. Others took part with the fleet in Zeebrugge, Mesopotamia and other important engagements. At the termination of hostilities more than 5,000 Canadians had called to service at the outbreak of the Great War. He was a resident of Canada at the time but was commissioned on the Charabdis, flag ship of Admiral Wengas, First Lord of the Admiralty. They proceeded from England to Gaspe Basin with the Talbot and two other ships to convey the first contingent of 20,000 Canadians mobilized at Val Cartier under Sir Sam Hughes to Southampton. En route it was learned that submarines were lying in wait for them on the way to Southampton so orders were issued to go to Plymouth instead.

Returning to Canada later he served on the Niobe doing patrol work on the American coast down as far as Bermuda. They were just 300 yards from the Stephens when she was torpedoed. The Niobe was later found to be obsolete and was used as a training ship to prepare recruits for overseas service.

The broadcast from San Antonio at ten o'clock Monday night was heard and enjoyed by many local Kiwanians. Dr. William J. Carrington, of Atlantic City, president of the Kiwanis International, was one of the speakers on the programme that was designed to unite the 1,847 Kiwanis Clubs on the continent and their 85,000 members.

Vision Needed in Dealing with Development of North

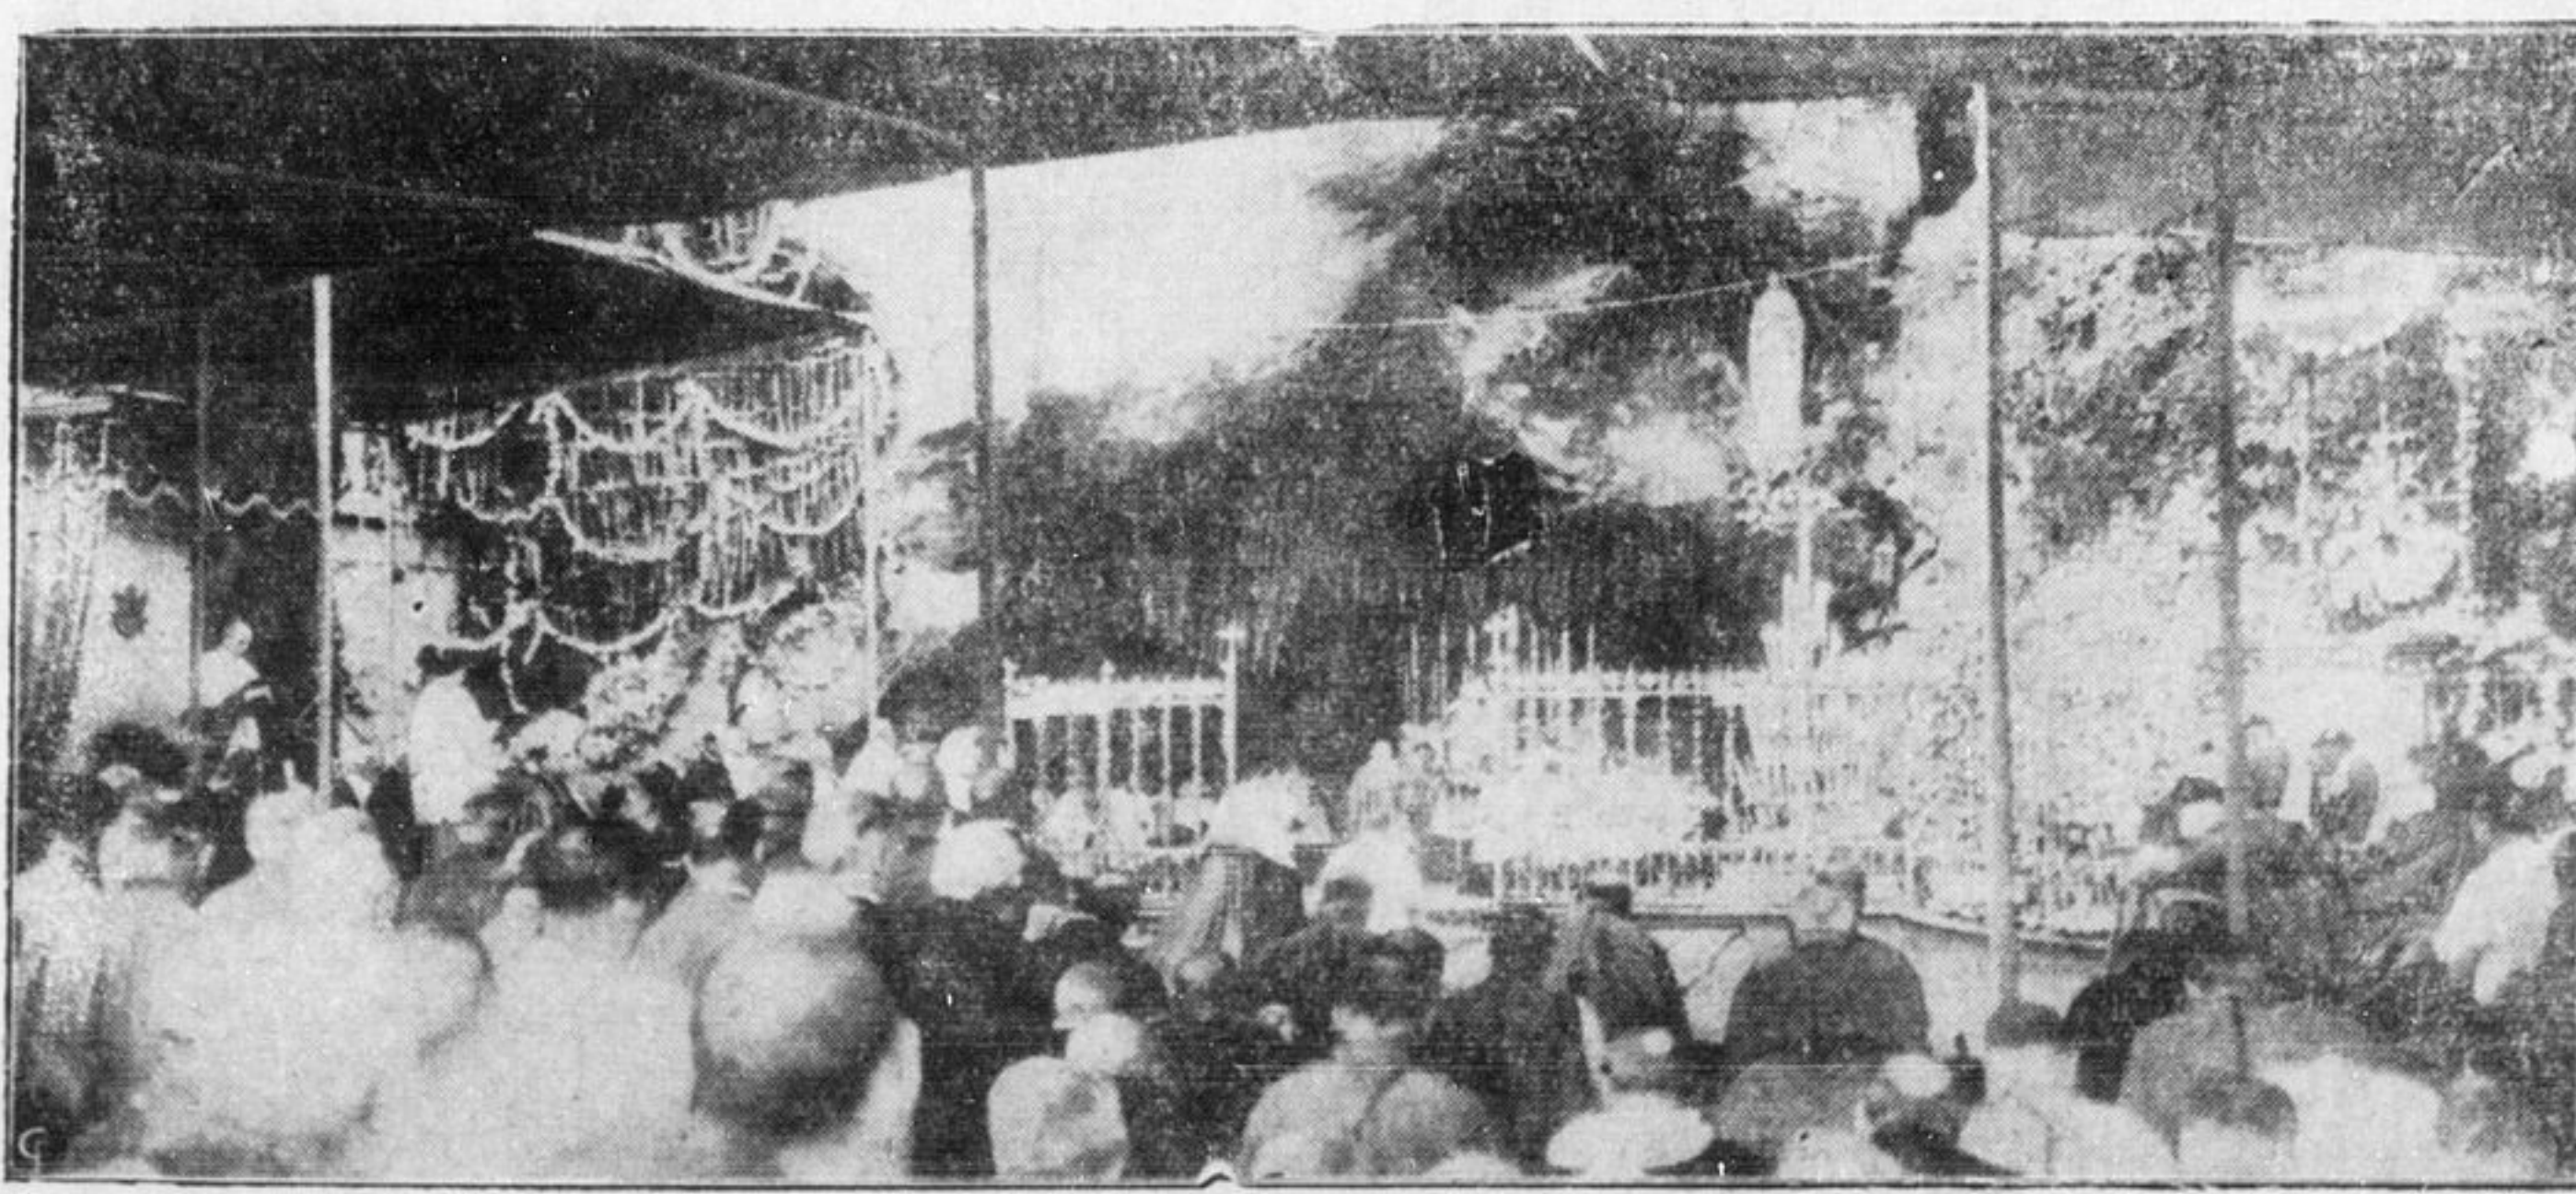

The Cochrane Northland Post last week had the following editorial reference to the development of the territory served by the railway extension north of Cochrane:—

"The Moosonee Division of the T. & N. O. Railway is not going to be treated Cinderella fashion, not, apparently, if Col. Mac Lang, the chairman and one remaining member of the commission, has his way. In a front page article in last Friday's Nugget, considerable space was devoted to the proposal of Col. Lang that the T. & N. O. take over the development of the Blacksmith's Rapids lignite field. 'If the deposits are not to be developed by private interests or by the government,' Col. Lang enthused, 'I am so keen about the potentialities of the thing that I am willing to take it over and develop it for the railway. The thing is so big that it is a shame to have it lying idle.'"

"It is quite heartening to have such a declaration of faith from the person of the chairman of the T. & N. O. Since the attaining to power of the present provincial administration we have heard little but knocks concerning the North extension of the T. & N. O. and we sincerely trust that this proposal and the vision of its proponent may become contagious and infect members of the Cabinet and the Legislature as a whole. The information recently given out by Manager Cavanaugh in regard to service on the North extension and the opening for business of the Inn at Moosonee are also quite reassuring. It is becoming obvious now that we no longer need to entertain the fears which were, perhaps, more justified a few months ago, of the extension being permitted to deteriorate into two streaks of rust in the Northern bush. We observed at that time, and we repeat it now, what is most needed in regard to the extension is vision, and apparently we have a man in a place of some authority who has that needed quality, in the person of Mac Lang, who was ever a booster in the 'On to the Bay' movement in days gone by."

Montreal Star:—Disarmament—Up to date those diplomats do not seem to have been able to disarm even suspicion.

Colourful Peace Ceremony at Famous Shrine at Lourdes

A picturesque scene in the famous grotto at Lourdes, France, a shrine for hundreds of years, as Cardinal Pacelli (EXTREME LEFT), the secretary of state for the Vatican, began the first of the masses dedicated to peace, on April 25. The masses lasted three days and were attended by hundreds of pilgrims to the shrine. As a concluding message to those assembled, Cardinal Pacelli said that enemies of the cross, "whatever their name," could never come to terms with the church. In centre of the picture can be seen the elevation of the mass.
