

Jellied Soups Good for Start of Summer Meals

Several Products on Market Aid in Use of Jellied Soups. Group of Recipes Appropriate to the Summer Season.

(By Edith M. Barber)

I wonder if you are as fond of jellied soups as I am? In summer they give such a refreshing start to a meal. Several products have appeared on the market which make it possible for the business woman housekeeper to use aspic for her first course.

These are the canned soups which contain gelatin and need only to be chilled in the refrigerator to jelly. The jelly may then be turned out into bouillon cups. You may beat it with a fork or cut it into squares if you like.

Then there is a gelatin product which has a meatlike flavour. This needs only the addition of boiling water to dissolve it, after which cold water is added. Instead of the water, hot and cold tomato juice may be added. This will set in the refrigerator in about an hour. Of course, you may make it up before you go to the office.

Either canned consommé or the aspic gelatin may be used for the foundation of vegetable or meat salads or may be put without extra touches into a ring mold. When the ring is unmolded it may be filled with any kind of salad.

With these jellied salads mayonnaise should always be served, even if you have French dressing with your vegetables.

Have you ever tried beating some fresh tomato pulp into mayonnaise? Another dressing which goes very well with a jellied salad is stiffly beaten cream into which chilli sauce is folded. Caviar mayonnaise goes well with jellied salads.

Many Tickets Sold Here for Army and Navy Car

The handsome motor car that has stood for ten days or more at the Goldfields hotel corner left town yesterday for Kirkland Lake, as did also those in charge of it—Geo. Northcote, of the Army and Navy executive, Mrs. Stott, of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Copeland, also of the Army and Navy Veterans. It is hoped to have the car back again this year—won by one of the many tickets sold in Timmins. Also friends they made here on their visit will welcome Messrs Northcote and Copeland and Mrs. Stott and Mrs. Copeland at any time, but especially expect them next year for the annual provincial convention of the Canadian Legion. "We'll be here; you couldn't keep us away," say Messrs Northcote and Copeland, in regard to next year's big Legion event. During their stay here a large number of tickets were sold. The funds are for the Army and Navy Veterans and the good work they are carrying on in this country. The drawing for the car will be done by blind veterans of the Army and Navy organization. Those in charge of the car here ask The Advance to express their sincerest appreciation of the kindness shown them by all in Timmins and the generous support also extended in their campaign for funds for the maintenance and extension of the Army and Navy Veterans' work.

Timmins Young Man at Event at Quebec

Despatches Tell of Convention of The Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, Canadian Section.

In the last issue of The Advance reference was made to the convention of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild being held at Montreal and Quebec, and it was noted that reference would be made to the progress of the convention in future issues of the paper. James Lago, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lago, of Timmins, is among the delegates at this unusual convention. He was one of the eight Canadian boys winning a prize of $80.00, as well as the trip to the convention for skill and talent in making a coach for the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild competition for the year. He won the first district award.

A despatch from Montreal on Thursday last told of the eight Canadian boys, together with scores from the United States, and Guild executives and educational leaders, gathering at Montreal for the convention. The programs opened with a tour of Montreal followed by lunch at "The Lookout" and a visit to the Caughnawaga Indian village. In the evening the party left for Quebec.

A special despatch to The Advance from Quebec during the last week-end says:—"Juvenile skill and tenacity of purpose were rewarded in full measure at Quebec Thursday evening, when 15-year-old Robert Rasmussen of Regina, and Mervin P. Reilly, 18, of Medicine Hat, were announced as winners of university scholarships valued at $5,000 each, for the best junior and senior model coaches, respectively, in the fifth annual Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild (Canadian Section) competition. This brings to 45 the number of boys who have been awarded university scholarships by this General Motors sponsored foundation since it started five years ago. Announcement of awards, which also included $80 cash prizes for six other Canadian boys, was made at a dinner in the ballroom of Chateau Frontenac, a dramatic and elaborately staged function which marked the high point of the Guild's international convention. Four university scholarships were awarded to United States boys, and cash prizes to 18 United States regional winners. Minor cash prizes were awarded to 18 other Canadians who did not qualify for the trip.

"The Canadian senior cash awards went to Michael Kepron, 729 Burrows avenue, Winnipeg; Wesley G. Monk, 118 Tecumseh avenue, London; and Paul LeBlanc, 16 Poplar, Gatineau, P. Q.; junior cash awards were won by Cyril Pecknold, 741 Lamson, Victoria, B.C.; James Lago, Timmins, Ontario; and Gemin Lamy, 989 Rue Manning, Verdun, Que.

"In Montreal Wednesday the 68 best coach-builders of the current competition met the 39 scholarship winners of previous years and launched into a three-day programme. Arriving by steamer Thursday morning, the Guildsmen established headquarters at Chateau Frontenac, whence they made interesting trips to Orleans Island, Ste. Anne de Beaupre and historic spots in the walled city itself, chosen for this year's convention because of its educational value.

"At Thursday night's dinner, the boys were surrounded by men prominent in Canadian public and business life as well as officials of General Motors Corporation which sponsors the Guild foundation. The voice of News Commentator Edwin C. Hill carried a part of the proceedings to listeners on a continent-wide network, and Mr. Hill also acted as master of ceremonies.

Shortage of Shells at Wednesday Gun Club Meet

With just about three more weeks left before the duck shooting season opens, attendance at the Timmins Gun Club meets on Wednesday evenings shows steady increase. Last Wednesday the town was scoured for shells and only 14 boxes could be found, and there were many members present who would have shot had the ammunition been available.

The club promised to have a large supply of shells on hand for this Wednesday evening's meet.

Hydro at North Bay Higher than Here

New Rates Announced for North Bay Not as Favorable as Electric Rates Here.

With a flourish of trumpets the newspapers have been announcing new electric rates for the city of North Bay as approved by the Hydro Commission headquarters in Toronto. North Bay hydro is operated by the commission on behalf of the province. Rates for North Bay as they are to be placed in force at the next billing were published and there was the natural tendency to compare them with the rates in Timmins where electricity is supplied by the Northern Ontario Power Co. Practically all along the line, Timmins has best of it, and it is well to note also that the chances are good for a still further reduction in the Timmins rates.

Some years ago when the question of rates was discussed with the power company here assurance was given that the rates would be reduced from time to time as earnings warranted. This assurance has been proven to have been given in good faith, as from time to time since then voluntary reductions have been made in charges, with the growth of the business of the company and the consequent increase in its earnings.

The following are the new North Bay rates, with comparison made of the Timmins charges:—

North Bay domestic service charge, 33 cents per month per service. The Timmins rate is 60 cents, but the difference is more apparent than real as bills in North Bay seldom fall below the 60-cent figure.

North Bay consumption charge, 3.8 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 50 kilowatt hours per month. Plus 1.8 cents per kilowatt hour for all additional consumption during the month. Minimum monthly bill, 83 cents gross. Prompt payment discount, 10 per cent.

The Timmins rate is 2.7 plus taxes for the first 50 kilowatt hours and 9 plus taxes for additional kilowatt hours.

North Bay commercial service charge, 5 cents gross per 100 watts of installed capacity. Minimum gross service charge per month, 50 cents. In Timmins there is one place now paying $1.50 per month, that under the North Bay rates would pay $10.00.

North Bay commercial consumption charge, 3.8 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 100 hours' use of installed capacity. Plus 1.5 cents per kilowatt hour for all additional monthly consumption. Minimum and discount same as in domestic rates. In Timmins the rates are 2.7 cents per kilowatt hour for the 100 hours, plus .9 cents plus tax.

NORTH BAY MAN GIVEN TERM ON 17TH CHARGE OF "DRUNK"

Walter Patterson, North Bay, is apparently out for a record of sorts. Perhaps he has noted the space given by Toronto newspapers to the gentleman answering to the name of "Ned Clark." In any event the North Bay man appeared in police court in that city last week to answer to the 16th and 17th charges registered against him in recent years for drunkenness. His apparent effort for a record for number of convictions will stand still for the next 30 days as he will not likely have opportunity to get drunk where he was sent on each of the two charges, the 16th and 17th.

BEACH BLANKET CAPE AND BLANKET COMBINED AND HOW TO MAKE IT.

The beach cape-blanket is shown in both capacities, while still another is told of in the article.

One of the beach and bathing accessories models, but one that will be equally good, and which can be ornamental.

Draw Strings
A length of tape the color of one of the hues in the weaves of the towel is sewed 3 1/2 inches above one end of the towel, and through it is run a heavy cord in the same, or another of the colours in the towel. Ends of the cord are finished with tassels or balls. The length of the draw string, or cord, should be sufficient to more than allow for the towel to extend its full width smooth and flat, as will be needed when the cape-blanket is transformed into the beach blanket. The finish of tassels or balls will prevent the cord from slipping out of its tape-runner.

Three in One
The adaptability of the blanket is one of its charms. It can be worn as a cape, transformed into a blanket by straightening out the ruffled standing collar on its gathering string and, in emergencies, it can be used for a bath towel. It is warm when worn as a cape, the length of which reaches well below the knees. It is soft to lie on as it has a good nap. It is absorbent as a Turkish towel.

Working Directions
For those who would like to have a cape-blanket of this description at small cost and in good style, one can be made from an extra large Turkish bath towel. It should be big enough to fall in full folds when gathered, so that it can be drawn about the body when worn as a cape. The draw string will not have the same kind of a mesh or weave to run through, as in the import-

Fashion of Luxury
Styles of Turkish towel that lend themselves well to the making of these cape blankets are those with stripes, plaids or fancy borders, in which some color introduced is the same as in the bathing suit. Now that the days will soon begin to get cooler, these beach-blanket-capes will be found especially desirable. After a swim, the cool air strikes one as too chilly to be comfortable, and to wrap oneself in one of these warm capes is the essence of luxury.
