Correspondence Course Pupils Pass "Entrance"

This Part of North Well Represented in Pupils Taking Ontario Correspondence Courses. Notable Service Given by These Courses to Children in the Sparsely-Settled Areas.

There will be special interest in this part of the North in the continued and increased success of the pupils of the Ontario Correspondence Courses. In view of the fact that the courses were first publicly proposed for Ontario by the Timmins board of trade and the Porcupine Advance, and later further pressed upon the Government by the Northern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade. The courses were designed to give opportunity for education to the children of settlers and others in sparsely settled areas where school facilities were not available and could not be made available because of conditions. Similar courses had been successful in British Columbia, Alberta and other provinces in the West. It was felt that there was an ideal field for such work in the North. It may be said here that the courses have actually proven far more successful and useful than the most hopeful views of the advocates of the courses. It should be noted that the exceptional success of the work is in large measure due to the interest, the talent and the sympathy of Dr. Neil McDougall, who has been in charge of the courses since their inception. The courses bring education to any children who can get to a post office even as seldom as once in two or three weeks. So cleverly are the courses designed and such considerate and thoughtful individual attention is given to each pupil that the courses are proving of the most outstanding value. Last year over 2,000 pupils in the North and in other sparsely settled areas benefitted by these courses. This means that 2000 children were given good education who would without these classes have had no chance for education.

school either for the whole school year or during the winter months. The courses are also useful to those who are physically unable to attend school and for whom no other provision is made for education. While the courses are given free and all expenses paid by the department (this being a very valuable feature in view of all the circumstances and conditions) the cost to the province is after all not a serious matter. The entire average cost per pupil per year was from $12 to $15.

Up to the present courses have covered the public school work from the primer grade to the senior fourth grade but are now being extended to cover the work of the fifth class.

The following pupils enrolled in these courses were successful in passing the recent departmental high school entrance examination. The names are arranged in alphabetical order:

Berbert Berg, Reesor, Ont.; Olive E. Carruthers, Eau Claire, Ont.; Donald J. Christie, Nobel, Ont.; Gladys L. Coleman, Connaught Station, Ont.; Louise Gibson, Copetown, Ont.; Nurmi Hilkka, Mile 155, A.C.R., Ont.; Mary Hudson, Quartz, Ont.; Dora G. Knister, Oshtawa, R.R. 2, Ont.; Jack Pedwell, Brinkman's Corners, Ont.; Jean C. Proudfoot, Jewellville, Ont.; William Salo, Mamsley, Ont.; Maxime I. Schwenker, Grove Park Lodge, Ont.; Matilda L. Timberg, Rheault, Ont.; Jean B. Umpherson, Lavant Station, Ont.

It will be noted that some of the pupils passing the entrance examinations this year are resident in this part of the North. Hosts of youngsters in this district are taking the lower class studies and succeeding well. All in all the correspondence courses have more than justified themselves.

BE BEAUTIFUL

PROTECT THE SKIN IF YOU ARE A SPORTS ENTHUSIAST

Recently we lined up a list of the ill results of exposure to the sun and it was a long and formidable one, we'll grant. We decided that 20 minutes exposure to the direct rays of the sun is ample the first day. Now you say what of the woman who goes in for swimming and active sports and really cannot limit herself to such a short time facing Old Sol.

Protect is the answer. Protect is the word on the lips of every beauty authority. Protect—that's what every wise woman who values the youthfulness of her skin is doing. Remember that exposure without protection may age the skin five to ten years; it destroys the skin's youthful transparency, dries and withers it, which means that premature wrinkles soon follow.

With the proper protection the translucent, pliant quality of the skin is preserved, wrinkles and coarseness are kept at bay. And if that isn't worth the proverbial "ounce of prevention" I don't know what is.

Protective Creams and Oils There are so many excellent creams, oils and lotions that form a sun-screening protection against the harmful, actinic rays of the sun. They must be applied generously and frequently.

There is, for instance, a sun-proofing cream made by one of the leading cosmologists. A light film of this cream allows the skin to become slightly tanned but guards it from painful sunburn and blistering. And the same cream when applied quite thickly preserves a gardenia-petal pallor, if you prefer to shun suntan.

A sister product is a rich, protective cream that can be diluted to any desired consistency with skin tonic. It protects delicate complexions against undue exposure to sun and wind while one indulges in active outdoor sports. It is waterproof (which should delight swimming enthusiasts). And it can be used as an evening make-up for arms, neck and back, giving the skin a velvety, translucent finish.

Then there's a splendid suntan oil which allows just enough of the sun's rays to filter through and give the skin a healthy sun glow or yellow tan, all the while keeping the skin soft of texture.

Remember to renew these protective preparations frequently and to use them according to directions. There's the secret of a healthy tan without burn or blister.

Pretty Wedding on Saturday Morning

Miss Eileen Brown and Mr. Russell J. Hall Married. Couple on Honeymoon to the East.

A quiet but pretty summer wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Robert Brown, James street, on Saturday morning at 10.30 when Eileen, youngest daughter of Mrs. Brown and the late Robert Brown, became the bride of Russell J. Hall, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, of Hamilton. Rev. Murray Tait of Schumacher United Church performed the ceremony.

Miss Etta Brown, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, while Mr. Donald McLeod, of Timmins, attended the groom. Her brother, Mr. Clifford B. Brown, gave the bride in marriage. The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. L. Monaghan, her sister.

Wearing a gown of white tulle, with long sleeves, a silver girdle, and shoulder veil, the bride carried a bouquet of roses. Her shoes were silver. The bridesmaid wore a cream tulle gown with shoulder cape, white hat and shoes, and carried a bouquet of carnations.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to a number of the young couple's friends. Her mother, wearing a white crepe gown with a shoulder bouquet of sweet peas, received.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall left the same day on a motor trip to Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec City, Toronto, Hamilton and New York City, and on their return will live in Schumacher. Mr. Hall is an engineer at the Hollinger, and his fellow engineers saw to it that he and his bride got a good send-off.

Gifts of furniture, silver and many other useful and suitable things came from their friends.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Reid, of Connaught, and Mr. and Mrs. Whittie, of Rouyn.

Mapping Bureau to Remain at North Bay

Action Deferred by the Dept. of Mines in the Matter of the Removal of the Mapping Office.

Prospectors and others concerned will be pleased to learn that it is now very unlikely that the North Bay mapping office of the Ontario Dept. of Mines will be moved from the Gateway City. It is announced now with apparent official approval that the move will not be made at least for a year. The chances are that a year from now the removal of the office will again be deferred. Not only is there very strong opposition at North Bay to the idea of the removal of the mapping office from North Bay, but prospectors and others are equally strong in condemning the idea of moving the office. As might have been noted in The Advance several weeks ago there was said to be a determination on the part of the political powers—that be at Toronto to move the mapping office to Toronto. The excuse given for the proposed move was the common one of "economy." As has been the case in so many other matters, there had not been sufficient study of the situation and conditions or it might have been apparent that the "economy" might prove far from real economy. In any event it is now stated on good authority that the mapping office will stay at North Bay at least for a few months, though the original intention had been to transfer it to Toronto.

Two reasons are believed to have influenced the Government in its decision to maintain at least for the present the mapping office at North Bay; one that space which would be required at Queen's Park should the office be moved to Toronto is not available; secondly that the blue-printing machine at North Bay operates on a different cycle to that of the Toronto hydro system, with the result that costly changes would have to be made before the machine could be placed in service in Toronto.

Arctic Circle Does Its Christmas Shopping Early

It may seem a little early to say—"It won't be long now till Christmas." For the present the weather does not seem to tempt such thoughts. But like so many things, "it all depends." For instance the people of the Arctic Circle have to think before this of Christmas and plan for the same or there would not be any Christmas for them.

Already the annual Christmas mail and plum puddings are on their way to the Arctic circle. A despatch last week from Montreal says that carrying a group of Canadian government officials, two doctors who will attempt to solve the riddle of why Eskimos never suffer cancer, and a cargo ranging from lipstick to chicken feed, the sturdy ship Nascope has departed on the annual voyage to the Far North.

Men whose work keeps them exiled in the bleak Arctic wastes, where the mailman comes once a year, await the arrival of the vessel with as much eagerness as children awaiting Santa Claus.

Each year the Nascope takes along a number of parcels, wrapped in wax paper and tied with red and green ribbon. They contain Christmas gifts and plum puddings sent by relatives to Arctic dwellers.

The parcels are dropped off as the Nascope reaches the various outposts with the instructions: "Do not open until December 25."

S. Bucovetsky Host to Kiwanis Monday

Club Members Guests at the New Grand Hotel. Tribute Paid to Late Will Rogers.

The members of the Kiwanis Club, 25 strong, were the guests of Sam Bucovetsky on Monday at noon at the new Grand hotel, Third avenue. A fine turkey dinner, with cream of tomato soup and deep apple pie, was enjoyed by the club. Wilfred Biais, manager of the Grand, assisted Mr. Bucovetsky as host to the guests.

Kiwanian Vincent Woodbury extended the thanks of the club to the host, stressing the fact that Mr. Bucovetsky is well-known for his kindness and thoughtfulness of others. He also remarked on the sudden passing of Will Rogers whom, he said, had friends among all, rich or poor, those in high position as well as those in lower places. The accident that was the cause of his death robbed the whole world of a friend.

Guests at the meeting were Mayor R. Richardson and C. O. Baker, North Bay, head of the freight department of the T. & N. O.

Both Mr. Baker and Mr. Richardson thanked the club for the hospitality shown.

It was reported to the club that some of the Boy Scouts had been brought back from the Nellie lake camp by members who had offered the use of their cars.
