Many Influenza Cases Now at South Porcupine

Fortunately, However, Disease Is of Very Light Type, Curling Very Much the Order of the Day. Mrs. Donald Frood, of Connaught, Injured in Fall. Other South Porcupine and Dome News Items

South Porcupine, Jan. 30th. (Special to The Advance)—A correction is necessary with regard to your correspondent's report of last week's Tisdale council meeting. Mr. R. Langdon did not attend council to seek advice, but to explain the exact legal position relating to the title to certain lots owned by his clients. The council agreed to carry out certain steps requested by Mr. Langdon for the purpose of clearing the title to such lots.

Friends of Mrs. D. A. Frood, of Connaught, will be sorry to learn that on Friday, while crossing the railway tracks at the station there she slipped and fell, breaking her wrist. Dr. Smith, of South Porcupine, attended her. We sincerely hope that she will have a quick and sure recovery.

A most successful bridge party was held by the O.E.S. at the Masonic hall on Wednesday night. Visitors from Timmings were there and a very enjoyable evening was passed. Fifteen tables were filled with bridge players, and after the cards, a very dainty lunch was served.

The Eastern Star ladies are to be complimented on the excellence of the lunch. They have set themselves a high standard in this respect, and never fall below it. The prizes given were exceptionally nice. Miss Ruby McCarthy, W.M., of Timmings, before presenting the prizes, thanked those present for their attendance at this party.

Miss K. Barron, of South Porcupine, won the prize for ladies. Mrs. (Dr.) Day, of Timmings, took second honours and Mrs. A. Ewing of South Porcupine.

We hear that the new Williamson Mine in Shaw township is to re-open early this week. Mr. C. Williamson, secretary-treasurer, is up in South Porcupine this week on business connected with the mine.

Many will regret to learn that Miss Verne Smythe is severing her connection with the Tisdale hospital at the end of this month (January). She is to undergo an operation on her foot early in the week. We are glad to know that we are not losing her from the community as we understand that she will be living in South Porcupine and will take private nursing cases in the future.

The event this week is to be the winter carnival and moccasin dance on Wednesday, Feb. 3rd, commencing at 8 p.m., sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose. The programme given us looks interesting. At 8.10 there will be a lacross match—Timmings vs. South Porcupine (two ten-minute periods). Skating at 8.30. Obstacle race, speed skating at 8.45. At 9 p.m. broomball between South End and Schumacher Fire Departments (two 20-minute periods, skating between periods). At 10 p.m. grand parade with novel balloon competition. At 10.30 presentation of prizes, and at 11 p.m. round and square dancing to special music. This is the first big winter rink event (outside hockey) and we feel sure that many of our townpeople will take advantage of the occasion.

The Stovel Cup (curling) is back at the Dome again. The next challenge is from the Conlaun who will contest the Dome as soon as the big bonspiel in Timmings is over. The Dome is entering two rinks in the big bonspiel—skipped by Dr. Kinsman and Mr. J. Moir.

The Football Club at the Dome generally end the season with a dinner. This year they are finishing up with a 4-end bonspiel at the Dome rink. This is taking place to-night (Saturday).

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the United Church on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hal Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Vary of the Buffalo-Ankerite Mine are leaving for a month's holiday on Monday. They plan to go first to Miami, Arizona, where relatives live, and on from there to Santiago and San Francisco, where they hope to see Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jordan and family. Then to Oakland, California, to visit Mrs. Fletcher (another former South Porcupine resident) and from Seattle they will take the ocean trip to Vancouver, returning via the Canadian Pacific Railway.

We envy Mr. and Mrs. Vary their southern trip and hope they may thoroughly enjoy the rest and change.

At the 1917 annual meeting of the board of trade, T. King was elected president, James Reid vice-president, J. E. Sullivan secretary, and H. J. Marshall, R. J. Jemmett, J. P. Tallion, J. Guilfoyle, L. S. Newton, S. Bucovetsky, D. Ostrosser, and F. C. H. Simms councillors. At the meeting Messrs Ostrosser and Simms, president and secretary in 1916, announced their retirement from office. Mayor J. P. At a meeting of the District Miners' Union here twenty years ago, James Simpson, executive member of the Trades and Labour council told the union men "If you want conscription oppose National Service." William DeFou was in the chair for the miners' meeting, one of a long series held in the camp that winter.

The municipal offices were moved twenty years ago from a place near the present Central school to the Courtemanche block, next to The Advance office. The reason for the move was twofold, the council said: "the rent keeps too high and the temperature too low at the present stand." At the same time Art King was made fire chief until a permanent appointment could be decided upon. Charles Pierce was appointed to the board of health and H. E. Montgomery was made secretary of that body. Len Newton and Dr. Mithorn talked to the council about a proposed new general hospital for the camp.

Whooping cough caused more trouble in Cochrane district twenty years ago than all the other contagious diseases combined, the report of the Cochrane district medical officer of health showed.

Photos of good hay crops and fine fat cattle at Moose Factory were shown in Timmings twenty years ago by R. H. Clemens, district representative for the department of agriculture and supervisor of the experimental farm at Monteville. The Moose Factory cattle were descendants of some taken there more than a hundred years before, it was stated. Mr. Clemens was in Timmings to investigate the agricultural possibilities of the area. He also said that 39 Moose Factory Indians had enlisted in the Canadian army for service overseas.

Adolescent Appetite

How that adolescent boy does eat! Twice as much as his dad—with good-sized snacks between meals, too!

That food will develop his body—help him grow tall and broad and strong.

Minds, too, to grow wise and strong and able to guide life successfully, need food: they need knowledge.

80% of a person's knowledge comes through his eyes. If those eyes are defective—the mind does not develop as it should.

If your boy's school marks are down, perhaps his eyesight is defective. Dispel any doubt in your mind—let us examine his eyesight.

Twenty Years Ago In Timmings and Porcupine

The board of trade here twenty years ago was a live organization that had begun a good many successful movements. It had, The Advance said, then, helped greatly in getting telephone rates reduced, in having a new T. & N. O. station built, in persuading the provincial government to improve roads in unorganized territory near Timmings, in having street lighting improved, and in many other matters. There were a hundred and one things the board of trade could do and it was the "best place to start almost anything" the paper said. "Boost the board of trade with your heart and help, not your foot," was the slogan Timmings people were asked to adopt.

At the 1917 annual meeting of the board of trade, T. King was elected president, James Reid vice-president, J. E. Sullivan secretary, and H. J. Marshall, R. J. Jemmett, J. P. Tallion, J. ### Three Months Each for Cheque Frauds

At Kirkland Lake last week Charles Appleton, 24 years old, and Jack Coyne, 19 years old, were sentenced to three months in Halleybury jail by Magistrate Atkinson when they came before the court on charges of securing goods by fraud through the passing of forged cheques. Both young men gave their addresses as Timmings. There was $194 in worthless paper, said to be prepared by Coyne and passed by Appleton. Appleton cashed one cheque for $135 with the P. & A. Stores at Kirkland Lake and another for $59 at Frank Butora's store. According to the story gathered by the police at Kirkland Lake, Appleton and his bride were on their way south for their honeymoon accompanied by Coyne and a young lady. The four stopped at Kirkland Lake where the cheques were passed. The young ladies went on to Toronto, but the young men could not be located when it was found that the cheques were worthless. After the frauds were discovered, Coyne was picked up at North Bay and returned to Kirkland Lake for trial. Appleton was picked up at Dane. At the court trial both young men entered pleas of guilty. Bruce Williams, K.C., speaking in their behalf, said that their intention was to get enough money to take Coyne along with them. "Appleton intended somehow to make up the money," said Mr. Williams, suggesting that Appleton did not really intend to defraud anybody. Mr. Williams pointed out that Appleton signed his own name to the cheques when he endorsed them, thus showing that he was honest enough in the matter. Magistrate Atkinson, however, looked upon the matter as a straight conspiracy to defraud, even though it had foolish features. On account of the youthfulness of the couple he was lenient in the sentences. On each of two sentences for fraud he gave Appleton three-month terms to run concurrently. Coyne, who was charged with the forgery, was also given three months on each count, the terms to run concurrently in his case also.

Not in Favour of a Royal Commission

(Continued from Page One) by many facts and figures. He pointed out that last year $200,000,000 of new wealth had come from the North. Seventy-five per cent. of this had remained in Old Ontario. He advocated, as a business proposition, the building and maintaining of highways in the North to develop the country's resources and to encourage tourist traffic. Mr. Langdon noted that the Trans-Canada highway should go by way of the Ferguson highway to Cochrane and west from Hearst, instead of by the impractical and costly route from Sault Ste. Marie along the rocky shore of Lake Superior. He also referred to the fact that in taking away the income tax revenue from the municipalities a hardship had been worked on the North. To the latter point Hon. David Croll is credited with asking the question, "Do you know that in Timmings your mothers' allowances and old age pensions total $4,000 more than the income tax you would pay?"
