CANON FREWER HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM SERIOUS INJURY

Canon George Frewer of Sudbury narrowly escaped serious injury some days ago when the car which he was driving struck some loose gravel near Lewis Lake on La Cloche Island, six miles from Little Current, and turned completely over. He was alone at the time and experienced considerable difficulty in getting free from the car, which fortunately, did not take fire. Injured about the head and neck, he managed to make his way to a nearby road camp, where help was summoned from Little Current and a wrecking truck brought the car to town. Though badly shaken, after he had received first aid the canon proceeded to Pike Lake, where he had been going on business, and then caught the C.P.R. train for home on Friday afternoon.

Two Little Girls Fall into Lake and Are Drowned

Lake Temiskaming to-day claimed the lives of two little sisters, Patricia, seven, and Betty, five, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Miller, 763 Dupont Street, Toronto, who drowned a few yards from the Ferguson highway near where two families had been camping, about three miles north of Haileybury.

The younger Miller girl slipped from a rock while trying to reach a raft floating nearby and fell into the lake. Her sister went in for her and both disappeared. Shirley Watson, eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Annie Watson, 46 Essex Street, Toronto, was the only eye-witness of the tragedy, police said.

The bodies were recovered later. A pulmotor had been rushed from New Liskeard fire department, but both children were dead when taken from the water. Dr. J. S. McCullough, coroner of New Liskeard, decided that an inquest was not necessary.

That a third Miller child did not share the fate of his sisters is due entirely to the presence of mind of another child who grasped Robert Miller, aged three, and pulled him away from the lake. She ran screaming for help.

Provincial Constable Clarke failed to locate the bodies by wading, and eventually they were recovered with grappling irons.

Miller, father of the victims, Tuesday night said his wife and eldest boy had gone to Ville Marie, 45 miles away. He motored to Ville Marie and broke the news to his wife, whom he found walking on a street looking in store windows. She collapsed at the news.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, with seven children, and Mrs. Watson, widow, with five children, had been in this district for the last five days, camping in two tents. The funeral will be held in Toronto.

Senate Makes Chain Letter Scheme Criminal Offence

An editorial in a recent issue of The Montreal Daily Star reads as follows:— "The Senate Banking and Commerce Committee are to be congratulated upon having taken effective steps to scotch the chain letter racketeers. To operate a chain letter will be a criminal offence under an amendment to the Criminal Code adopted by the committee some days ago, carrying a maximum fine of $500.

"This is the precise procedure we urged a few weeks ago with the object of making the operation of these get-rich-quick frauds impossible in Canada. The promise of something for next to nothing always lures a large number of simple minded or over-credulous people, and the racketeer battens upon such simpletons.

"The chain letter is nothing more or less than a fraud. It promises those who sign it a return of thousands per cent. upon their single investment, be it five cents or five dollars. Of course, the very, very few—the operators—gain, and the vast majority are swindled. It is this deliberate and planned swindling that the amendment to the Criminal Code is destined to stop. There need be little doubt but that it will achieve its purpose."

Marriage at Chapel at the Queen's University

Soft summer sunshine gleamed through the stained glass windows of Morgan Memorial chapel, Queen's university, Kingston, when Rev. Canon Skeay of Toronto, father of the groom united in marriage Isobel Hazel, daughter of Mrs. E. E. Wilson and the late Mr. Wilson, and Mr. Harvey Skeay of Kirkland Lake, son of Canon and Mrs. Skeay of Toronto. Mrs. Richardson played appropriate wedding music and the pretty bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. H. W. Cooke of Toronto, wore a graceful frock of white point d'esprit, white picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and maidenhair. She was attended by her sister, Miss Betty Wilson, as maid of honor, who wore a most becoming model of dawn triple sheer chiffon, with picture hat, and carried pale mauve and pink sweetpeas and roses in an old-fashioned nosegay. Miss Gwendolyn Black, as bridesmaid, chose a lovely frock of flowered chiffon, made very long, picture hat, and carried roses and baby's breath. Mr. Warren Skeay of Toronto was best man and Mr. J. C. W. Manion acted as usher. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 325 Earl St., which was artistically arranged with quantities of summer flowers and ferns. Here, the bride and groom received the congratulations of the guests, and receiving with them was Mrs. Wilson, mother of the bride, who wore a lovely model of shell pink crepe and roses, and Mrs. Skeay of Toronto, mother of the groom, who chose a two-toned gown of white and pale pink, and wore a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Later the bride and groom left on an extended motor trip, the bride travelling in a two-toned brook of brown and yellow, and small brown hat. They will reside in Kirkland Lake. Out-of-town guests included Canon and Mrs. Skeay and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Skeay, Mr. and Mrs. H. Manion, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cooke and their two children, all of Toronto.

FIELD SOCIAL WORKER ON VISIT TO THE NORTH LAKE

Mrs. Moeller, field social worker for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was a visitor to Timmins this week, calling on all the blind persons in the town and district with a view to seeing how they were getting along and assisting them in any way possible. Mrs. Moeller motored from the South and has visited other parts of the North as far west as Hearst and Kapuskasing. In each place visited she found people in whom the Institute for the Blind is interested and ways and means will be sought to further help these people. Mrs. Moeller also found large numbers of people who are interested in the Institute for the Blind and the wonderful work being done by that organization. These good people will have opportunity to help again in the course of the next few months when Mr. Lawley, field secretary, will again visit the North. This is Mrs. Moeller's first visit to the North and she was greatly pleased and impressed with this new country and its potential resources and resourceful people.

Col. Mac Lang Not to Have Name Before Convention

Col. Mac Lang, chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission, this week has made the announcement that he will not allow his name to go before the convention next week to select a Liberal candidate for Temiskaming riding in the Dominion elections. Col. Mac Lang was selected as the candidate some months ago. There were many expressions of regret recently over the possibility that he would take the Temiskaming nomination and so under Premier Hepburn's ruling drop out of the T. & N. O. management. The people of the North have confidence and belief in Col. Mac Lang and his ability to conduct the railway and so were desirous that he should retain the post. Accordingly there will be general satisfaction that Col. Lang will remain at the head of the T. & N. O.

The dropping out of Col. Mac Lang leaves a number of names prominently mentioned for Temiskaming South as Liberal candidates. Among these are:— Wither Little, pioneer contractor, Kirkland Lake; C. A. Byam, New Liskeard; Brig-Gen. A. E. Swift, of Dane; Mal. G. Hunt, of Kirkland Lake.

Woodstock Review.—If the federal election comes off in September as predicted, candidates are going to have a busy time, what with fall fairs to attend in the afternoons and political meetings to attend in the evenings.

Remanded for Week on Serious Charges

Fred Kingsbury to Face Trial Next Week on Two Charges. Trial at South Porcupine.

At South Porcupine on Tuesday morning when the charges against Fred Kingsbury, Timmins, were called, a remand for a week was given in both cases by Magistrate E. R. Tucker. Kingsbury is charged with living on the avails of prostitution, and also faces a charge of carrying offensive weapons. He was arrested at Schumacher some days ago, a sand-filled blackjack being found in his possession, the police also finding a pocket made for the weapon on the inside of the front of his coat. He and another man were found in a Schumacher hotel with two women companions. One of the women told the police that Kingsbury was using her for immoral purposes and on this and other evidence secured by the Tisdale and Timmins police the charges were laid. A small quantity of what appeared to be a narcotic drug was found in the search but it is doubtful if there was enough to warrant a special charge in this connection.

Number of New Cases for Tuesday's Police Court

There are already a number of new cases for police court Tuesday. Probably the most important is a charge against P. D. Lavalley of having liquor illegally. The illegal place was a motor car.

Harriet Beaudoin will face a charge of vagrancy, the police finding her on street at night and not able to give satisfactory account of herself and her means of livelihood.

The R.C.M.F. have a charge against a man for having illicit liquor, the car in which it was found being seized.

There are three drunk charges, one of them being a woman found on street Tuesday night in very intoxicated condition.

There are a number of remands from last week.

Regina Quiet As Relief Camp Strikers Leave

Regina settles down after 2,000 British Columbia relief camp strikers, leave for their homes or camps aboard special train arranged for them by the Saskatchewan government. TOP, the boys listening to speeches before embarking. It will be noted that there are a number of women in the group. This is usual with communist gatherings. LEFT, the special train all set to pull out. While this was going on, 10,000 people were watching funeral procession of Detective Miller, killed in Dominion Day riots.

Special Meeting Ladies' Auxiliary Monday, July 15

A special meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion will be held in the Legion hall on Monday evening next, July 15th. All are particularly asked to attend as there will be business of special importance. Among other matters before the meeting will be plans for the annual picnic.

Also of unusual interest and importance will be the visit on Monday evening of the zone representative, Mrs. Richardson, of North Bay. There should be a particularly large attendance to welcome the zone representative and hear her message to the auxiliary.

Complicated Case in Matheson District

Strange Stories of Alleged Hold-up, Sale of Brass for Gold and What Have You. No Charges.

Simultaneous reports at Matheson and Timmins that each of two parties had been robbed of $1,000 by the other have led to the partial unfolding of a story of selling brass for gold.

No charges have been laid yet either by police or those involved in the alleged hold-up and although three men were taken into custody at Matheson yesterday, they were released when it turned out that there was no apparent reason for holding them.

The "deal" was made about 25 miles from Matheson; that much seems definite. That four and a half pounds of brass was turned over to one man by another in exchange for slightly over $1,000, seems probable, but just what happened after that is very vague, for the stories told by each "side" do not tally in many respects. One claims that the seller pulled a gun and demanded the money, stole the taxi in which he had travelled to the bush, and left the taxi driver, the moneyless buyer, and his friend to find their way out as best they could.

The other man's story varies as to who did the actual holding up. He claims that when he sold the brass to the other, the buyer pulled a gun in an attempt to reclaim his money, but the man who had the money wrested the automatic from him, forced him from the car and drove off.

So far as is known now, the case will be allowed to rest like that, since nobody appears to want to lay charges.

Wedding of Interest Here to Take Place This Month

The Toronto Star of Friday last on its social page published a picture of Miss Beryl Goettler, formerly on the teaching staff of the Timmins High and Vocational School. Beneath the picture was the following paragraph: "Miss Beryl Goettler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Goettler, whose marriage to Mr. Walter Geoffrey Cosser of Schumacher, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. J. Cosser, will be an interesting event of the latter part of July."

Agitators Expelled by Police from Rockcliffe

While two detachments of Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the full strength of the air force at Ottawa station stood by, eleven agitators at the Rockcliffe relief work camp were ejected from the camp on Monday night. These eleven agitators addressed the men when they found they were to be ejected. One of them said:—"Will you stand by and see them put men out. I stood for you." The men, however, decided to let the agitators go. The had succeeded in getting 125 men to meet and decide on a strike—for the usual communist demands. Some of those ejected said they were not communist, but were told that they had been fully investigated. Similar ejection of paid agitators from other camps would likely stop all trouble. The conditions at the camps are good and the men all used well according to all reliable reports.

Very Complicated Case at Haileybury Last Week-end

The steps taken to redeem a Hudson township farm bought in by the municipality at a tax sale, a sharp difference of opinion regarding the size of swamp spruce timber found on the property, the partial discharge of a store debt through a third party, the alleged duplicate sale by the owner of the farm of timber in its bush, some "swapping" deals claimed not to have been carried out by the same individual and a dispute over his ability or otherwise to speak English that could be understood all featured a District Court action before Judge Hayward and heard at Haileybury last week. The parties involved were Tony Phillips of Cobalt, centre of most of the arguments, Peter Lariviere and J. S. Brule of Hudson township, who brought suit against Harold Rutherford and Harry Skin, also Hudson farmers, who in turn entered counterclaim against the other three, each side asserting the other was interfering with its rights with regard to the cutting of timber of Phillip's farm.

His Honour, after making several attempts to bring about a settlement, reserved judgment and will hear arguments on the introduction by the plaintiffs of the Statute of Frauds, no reference to which was made in evidence. Judge Hayward declared that here were "three plaintiffs and two defendants fighting over a few cords of firewood which can't possibly be worth more than $150 or $200."

BRITISH HOUSE ENDORSES RE-ORGANIZED GOVERNMENT

The House of Commons at London, England, on Tuesday of this week rejected by large majority a Labour party motion to censure the government. Premier Baldwin and his government were supported by a vote of 450 to 76. The motion was based on the suggestion that the government had failed to properly cope with unemployment.
