Macs Take Easy 8-2 Win Over Abitibi Ball Team

Trick and Double Play Feature of Slow Game Played at McIntyre Park, Friday. "Sparky" Vail Pitches, with Wally Craig in Right Field.

Friday's game at McIntyre park when Abitibi went down to defeat 8-2, started out to be a good one but when the sixth rolled around, the Macs began to hit and drove in seven runs in the remaining three innings. Abitibi managed to get only one more, and that in the eighth when LaRose made the circuit.

Only a handful of spectators saw the game that was played in perfect weather. "Sparky" Vail, the Meaford hockey flash, pitched the Macs to victory and allowed only five hits in the nine innings. Laroque, the paper-makers' pitcher, did well up to the sixth.

Yurnchuk scored for Abitibi in the first when LaRose drove him in, but Osborn tied the score when McIntyre came to bat. In the following four innings no score was made, most of the outs being made on plays to first base. A double play in the second warned things up a little. Gilbert had got on base on Portier's misplay to first base, made second when Adamson attempted to sacrifice but was safe at first. Vail walked and the bases were loaded. Craig got in Johnson's way as he attempted to make a throw to third, and was called out for interference. Gilbert started for home but was trapped by Johnson, LaRose and Portier. Portier touched him out as he attempted to return to third. In the meantime, Adamson had started for third and was also caught by Portier.

Trick Play Baffles Ump
In the Macs' third time at bat, one of those trick plays baffled the umpires for a while and held the game up for five minutes or so. Here's how it happened: Osborn went out, Yurnchuk to Grattan. Hahn was hit by a pitched ball and took first. Cybuski hit, putting Hahn on second. Angrignon hit a fly to right field and was caught by Watson. Cybuski held his base but Hahn advanced to third after the fly was caught. Angrignon rounded first on the way to second and was turning to go back off the diamond. Yurnchuk and Grattan thought Angrignon was a runner and proceeded to toss the ball back and forth as if trapping him. Angrignon put on the motions of a runner until he was tagged "out." In the meantime, Hahn had crossed the plate. Umpire Sculley called Cybuski out, claiming that Angrignon had passed him, even though Angrignon was actually caught out before he reached first base. Anyway, the side was retired and the "run" was not counted.

According to those who have seen similar plays, the only other decision that could have been given would be to call Hahn out for taking advantage of a team mate's interference. The net result is the same and credit for the put-out goes to the same place anyway. But they certainly did talk about it for a long time.

Craig a Comer
Wally Craig, of Schumacher, made his first local appearance with the Macs and gave a good account of himself. He's got lots of time ahead of him as a baseball player. He handled anything that came his way efficiently and in the sixth drove a hot one through short and made first. He scored his team's only run in the eighth when he accepted a walk.

Here's what the game looks like in the score book:—

Frey of Dodgers Tags Arky Vaughan at Second Base

A slide that didn't work though it was a good try. Linus Frey, brilliant young Brooklyn Dodger shortstop, tags out Arky Vaughan, of Pittsburgh Pirates at second when the Dodgers met the Bucs at Ebbets Field. Vaughan came in fast and hit the dirt hard but Frey got the ball on him in plenty of time. Pirates won the game 7-3.

Macs Win from Dome 2-1 in Overtime Cup Match

Bill Rodgers and Reg. Dunstan Score for McIntyre and Chambers for Dome as Macs Win Right to Represent the Porcupine in Dominion Cup Play.

After two hours of hard playing, McIntyre footballers won the right from Dome on Thursday to go on in quest of the Dominion Cup as the Porcupine's best team. Score was 2-1 for the Macs. McIntyre was just saved from a 1-0 defeat when Rodgers scored as the final whistle of the hour and a half game blew. Half an hour overtime was ordered and again the Macs were saved by seconds from playing a third game with Dome when Reg Dunstan scored after a scramble at the Dome net. Chambers scored the lone Dome tally with about 10 minutes left in the first half.

It was a wild game—both the spectators and players were on edge most of the way through. Play opened with a high wind favouring the Dome but before the second half was over, it was almost calm. The 500 spectators, however, were never calm. Dome supporters went wild when Chambers went in alone to score the first goal of the game and shouts of "offside!" came from the McIntyre benches. As soon as Rodgers made the tie, McIntyre players swarmed around him, cheering and congratulating him. Two minor fist fights immediately broke out among the spectators' ranks.

Fast Overtime
In the overtime, there wasn't a quiet moment and half the crowd were on their feet for the half hour. After the Dunstan score that won the game, Pat Larmer ruled Crawford, Dome centre half, off the field for "talking."

The Macs had the best of play in the first half, despite the fight they had against high wind, but in the second half, they looked tired and the Dome, still comparatively fresh, had the ball in the McIntyre end of the field most of the time. Had the Macs lost, it would have been their condition that was at fault, not their playing ability.

Long Injuries List
Dome had the tough end of the injuries list. Just after Chambers scored for Dome, the Macs put on all the pressure they could muster and Tommy Searle went through right on top of Baxter, travelling fast. Baxter came out to meet him and took a hard ground shot on his right hand. The wrist was injured and play was stopped momentarily. Joe Whyte, inside left, was the next to require attention when, early in the second half, he got a nasty smash on the head. Play stopped and Whyte was carried to the edge of the field where first aid was given. Dome refused to remove him from the field of play, against the referee's orders. Later in the half, Chambers got in the road of McAdam's boot and had to leave the game. Bill Whyte suffered a twisted knee in the last overtime period and had to be helped off the field.

McIntyre's injuries were not so serious and though Rodgers and Charlie Dawson were practically out after taking some hard knocks, they managed to stay on their feet and some good stiff ammonia brought them both around.

Chambers Looked Good
Chambers had possession of the ball more for Dome than any of the other forwards and his tricky foot work counted well against the Macs. There was some discussion as to whether or not he was offside at the time of scoring the first goal. Certainly he appeared to emerge from the group of players from which the ball came well ahead of the rest of the field and kept it close to his toe all the way in. Brockbank didn't have a chance of stopping the swift shot.

The Dunstan brothers didn't perform as well as usual. Whether they were better guarded or whether they were attempting to play a longer passing game was hard to tell, but it was sure that the combination was broken up. Ed, on the right outside, did some pretty work in getting the ball down the field, but brother Reg was usually too close in take a pass.

Macs Too Anxious
The Macs were a little too anxious at

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

A hole never is finished until the ball is in the cup, and a round is never complete until the last hole has been played. This means that every player's efforts should be respected until he has holed out.

Too many players have become careless about their deportment around the greens. Having holed his last putt one player will walk away while others are trying to hole out. It would be just as logical to walk down the fairway while others in your foursome are trying to drive.

You wouldn't think of moving in the line of vision while some fellow is playing out of a bunker. The tension that generally comes to those trying to hole a putt is even greater. Respect their attempts to make a decent score. Similar respect may help you win a big match some time.

Yankee Southpaw

VITO TAMULIS
Recruit Vito Tamulis of the Yankees won his first two full games this year, both victories scored at the expense of the Cleveland Indians. The 23-year-old left-hander from Cambridge, Mass., came to the Yankees from Newark last September, and in his only 1934 appearance pitched a shutout against the Athletics, allowing seven hits. One of his victories over Cleveland was a shut-out, too.

'Sandy' Somerville Says Local Course Difficult

Visit of Canadian Amateur Champion Sees Weather and Course Perfect. Field Day, Luncheon and Two Ball Mixed Events Attract Many Entries.

Timmins Golf Club's biggest day of the year, July 1st, saw one of the most successful series of events run off at the course that has ever been seen here. The occasion was made a historic one by the visit of C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, amateur champion of Canada, who played the course twice.

Perfect weather, sunny but with no wind, brought out a large proportion of the members to take part in the field day events and in the mixed two-ball games of the afternoon.

"Sandy" Doesn't Quite Par
In the morning, Mr. Somerville played the course with John Knox, president of the club; John Fogg and W. Laidlaw. In the afternoon T. Pare, S. R. McCoy and Geo. Lake were in the foursome. "Sandy" admitted that the course was a tricky one, and although he might have made the par 36 for the nine had he not run into a little tough luck, he played a sterling game and the large gallery that followed the afternoon foursome around the course were much impressed with the champion's form.

After the 18th hole, President John Knox extended to Mr. Somerville the appreciation of the club for his visit, and presented the visitor with a piece of quartz heavily laden with glistening gold. The champion thanked the club for the courtesy that had been shown him and congratulated them on the fine course which, he admitted, was rather a surprise to him. He thanked Mr. Knox for the token of his first visit to the Porcupine. On Tuesday morning, he went underground to see where the rich ore came from.

Tony Pare Wins Driving
The day's programme opened with the field events. In the men's section, Tony Pare won the driving competition with drives of 247, 236 and 260 yards. W. Laidlaw was second with 203, 208 and 194-yard drives. G. N. Ross won the approach contest and G. S. Lowe the putting.

In the ladies' events, Mrs. W. D. Robson won the driving, with Mrs. R. Yorke second. Mrs. C. Rutherford won the approach and putting contest. In the junior ladies' section, Miss Janet Dye won the driving and Miss Barbara Campbell the approach and putting.

Luncheon at the clubhouse at noon was attended by more than 100 guests.

Afternoon Event Popular
Promptly at one o'clock, the first of the two-ball mixed sixsomes teed off and there were some fine games as well as good scores. Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Robson had the first low net. Just one behind them were Mrs. Skavlem and V. Woodbury, and Mrs. Denny and D. E. Keeley. This tie for second will be played off some time in the near future.
