

Independent Conservative to Run Here

Over a Thousand Hear Liberal Speakers Here

Hon. J. C. Elliott, J. A. Bradette, M.P., Dean Kester, Dr. J. A. McInnis, E. L. Longmore, Nap Caron, Discuss the Issues of the Day at Big Meeting Friday.

Prosperity is possible in Canada, Jos. A. Bradette, M.P. told a thousand electors of Cochrane riding at the big Liberal rally in the skating rink on Friday night, but only through cutting down the enormous profits made by some firms during depression years—not by nationalization of the basic industries.

He made no promises to the electorate, other than to be the "servant of the riding, not its master." He said that he, like his leader, the Right Hon. Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King, would rather go down to defeat than go around the country making promises that could not be fulfilled.

The Stevens proposal to take over the gold mines of the North and make them a national profit industry would amount to the practical destruction of Timmins in 10 years, he estimated, whereas under carefully-managed private ownership, Timmins should still be here in a hundred years.

Mr. Bradette had pointed out that the industry had a tremendous effect on the whole of the country and had been one of the greatest stabilizing factors during recent years.

During the Bennett regime, Mr. Bradette stated that there had been an increase in the national debt of $800,000,000.

No Commission Radio

Dealing with the radio situation in the North, the speaker said he had been in favour of nationalization of radio because he felt that the whole of Canada should be served in the same manner as the larger centres. "I have no quarrel with your local radio station—it probably gives some services the commission could not—but at the same time, I am disappointed that we have not yet radio commission programmes in Northern Ontario," he remarked.

The Liberals have never thought of amalgamation of the two railway systems, Mr. Bradette said. They want both to remain as separate units of service. But he does believe that more service should be given on the Quebec-Cochrane line, built through one of the finest sections of the country now under development. Sane policies should be followed, he contended, to allow the farmers of the North to retain their (Continued on Page Five)

To Discuss the Power Franchise This Week

May be Vote on the Matter at the Coming Municipal Elections Here.

Members of the town council will meet representatives of the Northern Ontario Power Company this week, it is expected, to discuss the proposal made here this year that the town buy the company's equipment in Timmins so that citizens may be supplied with power from the Hydro Commission.

If the council finds it possible to make a deal with the power company, the electors will probably be asked to vote on the question. During the next year, between municipal elections, the power company's franchise here terminates, so that a question is to be submitted this December asking if the franchise is to be continued.

At this week's special meeting it will probably be decided whether or not there is to be an alternative question on the municipally-owned Hydro supplied system.

Visit Here of Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Forty-two Representatives of Leading Firms Guests at Timmins Yesterday. Visit the Big Mines. Entertained at Luncheon by J. R. Timmins.

Forty-two representatives of Toronto brokerage firms visited Timmins yesterday and were guests of Jules R. Timmins at the Hollinger directors' lodge for luncheon.

During their brief stay here, the men, many of whom had never been in Northern Ontario before, were shown through the McIntyre and Hollinger Mines. A trip to the Dome had to be cancelled since the special train arrived nearly four hours late. The four Pullmans, diner and baggage car that made up the special pulled out of the Timmins station shortly after five o'clock for Toronto. Just one of the party missed the train but was able to catch up with it at Porcupine Junction where he was taken by taxi.

Although it is understood that a night train service between Timmins and North Bay as noted in The Advance last week will go into effect on October 20th, no more definite word has been sent to local offices of the T. & N. O. Other time-tables will be altered slightly to fit in with the new service, it is believed, the tri-weekly "local" in particular. It is probable that the railway will issue a definite statement within the next few days.

Good Crops in Kiwanis Boys' Potato Club Plot

Two Hundred and Fifty Bags of Potatoes Harvested from Less than Two Acres. Some Boys Got 18 Bags from Tenth of Acre. All had Good Crops. Harvested on Saturday.

If 18 schoolboys can get a crop of 250 bags of potatoes from a plot of ground 1.8 acres in area, what will those same young men be able to do a few years from now when they have a whole back yard at their disposal?

The members of the Kiwanis Boys' Potato Club did their harvesting on Saturday and what a harvest it was! Some of them got as many as 18 bags of spuds from their tenth-acre plot. All of them had fine crops.

One of these days the public will have an opportunity of seeing just what work the boys did do. The date for the potato fair has not yet been set but there's sure to be plenty of enthusiasm among the youthful gardeners when it does come off, for they were already comparing potatoes as they were dug from the ground on Saturday. It was cold and rainy, but the boys didn't seem to mind that. It was the day on which they had something to show for their summer's work. Five big truckloads were taken to the boys' homes and there are more to come.

Two full bags are returned to the Kiwanis Club—one for the bag of seed supplied at the beginning of the season and the other for fertilizer supplied during the growing season. Each boy has kept careful reports as to how many hours labour he spent on the plot, seeding, cultivating, weeding and harvesting.

The two-acre plot set aside for the use of the boys is on the other side of the river on Frank Feldman's farm. There the boys have turned unused land into a really productive property

Roundhouse Smoke Stack Cut by Wind

High Wind Last Wednesday Also Smashed and Scattered Temporary Fence Around Sand.

The smoke stack at the T. & N. O. roundhouse is just 12 feet shorter now than it was a week ago. The high wind of last Wednesday disposed of the top sections very neatly and left two of them hanging from the guy wires. Fortunately the stack was never jammed in any way, so that there was no necessity of drawing fires. No one happened to be standing underneath when the heavy section of pipe came down. The only other damage noticed as being due to the high wind was the removal of a fence built around a Third avenue foundation site. The boards, twisted and broken, were thrown to the bottom of the excavation.

Chimney and stove-pipe fires on Saturday at 65 Commercial avenue and yesterday at 28 Laurier avenue did no damage. Both were box alarms.

The Legion hall was the scene of an unusual event in local circles on Saturday evening. There were gathered from all parts of the North Land veterans of the South African, the majority of them also being veterans of the Great War. Some of these men wore as many as eight medals and the average of the 32 present was five decorations. The guests assembled at the Legion hall at 6:00 p.m. and led by the Porcupine District Pipe Band, with Drum-major Cotcher, in charge (also a South African veteran) and escorted by a large contingent of the local legionnaires, marched to the cenotaph where General Swift, president of the Kirkland Lake branch, Canadian Legion and also a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment in South Africa in 1899, placed a wreath in memory of those who died in service (1899-1902; 1914-1918).

Upon returning to the hall a banquet was served the guests and members of the Legion. The menu consisted of: Fruit cocktail, vegetable soup, roast turkey, green peas and mashed potatoes, biscuits and ice cream. The tables were also laden beautifully with celery hearts, cheese, crackers, sliced tomatoes and olives, fresh peaches and oranges. P. Lacroix of the Lady Laurier hotel, was the caterer and was showered with full praise for the splendid dinner provided.

Austin Neame, president of the Legion here, opened the proceedings for the smoker that followed, and in a neat speech touched upon the anxiety and strain upon the people in the British Empire during both the wars. He paid honour to the South African veterans and hoped that there would be many more such gatherings. Gen. Swift responded and gave a review of what the Canadians did in South Africa. He touched upon some of the engagements and the capturing by the brigade under the command of Gen. Smith-Dorrien of 5,000 Boers. Of the recent upheaval, he said it looked as if some would have to go and although he was well up in the sixties he would still do his part if needed.

The reply to this remark was the entire gathering singing that army favourite "Old Soldiers' Never Die."

Dr. McClinton, responded to the toast "The Navy" and gave a very patriotic version of how and why Britain rules the waves—"The Boys of the Bulldog Breed" was the musical response. So the evening went, every speaker getting old patriotic song honours, "Good-bye Dolly Grey," "Good-bye My Bluebell," "Tommy Atkins," and the one of more recent years "Pack up your Troubles." Comrade J. Cowan then took gavel for the musical and entertaining part of the programme. A fine banjo solo by Comrade Cavell, who also sang two negro songs was a popular hit. Chas. Roberts was in splendid form and received loud and prolonged applause for his very appropriate selections. A. Bellamy sang in his usual style "On the Road to Mandalay," accompanied by H. Hopkins. T. Williams also rendered two very fine vocal solos, "Danny Boy," being a big favourite. Comrade Lowery a South African veteran entertained in song and story and was well received. Ed. Horton (remembered as the man who was in a car accident from Barnes circus) kept his audience in roars of laughter with his humorous stories. He also voiced his appreciation for kindness shown him by the people and medical and nursing profession of the district. Ed says he's trying to stay here and will be in great demand if he does, when it comes to entertaining.

Several of the visitors obliged with songs and stories. It was a happy and enjoyable event. Comrade W. Devine, officiated at the piano for the evening. W. Greaves, T. Parsons, A. Bellamy and the other officers of Timmins branch also worked well and their efforts did much towards the success of the event.
