

TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files.

Angus McDougall, 25-year-old Hollinger miner, was killed during the week ten years ago when he fell down the Schumacher shaft...

The last meeting of the council of Timmins for the year 1925 saw one of the town's most important by-laws finally passed. After that, date the restrictions of the fire and building by-law went into effect...

Councillor F. M. Wallingford congratulated Mayor McInnis on his reelection with members of the council and at the same time regretted that his own business required so much more of his time that he could not serve again on the council.

The last meeting in December ten years ago of the A.S.D. club was "Resolution Night," when a large number of the members prepared resolutions for one another.

The Christmas Eve services at Timmins churches in 1925 were well attended. St. Anthony's church was packed to the doors.

Alfred A. Ames of Cobalt, superintendent of the northern offices of the Arthur E. Moysey company, predicted in 1925 that investments in mining during 1926 would be greater than ever before... and Capitol, Tonopah, Coleroy and Keora in the silver mines. Northern mining ventures had received a large amount of favourable publicity in the previous six months, Mr. Ames said.

J. M. ("Happy") Woods had a lucky escape from serious injury while holidaying in England in 1925. He had been riding along a street on a bicycle when a truck struck the machine, tossing it into a stone wall.

Although it had been announced that there would be no more band concerts until the middle of January, a Sunday night crowd gathered outside the Goldfields theatre late in December, refusing to believe that there would not be one.

Late in 1925, the Timmins junior hockey team went down to North Bay and Sudbury to play a couple of exhibition games. They were defeated by the North Bay trappers 4-1 after Porky Levine, their goalie, had been forced out of play by an injured eye and Teevin had been hurt.

Here's a resolution that was passed by the North Bay city council at their last meeting of 1925. It was moved by Alderman Morland and seconded by Alderman Wallace.

Members of the Kiwanis Club held their last meeting of 1925 with the president, C. R. Murdock, in the chair. He gave a comprehensive review of the year's work and of the many fine addresses that were heard during the year.

Installation of officers in the Golden Beaver lodge, A.F. & A.M. took place on Monday, December 28th, 1925, when Rt. Wor. Bro. C. G. Williams of the Timmins lodge acted as installing officer...

The Timmins Irish Society was entertained at a Christmas dinner in 1925 by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nohilly, 25 Kirby avenue.

Patrick Burke, one of the well-known men of the North and a resident of Timmins for the previous eight years, died in Timmins in December of 1925. Although a native of Troy, N.Y., he had come to Canada as a boy and lived for many years at Pembroke where he was engaged in the lumbering business.

Dr. S. H. Bernstein, of Montreal, was the guest of honour at a dinner given ten years ago this week by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Halperin.

Editorially The Advance made a plea to the Federal government for the establishment of a post office at the Dome, where there were at the time nearly 1000 people who had to depend on the kindness of the Dome mine to make the situation bearable at all.

A number of Timmins people had a bad wind-up to 1925. A disorderly house was raided, its keeper being sent to jail and several inmates fined; a man brought back from Fort William, who had eloped with another man's wife, was sentenced to a jail term on a charge of stealing some of the husband's furniture; and a hotel keeper was fined $500 for selling beer that was more than 44.

Christmas events at South Porcupine were numerous in 1925 but among the best was one at the United Church when the annual Christmas tree and concert was held.

Harry Preston, in a letter to The Advance, claimed he had first set out the "H-light of Land" theory of mines as early as 1909, about the time he discovered the big Dome property.

Officers installed at the Porcupine lodge, A.F. & A.M., in December of 1925, were: W.M. Bro. W. H. Johns; S.W. Bro. A. H. Yeomans; J.W. Bro. Geo. R. Starling; chaplain, Bro. S. C. Watt; secretary, Bro. R. C. Vaughan; S.D. Bro. R. S. McWilliams; J.D. Bro. James Reid; D. of C. Bro. J. Brown; S.S. Bro. J. Costain; J.S. Bro. T. Fell; organist, Bro. W. E. Honer; I.G. Bro. A. Pearce; Tyler, Bro. E. Day.

Cleans Dirty Hands

Schumacher citizens were showing a deep interest in township of Tisdale municipal affairs in 1925. About 40 of them journeyed to South Porcupine for the nomination meeting...

Carol singing by a group of Cornishmen was one of the fine features of Christmas in Timmins, the guest of sang at many central places...

Noranda, then known as a "new Royn town," was to become a city of 25,000 people within five years, according to a statement credited to those promoting the townsite.

Among the many Christmas greetings received at The Advance office in 1925 was one from A. J. Cullen, who was at that time in Puebla, Mexico.

"Mrs. Hilaire Charette, for many years a respected citizen of Timmins, died at her home here ten years ago this week. She had been ill for some time.

Among the locals in The Advance of ten years ago appeared the following: "Mr. Wm. Burns was a New Liskeard visitor for Christmas."

"Mr. Roger Courtemanche is home from college at Sudbury for the holidays." "Dr. S. H. Bernstein, of Montreal, is visiting his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Lewis."

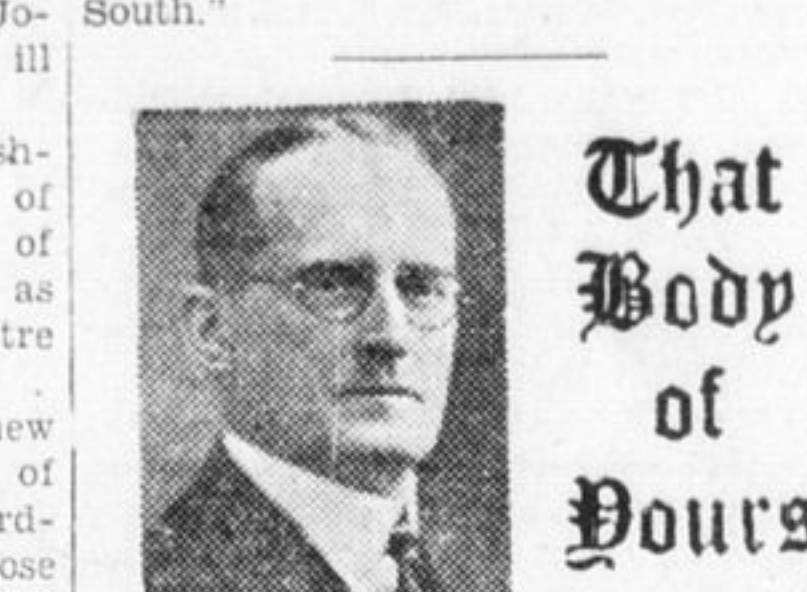

"His hosts of friends will regret to know that Mr. R. Richardson is ill this week with an attack of tonsillitis and all will sincerely wish him an early and complete recovery."

"The Marshall-Ecclesstone automobile sales department, is spending the Christmas holidays at his old home near Ottawa."

"Miss M. Mackenzie, of Vancouver and Miss E. Mackenzie, of Sault Ste. Marie, were the guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Urquhart, 113 Maple street south, Timmins."

"Kitchener Record, -Harvard scientists have perfected a device capable of exerting a pressure of one million pounds per square inch. Taxpayers know what that feels like."

that 99 per cent. of the liquor sold in that little city by bootleggers is poisonous. The bootleggers apparently have an international standard for their liquor.

The fact that he has heart disease does not frighten the patient as much as it did in former times because his physician has pointed out that if he "lives within his strength" he may last as long as those with normal hearts.

He is instructed to watch carefully the amount of work he does or the exercise he takes, and to rest or slow down his work when he finds himself getting even slightly out of breath.

Another important point is the food. Foods that are hard to digest or that cause much "gas" should be avoided.

At all times the amount of liquids—tea, coffee, water, soft or hard drinks—should be cut down even if there is no swelling of the feet; if the feet swell the liquids should be cut down even more.

The thought then in heart disease, aside from medical treatment, is not to bring on "breathlessness" by exercise or work; to eat easily digested foods and foods which do not cause gas; to cut down on fluids at all times and particularly when there is any swelling of the feet; and finally to cut down on the amount of salt eaten.

The Household by Lydia Le Baron Walker LINEN AND EMBROIDERED NET LUNCHEON SETS, THE LATEST NOVELTY, AND HOW TO MAKE THEM

A handsome cloth and napkins using the design offered is just the thing for a bridge prize.

The latest thing in handsome luncheon sets is found in those combining stiffened fine square mesh net with linen centres, the net being embroidered in cross stitch, or having darned designs in the middle of each side of the deep net borders.

The thought then in heart disease, aside from medical treatment, is not to bring on "breathlessness" by exercise or work; to eat easily digested foods and foods which do not cause gas; to cut down on fluids at all times and particularly when there is any swelling of the feet; and finally to cut down on the amount of salt eaten.

These embroidered net and linen luncheon sets are just the things to give for bridge prizes. They are so new and fascinating, and let me suggest that the cost of making is trifling.

A design to lend charm to these novelty sets is the Garden Bowl. Overflowing with trailing vines and flowers. These embroidered net and linen luncheon sets are just the things to give for bridge prizes.

Harry Thachuk Sentenced to Six Months in Jail

In a recent issue, The Advance noted the arrest at Sudbury of Harry Thachuk, who was wanted by the Quebec police in connection with the rioting at Rouyn on May Day, 1932. On that occasion the chief of police at Rouyn was shot in the arm while he and other police were trying to stop a communist disturbance at Rouyn.

The witnesses for the crown included Staff Sgt. Turnbull of the provincial police, Chief Wilfred Perrault of the Noranda police, ex-Chief Lapointe of Rouyn, and several others. Thachuk was found guilty on the evidence presented at the trial and was sentenced to a six months' term in the county jail at Ville Marie.

Ottawa Citizen:—There will never be a 100 per cent. vote until an election is a personal matter to 100 per cent. of the people. Elections are personal matters to only about half the people to-day. Educational effort can increase the percentage, but the matter gets much deeper, and he who discovers the formula for bringing about this desired change will win fame.
