The very newest in crystal has just arrived—beautiful Fostoria. One of the highlights is "spool gold," lovely table pieces coloured as though tinged with a Northern sunset. Other cake plates, relish dishes and serving plates are coloured in azure or ruby. Clear crystal too in large pieces or stemware. A few samples of the lovely "wheat sheaf" pattern are here for your approval. Be sure to see this tasteful crystal. Timmins has shown such a marked preference for Fostoria that this order is the largest shipment of crystal we have ever received.

White Trillium is Emblem of Ontario

Adopted as Floral Emblem for the Province by the Legislature.

By the passing of the Floral Emblem Bill in the Ontario Parliament on March 22nd, 1937, the White Trillium, botanically known as Trillium Grandiflorum, now becomes the legal floral emblem of the province. Ontario has been slow in dealing with the question of a provincial flower emblem, for the Ontario Horticultural Association has consistently urged consideration of the subject for the past 20 years and the efforts of its officers and members have at last been rewarded by the legalization of the white trillium which was adopted at their suggestion, as a matter of fact, no province of Canada has ever shown any great haste in the selection of a floral emblem. In Nova Scotia in 1825, the question was first mooted, but it was not until 1901 that the Trilling Arbutus, locally known as the May Flower, was legally adopted. In the following year Manitoba made official selection of the Wind Flower, and later on Alberta chose the Wild Rose as its floral emblem. The Wild Rose is also the floral badge of Iowa, and the Prairie Wild Rose represents North Dakota.

It is also 20 years ago that the Ontario Horticultural Association discussed the question of a floral emblem for the Dominion, and, although the initiative of the Association led to consideration of the subject by horticultural societies, universities and other institutions throughout the Dominion, no final decision was arrived at. The Maple Leaf has been accepted by the people of Canada without legal instrument of public proclamation as their emblem and has thus been accorded a fixed place along with the rose, the thistle, shamrock and leek of the peoples in the British Isles. The rose is also the floral emblem of New York State, while well-known national emblems appear in the Fleur-de-lis of France; the Linden of Germany; the Amaranth of Sweden; the Lotus of Egypt and the Chrysanthemum of Japan.

Praises Sudbury Plan of Anti-Communist Society

(From North Bay Nugget)
The Sudbury branch of the Canadian Legion has initiated a timely move in sponsoring an organization given the title of the Anti-Communist League of Canada, the motive being resistance to inroads into Canada by organizations devoted, directly or indirectly, to the spread of communistic propaganda and the setting up of groups in opposition to British and Canadian principles.

This action is timely in view of the strong suspicion that the Oshawa rum-pus was born in a communist drive to include Ontario in the widespread effort to upset established law and order, and the Canadian Legion is probably the best loyalist organization to give leadership in a fight to defeat this aim.

It is reported 2,000 are already enrolled in the Sudbury organization and that an additional 1,000 will be recruited in the course of the current week. This call should stir every true Canadian. This auxiliary to governments and law enforcement departments is very necessary to ensure successful resistance of the scheming communist. Immediately it is made evident that Canadians are prepared to resist communism, fascism, and all other isms not in accord with British principles, the attempted invasion will cease, but toleration will serve to encourage outside forces to drive more boldly and more deeply into the country.

The aims and objects of the defence-against communism league are:

To organize a union of all nationalities to promote a spirit of Canadian patriotism.

To guard against unlawful and other radical influences or propaganda which may work serious injury to its members and the community.

To test and promote social and other activities among its members.

To educate the people against the evils of communism.

To support suitable undertakings whereby members who are not English-speaking may get better opportunities to study the English language.

To co-operate with other organizations with similar aims and objects.

To encourage all outside nationalities to become Canadian citizens.

These seven objects can and should be forcefully supported by every Canadian. The Canadian Legion of Sudbury has proposed a programme for the checking of communistic inroads and it is the duty of every true Canadian to further the endeavour in every possible manner.

Given a Year for Vicious Assault on Sister-in-Law

At Kapuskasing last week Elvin Brown, a settler living in Machin township, was sentenced by Magistrate Tucker to one year in the reformatory for an attack on the young man's sister-in-law. Brown's mother, it appeared at the trial, did not like the daughter-in-law and had written some defamatory letters about her, these letters being termed "shocking" by the magistrate. The younger son apparently was influenced by the mother's attitude and meeting his brother's wife a quarrel ensued, the young lady being quite badly injured. The trouble had evidently followed the families from Pembroke where they previously lived. As the magistrate pointed out the two families should have forgotten old feuds, or strictly kept away from each other, having farms adjoining in the Kapuskasing area. Magistrate Tucker also pointed out that something had to be done to discourage exhibitions of temper and violence such as had injured the young lady.

North Bay Nugget:—Stanley Baldwin again displayed his exceptional qualifications for the high office he fills in pursuing a "safety first" policy in dealing with the halting of British merchant ships by the Spanish insurgent force when endeavouring to enter the port of Bilbao.

Rogers, chief inspector of secondary schools, will address the delegates the following day on "The Contemplated Changes in the Educational System of the Province." Large Number of Nurses Trained in the Dominion

Canada to-day has more than 20,000 trained nurses, without counting those who have left their profession to be married. In addition there are about 12,000 nurses-in-training, and they will average more than a year's experience in caring for the sick.

In the hundred years that have passed since Florence Nightingale started out to make nursing her life work, it has been raised from the status of a menial task, to the level of a profession. High standards of intellectual training, as well as character, are demanded for admission. The Lady of the Lamp herself contributed more than any other person to this change, for she was not only a person of high ideals, but like so many of her followers to-day, a woman of profound intellectual attainments with a broad and informed interest in social problems.

Her interest, which should stand as an inspiration to nurses of to-day, is shown in a letter she wrote at the age of 70 to Sir Francis Galton, that great scientist between whom and herself there was mutual admiration. After telling him of some of the social problems on which she saw a need for more scientific information, she says: "What is wanted is that so high an authority as Mr. Francis Galton should jot down other great branches upon which he would wish for statistics, and some teaching how to use these statistics in order to legislate for and to administer our national life."

This information is from the Census Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Department of Trade and Commerce.

Cobalt Instructs Chief to Use Feet More than Car

Cobalt, April 22.—(Special to The Advance)—After considering the matter for some considerable time past, Cobalt town council on Monday night decided to change the vault arrangements in the town hall to permit the door into the municipal safe to be opened from the clerk's office, instead of from the main corridor, as has been the method since the building was erected in 1914. Hill-Clark-Francis, Ltd., will make the alteration at a cost of $100, this being council's decision after learning from the same firm that certain other proposals which would have left the vault door in its present position, but would have cut it off from public gaze, would require $350. Some time ago, the vault was entered while council was in session and money, bonds and other articles taken. The alleged robber never has been found.

Council went on record as instructing Chief of Police Miller that he is to use his feet more and his car less in getting about the town. He is to vary his hours of duty several times weekly and patrol the streets on foot, it was ordered, following a discussion on the subject, raised when members of council referred to over-long parking and damaged property, and the chairman, Councillor Lawrence, had pointed out the chief could not be on duty day and night. Councillor Williams wanted another man hired as additional help temporarily, but got no support, and Councillor Rowdon, who thought the chief should make his hours "more erratic," declared he could not police the town by "long distance." It was intimated further that Chief Miller was to stay in town more than it was alleged he had been doing.

Endorses Premier's Stand in the Oshawa Situation

(From Acton Free Press)
Canadians generally will appreciate the firm stand taken by Premier Hepburn in his dealing with the strike situation in Oshawa. He made it quite clear that law and order would be enforced. Negotiations with Canadian labour groups can always be easily carried on. But when agitators from other countries attempt to dictate the policy in Canada the firmness that is admired was forthcoming from Ontario's premier. We cannot help being critical of the laxity of Ottawa and immigration officials in allowing these agitators into Canada. There are none who have crossed the border but have become accustomed to the searching questions and oft-times inconvenience they have undergone when making entry from one country to another, and yet men whose methods are known to create disturbance for thousands of Canadians are allowed entry into Canada.

What Ottawa lacked Ontario has made up and Premier Hepburn has refused to negotiate with the United States officials. A number of years ago the editor was a member of the International Typographical Union. Its influence in Canada was to a large degree lessened by strikes, but it seems that only individual experience can settle these questions in the minds of workers. We are not arguing the General Motors side of the question, or that of the workers in this instance but we do believe it is a poor reflection on the intelligence of Canadian workmen that they are led about like sheep by these agitators from the United States.

Perhaps a modified re-enactment of the Boston tea party episode might not be amiss, and would at least be impressive of the fact that Canada can attend to its own difficulties in its own way. Certainly the Dominion should have no desire to emulate the example of labour difficulties and their settlement that is given by our southern neighbours.

Northern News Celebrates Entry to Elegant New Home

Last week The Northern News of Kirkland Lake celebrated its recent installation in its fine new brick home, across the street from its former office, by issuing an eight-page special section along with the other fourteen pages of its issue. The special section tells the story of The Northern News in Kirkland. It is very true that "The Northern News has grown up with the North Land" as the banner line on the front page says. The Northern News was started in Cobalt in 1922, and moved to Kirkland Lake in 1924.

Borden's ST. CHARLES MILK The Better Irradiated Evaporated Milk

Compared to The Halleyburian, The New Liskeard Speaker, The Advance, The Northern News is a young fellow, but it has done its full part in the up-building of the North. In 1924 The Northern News started at Kirkland Lake, the first building being a small shack with an equally snail-pace. Today its building is an impressive one and it has one of the largest and most modern plants to be found in any town of its size in the province. Frank Ledrum, of Cobalt, who was the first editor of The Northern News, and also is to-day representative for Temiskaming district for The Advance, has an unusually interesting story of early days in Cobalt in the special section of The Northern News. There are other articles by members of the staff. Also there are pictures of all the members of the staff. It's a funny thing but the members of the "back shop" staff seem a pretty handsome lot of lads. And the girls of the front office are more than easy on the eyes. But the editorial and reportorial staff don't appear a bit better looking than would that of the average newspaper office. Still "handsome is as handsome does," and so the whole staff of The Northern News must be passed as handsome, after all.

The Advance would like to congratulate The Northern News on its well-merited success and progress, but still more the people of Kirkland Lake on having so able and useful a newspaper. It is to be hoped that the people realize just what The Northern News has done and is doing for Kirkland. From the looks of it, perhaps the people go. But The Northern News has never been noisy or boastful in its own praise, and people sometimes forget easily. In the meantime, however, it must be said that The Northern News stands high, and all good citizens, not only of Kirkland Lake but also of the whole North will join in congratulations and good wishes on its fine new building.

LOOK AT LA SALLE!

THE GREATEST SALES IN HISTORY

The new La Salle V-8 is selling at the fastest rate in La Salle history. And small wonder—for here, surely, is the greatest value the fine-car field has ever seen.

Prices begin at only $1475 for a car designed and built entirely by Cadillac—and powered by a 125-horsepower V-8 Cadillac engine!

And, remember, that is the list price at Windsor, Ontario, and includes all standard accessories. Only special equipment is extra.

The new La Salle V-8 is economical, too. It is unusually sparing of gasoline and oil, while service costs are surprisingly low.

In fact, many say their new La Salles cost less to drive than cars of even lower price.

Before you buy a car at any price, we urge you to look at La Salle. The chances are your present car will make the down payment.
