

Found Free Gold on Claims in Temagami

Important Discovery Made that May Mean Increased Activity in Temagami Forest Reserve.

An important gold discovery, made recently on the property of the Strathly Basin Mines Limited, in the Temagami Forest Reserve, is responsible for renewed interest in that section and prospects are that there will be increased activity during the present summer, says The Haileyburian in its last issue. The find was made by John Andrusiak, who has had charge of the company's property since operations were stopped last fall, and consists of a vein about two feet wide and carrying free gold. This vein, which was picked up quite close to the new road from the Ferguson highway to the Cuniptau Mine, has been traced for about 600 feet. It runs 20 degrees north and dips under a big mineralized dike which was uncovered last summer. This dike was traced for a distance of one and a quarter miles on the property, is heavily mineralized and about 70 feet wide. Assays last year gave good values up to about $15.00 per ton.

In the new vein there is a mud seam which carries gold values. Panning a shovelful of dirt from this seam produced a "tail" of gold about three inches long and the samples of free gold taken from the vein at several points are very impressive.

The discovery has brought increased interest to the district and there have been many visitors since the find was reported. Owners of adjacent properties and others in various parts of the Reserve have been in for a look at the vein and all are enthusiastic over the future prospects of the area. A lot of prospecting was done in the township last summer, two operations of considerable extent, the Cuniptau and the Manitoba and Eastern were carried on on a fairly large scale during 1934, and there are at least two of the larger mining companies which have ground under option at the present time. It is being freely stated that Strathly Basin discovery will speed up the development of the district, and to the layman it certainly looks important. At the week-end everyone in the Reserve was talking about the discovery. Harry Borgford, formerly of Haileybury, and H. E. Bounsell, of Toronto, are at the head of Strathly Basin Mines Limited. They staked a large block of ground in the winter of 1934, secured other claims from various owners and have now a large area, controlled by the company. Mr. Borgford spent the whole of last summer on the property and well mineralized zones were discovered, but the present find exceeds in importance anything that has so far been uncovered there.

Plans for further development are under way, but no announcement has been made. Both Mr. Borgford and Mr. Bounsell visited the property last week, returning to Toronto on Saturday evening.

Thought Food Was Rotten But Had Second Thought

(London Advertiser)

Just as a congenial group of San Francisco sportsmen were starting on a hunting trip into the wilds of Northern California, the cook who had been hired to accompany the expedition fell ill. On such short notice no substitute could be found, so the party decided to go ahead anyway.

After they got into camp they fixed on this emergency plan: Every second day they played a round of poker hands face up, and the member with the lowest hand was designated to cook for the next two days, with the proviso, however, that if any other individual complained during that period about the cooking, the cook should be relieved of his job and the kicker made to perform it for him.

The first man to be stuck with the cooking job was a prominent attorney. He had never so much as boiled a potato before, and the meal which he turned out for his fellow-campers on their first night in camp was so unutterably bad that hardly anybody could touch it.

"This is the damndest stuff I ever ate," one of the victims said in an absent moment. Then he remembered the penalty.

"But I like it," he added hastily and emphatically. "Gee, how I do like it!"

BE BEAUTIFUL

By ELSIE PIERCE
FAMOUS BEAUTY EXPERT

ETHEL MERMAN can voice the joy of the brunettes beautifully and should be crowned their queen. Here she wears a tri-corned hat with a long flowing veil giving a very regal effect.

TAKE HEART BRUNETTES—COLLEGE MEN PREFER YOUR TYPE

A survey made recently in one of the leading universities of the country reveals that the undergraduates prefer brunettes, medium height, slender. She should swim, ride and play golf (and like it) but she must not be the muscular athletic type. She may dance, smoke, but doesn't take more than two cocktails. And they like to see her matching her nail polish to the colour of her lips—no ban on the vivid shades. Her clothes on the other hand should not be conspicuous. A career for a few years first, then marriage.

Not so bad, brunettes? But it does sort of reverse the order of things. Certainly we are convinced that not all gentlemen prefer blondes; and what's more their preference for the lipstick and nail tint ensemble makes us feel that they're taking a saner attitude toward make-up.

Five Shades

As a matter of fact, the vogue for matching nail polish and lipstick is taking. And it's a very logical, as well as beautiful fashion. With one nail polish manufacturer offering the ensemble in five shades, it should not be very difficult to please even the most conservative male. A pale coral, for instance, looks innocent enough, even for the young miss off to her first prom. And, talking about make-up, even while gentlemen are getting around to seeing our point of view I do think that it is still well to remember that: better to err on the conservative side than to be too liberal. Somehow this is particularly appropriate during the spring season when all is fresh and natural. Look freshly scrubbed, tubbed, dainty, groomed with just enough colour to enhance your natural beauty.

Manicuring Pencil
Now just a few more words about hand beauty. There's no limit to the imagination in this beauty world of ours. One of the latest little gadgets is a delightful nail white in the form of a pencil; the propel, reel type, you know, that screws the lead in and out. You keep hands moist and pencil dry while using. It has a fine, firm point which does not wear blunt, needs no sharpening, whitens and cleanses at the same time and removes the stains under the nail while whitening. Complete with lead refills, and inexpensive. (Copyright, 1935, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

North Bay Syndicate to Develop Clay Beds

Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate Planning to Develop and Manufacture a Varied Line of Clay Products.

Word from Cochrane is to the effect that the Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate has plans well under way for the development of clay fields north of Cochrane. Under the present plans the proposal is to not only develop the clay deposits but also to establish a plant at Cochrane for the manufacture of a number of clay products. The clay deposits north of Cochrane held by the Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate have several types of clay, including the more rare kinds, such as china clay.

Last week there was much interest evidenced at Cochrane in the display of articles manufactured from clays from the claims of the Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate. A similar exhibit was made at Timmins some time ago, and people here were astonished at the variety and the excellence of the articles produced. The fire brick and crockery and tableware of different kinds, together with a number of novelties, were shown here to indicate the extent of the resources held by the Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate. These articles were manufactured in the plant of a Hamilton concern who make special preparations for this class of work.

All who saw the exhibits here were greatly impressed. The Advance gave considerable space and attention to the exhibit while it was at Timmins and felt, and still feels, that every encouragement should be given the Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate in their enterprise. As soon as the necessary arrangements are completed the Ruby Oil and Coal Co. will extend their development programme and start to prepare for the regular manufacture of articles from the clays of the North. The head office of the Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate is at North Bay. The original syndicate included a number of men who were employed on the T. & N. O. Thanks to their initiative and enterprise the clay products of the North may be expected to reach proportions of importance.

Boy Scouts in Timmins

Camping was the big subject discussed at Thursday night's meeting of the local association. The site was not definitely chosen, but the choice was between Beaches Beach and Moose Lake. Moose Lake is near Connaught on the Shillington road and has been visited by Geo. Lake, president of the local association, A. Desroche, vice-president, and Mr. Gibbons. All agreed that it was a fine spot for a camp, having safe swimming beach, good fishing, and fine high ground for the camp proper. Beaches Beach on the road to Nellie Lake was also suggested. The land is cleared there, good diving boards have been erected, and the beach particularly good. A committee consisting of Messrs Lake, Wright, Gibbons and Rowe will examine the two proposed sites and bring in a recommendation.

It was suggested by Scouter Rowe that since there is a scarcity of camp leaders for the two week summer camp Troop 1 and 2 be under one leader, and 4 and 6 the same. This would necessitate only four men in charge. It was also proposed that a council of about five of the older boys be appointed to help out in camping activities.

The cost, it is expected, will be kept down as low as $5.00 per boy for the 13-day camp. All troops will likely pool resources for the hiring of transport to and from the camp and the purchase of the comparatively large amount of food that will be required. Once settled at the camp, each group can carry on separately.

Each Scout will be asked to have a permission slip signed by his parents. Any special instructions parents wish to give will be carefully followed by the camp leaders.

Other questions brought up at the Thursday meeting were the registration of the boys as Scouts as well as the registration of the groups. A charge of 50 cents per boy is made for membership in the Dominion Boy Scouts Association and for the individual registration card. When a group is registered the leaders receive warrants.

Mecano magazines will be ordered for each troop, it was decided. At next month's meeting of the association, more time will be given to a full discussion of the camp.

The president has still a number of membership tickets in the local association on hand for troops who have not taken their quota, and there will be given out to any local Scout leaders who request them.

Mattagami Troop, No. Six, is preparing already for the big jamboree that will be held in Timmins in August. At their Friday night meeting in the basement of Mattagami school they had knot-tying and signalling practice just to keep well in form. Kenneth Singleton won the knot-tying contest. They also had some sport practice for the jamboree events.

Another week-end in camp, similar to that held by the troop on the July 1st week-end, is being planned.

Timmins Lions Club Plan Programme

To Supply at Least One Needy Child with Glasses Each Week is One Item. Joint Meeting with Schumacher Club.

Lions Clubs begin their year on July 1st, so Thursday's meeting of the Timmins club was the first of the new year. In keeping with this, the programme of work that will be undertaken this year was considered, and it was decided that one major project for the benefit of the children of Timmins at large will be undertaken. The form this will take has not yet been definitely decided but will be in the near future.

The job of supplying at least one needy Timmins child with glasses each week will be continued throughout the summer and in the fall a survey of the public and separate schools will be made to find out how many there are in Timmins and need spectacles.

Dr. J. Kelly attended the celebration of the Lions Club in Sudbury during the first three days of July and came back from the nickel town with all sorts of ideas for the club here, as well as many useful suggestions as to how money can be raised for the work the club intends to carry on.

A summer frolic will probably be held in Timmins in the latter part of this month. The date has not yet been definitely set but will be announced on Thursday, it is expected.

During the absence of Lion Tamer Bill Wren, who was in Toronto prior to becoming married, Fred Stock took over the job for the evening. The club sent a wire of congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Wren Saturday evening.

A joint meeting of the Timmins Lions club with the Schumacher club is being planned. Lion S. C. Platts was left in charge of preliminary arrangements.

Brantford Expositor:—The Duchess of Kent made her first official speech in England and it consisted of "I have much pleasure in declaring the exhibition open." Only nine words yet they constituted a terrific contrast to the lengthy outpourings which too frequently bore the crowd on other like occasions.

Stars of the Big Circus Enjoy Many Luxuries

Stars of the circus don't mind life on the road nowadays. Travelling with a giant organization like The Al G. Barnes Wild Animal Circus in special steel railroad trains with luxurious sleeping accommodations is a far cry from the little wagon shows that bumped their way over the rough country roads several years ago.

On the circus lot the leading circus performers are likewise favoured. If one is lucky enough to be ushered behind the mysterious red curtains, he will see several cozy tents occupied by the different families and stars. These are private dressing rooms of the performers where they can rest between Many new features will be shown with The Al G. Barnes Circus this year. Imported European acts will include The Dazzling Burbans, The Walters Troupe of comedy acrobats, The Bernetti Family of riders, Mabel Stark and her tigers, Captain Terrell Jacobs and his jangle-bred lions, the famous Belmont Family from England, The Escalante Family and The Canastrelli Troupe.

Two performances will be given in Timmins on Thursday, July 11th at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the Ball Park. The doors will open an hour earlier to permit inspection of the gigantic travelling zoo.
