Finnish Bazaar at South Porcupine Big Success

Large Attendance and Much Interest in Event. Shower for Bride-to-be. Leniency Given Man who Stolen Chicken. Two Committed for Trial on High-grading Charge. Other News of South Porcupine and the Dome.

South Porcupine, Ont., May 11th. Special to The Advance.

A very lovely wedding "shower" was given on Monday night for Miss Connie Carlson, who becomes a bride this week. The party was held at the home of Mrs. J. K. McCaffrey at the Dome Mines, with Mrs. F. H. Hall as joint hostess. Over forty friends met to honour the bride-to-be, and the gifts were piled on to a small wagon, decorated in Coronation style colours and surmounted by a crown. This crown was set upon the head of the guest of honour as she opened the packages. The gifts bestowed were really beautiful, no two being duplicates. Silver, linen, china, glass and electrical appliances all found a place in the "shower." The hostesses served a delicious buffet lunch after the bestowal of the gifts. Roses were used for decorating the house for this occasion.

We hear with regret that Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pullin and family will be leaving Canada in the near future to return to South Africa (Johannesburg) which is Mr. Pullin's native country. Owing to his continued ill health, caused by war wounds the South African Pensions Board are making it possible for them to go back. While we realize that the change will be beneficial to the health of the family we regret losing good citizens from the camp. They have been in South Porcupine for thirteen years.

The Anglican Young People met last Wednesday in the hall for the annual election of officers. By the results of the election the next season should be a good one as far as activities are concerned. They elected Mr. David Evans for president; Miss Dorothy Wilkins as vice-president; Miss Hazel Todd, as secretary; Miss M. Woodall as treasurer. Supplementary officers were Mr. Wm. Hall and Miss Ruby Naish. Miss M. Woodall and Miss Naish were elected as delegates to attend the meeting at Iroquois Falls.

We are glad to say that the Finnish bazaar held in the United Church on Tuesday was well attended. Many patronized the tea served, enjoying the really excellent coffee and coffee-bread which these ladies know so well how to make. In fact quite early in the afternoon many who would have bought the baking were disappointed—all was sold so quickly. The fancy work was beautifully done, and seemed to find a ready sale, and the hand woven rugs and cloths hung around on the walls were greatly admired. The man who does carving out of local wood is quite clever. Bears seem to be his speciality—and were well worth buying—he was working at a table for all to see. One garden bench with a black bear on it was quite spectacular. We hope the bazaar was a financial success.

Almost every house in South End boasted some sign of patriotism today. Only two were noticed without any sign at all. Unfortunately some loyal citizens have been afraid to put out too many flags on account of petty pilferers! Surely the most contemptible of thefts!

Mr. John Costain was proudly flying the Isle of Man flag—the three "Legs of Man" over his house today.

And by sovereign right inherent to all true Sons of Man he flew it over the "Union Jack." But at the time he flew it, he said "God Save the King."

Police Court

A very crowded court greeted Magistrate Atkinson on Tuesday, and many important cases were heard.

The Finn who hit the car of Mr. O. Henderson in which Mr. S. Kennedy was riding on April 28th was in court to answer a charge of reckless driving. Both Mr. Henderson and Mr. Kennedy appeared, the later walking with difficulty after the accident in which he suffered two broken ribs. They testified that the car in which they were riding was well within the right side of the road, that the impact which knocked them into the ditch turning the car over twice occurred simultaneously with the hearing of the other car's horn. The Finn testified that his horn was sounded and that Mr. Henderson speeded up his car and turned slightly left hence the collision. The magistrate took the testimony of the police concerning the condition of the accused driver, who said they smelled liquor on the man although he was not intoxicated enough to be locked up. Magistrate gave judgment against the Finn fining him $50 and costs, and holding his driving permit in suspension for two months.

For speeding a man paid $10 and costs. Reckless driving—between dusk and dawn without properly equipped lights—was another charge which resulted in a fine of $5 and costs.

A case of indecent exposure was dismissed later after being heard in closed court.

A roasted chicken was brought into court—in fair condition. It had been stolen from a local Chinese cafe, and the man who stole it acknowledged the theft, said he had been hungry, and the chicken looked tempting, and he acted on impulse.

"How much did he eat?" asked our human magistrate. "Very little," said the Chief of Police. "We got him as soon as he had taken it."

"I'll let you go this time," said his worship. "It is your first offence—you will sign a bond to keep the peace for one year—if you steal anything else you'll go to jail."

Another Chinaman came up before the bench who charged that assault had been committed by a bailiff. He said the bailiff came to collect some money and he said he hadn't got it, whereupon the bailiff seized his cash register. In attempting to take it from the bailiff he alleged he was pushed down three times. Case dismissed.

Another case of reckless driving resulted in the driver being fined $10 and costs. "Be more careful after this," was the magistrate's caution.

Two men who had been employed at the Pamour mine were committed for trial after hearing, on a high-grading charge.

On May 1st a Provincial Constable was given information to go to the Pamour. He stopped a car in front of the mine at 11:30 at night. With another constable they searched the car and the person of the driver and his companion. In the front seat under a cushion he found lunch boxes containing ore (produced). Under the hood of the car they found a bag tied containing ore.

They arrested the men and took them to Golden City where their shack was searched. In a pasteboard box on the floor of a clothes closet they found more ore, also in a lard pail in the same place and gold ore of high grade in an envelope was found in one man's vest pocket.

Assayer Mason, of the Dome Mines, testified that by approximate assays the whole of the ore found in the men's possession was valued at $199.62.

Event for Children at South Porcupine

Special Coronation Day Proceedings Held on Tuesday.

South Porcupine, May 11th, 1937. Special to The Advance.

Coronation festivities and celebrations commenced today here, for the children. Owing to Coronation Day being taken up with parades, sports, etc., it was deemed best by the committee in charge to have a special Children's Day on Tuesday.

Accordingly, the High School auditorium this morning was the scene of Act I. The High School pupils, augmented with the older pupils of the Dome School and South Porcupine Public School, filled the large hall to capacity. On the platform, in addition to Mr. Blake, principal, were Dr. Fraser and Archdeacon Woodall, Miss Shaw and Miss Lynch.

The pupils after all marching in in orderly fashion stood at attention and sang "God Save the King."

Dr. Fraser opened proceedings by reading a portion of Scripture and offering prayer.

Mr. Blake then made a few remarks to the pupils concerning the occasion, after which "The Maple Leaf Forever" was sung.

A pleasing folk dance with the girls taking part dressed in the Coronation colours of red, white and blue followed. Then Elgan "Land of Hope and Glory" was sung.

A tap dance with the girls dressed as Jack Tars was most original. To the tune of "Men of Harlech" the dance was well done, each in turn during the dancing taking part in chalking lines on the blackboard which finally resolved itself into a crown with "God Save the King" written under it. The onlookers were very enthusiastic over this.

Archdeacon Woodall then gave the main address. He spoke on the solidarity and continuity of the British Crown. He also gave the reasons for both religious and military ceremonies in connection with the Coronation of the King, and spoke of the pageantry of the Coronation.

"Rule Britannia" was the concluding

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED IN SOUTH

The San Antonio Light, of San Antonio, Texas, in a recent issue published the picture of Miss Newton, above, with the caption—"Miss Grace Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Newton, whose engagement has been announced to Francis Alan Woodbury, of Timmings, Ontario. The wedding will take place June 16th, and they will make their home in Canada."

number on the programme. Act II took place this afternoon in the playground of the public school where a platform had been erected.

All the children of South Porcupine and Dome Public Schools were assembled in orderly ranks at 3 p.m., each child bearing a flag and wearing the Coronation medal which had been distributed in the schools on Monday. It was a pretty and stimulating sight to a native-born Briton to see all these youngsters, some of whose parents had come from all quarters of the globe, being brought up in this portion of the Empire to be Canadians, singing our songs of Empire and saluting our flag.

Many parents were watching the spectacle and admiring their children as they took part in the programme. They were a most orderly and well-behaved crowd of children and all took part in the ceremonies as if they realized the importance of the occasion they were celebrating. Mr. Skip was an effective master of ceremonies.

All sang as an opening chorus the New Coronation Song.

A tableau of Jack Canuck (Nick Toderan) Britannia (Edna Tripp) and John Bull (Henry Kohtala) followed. These costumes were most effective.

The Dome children gave a flag drill very nicely.

A Maypole dance, by little girls in different coloured dresses, all with roses in their hair, was really beautifully done. Without one hitch they played the ribbons round the pole as they danced, and then unwound them looking just as pretty and graceful as fairies. This was done by South End girls under the direction of Miss McGavin and Miss Paolini.

"Land of Hope and Glory" was sung by a senior chorus.

School gave one of the most charming of flag drills, the four little soldiers who led them causing much admiration especially when they "shouldered arms" and presented them at the command of a Scout. Nicely done with precision and thoroughness this drill showed signs of very careful painstaking tuition.

Annie Comer, in native Ukrainian costume, played patriotic airs on her violin very nicely.

An Irish Jig by two wee girls in green, black and white, charming costumes (Hilda Harry and Noreen White) was very nicely performed.

Two dear little girls danced a minute—Pauline McDonald as the boy, dressed in lavender and white, and Clarabelle Covey as a dainty lady in yellow. They were applauded loudly.

The senior girls from the Dome School, dressed in sailor middies, did a flag drill beautifully, finishing up with a tableau grouped around Britannia.

Our teachers are to be highly complimented not only on the excellent programme presented, but upon the very orderly and praiseworthy attention of the pupils during the carrying out of the programme.

"Coronation Commentary" Not to be Banned in Canada

(From Sudbury Star)

Canada will permit entry of the Geoffrey Dennis book, "Coronation Commentary," which has created so much of a furor in England. Hon. James L. Isley, minister of revenue, says he has read it and finds it not treasonable, seditious, immoral or indecent—headings under which Customs regulations relating to books may be applied. If the book is not any of these things, then the department seems to have made a sensible decision.
