TRUE GROWTH

The concluding words of the address by Hon. Canon Cody, president of the University of Toronto, to the local Varsity Alumni at the annual banquet on Friday night were especially inspiring and provocative of earnest thought.

It would be difficult to voice greater and nobler ambition for the University of Toronto than that it should "grow like a tree,"—with all that such growth implies. The roots going deep into the soil of the country!

WHAT PRICE, LIBERTY?

John Philpot Curran is credited with stating in a Dublin speech that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." There doesn't appear to be much vigilance these days, and as a consequence the liberty that British people struggled and fought to attain is gradually being filched by Soviet-minded individuals.

partment of government. If they allow municipal government to be stolen from them they will lose all real self-government. Yet people seem to be sitting back meekly while apparently Soviet-minded individuals take over all manner of forms of government powers.

GRAVEL AND SAND—AND PLACER

The proposal to establish a privately-owned slaughter house within the town limits should not be entertained no matter how plausibly the plan may be presented. In the interests of the health and comfort of the people of the town any such institution should be located away from the town.

Harry Anderson has resigned as editor-in-chief of The Toronto Globe. That's bad news. A. A. McIntosh assistant managing editor since 1929, will succeed Mr. Anderson as managing editor.

Among the innumerable eulogies of King George V. there seems to be a tendency to forget the great part played in the glory of his reign by his beloved Queen. It is well to remember that the greatness of the rule of King George V, both as regards his influence and his power, seemed to be centred around his home life and the domestic virtues.

There is very general regret at the serious injury sustained by Fireman W. Boyd while on duty last Thursday morning at the fire in St. Anthony's church. Every good citizen sincerely hopes for his early and complete recovery. At the present time, while sympathy is so general for this injured fireman, it would be well to consider the risk that is the constant companion of every man on the fire brigade.
