Unusual Charges in Alleged Gold Cases

Four Charged with Attempted Armed Robbery. One with Conspiracy. Other Court Cases.

At police court Tuesday the chief interest was in five cases not proceeded with but remanded to next week. All are supposed to be connected at least indirectly with alleged high-grading operations. Alex Weir and James Crawford were charged with impersonating police officers. They are said to have entered a house with the idea of securing high-grade. Instead of getting high-grade the provincial and other police seemed to be on the scene about as soon as they were. Horace Rauthmell is charged with conspiring to commit robbery. In his case the charge is supposed to be based on some high-grade that he was alleged to be negotiating to buy, the inference being that he conspired to get it otherwise. Then Hector Hickey and George Taylor are charged by Fete Strazza with robbing him of gold said to be valued at around $900. Ball was set for the five, but Rauthmell is the only one taking advantage of this, being out on $1000 bail.

Senni Jannila paid $50 and costs on a charge of supplying liquor to an intoxicated person. Mary Anderson, just here from Sudbury, was sentenced to three months on a selling charge. Arthur Carriere got three months on an illegal possession charge. A charge of selling against E. Fitzpatrick was remanded.

A young woman from an adjacent township, who was charged with attempted suicide by drinking iodine, and who would not promise not to attempt it again was given a term for her own protection.

J. Pilon who pleaded guilty to breaking into one of Burke's drug stores, and gave Constable Clement a chase in the capture, was given three months.

J. Gallagher under sentence at Iroquois Falls for cheque frauds faced a couple of charges here and was sentenced to three months to run concurrently with the other sentences.

A local man got thirty days for begging. There were some traffic cases, drunks, and other minor charges heard.

Wilson Clark, Airways Pilot and General Manager, Among the Dead.

The seventh body was discovered yesterday at the scene of an aeroplane crash 150 miles north of Noranda in the Northern Quebec bush. Wilse Clark, famous Northern pilot, general manager of Canadian Airways, lost his life when the big Bellanca monoplane crashed. Others identified are George Milne, pilot and mechanic, and Leo Springer, well-known mining man. The rest are reported to be prospectors picked up in the North on their way back to Rouyn.

Wilson Clark was one of the men responsible for the building of General Airways and he knew the country through which he flew better than any living man.

SPODE'S "Fairy Dell"

Here is shown one of Spode's very quaint old shapes and patterns recently revised. The design is drawn in fine line running style, and painted under the glaze in soft warm colours of pink, yellow, green and mauve. The Charlotte shape is one of the old Spode models and its lines and style make a very effective setting for Fairy Dell decoration. A display may be seen in our window.

Recommend Change in Control of Radio

Ottawa Committee Suggests Plan Similar to the B.B.C. Set-up. Nine Governors Proposed.

This week the report of the special committee appointed by the present parliament at Ottawa to enquire into the radio situation presented its report. According to word from Ottawa recently the report is almost sure to be endorsed and acted upon, so it has special significance. According to word this week from Ottawa, a Canadian broadcasting corporation composed of nine honorary governors working through a general manager and with powers similar to those enjoyed by the British Broadcasting Corporation, was urged upon Parliament Tuesday by the special committee appointed to inquire into radio administration.

The corporation would have additional powers to regulate and control the character of all programmes, political and advertising.

Report is Unanimous

Chairman Arthur Beaubien (Lib.) (Provencher), presented a unanimous report which will probably be debated later after members of the House have an opportunity to read it. The report urged that legislation carrying out its recommendations be adopted at the present session.

Adoption of the report would mean abolition of the present Canadian Radio Commission of three members, appointed in 1932 the repeal of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act of that year. It would also mean return to the radio-telegraph branch of the Department of Marine of control over all technical and scientific aspects of broadcasting, leaving the corporation to devote its time to regulation, production and broadcasting of programmes.

Control Political Broadcasts

Main submissions of the 37 witnesses heard by the committee are reflected in the report, with particular attention paid to political broadcasts which featured the inquiry. Future political broadcasts must be restricted to addresses, must be fully sponsored, and must be subject to regulation as to time by the corporation, with no political broadcasts on election day or the two days immediately preceding.

The corporation would be instructed to co-operate with the private stations to the fullest extent, the committee concluding that pending complete nationalization (which was reaffirmed as a principle) the listening public would be to a large extent dependent upon private initiative.

Suggestion is made that the corporation be given power to borrow up to $50,000 from the Dominion treasury to extend its coverage of isolated portions.

Wedding at Church of Nativity To-day

A quite wedding ceremony was performed this morning at the Church of the Nativity rectory by Rev. Father McManus when Vera Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Second Robinson, of Timmins, became the bride of John Alvin Platt, second son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Platt, of Wolseley, Saskatchewan.

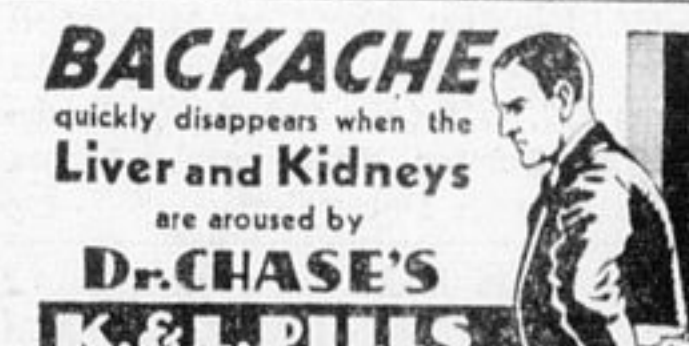

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Verdun Brisbois, and was given in marriage by her father. The groomsmen were Jack Robinson, brother of the bride. The bride wore a navy blue suit and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses while the bridesmaid wore a dark blue suit and carried red carnations.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 66 Mountjoy street, when the wedding party and the immediate relatives were in attendance. The young couple left to-day for Saskatchewan where they will remain for the next month. On their return they will live at Patricia boulevard.

Both are highly regarded members of the community, Mrs. Platt having been for some time supervising operator at the telephone company and Mr. Platt is a member of the survey department at the Hollinger.

During the past winter months I have given it the hardest kind of a test, both in the city and out, and it has responded to every demand I made of it. The brakes are even and instantaneous. Just how much, I cannot say, but the gas consumption is certainly better than 20 miles per gallon. Starting in winter zero weather was immediate.
