

Programme by Reginald Stewart a Notable One

Entire Programme at First Concert of the Porcupine Canadian Concert Association was Artistically Varied Throughout and was Enthusiastically Received by the Large Audience.

By E. M. Teskey
Reginald Stewart, brilliant conductor-pianist who recently made such a triumphant debut in New York City, presented the season's first concert in the Empire Theatre on Thursday evening. The Porcupine Association was indeed fortunate to have this distinguished musician for its opening presentation.

Mr. Stewart was introduced by the president, Mrs. N. H. Russell. In a few well-chosen remarks, Mrs. Russell outlined Mr. Stewart's outstanding musical attainments and thanked the members of the association for their support of this very worthy undertaking.

The entire programme, which was artistically varied throughout was enthusiastically received by the large audience.

Fine Clarity
Mr. Stewart began his presentation with his own version of the D Minor Toccata and Fugue of Bach. It was played with fine clarity and much resourcefulness of dynamics. In his first encore, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," his capacity for drawing a fine legato from the instrument was particularly apparent.

The second selection, "Sonata in B Minor," by Chopin was exceptionally well received. His rendition of this revealed constant tonal beauty; the difficult final movement was played with much virtuosity.

Gavotte by Gluck and capriccio in B Minor by Brahms were played with engaging simplicity of manner. Probably the most outstanding selection was the Schumann Toccata. Mr. Stewart's attainments as a pianist were nowhere more compelling. Technical cleanness, transparency and steady rhythm made every measure a joy to the ear.

Moderns Well Received
The Debussy group was particularly well received by the audience. Each selection was well chosen and artistically rendered, especially "Jardins Sous la Pluie."

In "Toccata" by York Bowen and Rubinstein's Staccato Etude, expert technique and much dynamic power were shown.

Mr. Stewart was most liberal with encores, which included two delightful Chopin etudes, a Scherzo by Mendelssohn, Humoresque and a pleasing little number called "The Donkey" by the French composer Grovies. The latter was a short sentimental theme introduced and closed by a colourful arrangement of dissonants.

Throughout the entire programme Mr. Stewart showed himself to be a musician of distinctive attainments. His playing displays personality and he is compelling in the strength of his fine control of dynamics and rhythm. Bettina Vogara will be the next artist on the series. This talented young Canadian violinist will appear early in April.

Sentenced to Four Years' Prison Term

Abraham Ansara Convicted on Two Counts in Wounding Case.

At Haileybury last week Abraham K. Ansara, known to many as Harry, was sentenced to four years in penitentiary on a charge of wounding Helvi Mutka at Kirkland Lake some weeks ago. He was also sentenced to two years for the illegal possession of firearms, the sentences to run concurrently. Mr. Justice Makins commented on the attitude of the young ladies in the case who went to drinking parties in men's rooms, but he suggested that Ansara was responsible so far as Miss Mutka was concerned. The judge told Ansara that he was fortunate that he was not facing a murder charge.

A bill introduced at Ottawa provides that women shall be on the jury when members of their own sex are on trial. Seems hard on lady offenders but, perhaps it was bound to come.

Forehead Revealed in New Hair Styles

What we said yesterday about brows really slip out of fear of getting cream or soap on the hair at the hairline. This is obliterated if a headband is worn. These headbands are inexpensive—or a piece of gauze or linen will do. Fasten it securely and push it up on the forehead until the bottom covers the very tip of the hairline.

The sweeping upward vogue leaves brows and forehead entirely in view. In spite of its dignity and formality, it is essentially a youthful style casting every feature into relief. A firm, fair, flawless face can stand it. And a beautiful forehead is worth revealing.

If the forehead is not too high, if it is well shaped, free from wrinkles or those tiny blemishes which have a way of parking on the forehead even if they don't settle on any other part of the face—if, as I say, the forehead is smooth and clear and well molded, by all means show it off.

Include Forehead in Face Treatment
Speaking of these little blemishes, if the hair is very oily, the contact of the hair on the forehead may cause the blemishes. So—if your hair is oily proceed to treat it, and in the meantime leave it off the forehead. Also, when giving your face a treatment be sure to include the forehead. Many women

We Asked 386 Big Business Men - - "How do you like your shirts finished?"

57	said, "The way I WANT Them"
329	said, "Just the way the Timmins Laundry does them."

So every last one of the 386 is in perfect agreement (which seems strange for Porcupine businessmen). The 57 know what they want and they get it at the Timmins Laundry for special care is taken to finish everything to the individual tastes of the customer. The 329 have been getting their shirts done to their satisfaction for so long that they've forgotten just what they do want. But the Laundry remembers, and the answer, "Just the way the Timmins Laundry does them." The point of the whole story of course is "Every man to his taste" and no matter what the taste, the Timmins New Method Laundry will suit you to a "T."

Great Strides Made by Consumers' Co-op.

Statement for 1936 Shows a Very Satisfactory Year.

Members of the South Porcupine branch of the Consumers' Co-operative Society was told at their meeting, held on Sunday in the South Porcupine Masonic hall, that the Society had made great strides ahead during the year of 1936. The statement, covering the period from Jan. 1st to Dec. 31st, 1936, showed a substantial increase in the sales of all stores of the Society. As reviewed by general manager, Mr. C. M. Haapanen sales were up to $429,594.91 or $47,394.96 over the same period of the previous year, in increase of 12.4 per cent.

Operating expenses were 13.93 per cent or a fraction less than one-half per cent higher than the previous year. This was owing to repairs on buildings and an increase of wages. Notwithstanding this a net surplus of $21,285.09 was realized, representing 4.89 per cent of net sales.

The meeting approved of the Board of Directors recommendation in regard to the distribution of the surplus, which if passed at the Annual Meeting of the Society in Timmins next Sunday, will entitle the members and non-members to a larger purchase dividend than a year ago.

That Body of Yours

More About Psoriasis and Fats
A physician who would call every case of skin disease eczema would be right in more than half the cases, because eczema is by far the commonest skin ailment.

Physicians have been noticing that psoriasis—white patches of scales on the skin which look like drops of mortar—is now more common than it was 20 years ago and have been investigating the cause. Strange as it seems it would appear that the very substances that have built stronger babies, prevented rickets, helped to ward off infections and strengthened the nervous system may be the real cause of the increase in the number of cases of psoriasis. Dr. L. E. Gaul, New York, in New York State Journal of Medicine, records the observation that in a case of typical psoriasis beginning to form, pus became moist and much like eczema before it assumed the morlac-like appearance. The moistness or secretion that appears is an oily substance. There is present in this psoriasis tissue a substance which not only increases the susceptibility (liability) of the tissues to become irritated, but in addition delays the healing process.

This means then that while cod liver oil, other fish oils, vegetable and other oils have their place in building the body, resisting disease and protecting the nervous system, it would appear that too much fat or oil—fish, vegetable, mineral—may delay the healing in psoriasis and in some cases of eczema.

Dr. Gaul states further, "When psoriasis or an inflamed condition of the skin of an eczema-like nature begins to form pus like sores one should be mindful of past or present treatment with mineral, fish or vegetable oils." It would appear that some valuable vitamins that are fat soluble are taken up by these oils, and thus lost to the body. The loss of these vitamins means more likelihood of skin irritation and as mentioned above, much delay in healing. "Fatty foods are poor in minerals, are hungry for them and take them up, causing overweight, indigestion and skin troubles."

"Fats favour development of pimples, boils, eczema and psoriasis by delaying digestion of the fats, which incompletely burned or digested, form substances in the blood which irritate the skin."

So in cases of psoriasis it would be well in addition to cutting down on fish, vegetable and mineral oils, to cut down also on foods rich in fat—butter, pork, cream, egg yolks, goose, turkey, sardines, nuts, chocolate, cocoa.

For those without skin ailments and for those of normal weight or underweight all these fat foods should be eaten at regular intervals.
