Charge of "Selling Jobs" Brings a Stiff Penalty

John Pulchinski Fined $500, or Three Months. Likely to Take Term. Stolen Goods Sold Results in Jail Term. Three Months for Selling Beer. Other Court Cases.

John Pulchinski will pay a fine of $500 or go to jail for three months as a penalty for taking money from some countrymen of his and offering to get them jobs at the Rochester mine, Magistrate Atkinson decided on Tuesday afternoon at police court.

John admitted taking the money from Frank Kalat and Steve Kwaczyn, more than $300 in all, and using it to pay his own fine for reckless driving charge and paying for the damage he did to another car.

According to the arrangements made by Kalat and Kwaczyn, Pulchinski was to have used the money to treat the shift boss to drinks and so land them both jobs. "You got money," Kalat claims Pulchinski told him, "I make you job." Kalat had known Pulchinski for a year and had paid him $170.

Kwaczyn claimed that Pulchinski told him "I'll make you a job, but it will cost you $250." He had only known the man for three weeks, Kwaczyn said.

Needed the Money!
Pulchinski claimed he had known Kalat five years and Kwaczyn a year and that both had come to him and asked him if he would get them jobs at the Rochester. He had needed the money, Pulchinski said, so he had agreed.

"You stole the money then, that's the whole thing," commented his worship. The accused said he had bought a lot of drinks for a lot of people and that they were the cause of the trouble with his wife and the eventual losing of his own job at the mine. On Tuesday he offered to pay the men back, $50 cash and $25 a month. Both had refused the offer.

Crown Attorney Caldwell, in replying to the defence, said that he knew Pulchinski had made efforts to raise the money, but found it impossible.

"I haven't really much use for men who will go out and pay $170 and $150 for jobs, any more than I have for the men who take the money," said the magistrate.

"It's the accepted custom in their own country and they're ignorant here," said Mr. Caldwell.

"I don't think he ever tried to get the jobs. He just took the money and put it in his pocket," the magistrate said, in summing up the evidence. "We can't hold any doubt that the man was holding himself out as an employment agent, and we have to protect these men against that kind of thing."

Sold Stolen Auto Wheels
Ovila Quenneville, unemployed, admitted having sold some automobile wire wheels to a garage man down by the river, but he had "found them in the cellar," he maintained. He was sentenced to 30 days hard labour for having stolen goods in his possession.

A clerk at the garage identified Quenneville as a man who had brought the wheels in for sale but who gave the name of St. Obin. The owner of the garage said he paid $1.50 each for them. Ivan Borse, a miner at the Ankerite, identified the wheels as those of his car that had been taken while the car was parked at the mine "on July 25th at 6:40 in the evening."

All Quenneville would say was that the wheels weren't his and that he had seen them in the basement of the house at which he was staying. He thought they were no good, since nobody was using them, and had taken them out to sell. He denied using an assumed name.

High Grade Charges Held Over
Philip Boulanger and Joseph Desjardins, arrested by police on high-grade charges, were remanded until next week, on request of counsel. Desjardins supplied bail for Boulanger, and Boulanger himself was released on $1,000 bail.

Two charges against Oscar Forest, one under the hotel registration act and the other a traffic offence, were remanded. Bail was set at $200 cash or $400 property.

Four Timmins men were fined from $2 and costs to $10 and costs for disorderly conduct, or fighting on the streets. A fifth was given a couple of weeks grace to raise the money for a fine.

Three Months for Selling Beer
Wilbert Cunningham admitted selling beer, contrary to the Ontario Liquor Control Act. He had admitted to police, who had raided the residence part of 63 Third avenue. He charged his customers 25 cents a pint. He couldn't get a job he said, and had taken the beer-selling proposition when it was offered to him. He will spend the next three months at hard labour in jail.

Three men, found in the same place drinking, were fined $10 and costs each for having beer in an illegal place.

Herman Nakinen pleaded guilty to being drunk in charge of a car and was sentenced to a ten-day jail term.

George Latham pleaded guilty to reckless driving and was fined $10 and costs.

Three speeders paid the usual $10 and costs, and a driver who admitted having faulty brakes paid a like sum. Three common drunks paid $10 and costs, and one case was adjourned for a week.

One bicyclist had an expensive ride on the sidewalk. He paid $1 and costs—a total of $7.

A charge of having no operator's license against one driver was withdrawn, when it came out that there was some misunderstanding. The man could not speak or write English.

A reckless driving charge against Arvi Kari was remanded for a week.

Winners of Prizes in Flower Growing

June Asselstine is First in Contest in Flower Growing. Other Winners of Prizes.

June Asselstine, McIntyre property, is the fortunate winner in the flower growing contest, conducted by Northern Flowers among the boys and girls of the Porcupine camp.

Last spring, Mr. Noble, of Northern Flowers at Golden City, gave to each of seventy-four boys and girls a dozen flowering plants. During the past two weeks these boys and girls have been visited and the plots of flowers judged. Over sixty of the children had taken good care of the plants and some very careful work in planting, hoeing, watering and general care had been carried out.

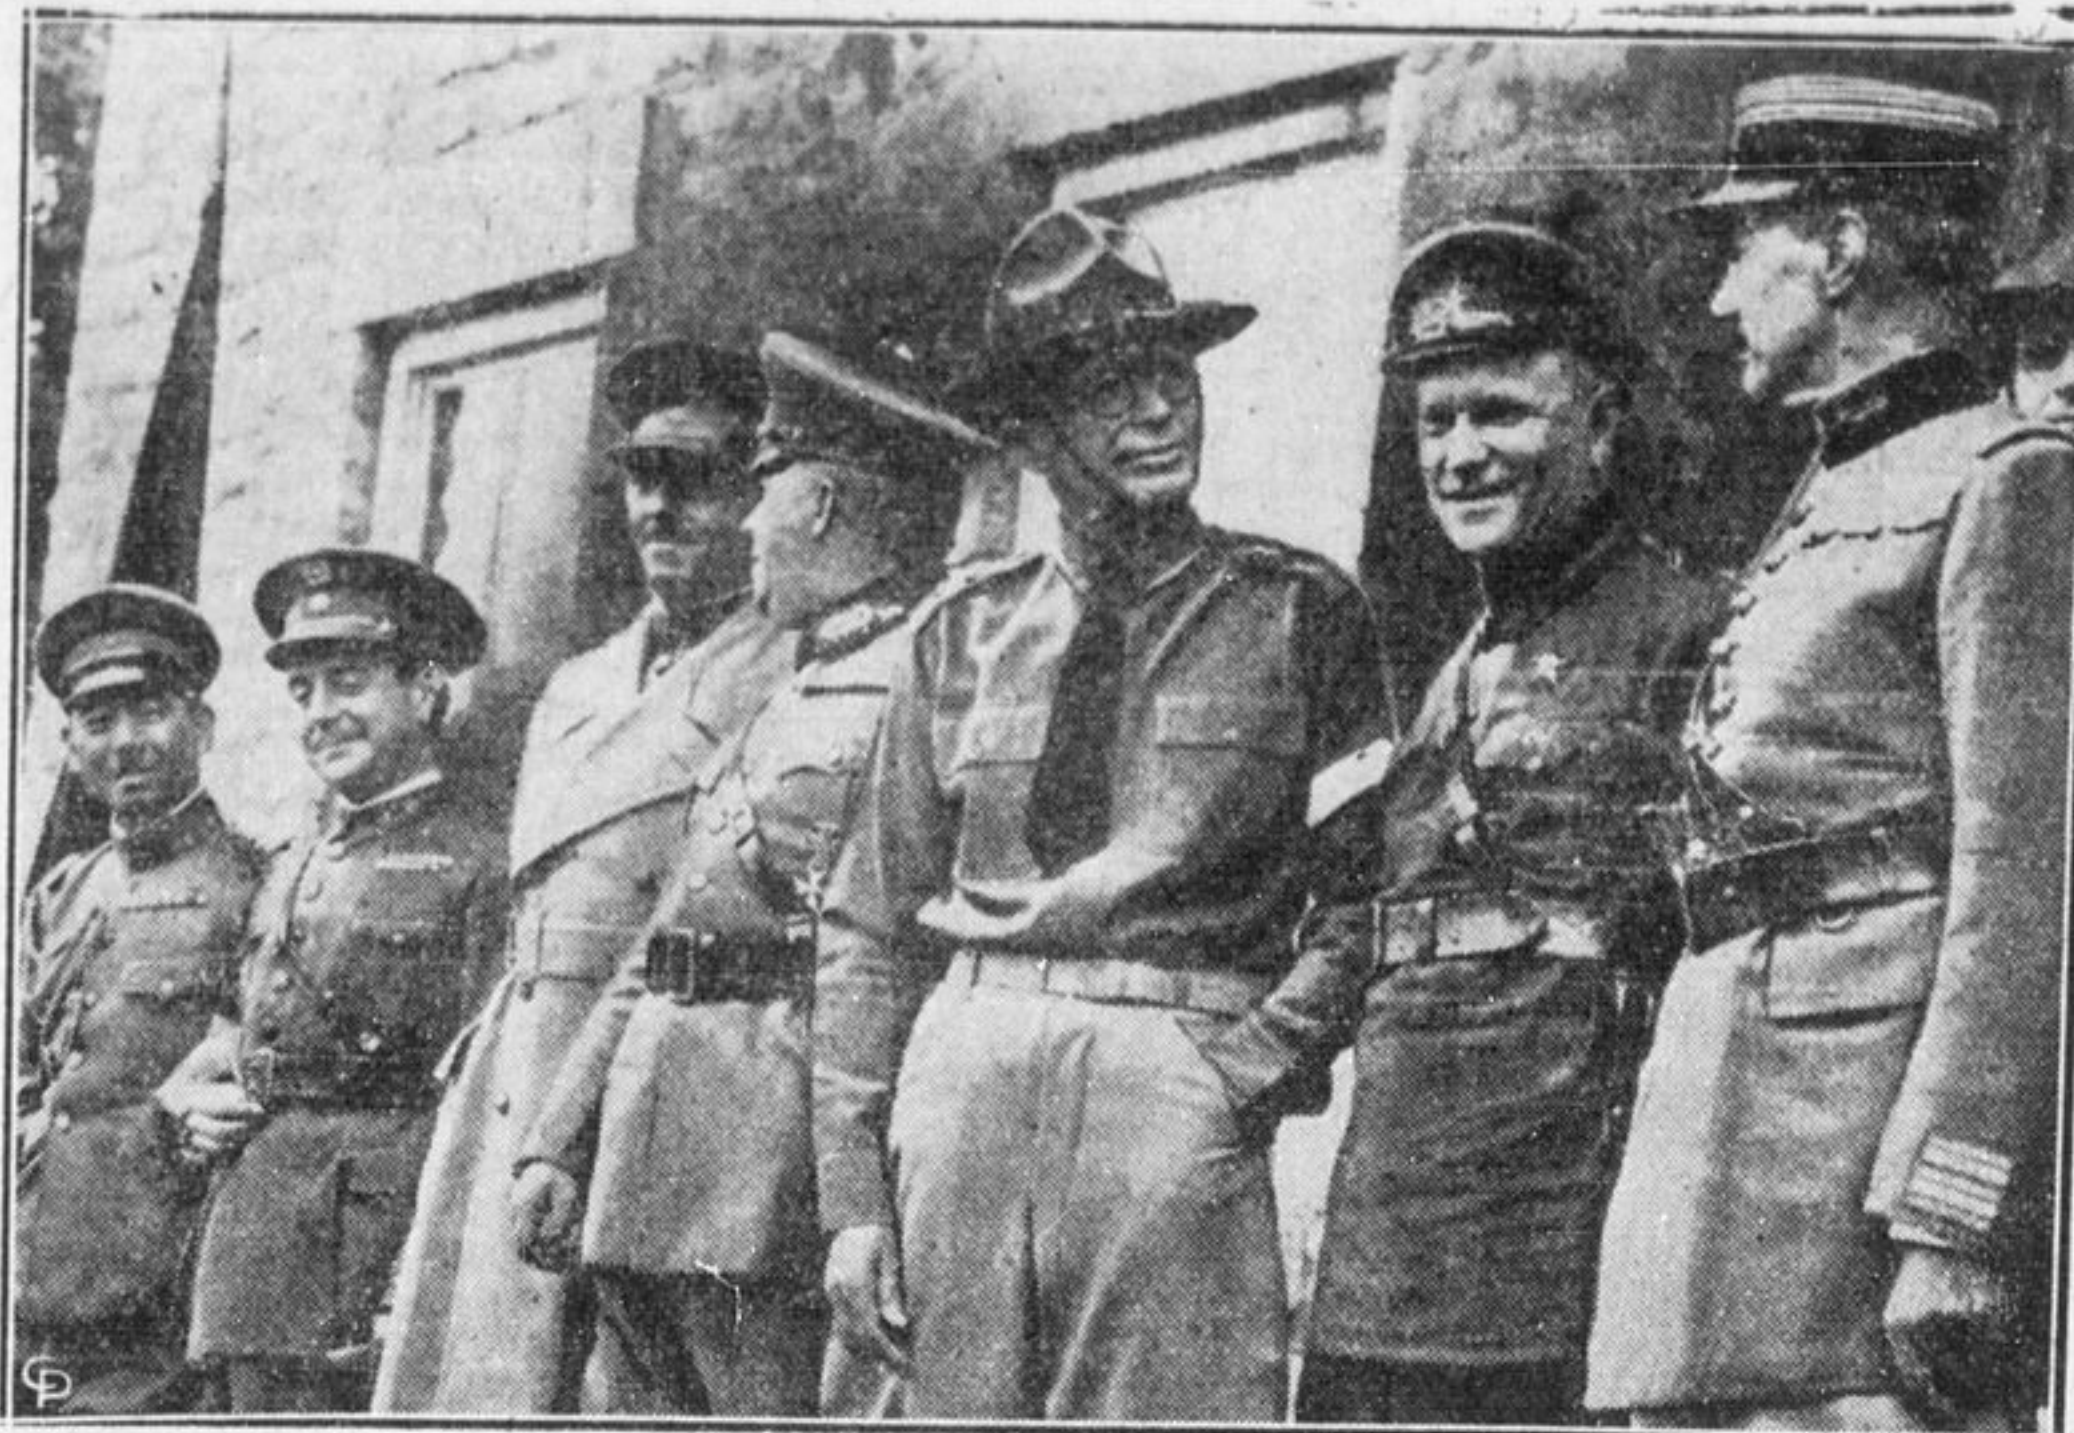

Mr. Noble was for eight years an agricultural representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and had charge of a large number of school fairs in Southwestern Ontario. This work conducted with the boys and girls is along similar lines to school fair work.

Ten prizes are being offered by Northern Flowers for bouquets from these plots shown at the Timmins Flower Show on Monday and Tuesday of next week. No entry fee is charged and displays should be interesting.

The following winners in addition to June Asselstine were: Muriel Bound, Messines Ave., Timmins; Bernard Dillon, South Porcupine; Jean Urquhart, First Ave., Schumacher; Gladys Rigg, Lake Shore Rd., Timmins; Harry Thompson, First Ave., Schumacher; Leo Kusela, Porcupine; Gordon Eyre, First Ave., Timmins; Doris Woods, Dome Ex.; Donald Lightbody, Dome. Prizes for these winners are being distributed from the Northern Flowers display at the Flower Show.

Six Nations "Spy" on U.S. Army's War Show

Oil Reported Thirty Miles from Moosonee

Col. Mac Lang, of T. & N. O. Quoted as Referring to New Find in the James Bay Area.

For some time past The Advance has been "boasting" the Moosonee and James Bay area. The reason for this is the fact that it is believed the country opened up by the railway extension is a specially valuable one, rich in mineral and other wealth. This belief is fostered by the accounts given of the country by the old-timers who have travelled it. There are men living in Timmins and Cochrane and other sections of the North who know the country well. They are agreed on the possibilities of the country. Casual visits by members of The Advance staff seem to show cause for confirming the opinions of the old-timers. Reports of mineral finds continue to come from the country north of Cochrane. The latest is a statement credited to Col. Mac Lang, the chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway commission. Col. Lang stated at North Bay this week that he had information to the effect that oil had been discovered about thirty miles west of Moosonee.

Details of the reported find of oil are admitted to be meagre, Col. Lang is quoted as saying, but it was reported to him at the north end of the line that oil had been discovered in a canyon not far from Moosonee. The railway as yet has not taken steps to investigate the reported discovery of oil but no doubt will do so at an early date.

Scout Trophy

The original Porcupine Trophy, for which Boy Scouts of Cochrane and Temiskaming districts will compete in the big Jamboree to be held here on Friday and Saturday of this week. The log-sawing contest for which the trophy will be awarded, is to take place on Saturday evening in the Timmins Skating Rink. Scouts are now selling tickets for these events, the biggest of the year, so far as Scouting in the North is concerned.

Timmins H. & V. S. Re-opens Tuesday

Principal Tanner Ready to Interview Pupils or Parents in Regard to Courses.

W. W. Tanner, principal of the High and Vocational School, has returned to town and may now be interviewed by any of the parents or pupils desiring information about their courses.

School re-opens on Tuesday, September 2nd. There will be a teachers' meeting at 9 a.m.; the Vocational School students will meet in the assembly hall at 10 o'clock and the newcomers to High School in the same place at 10:30. The students who were in High School last year will meet at 11:15 in the assembly hall.

Parents are well advised to interview the principal or his staff concerning the courses taken by their children and arrangements may be made by telephoning the High School office at any time.

Appointed Parish Priest St. Patrick's Parish, Cobalt

His innumerable friends in Timmins and district will be interested to know that for so many years had Rev. Fr. J. appointed parish priest of St. Patrick's parish, Cobalt, Ont. This is the parish that for so many years had Rev. Fr. S. R. O'Gorman as parish priest. Rev. Fr. Caulfield has recently been at Kirkland Lake but was for some time assistant to Rev. Fr. O'Gorman at the Church of the Nativity, Timmins.

Northern Scouts Will "Show the World" Here

Big Jamboree Will Close With Public Event at Skating Rink on Saturday Evening. Old Indian Method of Making Fire Without Matches or Flint is Revived by Scouts and is Part of Programme.

Another Chance for Boys Breaking Law

Lads Stealing Gasoline Must Report to C.A.S. Officer, as Must Other Lads in Juvenile Court This Week

Theft of gasoline from Marshall-Ecclestone's on two different occasions brought three young lads into juvenile court on Tuesday. All were placed on suspended sentences and will report to A. G. Carson for varying periods. Just one of them had been in court before.

The first boy, 16 years old, admitted stealing three gallons of gasoline on August 23rd, and admitted having had the intention of stealing five more gallons on August 25th. The naphtha gasoline had been in a 45-gallon container at the lane entrance to the garage and the boys had drained it off into smaller tins.

Police, reporting on the first boy, said "He doesn't listen to his parents," although the mother stated that the lad was in every evening at nine o'clock since having been brought home by the chief one night when found trying to get into a wrestling show at the skating arena.

"Are you going to keep the game up if I give you a chance?" asked Magistrate Atkinson.

"No, your honour," the lad replied. He will repay $1.65 for the gasoline and was placed on bond for two years.

The second boy had been in trouble before, on a charge of false pretences, and the magistrate made it clear to both the boy and his father that the next time he got into trouble he would be "sent down."

Police said they had spent more time trying to keep him on the right track than any other boy in town. He will report to Mr. Carson every week for six months.

The third boy had never given trouble before and had given the police no cause for anxiety. He, too, will report for three months, once a week.

"Found" Cricket Glove
In a fourth case, a boy accused of having stolen goods in his possession was only 11 years old. He had "found" a cricket glove near the cricket pavilion on the cyanide, he said, when he and five other boys had found the door of the place open and had treated themselves to a bottle or so of "pop" each. The 11-year-old will report for three months, and the other five were warned by the magistrate to keep out of trouble.

Tampa Morning Tribune:—Germans Cabinet now has a Minister of Religion Among his duties, we imagine, is praying for Hitler.

The biggest Boy Scout event Timmins has seen for many years is to be staged here this week, when 300 boys, gathered from all over Cochrane and Temiskaming districts, will compete for the honours of the North.

Friday afternoon and all day Saturday, the Scouts will be in Timmins. Saturday night at the Skating Rink will see the conclusion of the activities and the most interesting part of the work may be viewed by the public.

As an indication of the fine work being done by the Scout movement, or as a real spectacle, the Jamboree will be a great show. Kapuskasing, Cochrane, Iroquois Falls, Kirkland Lake, South Porcupine, Dome and Timmins Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs will stage eight competitions in the Saturday night display.

What It's All About
Here's what they will do, according to the programme:

Tent pitching; teams will pitch tents in Northern style, speed, neatness and security to count. The shelters go up with incredible speed, just as they do when Boy Scouts begin pitching camp.

Knot tying race. Teams of two will line up at the starting point. Both run to a pole, but while on the way down, the "tier" picks up his ropes while the helper picks up the pole. A given series of knots are then tied and the pole is dragged back over the finishing line.

Morse code signalling. Competing teams send a message of 15 words by the use of the single flag system. Speed and accuracy count.

Jungle dances. Wolf Cub display. Possibly the most interesting number on the programme. The Cub programme is based on the stories in Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Book." The characters of the book are represented in the Pack by the boys and their leaders. When Wolf Cubs meet at their headquarters every week, the room becomes a jungle and the lessons are taught in this romantic atmosphere by games and dances.

First aid. Teams from all the troops will render first aid to a patient whose "ailments" will be made known to them by means of tags. Efficiency of treatment, method of handling patient, and speed in applying dressings or bandages count.

Bridge building. Scouts will throw a temporary bridge of specified design across an imaginary stream eight feet in width. This is a trick for which Scouts often find good use.

Crosscut sawing. Teams of three will cut four inches off both ends of a log. This is where the original Porcupine trophy comes into the limelight.

Old Indian Trick Kept "Burning"
Fire lighting by friction. A native method of making fire by rubbing two dry pieces of wood together. But for its preservation by the Boy Scouts, this handy bit of knowledge would long ago have passed from ordinary ken. As it is now, no Boy Scout needs to be without a warming blaze, provided he can find two sticks of dry wood, a green sapling, and a shoelace.

Second class fire lighting. Using a knife, two matches and a piece of wood, a fire must be built to burn a string 12 inches above the ground. Speed counts.

Interest of Timmins people is already running high in the big jamboree and it is expected that a big crowd of parents, relatives and friends of the Scouts, as well as those who would like a good night's entertainment will be on hand to see the fun.

Tickets may be obtained from any Boy Scout.

Gianni Gambi Winner of Toronto Fair Marathon

Gianni Gambi, of Italy, was the winner of the Canadian National Exhibition marathon swim on Tuesday, battling his way to victory over speedy Frank Pritchard, of Buffalo. The water registered 74 degrees. The swimmer, who plans to return to Europe and join the Italian forces going to Ethiopia, was greeted with mingled cheers and boos. The cheers were for his talented victory and his good sportsmanship. The boos resulted from his statement into the microphone:—"I am happy to have won for Italy and for Il Duce, Mussolini." Gambi made the course in 2 hours, 8 minutes, 55 seconds, and won $2,500. Frank Pritchard was second in 2 hours, 11 minutes, 40 seconds, his prize being $750. William Nolan won the third prize of $350. Ninety-four swimmers competed and there were 10,000 spectators for the event.

Powassan News: The school will re-open on Tuesday, Sept. 3rd. The school vacation in Japan is a matter of three weeks only, the study period extending from April to March in each year. The boys and girls in Canada have a picnic compared with this.

This Man May Plunge World Into Another War

This layout shows scenes from the left of the world's No. 1 headliner at the moment, Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy for the past 13 years. He is the man behind Italy's absolute refusal to date of proposals to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis. Always has Mussolini declared himself for force and during his "reign" he has built up one of the world's most modern and efficient, if not largest, armies. This modern counterpart of the Caesar of ancient Rome is frank in declaring that Italy must expand, and looks to Africa. Meanwhile other nations of the world, led by Britain and France, and the League of Nations, strive vainly to avert the war Mussolini declares he will wage.
