Ball Player Killed in Plane 2000 Ft. up

Pilot and Companion Held at Toronto on Charge of Manslaughter. Thrilling Story Told.

William J. Mulqueeny, 32-year-old Detroit pilot, and Irwin Davis, parachute jumper, were arraigned in Mimico police court Tuesday on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Len Koenecke, Brooklyn National League player, whose dead body was in the airplane that made a forced landing at Mimico on Tuesday morning at an early hour. The two airmen were remanded until to-morrow (Friday) morning.

According to the story told the police by the two airmen, Len Koenecke, noted ball player, chartered the plane at Detroit for a trip to Buffalo. After the take-off, according to Pilot Mulqueeny, Koenecke wanted him to do stunts, but the pilot told him they were flying over Canadian territory where stunting would be considered illegal. Koenecke then started to grab the controls. Every effort was made to induce him to behave. Soon, however, the airmen felt their safety was in danger from Koenecke's actions. Eventually he became violent, they said, and attacked Davis. The airplane was traveling about 100 miles an hour. Mulqueeny was certain that unless Koenecke was controlled all three would be killed in the crash of the machine. To save the lives of the three, Mulqueeny says he struck Koenecke over the head with a fire extinguisher. He then managed to get down to earth and make a landing. He landed on the Long Branch race track. It was found that Koenecke was dead. Davis was injured, his arm being hurt in the melee, and his clothes being soaked with blood. The machine was damaged in making the forced landing. The Mimico police took the two airmen in charge and later a manslaughter charge was laid.

British Pro. Golf Team to Play in United States

Confident of victory, Great Britain's Ryder Cup golf team left London last week. The British squad meets the United States' picked professionals in the international matches at Ridgewood, N.J., Sept. 28-29.

"We'll win," said the team captain Charles Whitcombe. "I feel sure of it. It's the best possible side that could be chosen and all of the players have shown remarkable form in recent weeks. We're out for a big victory and to restore British golfing prestige to the full."

A large crowd, including the veteran British pros, Abe Mitchell, George Duncan and Fred Robson, were on hand to bid the team farewell as it embarked on the boat train for Southampton to embark on the Empress of Australia for Quebec.

Bill Cox, one of the new members of the squad, revealed he is going to look for a long-lost brother in America, as well as play golf. He took along an old photograph which he intends to use in trying to trace his brother from whom he hasn't heard in 20 years.

The full team, in addition to captain Whitcombe and Cox, consists of Whitcombe's brothers, Reginald and Ernest; Alf Perry, British open winner; Alf Padgham, Percy Alliss, Richard Burton, Jack Busson and Edward W. Jarman.

Chain that Escaped the Attention of Mr. Stevens

In the famous Ottawa investigation into the operations of chain stores and similar commercial organizations, there was one which escaped the attention of the commission. That was the chain of cafeterias and tobacco and news stands operated by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The chain now comprises more than 60 separate commercial undertakings in Ontario alone. They are located in Toronto, Hamilton, Peterborough, Ottawa, Timmins, Kapuskasing, London, Windsor, Brockville and other places.

Perhaps the main reason that they did not come under the eye of the Ottawa commission on Mass Buying and Price Spreads is that these C.N.I.B. enterprises are not operated for the profit of the owner, but of the operators. The institute owns the stand or the concession, and also owns the equipment and the stock. The operator pays for the cost of supervision and a portion of the overhead. Anything he or she makes above and beyond his other expenses belongs to him.

The result of the operation of this department of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is that one hundred and thirty-nine blind or nearly blind concessionaires throughout the Dominion are making a living. It is a development unique in work for the welfare of the blind; it has no parallel in any other part of the world.

This is another reason why the response to the present campaign for funds for the work of the Institute in Timmins and district should be generous. Saturday of this week is tag day for the blind.

District Meeting of Nurses at Sudbury

Officers Elected for District No. 9 of the Registered Nurses' Association.

More than 50 nurses from District No. 9 of the Registered Nurses' Association, which includes Timmins, comprising the districts of Cochrane, Temiskaming, Algoma, Nipissing, Sudbury, Manitoulin, Parry Sound and Muskoka, met at Sudbury on Saturday last. It was the first of this class of meeting to be held in Sudbury, the purpose being to assist nurses who have not been able to keep in close touch with their organizations.

It was decided that the next meeting should be held in North Bay on the second Saturday of September, next year.

At the election of officers the executive was returned by acclamation with Miss H. E. Smith, of New Liskeard, chairman; Miss Jean Smith, Gravenhurst, vice-chairman; Miss Robena Buchanan, Gravenhurst, secretary and the following as chapter chairmen: Miss Elizabeth Gordon, Sault Ste. Marie; Miss Mary Garvin, Halleybury (vice-chairman); Miss Florence Farr, Timmins; Miss Alice Quinlan, North Bay; Miss Sylvia Harry, Gravenhurst, and Miss Jane Thomas, Sudbury.

The following conveners were named: Miss Jean Smith, Gravenhurst, membership; Miss Mary Delaney, Sault Ste. Marie, private duty; Miss Hazel Atkinson, Kirkland Lake, public health; Rev. Sister St. Irma, North Bay, nursing education; Miss Katherine McKenzie, North Bay, finance; Miss R. Huberly, Gordon Bay, permanent nursing educational fund; Miss Joyce Stevens, New Liskeard, Canadian Nurse representative; Miss R. Buchanan, Gravenhurst, publications.

A special feature of the meeting was the address by Miss Isabel MacIntosh, Hamilton, who was the chief speaker at the afternoon session and at the evening dinner meeting in the evening. She gave interesting description of experiments and plans which are being devised to overcome the difficulties arising in situations where people in need of nursing are unable to afford the regular nursing tariffs while at the same time, nurses are unemployed.

Miss MacIntosh, who is convener of a special committee appointed to study the distribution of nursing service, said that a special request has already gone to the Department of Health of the Ontario Government asking that when legislation for health insurance makes provision for medical service to the insured, nursing service should also be provided and that in the set-up for the administration of health insurance, the organized nursing profession be afforded the opportunity of serving in an advisory capacity on all questions relating to the nursing service.

The government has also been asked she said, for an annual grant of $5,000 for four years to pay for special experimental work to increase the efficiency of the nursing service as a service and obviate the present situation where it is often found that while nurses are unemployed many needing nurses are unable to afford it. Miss MacIntosh said she did not think the request for financial assistance unreasonable inasmuch as registered nurses' fees paid into the government have for years exceeded any expenses incurred by the government for them.

The visiting nurses were welcomed to St. Joseph's hospital, Sudbury, by the Reverend Sister Superior, and Rev. J. J. O'Leary, parish priest of St. Joseph's Church. Mayor Cullen also gave official civic welcome. There were also addresses by Dr. F. A. Cook, president of the hospital staff, Rev. D. Ewart Cockran, of St. Andrew's Church, Sudbury, Mrs. R. A. Fee, president of the hospital auxiliary, and others.

Canada Evidencing Notable Recovery

Fine Improvement Noted in the First Seven Months of Year in Business and Industry.

Measured by the records of the first seven months, economic recovery in Canada has been continued during the present year, it is reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The major economic factors have shown repeated gains over the low levels of the early part of 1933, when the depression reached its greatest depths. Most of the significant factors advanced in the present year to new high levels since the minima were reached during the worst phases of the depression.

The trend of physical volume of business operations is the most significant factor considered in this connection, reflecting the actual volume of production in a wide variety of industries. This business index, expressed as a percentage of the base year of 1926, averaged 99.4 in the first seven months of 1935 compared with 73.7 in the same period of 1933. The gain of 35 per cent. represents a marked advance over the levels of the earlier part of 1933. While there was a rapid gain in the later months of 1933, the trend has continued upward until the present time, temporary setbacks being offset by subsequent advances. The monthly indexes for 1935 have consistently shown gains over the same months of 1934. It may be added that the level has recently been slightly above that of the base year of 1926, chosen as being the most representative of average conditions in the post-war period.

Better Bond Prices
Another development of fundamental importance was the advance in high-grade bond prices. The indexes of Ontario Government bond prices moved up at the beginning of the year to the highest point since 1906, a maximum for nearly 29 years. The average yield on Dominion Government long-term bonds during the first seven months of 1935 was 3.38 per cent. compared with 4.54 per cent. in the same period of 1933. The average yield on four Ontario Government bonds was 3.79 per cent. as against 4.72 in the first seven months of 1933. A sharp gain in the high-grade bond market took place during 1934 and the high level of bond prices established near the end of last year was practically maintained in the seven months under review. The decline in long-term interest rates is a powerful incentive for investors to seek more profitable employment for surplus funds in productive enterprise. A condition of large surplus funds seeking investment and low interest rates is a prerequisite to general business recovery.

Wholesale prices were relatively stable during 1934 and the first seven months of 1935, following the considerable advance during the preceding year. After dipping slightly below the pre-war level in the early months of 1933, a sharp recovery was staged from March to July. The level of the last two years was established at a somewhat higher position, fluctuations being within narrow limits at about 12 per cent. above the pre-war average and at between 28 and 29 per cent. under the 1926 average. The advance in the seven months average to the index in 1935 was nine per cent. over the same period of 1933.

The close interconnection of various economic factors was shown by the advance in common stock prices subsequent to early 1933 months. A spectacular gain was made from March to July of that year. Gains were apparent in the latter part of 1934, a new high level for four years being shown in recent months. The official common stock index averaged 89.6 in the first seven months of 1935, compared with 62.1 in the same period of 1933, a gain of 44.3 per cent. The index of mining stocks averaged 49.2 per cent. higher in the same comparison.

It is only recently that the economic recovery in Canada has had any marked effect on banking conditions. Current loans reached a new low point at the end of last April, subsequent to the persistent decline commenced in 1929. Another recession was shown in July following the minor gains recorded in May and June. The tardiness of the reversal was explained by the eagerness of executives to relieve themselves of the burden of old debts as soon as conditions permitted.

Loans Decline
The pronounced decline in current loans in the last five years is in contrast with the relative stability of deposit liabilities. Domestic deposits were more than maintained in 1935, the gain in the average for the seven months ended July over the same period of 1933 being 5.7 per cent. The surplus of notice deposits over current loans was $615,000,000 at the end of July against $480,000,000 on the same date of 1933. It was in the gain in security holdings that the most striking development of the banking field occurred. The holdings have increased sharply since mid-year 1932, amounting at the end of July to $1,931,000,000, the highest point in the history of Canadian banking. Reflecting in part the gain in the holdings of government securities, the readily available assets of the banks, made up of eight accounts, reached a new high point at $1,237,000,000 on July 31, the gain in the average for the first seven months of 1935 over the same period of 1933 being 22 per cent.

The fundamental position of the banks was greatly strengthened in the last two years by the reduction in outstanding credit and the increases in deposits and in liquid reserves.

Police Said to Believe Albert Pegrum to be Dead

According to suggestions said to be concurred in at police headquarters in Toronto, there is alleged to be a general belief in police circles that Albert Pegrum, suspect in the Labatt kidnaping case, is dead. There was a report of Pegrum being seen in Timmins, but whether that was before or after he died is not so clear. He may have been in Timmins or he may have been dead, but not likely both at one time. Pegrum is known to have double-crossed McCordell and other associates in the kidnaping, according to McCordell's confession. For some time there have been rumours reaching the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and provincial police that Pegrum had died in the United States under an assumed name. Up to recently these reports were not believed but now it is said that information secured by the police seems to substantiate the story. It is even suggested that Pegrum fell a victim to a gang murder as a result of his alleged double-crossing.

Timmins-Cochrane Rugby on Saturday

Exhibition Series Arranged to Begin at District Seat This Week, Here the Week Following.

The first of a series of home and home exhibition games between Cochrane and Timmins High and Vocational School rugby teams is to be played at Cochrane this Saturday. It was announced this week. The game here will be on the Saturday following, if all goes well.

The team at the district seat will not be entirely from the school, since it has been impossible to muster a full team from the students in Cochrane. Former school players will be used. The idea of the games, Principal Tanner explains, is to get the team into condition for their games against the winners of the central N.O.S.S.A. section.

The juniors have no games scheduled yet. Other schools in the district are considering entering in the lightweight section but have not yet quite decided. The local boys are out practicing every night and hope to get a game of some kind soon.

Visiting Lions Win Over Locals 14 to 7

Superior Fielding is Big Factor in Softball Victory at Cyanide as Clubs Show Good Form.

Schumacher Lions outscored the Timmins club yesterday afternoon at the cyanide when they took an inter-club softball game 14 runs to 7.

Good pitching and superior fielding by the visiting club made all the difference and it was only in the seventh inning that the Timmins men got going at all. Five of their seven runs came in as Abrams began to let down on the fast ball.

Blake of the visitors was the heaviest hitter of the day. A homer, a two-bagger and two singles out of five times at bat put him away ahead of the class. Other home run hitters on the visiting team included Boyce, Cully Abrams and Arnott. Sol Platus got the only non-stop circuit for the home team.

Pitching Not Bad at All
The nicest fielding combination of the day was shown by Carl Herrington at third base and Dr. Stahl at first. Carl had some trouble at first but toward the third inning began to pick up speed. Dr. Stahl insisted on taking a lead-off when running bases and had to be checked up for using the baseball tactics. Jack Grady pitched for the locals and did a fair job, though Manny Abrams appeared to have more stuff on the ball.

Sol Platus at short made some nice pick-ups, but his pegs to first were more often wild than not. Neither team's outfielding was of a very high class, though Charlie Arnott did pull a couple of nice ones. Moscoe at third, and Blake at second made a good pair of infielders for the winners.

It was better ball than most of the crowd expected to see, and in another few years, with an odd import or two, the Timmins Lions may be able to show their Schumacher brethren a thing or three. For this year they've got to admit that the athletic honours

Fall Racing Season to Open at London

All Stalls Spoken for, Says Toronto Despatch. Last Races at Long Branch Close November 2.

Although it is about three weeks before the running race meeting at London gets under way—it starts October 5th and lasts to October 12th—nearly all of the available stalls have been spoken for. George Hay, who attends to the allotment of stalls for all the Orpen tracks, Long Branch and Dufferin Park in Toronto, Kenilworth Park in Windsor and Queen's Park at London, announced to-day that no fewer than 370 stalls had already been allotted to horsemen desirous of racing their charges over the London half-mile track. In all there are 390 stalls at Queen's Park and all are expected to be taken up within the next few days.

All the leading horsemen in Canada will be represented at the meeting and quite a few owners from across the line will be on the scene with their charges. A number of horses that had not been quite ready for the first meeting will be on hand for the impending session. There will be no other racing in Canada during the period of the London meeting, this session being staged between the closing day at Woodbine and the opening at Long Branch. The meeting at the latter track gets under way October 17th and lasts to October 24th, followed by Dufferin Park, which starts October 26th and ends November 2nd, terminating the Canadian racing season of 1935.
