

Women's Auxiliary for Diocese at South End

Annual Meeting Yesterday of Ladies of Diocese of Moosonee. Last Concert of Season by Symphony Orchestra. Other News from South Porcupine.

South Porcupine, Ont., June 6th, Special to The Advance.

The last concert which the Porcupine Symphony Orchestra will put on this season is to be held on Thursday evening (June 6th) in the Anglican parish hall.

Dr. and Mrs. Somerville and children with Mr. and Mrs. Allen of Timmins spent the week-end at Sesekinika.

Mrs. Wm. Arbour, who has been visiting at the parental home in Hamilton, returned to South Porcupine on Monday.

Harry Verner returned home this week from Toronto after completing his first year at the University.

Two good fish stories have been told this week-end. Mr. A. Ewing and a party of fishermen spent Sunday at Shaw Creek trout fishing. Mr. Ewing's equipment consisted of two fish-hooks, ordinary twine and a match box of earth-worms. The other members of the party were really trout-fishing with expensive tackle to play the fish and a fish basket to bring them home in. Net result—Two splendid brook-trout from Mr. Ewing's line—one fifteen inches long.

The other story was told us by a prominent citizen who wishes that he had had a movie camera to record it. While fishing for pickerel on one of our northern lakes this week-end, the boat and occupants were out a little way from shore, when they noticed a mink running round the rocks. They kept quiet and observed the small creature dive from a rock and bring up a pickerel as big as itself out of the water. It had nipped the fish through the neck and killed it instantly. The efforts of the mink to drag its prey back over the rocks to its home were most interesting to watch, our informant said. He also told us that none of the party caught a fish as big as the one caught by the mink, on the trip.

Mrs. F. Laforest left on Wednesday for Toronto to be present at her daughter, Mona's graduation from the U. of T.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Patterson and son, Eugene, from Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Varker, Dome avenue.

The annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary for the Diocese of Moosonee is in session to-day here in the parish hall. Banquet Hon. Leduc Citizens of Timmins

(Continued from Page One) were not staying longer on this occasion so that they might see more of the town and district and more of the people.

Eloquent Welcome from Tisdale C. V. Gallagher, reeve of Tisdale, in eloquent and witty welcome to the guests, spoke of the three great industries of the district, mining, lumbering and agriculture. He almost regretted that Hon. Mr. Leduc and Mrs. Leduc had come in by plane. Had they come in here by road they would have fully understood him when he suggested that all possible influence should be used to assure good roads in this area. It was fine indeed to have great mines, but the good roads were equally necessary so that men could get to their work at the mines without delay or discomfort. He did not wish the guests anything but the best of luck, but he could not help feeling glad that they were going to Kirkland Lake by car and so would have personal knowledge of one of the problems of the North. Reeve Gallagher's address, wise and witty, was much applauded.

Humour of Mining Camps
Wilson Thompson referred to the fact that most places and most occupations had a distinctive type of humour. He had gathered a number of specimens of Porcupine mining camp humour, and some of these he had translated into verse which he gave with much expressiveness. His little poem, "The Sampler" was roundly enjoyed, and in response he gave "The Shift Boss," which made equal hit and was especially appropriate to the occasion.

Importance of Mines Dept.
E. L. Longmore, in introducing Hon. Mr. Leduc said he felt that the importance of the task of the Minister of Mines was second only to that of the Premier. He urged that in the anxiety to impress upon visiting ministers the needs of the North the people attempt to see their side of the question. At the present time all those in authority, whether in business, industry or government, had unusual difficulties to face, and in fairness and for the good of the country there should be patience, fairness and co-operation shown them in their honest efforts for the common welfare.

Wilson Thompson's humorous poem, regarding the discovery of the McIntyre Mine, according to an old prospector, was one of the big hits of the evening.

Hon. Mr. Leduc's Address
In responding to the call of the chairman, Hon. Paul Leduc expressed his thanks for the generous welcome and the kindly reception awarded him and Mrs. Leduc. He referred to the choice of Mr. Longmore as an excellent one for the small committee appointed to study and report on educational problems in the province. This was Hon. Mr. Leduc's first visit to Timmins, but he expressed the hope that he would visit here again and see more of the thriving camp and its pleasant people. In reply to the question what he thought of Timmins, he said that he felt it was a very pleasant town in which to live and the citizens impressed him as a pleasant people. He referred to the excellent schools and other public institutions he had seen and thought Timmins was fortunate again in this respect. He thought Timmins again was happy in having only 200 families on relief, with the great mining industry to help them carry the burden. In his own city of Ottawa, he pointed out, there were 4,000 or 5,000 out of work. He thanked Mr. Longmore for his kind words. "It is much easier to say yes than no," he commented, adding that conditions and circumstances made it necessary often to say no when those in the government would prefer to say yes. He had met a number of old friends in Timmins, and this reminded him that Timmins was much like his own home city, Ottawa, in its cosmopolitan citizenship and the fact that it drew its people from all over the earth. Also both places had large populations of the two great races of Canada, living together in peace and amity. He urged the greatest goodwill and co-operation between the two races. It would fare ill with Canada if they could not cooperate in friendly way for the common advancement. There should be a broad basis of Canadianism, he thought, where all creeds, all sects, all races, might work together in harmony and friendship to build a greater Canada.

After his address in English, Hon. Mr. Leduc spoke briefly in French.

There were rounds of applause in appreciation of his able address.

Presentation to Mrs. Leduc
One of the features of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Leduc, the presentation being made by Mrs. Richardson.

"Don't Overtax the Mines," Says R. J. Ennis

"The samplers, the shift bosses, the muckers and the mine managers are all working harmoniously to get out the ton of gold," said R. J. Ennis, general manager of the McIntyre Mine. He did not agree with some of the previous speakers who had referred to the "greatest mine in the world" as being in the Porcupine at present. He thought the greatest mine in the world was yet to be discovered, and he wouldn't be surprised if it was found in Porcupine. He made semi-humorous reference to the fact that the old-time prospector was becoming extinct. He liked to see the prospectors dig down and uncover the gold, rather than just stake areas as was too often the case now. "The real prospectors these days are working underground in the McIntyre," he said, "digging until they locate the valuable ore." He did not think the mines of the North were asking anything more from the Minister of Mines than what was being given so ably and so well—co-operation and understanding of the problems faced. "But don't tax us too much," he suggested. "We know that taxes must be raised, and we are ready to pay our full share, but give us a chance. Don't make the burden too heavy."

Interesting Pictures of the North

A feature of the evening was the showing of motion pictures of the North by A. Tomkinson and J. R. Todd, the latter giving a running commentary on the scenes shown. These were the same films shown at the annual meeting of the Forcupine Fish and Game Protective Association, extended reference to which is made elsewhere in this issue of The Advance. The films shown included pictures of Moosonee and other areas in the far north, as well as a complete motion picture view of the notable parade in Timmins on May 6th. These pictures were much appreciated by all.

Jos. A. Bradette, M.P., Spoke of North's Potentialities

"I travelled here on one of the best railway systems in Canada" was the way Jos. A. Bradette, M.P., referred to the T. & N. O. Railway. He gave sincere welcome to the North to Hon. Mr. Leduc and Mrs. Leduc, and added an invitation to them to visit Cochrane. He suggested the possibilities for a great coal mining industry north of Cochrane. "It is the only hope I see," he remarked, "that Cochrane may eventually have a larger population than Timmins." He hoped that the governments would render every assistance to test out the possibilities of the coal mining and other potential resources of the area north of Cochrane. He mentioned the well-balanced nature of the resources of the North—mining, the forest industries, agriculture—and showed the potentialities in this North from the material standpoint. "But the greatest resource of any country is in its people," he said, "and in this the North and Cochrane alike are greatly blessed in having the finest type of citizens." He heartily endorsed what Hon. Mr. Leduc had said in regard to citizens in this cosmopolitan country working together for the common good, with sympathy and understanding and all kindness for each other, and without divisions of race or creed or sect. "Close co-operation will bring us success and happiness," he concluded.

The singing of "God Save the King" brought a very pleasant and interesting meeting to a close.

At the close of the event many present had the pleasure of meeting Hon. Mr. Leduc and Mrs. Leduc, both of whom expressed their pleasure and appreciation at the welcome given them and the kindly attentions shown them by all and especially by Mayor Richardson and Mrs. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Knox and the others with whom they came in close contact.

Stratford Beacon-Herald:—Fearing another shortage of water, makers of bath tubs in England have agreed to make them for 20 gallons instead of the former 28. On the tenth concession the bath tub used to stand beside the kitchen range on Saturday night and it had neither 28 nor 29 gallons in it.
