Interesting Review of African Cities To-day

Rev. Fr. O'Gorman, Guest Speaker at the Kiwanis Club, Describes Some Cities Visited on Cruise of Mediterranean. Kiwanis Look After Tonsil Cases. Progress in Sponsored Sports.

Modern African cities, some of them in about the same condition they have been for hundreds of years and others where paved streets and fine public buildings have been erected recently, made the subject matter of an address by Rev. Father J. R. O'Gorman to the Kiwanis Club at Monday's luncheon. Father O'Gorman returned some time ago from a cruise of the Mediterranean, and although he spent the greater part of his time abroad in Palestine, he found much of interest in his journey through parts of Africa.

Idle People Everywhere
 Everywhere he went, he found great swarms of beggars, souvenir-sellers and idle people. They crowded about the party as soon as they landed at a port have nothing to do—they simply walk up and down the cobblestoned roadways, day in and day out.

Yet behind the squeezed-in buildings that front on the street, were comfortable dwellings where a strange sense of peace seemed to shut off the city itself.

Modern Cities, Too
 Tunis and Algiers, by contrast, Father O'Gorman found to be fine modern places, with wide paved streets, nice looking homes, typically African, and ston public buildings.

Up the Nile, the traveller noticed the fertility of the aluvial plain, where for centuries it has been possible to take two or three crops a year with good success. At Cairo, Father O'Gorman found the museum about the most interesting building in the city. There he saw the 237 articles from the tomb of King Tutankhamen, over which such a controversy raged a few years ago. The Egyptian government forbade the export of these articles.

On the ancient crafts of Egypt, the visitor spent days of intensive study and found much of genuine interest.

Cairo, he found, was really a modern city, for while Fr. O'Gorman was there students at the university were on strike owing to the dismissal of a professor.

He also spoke briefly on the art and sculpture he had seen and admired in Spain and Italy.

Kiwanian Dr. S. L. Honey tendered the thanks of the club to Father O'Gorman for his instructive and highly interesting talk.

Pleasant Stag Party Here Tuesday Night

Enjoyable Event in Honour of John De Haitre, Formerly of Timmins who was Married This Morning.

One of the most enjoyable stag parties held in Timmins for many a long day was the one on Tuesday evening in honour of John De Haitre, of Hearst, Ont., formerly of Timmins, the occasion being the observance of the fact that his popular bank employee was to be married this (Thursday) morning, July 18th, at 8 a.m. to Miss Alexandrine LaSalle, a popular lady of the town.

The stag party was sponsored by O. E. Kristensen and Eddie LaSalle.

The operation, the 40 who will be minus their tonsils are children to whom the general will mean much improved general health, who might otherwise become chronic throat cases.

The boys work committee reported that some 200 boys in town had signed up for running, jumping, softball and swimming under the direction of Instructor Wright. The programme is progressing well.

Potato Plot Going Well
 Members of the boys' potato club, also under Kiwanis Club guidance, will be able to show most members of the senior club how potatoes should be grown in the North before their crops are ready, it was reported. Most of the boys are doing good work on their small plots and regular hoeing is now the order of the day at the Feldman farm on the other side of the Mattagami bridge.

Through the kind courtesy of Mrs. Phil Theriault, the stag was held at her home, 3 Birch street north.

The wonderful chicken and spaghetti feed for the evening was prepared and served by Roger Ruzzier, assisted by Leo Charlebois.

The evening throughout was a very happy one without a dull second.

A feature of the evening was the presentation to the guest of honour of the evening, John De Haitre, of a handsome and valuable silver cocktail shaker and accessories. The presentation address was made in English by Russell Grant and in French by Jerry Laflamme. Both referred to the high regard and sincere friendship in which Mr. De Haitre was held by wide circles, and he was asked to accept the gift from his friends as an evidence of their appreciation, friendship and good wishes.

Among those present for the occasion were:—O. E. Kristensen, Eddie LaSalle, Leo Charlebois, R. Grant, A. Kallio, Jas. Evans, J. Charlebois, Jerry Laflamme, Bob Charlebois, Omer Girard, Albert Brisson, Tom Borwick, Peter Smith, Len Gott, Paul Larehe, A. F. Clarke, Leo Thomson, Pat Andrews, Geo. Constable, Roland Fournier, Cy Kearns, Alec Feletier, Paul Richer, D'Arcy McGee Ray Devine, Jack Downey.

May Secure Loans for Building of Homes

Machinery of New Act Being Rapidly Brought into Shape. Some Details of New Housing Plan.

Recently in Timmins there have been a number of enquiries in regard to the new housing plans of the Dominion government designed to assist in the building of homes. Up to the present there has been little that could be announced, for, although the act had been duly passed, the machinery for handling it had not been assembled. Yesterday, however, the following despatch from Ottawa touched on many matters that may be of interest to those enquiring here:—

"Within a matter of weeks it will be possible for a prospective home builder in Canada to secure a loan up to 80 per cent. of the cost, for a long term and at a low interest rate—through the operations of the Housing Act adopted at the last session of Parliament."

"Machinery of the Act is being rapidly whipped into shape under direction of Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes and Dr. W. C. Clark, Deputy Minister. It is anticipated that it will be possible shortly to announce the list of approved loaning companies throughout Canada to whom borrowers may apply for benefits under the Act."

Deal With Companies
 Prospective builders will deal directly with loaning companies and there will be no special Government body set up to deal with the public. An official of the Department of Finance will have specific charge of the Government's loans, but public contact will be with the companies only and they will operate under the Act in accordance with contracts between them and the Government.

"Several conferences have been held with the representatives of leading loan companies and the form of contract will be finally discussed at conferences this week. Once it has been mutually agreed upon and approved by the Governor-in-Council, loaning operations may be opened."

"Although details of operations through which loans may be secured remain to be settled, it is understood that in a general way the individual seeking benefits of the Housing Act would apply to the nearest approved loaning company. He would set forth his building proposals and the company would secure an appraisal of the cost. The company could then offer a loan up to 80 per cent. of the appraised value or estimated cost, whichever is the lesser, with the understanding that 20 per cent. of the money would be advanced from the $10,000,000 appropriation provided in the Housing Act."

5 Per Cent. is Maximum
 "It is the hope of the department that the average interest rate to the home builder would not be more than five per cent., and the period would be for 10 or 20 years where such loans in the past have been for not more than five-year periods."

"To protect the safety of the investment and render it more convenient and simple for the owner to meet his instalments, payments of interest and principal will be monthly."

"The act provides that construction must be of a high standard of soundness and quality, and privilege is retained by both the Minister of Finance and the loaning company to have a representative inspect building operations at any time. Ultimately it is the intention of the act that a minimum standard of quality will be fixed in order to ensure that properties to be built will retain their value throughout the term of the loan."

"Practically all life insurance companies, loan companies operating under a Dominion charter, as well as some loan companies operating with provincial charters and some trust companies, have signified their desire to co-operate with the Government in carrying out the act."

"The act contemplates all buildings used solely for human habitation, from the single cottage to big apartment houses. Judging from the great interest throughout Canada, apparent from the flood of letters seeking information officials today expressed the opinion that the entire $10,000,000 appropriation would be quickly absorbed, creating work valued at $50,000,000.

Slum Inquiry
 "The act also provides that the Economic Council of Canada shall institute an inquiry into slum clearance possibilities, low cost housing projects in other countries, methods of reducing costs in the building industry, prefabricated homes, and other developments in housing, and report to the Government in preparation for a larger scheme than that now being initiated."

Found Dead in Bed at Matachewan Hotel

Frank Bowerman, Formerly of Cobalt and Kirkland Lake, and Latterly of the Ashley, Dies Suddenly.

Frank Bowerman, employed until quite recently at the Ashley Mine, was found dead in bed in his room at a Matachewan hotel. From the conditions and appearances it seemed that the man had suffered a stroke while alone in his room and that he had passed away as a consequence. Constable McClelland, of the provincial police and stationed at Elk Lake, was notified as soon as the death of Bowerman was discovered and he went out at once to Matachewan to investigate. The provincial police also summoned Dr. McCullough, coroner, of New Liskeard. After a careful survey and investigation the coroner decided that an inquest with a coroner's jury was not necessary as the death has very evidently been due to natural causes. All indications were that he passed away following a stroke.

The late Frank Bowerman was about 50 years of age and was well known in the Matachewan camp as well as in Cobalt and Kirkland Lake. He had worked in both Cobalt and Kirkland, but recently had been employed with the Ashley Mine. Some days ago he left the Ashley and was spending a few days at the hotel in Matachewan previous to taking up some other employment. Like so many other of the old-timers of Cobalt, Kirkland Lake and Timmins camps, he was well known, but there was difficulty in learning anything from his friends as to his relatives or home. They had never asked him personal questions and he had not volunteered the information, so nothing was known along this line. Eventually, however, the police were able to discover that the late Mr. Bowerman had a sister living in Thorold, Ont. This lady, a Mrs. David, was communicated with.

THINKS PART OF THE TROUBLE TOO MUCH WAITING ABOUT

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)
 Students of Canadian history have been impressed of late by the thought that many present difficulties would disappear if young people were prepared to face pioneer conditions and make a way for themselves as earlier generations did in this country. There is too great a tendency to wait for governments or organizations to create favourable opportunities, and too much dependence upon services and conveniences and environment which exist only because of the toil which others performed many years ago.
