Alleged New Racket in Advs for Church Clocks

The Toronto Globe says that a new kind of racket, involving the sale of advertising space on clocks, which the sponsors allegedly claimed were to be placed in Roman Catholic churches, is believed to have been uncovered by the police this week when they arrested two Hamilton men on charges of fraud.

The police stated the scheme may have been worked all through the Province. The men approached merchants and others who were interested in advertising, it was stated, and declared they were able to place clocks bearing a frame for advertisements in principal Catholic churches. The fee—apparently for rental—was $5, it was stated.

Two charges of fraud were laid against the men, Joseph Burnston of 394 Aberdeen Avenue, Hamilton, and John Spencer, 91 Providence Street, South, Hamilton. They were taken into custody by Detectives Nimmo, Doolittle and Elliott.

The James Lumbers Company wholesale grocers, of Front Street East, laid the complaint in one instance, and Mabel Morrison of 250 Augusta Avenue laid the other.

Rioting Resumed in Belfast This Week

Scores Wounded. Schools and Other Public Buildings Burnt Down. Troops Assist Police.

Despatches coming through from Belfast this morning say that scores were wounded and schools, residences and public buildings have been burned down in rioting between Nationalists and Orangemen in Belfast, Ireland, this week. There was serious trouble in Belfast over the week-end but it was hoped that the disorder was over. Apparently, however, the trouble broke out again this week, rival gangs clashing and stones and bottles being thrown back and forth with injuries to many. Police had to be reinforced by troops to cope with the situation. Every piece of fire-fighting equipment in Belfast is in use to quell the fires starting by the quarrelling factions. Eventually machine guns were brought into use when a volley was fired over the heads of the mob. A division of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, armed with rifles, joined the forces striving to restore order and were able to gradually reduce the disorder and lawlessness.

CHARGE MOTORCYCLIST WITH SPEEDING ON STREET

A motorcyclist was "knocked off" last night by Deputy Chief Salley on the River road, the cyclist being said to have reached a speed of more than 50 miles an hour before being run to the curb. The cyclist will "tell it to the judge" on Tuesday. The police say that cyclists, as well as motor car drivers, must observe the regulations for the safety of the public.

How the Death of Some May Save the Lives of Many

(Fort Arthur News-Chronicle.) A few weeks ago, at Toronto a police officer, seeking to make the arrest of two fugitives, jumped on the running board of their car, and ordered them to come to a stop.

The reply was a threat to kill the officer.

"If you kill me you will both be hanged," was the officer's retort.

Realizing that here was an officer who meant to do his duty, even if it meant death, and that the words he spoke were probably true, the two men then stopped their car and submitted to arrest.

At St. Thomas, Ont., two men, a father and son, were led to the gallows and there they paid with their lives for the killing of a police officer in the execution of his duty.

Had not a pleasing or happy thing that organized society should take care of its members, lead them up on to a scaffold and there hang them by the neck until they were dead.

But consider it in relation to the incident at Toronto, here related.

The Toronto police officer who jumped on the running board of a fugitive car, and ordered the two occupants to stop, knew that in doing his duty he would have the full support of law. Otherwise he might not have done what he did.

Had not the two fugitives known there was every possibility of truth in the officer's warning of death on the gallows if they killed him they might not have been so ready to stop. They might have carried out their threat.

Two lives were ended, through the operation of the law, at St. Thomas, but it is impossible to estimate how many were, at the same time, prolonged.

Man of Twenty-six Drowns at Clute School Picnic

Tragedy marred a rural school picnic recently when a 26-year-old man, Claude Toussaint, met his death by drowning.

The occasion was Clute school picnic, held at Dore Lake, 15 miles north of Cochrane.

Toussaint, who could swim well, took a boat and proceeded to dive into the lake, but was seen in difficulties in the water.

There was no other boat on the shore, but a youth named Albert Cromwell swam out to Toussaint and endeavoured to bring him to shore.

At a distance of about 50 yards from shore Toussaint's weight proved too much for Cromwell and he was forced to release him. Provincial police located the body later.

Wedding of W. R. McVittie and Miss Nora Gosselin

A despatch this week from Cochrane says:—

In St. George's United Church, Toronto, the wedding took place recently of Nora Gosselin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gosselin, of Rainy River, and William Roy McVittie, son of Mrs. Isobel McVittie and the late William James McVittie, of Southampton. The officiating minister was Rev. Dr. George A. Brown of Chalmers United Church, Kingston.

The bride wore a charming white suit trimmed with fox, and accessories to match. Her corsage was of roses, lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots. The bridal couple spent a few days in Muskoka and later sailed on the "Lettitia" on a trip to Europe.

"Mr. McVittie was for the past four years public school inspector in Cochrane district and was well known throughout the North. Miss Gosselin was also well known in Timmins, where she taught for some time.

"Mr. and Mrs. McVittie were the recipients of many presents from their numerous friends in the North. On their return from Europe they will reside in Barrie, to which point the groom was transferred."

Colds are Infectious Weather Not the Cause

No matter how much cold and rainy weather a person is exposed to, the individual will not catch a cold unless he is infected by a cold germ caught from another individual, Prof. Wilson G. Smilie, of the Harvard University School of Public Health, has revealed.

Four Harvard expeditions were sent to isolated communities for the purpose of studying the common cold. The investigations were conducted at Stevenson's "Treasure Island," which is St. John's in the Virgin Islands, at Hudson Bay trading post on the Northwest river in Labrador; at Spitzbergen, the northernmost permanent settlement in the world; and at Happy Hollow, in Southern Alabama.

Prof. Smilie asserted that a person with a cold is only infectious for three days, even though he may be coughing and have a temperature after that time.

"Common colds are an infection and are not due to cold weather," he said. "Many people think that colds are due to cold weather, but this is not so. In Spitzbergen we found that the people were subjected to intensely cold weather and terrific winds all winter without catching cold; but as soon as the boats came in in the spring and carriers of cold germs arrived, most of the people caught colds.

"On 'Treasure Island' in the tropics, which had a population of 746 when we were there, we found an almost perfect paradise as far as weather and environmental conditions are concerned. The people there also caught colds, but not as long as they were isolated from contact with carriers of cold germs. In Labrador we found that the people did not have any colds all winter until a mailman arrived and brought the cold germs in. Then colds spread to the whole community."

13th Expedition Sets Out to Conquer Mt. Waddington

The thirteenth attempt to scale Mount Waddington's unconquered 13,260 foot peak is under way, a party of eight members of the Sierra Club of California having left Vancouver by seaplane for the arduous climb led by Bestor Robinson and Richard M. Leonard, Oakland attorneys, the party is the best equipped group to tackle the coast range peak. All are experienced rock and ice climbers, and they carry 125 pitons, steel rock spikes which have not been extensively used in North American mountaineering. The party will traverse the 30 miles of the glacier at the base of Mount Waddington. There, at 10,000 feet, a base camp will be established from which the ascent of the peak will be undertaken whenever the weather conditions permit. The Expedition Leader Robinson and Mount Waddington are shown above.
