

Jews to Observe Day of Atonement on Monday

Stores in Timmins Conducted by Jewish People will be Closed all day Monday, October 7th. "Yom Kippur," Most Sacred Day of the Jewish Year.

The most sacred day of the Jewish year, the Day of Atonement, in Hebrew "Yom Kippur," will be celebrated in Timmins at the Cedar street synagogue by prayers and special services on Monday. The day of fasting begins at sundown, October 6th, and continues to sundown the next day. Jewry in every country of the world will observe the day in much the same manner as it has for thousands of years past.

Jewish business houses in Timmins will remain closed on Monday as they did last Saturday, New Year's Day.

A recently published article on Yom Kippur follows:

"From Biblical times up to the present day, the day known in Hebrew as Yom Kippur carried an irresistible appeal to the Jew. The coming of the Day of Atonement aroused a sense of awe, and stirred him to earnest consideration of his obligations as a man and his responsibilities as a Jew. The beautiful prayers and meditations of the ritual filled him with a spirit of repentance and a sincere resolution to turn from the misdeeds of the past year to nobler conduct in the future.

"The rabbis regard this day as the culmination of the ten-day penitential period which begins with New Year's Day, and as a day for serious meditation. Tradition says that on this day the fate of every creature on earth is sealed by the Supreme Judge of all the earth. They strongly emphasize the idea of repentance and forgiveness.

"The Day of Atonement persisted throughout the ages as a day upon which man stands before his Maker in prayer and meditation. He looks back upon his activities of the past year, judges and criticizes his deeds, and strives to realize in his future a larger ethical and spiritual life."

Report to be Given Out After Election

Findings in Matheson Enquiry Likely Now Before Cabinet, but Not to be Made Public Yet.

According to information from Toronto the report of W. B. Common, K.C., of the attorney-general's department, in regard to the charges made earlier this year by John Rowlandson, M.P.P., and investigated by Mr. Common, in reference to alleged maladministration of the Northern Development Dept., will be completed this week and likely are now before the Ontario Cabinet. Mr. Common, sitting at Matheson as a commissioner, took evidence in the matter and allowed those preferring charges a large measure of leeway but despite the latitude given there was nothing of any importance brought out. The evidence, which was given in public hearings at Matheson, seemed to prove that the charges had little foundation. The charges made involved the department after the new government took office and there was no enquiry made into affairs before that, the authorities previously having checked up and apparently found things in good condition. In regard to the administration of the Northern Development Dept. after the change of government, the evidence seemed to suggest that the department was unusually well administered and that the officials in general used special care and attention in regard to their duties. Most people were agreeably surprised to find that the stories of maladministration seemed to have little foundation in fact.

While it is expected that the report will be before the Cabinet this week, it is not the intention, it is said, to make the findings public until after the Dominion election. There are a number of apparent reasons for this procedure, one of them being that until the Dominion election is over, the members of the cabinet will have little time to study the report.

Charged with Illegal Possession of Gold

Prompt Justice in Case of Man Driving Car While Drunk. Other New Cases

Provincial, town and other police arrested John Zetzer on Tuesday shortly after six o'clock in the afternoon, charging him with illegal possession of gold. About 22 ounces of unrefined gold was said to be found in his possession. He also had $1212.00 in cash on his person when arrested. The police found it necessary to crowd his car to the curb to induce him to stop. Zetzer is from Ohio, according to the markers on his car but he has paid several visits to the North recently. On one of these visits last winter he had some difficulty with local men, the matter reaching the courts.

A case of prompt justice was that of Bernt Peterson Novick who was picked up Tuesday evening on a charge of being drunk in charge of a car and on Wednesday afternoon was on his way to Halleybury to serve fifteen days.

A young woman arrested Tuesday night for being drunk paid $10 and costs on Wednesday morning.

In addition to Zetzer's case there is a vagrancy charge and a number of remands from Tuesday on the docket for the next court.

$86,000 for the Month at Buffalo-Ankerite

Mill Handed 500 Tons Daily Most of the Month. Recovery for Next Month Likely Higher.

Recovery at Buffalo-Ankerite for the month of September was $86,000, Edward G. Kinkel, managing director, told The Advance yesterday.

The mill turned up at 500 tons most of the month, it was stated, although milling had to be dropped in the last few days of the month owing to a breakdown in the crusher house. This has now been repaired and the plant is again slightly over the 500 mark. It is confidently expected that recovery for the next month will be even higher.

At the Marbuau $25,500 in bullion was produced with the mill run averaging 164 tons a day.

Communist Candidate

TOM EWEN

Tom Ewen is the Communist candidate in Cochrane riding. His nomination and the deposit were accepted on Monday at Cochrane when nominations were officially opened. He is a "workers' organizer, now on parole from Kingston penitentiary on condition that he does not leave Canada and also that he must not engage in illegal activity. He was imprisoned in 1932 for taking part with Tim Buck, A. T. Hill and others in an illegal association, but was released a year ago, on September 21, after serving about two years of the sentence. Born in Stonehaven, Kincardineshire, Scotland, in 1891, he attended public and night schools there and in 1911 came to Canada to practice his trade—blacksmithing and ironworking. While employed in Canadian National Railway shops from Winnipeg to Vancouver and in the plant of the Reo Motor Car Company at Saskatoon, he was a strong unionist and was a member of the old Socialist party of Canada for 16 years. He joined the Communist party in 1921 and was a member of the central political bureau at the time of its suppression by the government. He toured Russia in 1930 with a party of eight from England. Since his release from Kingston, he has spent most of his time either in Timmins or Toronto. He was accorded the nomination for the riding at a convention held in Timmins in May.

The Household by Lydia Le Baron Walker

The surface of rugs and carpets, apart entirely from the designs is of great importance to the homemaker. It is in large measure that, that determines the durability of the floor covering. Other elements enter into the consideration, such for instance, as materials, some of which wear longer than others. The closeness of the weave is another determination. This latter, however, is one of the features of the surface, or at least one of the characteristics of the rug or carpet, that is discovered when examining the surface. A loose weave, is easily detected. The strands of warp and weft, or filling, as it is more generally termed at present, are not woven together firmly, and therefore the body, of sturdy quality, of the material is decreased. Whatever does this reduces the wearing strength of the floor covering, as is true in other textiles.

Linens Rugs
Linen rugs are coming to the fore this Fall. A closely woven smooth finish (that is without pile) linen rug is remarkably durable. Flax fibres are long and strong and when tightly twisted into thread may be said to "wear like iron." So a smooth surface heavy linen rug is an excellent floor covering in large or small sizes. The flax takes dyes well and holds the colours.

Jute Rugs
Jute rugs when new may be mistaken for linen by one unacquainted with rug materials. These rugs come in both smooth and pile surfaces and it is the smooth ones that may prove puzzling. Jute is good for porch and sun parlours rather than for indoor use, except in back halls and the lesser rooms of a home. They are not noted for durability. Jute is a fibre as is coconat fibre. The matting made of the latter are amazingly durable. It has been within the past few years that jute has entered appreciably into the making of floor coverings. To-day it is being mixed with wool and with cotton to increase quantity of material but not quality. Pile is coarse and heavy, and, in smooth surfaces woven strands are large like cord or rope.

Pile Surfaces
Pile rugs have a softness of texture pleasing alike to the eye and the touch. As a rule pile rugs wear longer than smooth surface floor coverings. The strands separate into tiny filaments ends up. The tread of feet bends them without breaking the pliable pile. The finest pile rugs, as instanced in antique oriental rugs, endure for generations, becoming more exquisite with the passing years. There are also antique smooth, finish oriental rugs, but these are rare in comparison with the hundreds of pile rugs of great age.

Back Surfaces of Rugs
When buying pile carpets examine the surface of the backs. If these are very stiff and harsh, there is too much sizing. Carpets that are flexible yet have very closely woven pile top surfaces are of high grade. No sizing is needed. Domestic pile rugs sometimes have backs sized, and it is a common practice to size backs of pile carpets.

Helpful in Selections
As this is the season when carpets and rugs are being purchased these very few hints on surface qualities will prove a help in selecting for quality and durability.

YOU CAN'T STAY WHERE YOU ARE

YOU turn through a kodak album and smile at old-style clothes. Skirts cluttering the ankles... hats perched high up on hair... wasp waists... awkward sleeves—odd how your taste has changed!

Yet day by day your taste changes in all you wear and do. You don't like the same books, enjoy the same movies, choose the same underwear, prefer the same soap you did a short while ago. You are so used to the better, you wonder why you liked the old. Advertisements make you know the better as soon as it's proved to be better. They tell of good things accepted as good taste in the best homes. The hosiery, glass-curtains, lighting fixtures other moderns use; why their use is preferred. Advertisements influence so many around you, sooner or later you'll feel the change. Even if you never read an advertisement, you'll use in time some of the conveniences which advertisements urge you to use to-day. Advertisements from a tide of taste that sweeps you forward you can't stand still. Since you'll enjoy what they advertise anyway, why not begin enjoying it now?

CUBS ENTER WORLD SERIES RIDING CREST OF VICTORY WAVE

Charlie Grimm and his miracle-working Chicago Cubs went into the world series against Detroit Tigers riding atop a wave of victories unprecedented in major league baseball and with plenty of strength in every department to resist the second successive thrust for a world's championship from Detroit. Super-pitching, classy— at times almost miraculous fielding— and power aplenty with the wiffle features the Cub roster. In addition there is pep and spirit and fight, not perhaps the rough and ready scrapping of the St. Louis Cardinals but the winning spirit just the same. Bill Jurges (LEFT) classy, hard-hitting shortstop, supplies some of it. Despite his friendly grin, Jurges is one of the roughest and readiest ball players in the game to-day. He will fight at the drop of the hat and has already mixed with Wally Stephenson, Cubs' reserve catcher in addition to opposing teams' players this year. Upon Lon Warneke, CENTRE will fall a goodly share of the pitching burden. The ace right-hander showed he's ready when he let the Cards down with two hits in the first game of the crucial series which decided the championship. And Augie Galan (RIGHT), the lad who was transformed from a light-hitting infielder to a slugger deluxe in the outfield, has his big guns trained and ready for Cochrane's hurlers.
