handicapped. It's extremely difficult to handle a situation of that kind. "Reeve Gallagher realizes that," Dr. Day said, "but he feels that if enough pressure were brought to bear the money could be provided.

If delegates were sent it was pointed out that the first question the government would ask was "How much are you prepared to do in respect to your part of the road?" Tisdale, Dr. Day explained, did not want to take the lead for that reason—the road is almost entirely in the township.

"In regard to us contributing," the mayor said, "we would have to pay part of the cost of the road from here to Schumacher, except for a quarter of a mile. That's rather too much to ask."

"There's no getting away from the fact that we do require a good entrance to this town," put in Mr. Langdon. "You'll be confronted with the problem some time."

"I think they'll have to go right on to Ottawa," was Councillor Cousins' opinion, "the province told us last time that they had had no money from Ottawa for roadwork."

T. & N. O. is Interested

In the end, all the members of the council were in agreement that a delegate should go to Toronto and exert every effort toward getting a definite promise that the road would be properly looked after.

Col. Mac Lang may join the party at North Bay, since the Timmins men intend to inquire about the T. & N. O. bus service, which they hope the railway will continue through from Pamour to Timmins. It is of vital importance to the railway that the road be in good shape for bus traffic.

Other council matters will be found in another column in this issue.

bonds issued for road purposes would be repaid, the province would have received the sum spent many times over in additional revenue from the North.

Discrimination Hinted

"Many believe discrimination is being shown," Mr. Langdon reminded the minister of northern development, adding that it appeared to him as if the "milk cow of Northern Ontario is not being properly fed."

The delegation decided to leave today and meet the others in Toronto.

While the matter was still under discussion, Mayor Bartleman asked: "Would it not be sufficient for us to pass a resolution and wire it there, or do you think we need to send a representative?"

"My personal opinion is that you should co-operate with the township in every way. If they send a representative, then I think you should. It's of very great importance to the town," replied Mr. Langdon.

"I appreciate that. When Councillor Cousins and I spoke to Mr. Heenan about that he told us that it would certainly be attended to, didn't he Mr. Cousins?" the mayor said.

"He said if the estimates were provided by March 31st," Mr. Cousins said. "I think we were informed they had been passed," his worship maintained. Mr. Cousins thought not.

Mr. Langdon then read the correspondence that had gone on between him, the minister and Mr. Hamer, district engineer. "This was all published in a recent issue of The Advance and told of departmental plans for a paved road from here to South Porcupine 30 feet wide, with a 20-foot pavement from South End to Gold City or Pamour, also of the 100 foot wide boulevard the Hollinger had asked the department to lay out from the new James street crossing to the mine.

"Stock Excuse—No Money"

Near the close of the discussion, the mayor told of his experience with Mr. Heenan. "We found their stock excuse was that they had no money. If they go on that way we're terribly is not taxable. "Those are the facts," said the mayor, "and it seems we have no other alternative."

Canadian Oil asked permission to install pumps at the corner of Wilcox and Hollinger avenue for George Demers. This will be granted, the work to be supervised by the town engineer.

Tax Complaints

Several people complained about taxes. One man owes $276 on last year's taxes and will owe a total of $800 when this year's are due. The town has had to distrain tenants' rent several times in order to collect rents, for the man is always behind. "He's a very difficult case to handle," the mayor said. The case will be fully discussed this afternoon.

Another complained about taxation on four lots on Cameron street. One had a barn on it and the taxes had been raised on this. He thought they were too high, particularly as he used "When was it paid last year?" the mayor asked.

"We usually pay it as soon as they ask for it," Town Clerk H. E. Montgomery told him.

"I was just wondering if they were catching up a year on us," his worship mused.

To Publish Book in French

In celebration of Timmins' 25th year, Le Nord Ontarien will publish a book this year in French entitled, "Timmins, Gem of the North." It is to be nine and a half inches long by six and a half inches wide. They asked that the town insert a complimentary advertisement at a cost of $15.00 for a full page. The council will discuss this with Le Nord Ontarien representatives to-morrow.

A two-page letter from S. A. Caldwell, as solicitor for the society owning the Ukrainian hall, asked a refund of taxes. The place has been turned into a church, it was stated, and as such, the place only four months of the year. He had not appealed his assessment so was told the council could do nothing this year. "Leave it till next year if you like," the taxpayer said agreeably, "as long as you fix it up."

A request to convert a house into a store at the corner of Maple and Fifth will be considered by the Board of Works.

A woman asked refund of part of last year's taxes, since the building had been burned down in March, 1935. This was left until this afternoon.

Council ordered supplies for the public works department, including a carload of six-inch sewer pipe, a new level, suction valves, three-inch suction hose, rubber suits and other small items.

Can't Look After Relative

"If I looked after all my relatives, I'd have three or four hundred of them on my hands," a man complained who had been keeping his father-in-law for $20 a month, paid from the relief funds of the town. Recently this had been cut off, since it was found that the man lived in Tisdale township. "You can find another place for him in two weeks," he told the council. "I can't afford to keep him myself and he'll have to go on relief here otherwise."

Another man wanted a job at the tourist camp. He had returned recently from the sanatorium, he said, and was still unable to do heavy work. He wanted something to do at one or two dollars a day so he could catch up with his bills, he said.

Payroll as passed for January was $10,401.14; February, $12,179.43; March, $13,999.89. Accounts totalling $5,524.89 were ordered paid.

Man Did Not Know How he was Injured

Neither Could he Tell his Name or Anything

Between one and two o'clock this morning the police took in charge a man who had to be booked without name or other details, except that he was very evidently drunk, though most people would not think that was the worst that had happened to him. Not that he wasn't drunk enough! He was plenty drunk! Indeed, as one of the officers said, he could not be any drunker unless he had been a bigger man. Either he had fallen down or been beaten up, for he had a lump on his face near the eye that kept getting bigger all the time. A doctor was called and put a few stitches in a cut near the eye, but nothing could be done about the swelling which was what is technically known as a "dandy." The man was not able to give his name or address or anything. He was apparently a Finn. After he had received medical attention he was given a bed for the night. So far there is only one other drunk for next Tuesday's court, but the two cases look like four drunks, as the man with the bump had a jag like three other fellows.

At Juvenile Court next week ten boys will be charged with causing property damage. They were caught throwing stones at the curling rink and doing damage thereby. The oldest of these boys is 15 years of age, there is another lad of 14 years, one at 13, three at 12 years, and four at ten years. They were caught by the police at 4:45 p.m. on Sunday throwing stones at the curling rink and thus causing damage.

Several cases in regard to traffic and highway safety are booked for the next court. One man is charged with having defective lights on his car, two are accused of failing to stop at intersections. There are a couple of breaches of the parking by-law. One man faces a charge of having defective lights on his car. The town police are keeping up their campaign to make the streets safe for all.

Suggest Mystery in Death at Froid Mine

Malcolm Macgregor, Young Sportsman, Takes ill Suddenly and Dies. Formerly at McIntyre.

Belief that there may be some mystery in connection with the sudden death of Malcolm Macgregor, 22-year-old sportsman, who died at the Froid Mine last week, will result in an inquiry into the death to determine the cause. Dr. Jones, who performed an autopsy on the body, said that death was apparently due to internal injuries. Macgregor, who formerly worked at the McIntyre Mine and was well known and popular here, was recently an employee of the Froid mine at Sudbury. While working at the 2200-foot level of the mine on Saturday after being on shift about four hours, he complained of illness and pains in the stomach. He was taken to the surface where he died almost immediately. There is a theory that he suffered some kind of an accident while at the mine, though no particulars are known of any such accident.

The body was taken Monday afternoon to Russell, Ont., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Macgregor, reside, and the funeral services were held there this week.

Malcolm Macgregor, prominent in hockey and in both association and rugby football, played last year with the Froid Mine Tigers who won the Sudbury District soccer championship. He played rugby on the Sudbury Canoe Club line-up, and was again on a championship team, the Sudbury team taking the championship from North Bay last fall. In hockey he starred on the Froid Mine team. While at the McIntyre Mine he was well known and highly esteemed in sport circles.
