Important Cases Given Remands at Court Here

Prince of Wales Hotel and Star Cafe Cases to be Called Sept. 3rd. S. B. Rawlinson Cases Put Over to Sept. 10.
Provincial Officer Called as Defence Witness. Other Cases Tuesday.

The four "big" cases, up for hearing at Tuesday's court, were all adjourned until various dates and for various reasons. It was Magistrate Atkinson's first court here in seven weeks, following a holiday in England.
Stanley Rawlinson, charged by provincial police with having beer for sale on two different occasions, will not appear again until September 10th.
W. S. Hong, of the Prince of Wales Hotel, charged with keeping a disorderly house, was remanded to appear on September 3rd.
Charlie Lum, of the Star Cafe, also charged with keeping a disorderly house, was remanded until September 3rd.
A. J. Moore, Arthur Goulet and Pierre St. Pierre, charged with high-grading, were remanded until September 17th.

not having been able to cure them of their bad habits.
"It's not as bad as what he says," was all LaRose answered to the allegations.
John Pulchinski, charged with operating an employment bureau without having a license to do so, was remanded for another week.
"I understand that he was to pay back the money alleged to have been paid him by two persons within the week," said the crown attorney.
A charge of stealing wood, laid against J. Letang, was dismissed, the magistrate advising the complainant to take it to civil court, since it was a dispute rather than an indictable offence, if any.

Summon Officer for Defence
In the Rawlinson case, Dean Kester, counsel for the defence, asked a remand on the grounds that he had summoned Constable Pretorius to appear for the defence, but the constable had gone away on holiday.
"I can't proceed without that witness," said Mr. Kester.
"I would like to go ahead with these cases now," said Crown Attorney S. A. Caldbeck. "They've been hanging fire for over a month now. I think the defence should give the court some idea whether the witness is material or not."
Mr. Kester explained that he had been away on holiday but that the case had been remanded from week to week. He did not know the constable would not be in town.
"Pretorius certainly is a competent witness," said the lawyer. "I hope your worship will not force me to disclose my defence at this time."
"The fairest way is to let it stand until he comes back," said Magistrate Atkinson.

What the Railroad is to People of North

Even in Winter, Distances are Made Mere Fractions of What They Were a Few Years Ago
Eastmain is a sea journey of nearly a hundred miles northeast of Moosonee, yet at one time it was closer to the source of supply than was the older settlement. Fresh food and vegetables were unknown in the posts of old, yet to-day a meal at the factor's home in Eastmain may consist of salad, made from crisply fresh lettuce and tomatoes, fresh fruit and most of the other foods to which those in the South are accustomed.
The coming of the railroad to James Bay has made the difference. Now, for two or three months of the year, it is a trip of only a couple of days from Eastmain to Toronto, where in former years, it would have taken months. Even in winter, the James and Hudson Bay posts are not so isolated as they were, though dog team round the edge of the bay is infinitely slower than a boat trip straight across.
It's difficult to appreciate the difference the railway must make to men whose job in life keeps them in the far North most of the time. In days not so far past, a two or three-week holiday was useless, for it meant more than that length of time to make a trip "out." Every week-end during the summer now, when the boats are running in and out of Moosonee, there's bound to be on the train a few men who are on their way to the South after four or five years at some lonely spot.

Mr. Kester stated that he intended to summons the constable in the second case also.
"Pretorius was not there and has nothing to do with it as far as I can see," objected the crown attorney.
"I've seen the files in these cases too, at Halleyburg," said his worship, granting the remand.
Rawlinson is still on $1,000 bail.
Aurel Sauve and Mack Freeberg, charged in connection with the same raids by provincial police with having purchased beer not in accordance with the Liquor Control Act, were remanded until the same date.
Alter Information in Hotel Case
The information in the charges of keeping a disorderly house against W. S. Hong, was altered from "July 28th," to "July 28th and 90 days previously thereto," Dean Kester, appearing for the defence, said that he "was forced to ask for an adjournment." Hong's bail was renewed for $300.
Norman Guen, the Chinese who has only one leg, was called but failed to appear. A bench warrant was issued for him. He is charged with being "found in."
Merrill Forbes, charged with being an inmate, was ordered to report to the police once a day until September 3rd. "That jail is not a fit place to keep a girl," commented his worship, "especially since I understand she has been ill. If anything happened to her while she was down there, we could be criticized with justice."
Muriel Longstreet, also charged with being an inmate, had been released on her own bail, but did not answer her name. A bench warrant was issued for her arrest.

"Pretorius" Case Adjourned
The chase of Charlie Lum, made peremptory last week, was again adjourned, this time until September 3rd. Dean Kester stated that he was not prepared to go ahead, since the information in the case had been altered, the evening previously. Deputy-Chief Salley, who had remained in town for the case, though he was supposed to be on holiday, suggested that the case be remanded two weeks instead of one.
Bail for a local girl, charged with being an inmate, was renewed at $25.
It is understood that when the case does come to trial, it will be held in closed court, since there is to be the evidence of two local girls who are said to have been dismissed from the Star Cafe because they refused to do as they were asked.

Given Chance to Straighten Up
Willie LaRose and his wife, Agnes LaRose, were bonded by the magistrate not to drink for a period of one year. Their children will be returned to them, on condition that they look after them properly. Both LaRoses and his wife admitted that they drank canned heat.
Sergeant Gagnon testified that he had visited the home. "It's got so that the house is not fit for a pig to live in," he said. On responding to the call of a local doctor, Mrs. LaRose had been taken to the hospital suffering from alcoholic poisoning. LaRose himself had been found in the place nearly paralysed. The children had had only what little food there was on the table for the previous 24 hours—a little bread butter and jam. Two of the older boys are already in reformatory, the police

Trip on T. & N. O. Extension
Guy and Maitland McChesney, with Jack Fulton, were on a fishing trip up to Mileage 87 on the T. & N. O. extension last week-end. They brought back a good mess of large speckled trout, and report the fishing really excellent, but the weather just a bit hot for the rough trail in to the river.

Army and Navy Veterans Giving Away Motor Car

Mr. and Mrs. Northcote, the one representing the Army and Navy Veterans, and the other the Ladies' Auxiliary, are in town this week selling tickets for a car to be given away. The car is parked at the Goldfields hotel corner and is a handsome one. Tickets are not being peddled around town, but must be secured at the car only. The proceeds of the campaign go to the Blind Veterans of the Army and Navy League.

Opening of Provincial Bank at Sudbury Deferred

According to word from Sudbury the opening in that city of a Provincial Savings Bank branch has been deferred on account of the alleged high rentals asked for available premises. As The Sudbury Star suggests the government through the medium of taxes and other impositions is largely responsible for higher costs and so it does not seem sporting for the government to quibble at rentals that have to be paid by other banks against whom the provincial bank hoped to win opposition. It does seem only fair that the provincial financial and industrial institutions should be ready to compete with others without having the dice loaded all the way along.

Buffalo Ankerite to Take Over the Marbuan

Merger Expected to be Made at Early Date. Will be of Advantage to Both Properties, Directors Believe. Combined Properties will have Capacity of 800 Tons per day.

Marbuan Gold Mines Limited will soon be taken over by Buffalo Ankerite to become an integral part of the latter mine, it was predicted by Edward G. Kinkel, secretary and managing director of Ankerite and president of Marbuan, in an interview with The Advance this week.
Marbuan will be paid for with 130,000 shares of Ankerite treasury stock, which is on the basis of six shares of Marbuan to one of the larger company. The debt of $50,000, owed by Marbuan to Ankerite, will be wiped out at the same time.
Directors of the two companies are interlocking and although a meeting of Marbuan stockholders will be called, no dissolution is expected with the terms of the deal. Unless it is decided to call a joint meeting of the stockholders of both mines, the Buffalo-Ankerite board will sanction the deal. It is within their power to make the investment if they consider it a good one for the company.

Trade Is Six to One
The share trading will be on approximately the ratio at which the two stocks are selling on the market to-day.
Buffalo-Ankerite's dividends will not have to be cut in order to take care of the extra stock issued. Mr. Kinkel believes, for it is expected that within four months of the time the merger is completed, the work necessary to reach Ankerite's north ore body from Marbuan's mine will be done and ore being used in the Marbuan mill. Earnings of Buffalo-Ankerite last year were sufficient to pay a 40-cent dividend, it was pointed out, though the rate was placed at 20 cents. The reserve would be ample to take care of dividends at 20 cents on the new stock.
Appoint Canadian Director?
Possibility of the appointment of a Canadian director on the Buffalo-Ankerite board was suggested by Mr. Kinkel. Since about 40 per cent. of the stock is now held in Canada, it is considered only fair that there should be some Canadian representation in the direction of its affairs. A large amount of the stock is held in Timmins, and if the company received permission to increase its board from seven to nine, it is likely that a Timmins man will be chosen as one of the new directors.

Has Many Advantages
Advantages of the merger, as pointed out by Mr. Kinkel, include the working of Buffalo-Ankerite ore from the Marbuan shaft, first on a 1,300 foot crosscut to a proven orebody directly north of the present shallow Ankerite shaft, but northeast of the deeper Marbuan shaft and mine, and secondly, the working of Buffalo-Ankerite's No. 1 and No. 2 veins at 1,050 feet, at present being worked from Ankerite's 600-foot shaft.

Further Paving on Ferguson Highway

Paving to be Done from Airport South of Cobalt Through to Latchford is Report.

All who use the Ferguson highway and especially those who find it necessary to motor over this roadway will sincerely hope that the latest reports from New Liskeard are correct. These reports promise a considerable paving programme at an early date. One despatch from New Liskeard says:—"The Ferguson Highway from the airport south of Cobalt to the bridge at Latchford is to be paved by the Northern Development Branch, it is understood. This section has already been widened and prepared for paving."
Another report is to the effect that plans are also under way for paving the highway from New Liskeard to Englehart. Were such a programme carried through it would not be long before there would be so strong a demand for further paving as an economy that the time would not be far distant before the greater part of the highway was paved. Such an outcome is certainly to be desired. It would about pay for itself in reduced maintenance costs, and in the additional influx of tourists that would be attracted to the North. The comfort and convenience to the people of the North could not be overestimated. In the matter of the stopping of the menace of dust the work would be well worth while indeed.

It is very sincerely to be hoped that the reports about paving the highway from Cobalt to Latchford and from Liskeard to Englehart are founded on real fact and that the work will be undertaken at an early date and rushed to completion, with other sections receiving early attention.
