New Telephone Directory Now Under Preparation
 A new telephone directory is now being prepared by the Northern Telephone Company Limited, for Timmins and the other exchanges in the North. Before this directory goes to press is a good time to have any changes made in your telephone listing or any corrections or additions made. It is only a few months ago that several pages of additions were made to the Timmins list, but there is another bunch of changes to be added now, with many new phones to be added. The increase in the number of phones in Timmins and district is a good indication of the steady progress and development of the North.

When Hurdling Reached the Canadian Track

"He sails through the air with the greatest of ease"—ABOVE is seen the crack western-bred hurdle jumper, Tom Whittier, in training to compete in hurdle events that will be introduced to Canadian racing fans at Woodbine Park for the first time on any recognized race course in Canada. Tom Whittier is the property of Mrs. C. W. Burns of Winnipeg. He has competed in many hunt and hurdle meetings in the prairie provinces, winning over 100 cups and ribbons for his efforts over the obstacles. The jump that Tom Whittier is taking above is the regulation hurdle jump, two and a half feet solid, topped by one foot of brush. It was erected on a training hurdle course that Falmer Wright, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club, had erected for the convenience of owners and trainers in Canada who are converting some of their flat races into hurdle jumpers for all racing. Tom Whittier is by Will Somers, out of Sister Folly, and is trained by his owner.

GREAT BRITAIN'S FLEET ON CRUISE IN MEDITERRANEAN

According to despatches to-day Great Britain's Mediterranean fleet steamed out of Malta yesterday for a "normal cruise." This is looked upon as the first big scale move by sea in the present crisis. Italian officials refer to the despatch of warships to the Suez canal zone as an "unkind act."

Cars Badly Smashed in Crash Near Vipond Mine

At 2:30 this morning there was a bad motor crash on the "back road" about a mile from the Vipond and not far from McDonald Lake. A car driven by L. Dion and owned by M. Dion crashed with a car driven by Andy Klimo of the Ankerite. Workmen passing by sent word to the Timmins police and in the absence from town of provincial officers, three town police visited the scene of the accident. Dion was brought to Timmins and examined by a doctor as to his condition but the medical man did not consider he was drunk though he had had some liquor apparently. Klimo's car was very badly damaged, the left front wheel being torn off and other damage done. Dion's car travelled apparently about 96 feet before it landed up in the ditch. The other car evidently only went about 12 feet after the collision.

 Though born in Italy, Antonina had lived with her parents in Timmins for seven years.

Resurfacing Road South of Cochrane

A despatch this week from Cochrane says that the resurfacing of the Ferguson highway from Cochrane six miles south is well under way. A gang of 56 men is engaged at the work, the despatch states. The men employed on this work are all settlers so it is easy to see that the job is of very distinct value to the country, apart from its value as a road. One side of the road for a distance of one mile is now ready for the calcium chloride to be rolled in. The work is likely to last about three months and this will be a very material assistance to the settlers, most of whom have been having a very difficult time indeed. The new road is a mixture of gravel and clay with calcium chloride rolled into it. This is a type of surface that is much favoured now by experts. It gives an excellent surface to the road and also removes the greater part of the dust nuisance. The part of the road now under resurfacing is in North Cochrane. It is a pity that the same plan could not be adopted for the Ferguson highway in South Cochrane. The plan would certainly help a lot.

Newspaper Published Specially for Poachers

(Manchester Guardian)
 Any list of strange newspapers should include the gypsy newspaper of Belgrade which has just ceased publication after only four issues. Its title was "Ciganski Lil" and it was the first gypsy paper to be printed in Europe—and probably anywhere else. It was written, sold and read by gypsies, but not printed by one, and apparently the printer's view on finance did not coincide with those of his Romany clients, for he refused to carry on with the printing.
 Denmark was the birthplace of an even stranger newspaper—the "Poachers' Gazette," edited by an expert, one Niels Nielson. It ran—on and off—for eight years and carried under its title the bold slogan, "Game is for all—the guns to bang!"
 It was issued fairly regularly, but not without difficulty, for the editor bought his type in odd lots and when short of small letters used capitals, sometimes in the middle of a word, which gave a curious look to his letterpress. He advised poachers in their profession, one of his "tips" being that they should wear boots with the soles reversed in order to puzzle gamekeepers. The paper, however, lost its prestige among poachers when it printed a series of sunrise and sunset tables which were wildly inaccurate and landed many of its readers in jail.

All European Nations Involved Says U. S. A.

War Between Italy and Ethiopia Viewed in Washington as Almost Certain to Involve the Leading Other Nations Before Very Long.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
 Central Press Canadian Writer
 Washington, Aug. 28th—The U. S. state department senses the rapidly approaching end of what has been known at the post-war era.
 That is to say, the world war created a new set-up of international conditions to which American diplomacy finally learned to adapt itself after a fashion—not very competently but more so than previously. It never had the slightest inkling as to the significance of international conditions in the pre-war era. Now post-war conditions are transforming themselves into a still newer set-up. In all candor, the alleged experts of the state department understand them only superficially.
 It is obvious to U.S. state department observers that Premier Mussolini of Italy intends to grab Ethiopia if he can, to which they desire an unhampered line of communications.
 Closing the Canal?
 The Mediterranean long has been a warlike sea area.
 The Red Sea would become equally so, with England, France and Italy quarrelling over it.
 The Suez canal enters into the equation.
 Mussolini cannot get to Italian Somalia, his only foothold against Ethiopia, except by the canal or the imposingly long voyage around the Cape of Good Hope. There is the British fort of Gibraltar, guarding the Straits of Gibraltar.
 Perhaps England alone, and certainly England and France together can close the canal against him.
 It would be an act of war on their part however, to do so.

Map showing enforced route of Italian ships if British-dominated Suez canal is closed. Map shows, also Ethiopia in relation to British, French and Italian spheres of influence. Says Charles P. Stewart, Central Press Canadian Washington correspondent, "If Mussolini gains control of Ethiopia he gains control of the headwaters of the Nile, and by diverting the flow, can make a desert of Britain's sphere of influence in Egypt."

but they have no idea what repercussions (as diplomats express it) will follow.
Look at the Map
 Why England is most immediately worried by Italian ambitions is evident to anyone who takes a glance at a map of northeast Africa.
 If Mussolini gains control of Ethiopia he gains control of the headwaters of the Nile, and by diverting the flow can make a desert of Britain's sphere of influence in Egypt.
 Incidentally Britain does not desire to have any other power strongly entrenched at any point on the water route to India and the farther Orient. To preclude such a possibility, British air and naval forces have been concentrated at Gibraltar, Malta and Port Said, mouth of the Suez canal.
France's Interest
 France's interest, though on a smaller scale, equally is explicable.
 The French have a mouthful of territory, adjoining Ethiopia and also adjoining Italy's northeast African holding, and naturally they have a prejudice against a strong neighbour, even if that neighbour is their ally, Italy. They, too, have Far East colonies.

Death of Mrs. McAllister at Ottawa on Sunday Last

The Ottawa Journal on Wednesday of this week says:—"Mrs. William McAllister, well-known resident of Ottawa for many years, died in a local hospital on Sunday, following a lengthy illness. She was in her 75th year. Mrs. McAllister was born at Godfrey, Ont., the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Judge, pioneer settlers of the community. Her father was one of the oldest residents of Godfrey. Mrs. McAllister came to the Capital 45 years ago with her husband, and had lived here ever since. Her husband died 15 years ago. She leaves to mourn her death one son, John McAllister; a stepson, Ernest, both of Ottawa; a step-daughter, Mrs. Margaret Stewart, Timmins, Ont., and three brothers: Charles, John and Thomas; and two sisters, Misses Emma and Sarah Judge, all in the United States. The funeral was held this afternoon from F. J. Hamon funeral home, 136 Cobourg street, to Beechwood cemetery."

Timmins Likes New Station at Sudbury

Excellent Programmes are Heard Here from North's New and Up-to-date Radio Station.
 Radio fans in Timmins by the score have been commenting on the excellent programmes being heard here clearly from the new radio station at Sudbury.
 "There doesn't seem to be any piffle about the Sudbury station's programmes," says one local radio enthusiast.
 "I certainly enjoy the Sudbury broadcasts of Canadian programmes," said another.
 A third commented on the fact that the new station must be up-to-date and well managed, and "the most powerful station in the North," as it claims to be, because the programmes come in here so clearly and distinctly.
 "What I like about the Sudbury station," says still another radio fan, "is the fact that it is not all over the dial. You get it at 780 and 780 only, where it ought to be, right on the dot."
 The general opinion is that the Sudbury station will be heard clearly all through the North, and that it is an acquisition to the air.
 The only complaint is that it is crowded off when the powerful United States stations start in at night. One evening this week a Timmins man cursed, as only he can curse, when one of the big United States stations drowned out a remarkably pleasing Canadian Broadcasting Commission programme from the Sudbury station.
