Canada Sends Loyal
Message George VI

Both Houses of Parliament at Ottawa Unite in Adoption of Address.

An address of loyalty to King George VI on occasion of the coronation was adopted Saturday by both Houses of Parliament at Ottawa.

It was read in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and in the Senate by Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader. Opposition leaders in both Houses joined in the sentiments expressed.

In the form in which it was presented to the Commons the address was as follows:

"We, the members of the House of Commons of Canada, in parliament assembled, desire respectfully to renew on the occasion of Your Majesty's coronation the assurance of our united loyalty and support and to offer our heartfelt good wishes for Your Majesty's reign.

"Since your accession, we have not failed to recognize in Your Majesty's public utterances the assertion of those principles under which the prerogatives and powers of government, vested in your person, are held and exercised only according to law and custom sanctioned by general consent.

"Justice, civil liberty and ordered freedom, thus secured, constitute a most precious heritage.

"These time-honoured principles permeating the relations of your peoples and their homelands one with another, have served to create a community of free states, responsible for their own destinies, yet resolved to conserve their common inheritance as one of the treasures of mankind.

"The solemn form and character of Your Majesty's coronation, comprehending both old and the new, will we believe afford a more vivid sense of the meaning and value of the crown, thereby strengthening the bonds of mutual trust and affection between the sovereign and his peoples.

"To Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, we desire also to express our sentiments of loyalty and devotion.

"We rejoice that the great responsibilities of the throne are shared by one who already holds a place in the affections of your peoples, and whose example fosters those simple and homely virtues which beautifully characterize and enrich family life.

"The companionship in service thus enjoyed, while ensuring your personal happiness, will afford to Your Majesty support and strength in the discharge of your public duties.

"Through this stormy and baffling era in human affairs, the throne has remained broad-based upon the people's will.

"The crown, symbolizing the unity and the free association of the nations of the British Commonwealth, continues to embody the principles of government which they hold most sacred, and their common attachment to the ideals of freedom and of peace.

"We pray that under Divine blessing and guidance the foundations of constitutional government may be firmly maintained and that Your Majesty may be vouchsafed strength and wisdom commensurate with your exalted and exacting task."

Appeal of Millar Relatives to Delay Stork Derby Split

(Toronto Telegram)

Possible "pay-off" to Toronto stork derby mothers is almost certain to be delayed several months by reason of an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada now being launched by Samuel Factor, K.C., on behalf of the late Charles Vance Millar's next-of-kin.

On Thursday Chief Justice Rowell will hear a motion in his chambers for an order admitting the appeal of the next-of-kin against the judgment upholding the validity of the baby clause and approving the security of costs. The relatives have deposited $500 in this regard. There is barely time for the appeal to be included on the Supreme Court list for its sitting which begins in a fortnight's time, and it is unlikely to make it. The next sitting is in October.

W. N. Tilley, K.C., acting for the Millar will execute, purposes asking for an Osgoode Hall hearing to investigate the claims of the mothers entered in the "baby race." Mr. Justice Middleton, asked by The Telegram if this hearing might go on before the next-to-kin's appeal is ruled on, said the arguments of the lawyers appearing for those concerned would first have to be held.

Leading lawyers consulted on the same point lean to the opinion that no judge would grant the hearing until the appeal is disposed of, since all the work done might go for nothing.

The six mothers concerned best chances of sharing in the $500,000 bequest, are impatient over the prospect of further delay. In particular, Mrs. John Nagle is anxious to get off relief.

Scotsman Made Mice Work and Earn Their Daily Keep

(From Blairmore Enterprise)

During the Franco-Prussian War a number of prisoners were interned in the Scottish town of Perth. To while away the time they were allowed to make trinkets, gadgets and novelties to amuse the visitors. These they sold to augment their slender means of sustenance.

One prisoner, more ingenious than his fellows, painstakingly contrived a little wooden toy house with a wheel in the gable. To make the wheel revolve he captured another prisoner—a common house mouse.

One day a canny Scot, David Hutton, happened to make a tour of the prison, and was struck by the sight of a mouse utilized to make a wheel revolve.

"The mouse," he said to his friends, "is a pest. Why should it not be compelled to justify its existence?"

Hutton set to work. He bought the little house, mouse and wheel—all for twelve coppers—and began to experiment. Then he worked out the cost of the upkeep and found that a single mouse could live and work for 35 days on a cent's worth of oatmeal, during which time it would revolve the wheel the amazing distance of three hundred and sixty-eight miles.

"We have all heard of horse-power, but Hutton was probably the first man to establish mouse-power. So he set up a mouse mill in Dunfermline for the making of thread. In five weeks one single mouse made as much as 3350 threads of twenty-five inches.

Hutton figured it out. He had previously paid the women who worked for him two cents a hank, so that according to his calculations each mouse earned eighteen cents every six weeks—$1.62 a year. Allowing a quarter for machinery and twelve cents for board, his vermin showed him a net profit of $1.25 per mouse per annum.

He applied for the tenancy of the disused Dunfermline Cathedral intending to house 10,000 working mice, but he died before his idea could be realized.

Literary Digest: "Covering a war isn't a hard job," declared Mark Barron, day city editor of the Associated Press. "But seeing men who have become your friends torn to pieces isn't pleasant." Barron predicts "another big war is going to bust loose" soon and believes the theatre of battle will be Europe.
