New School to be known as Birch Street School

Prize for Suggestion for Name Goes to Teddy Carroll. Other Prize Winners. School Board Engages Two Teachers to Supervise Athletics and Sports During Summer. Other Matters at School Board Meeting.

The choice of a name for the new school was one of the big discussions at Monday's regular meeting of the Timmings Public School Board at Central school. A prize had been offered to the pupil who sent in the selected name and consequently reams and reams of suggested titles were forwarded to the board. The members of the board considered the name Birch should come in somewhere in the selected name because of the location of the school. Finally every one agreed upon the name "Birch Street Public School" and the award went to Teddy Carroll. The first prize was three dollars and six other awards of one dollar were given to—Edward Usnel, Bobby Whaler, Vida Beaumont, Monica Schrage, Vivian Pezzetta and Pauline Morin. The report of the work carried on at the evening classes at the Central school was forwarded to the board and found to be very satisfactory. At present there are thirty-eight pupils enrolled in the class. It was decided to discontinue the night classes on the 31st of May and reopen in the fall. The enrollment is as follows:—beginners' class, 15; grade 1, 12; grade 2, 11. The enrollment was as high as 91, and

It was decided to adopt this plan of coverage. Salaries to the extent of $7,805.94 for the month of May were passed. The necessity of covering the roof of the Central school was discussed. It was decided that a roofing expert should be called to go over the roof and advise the board as to what should be used in the repairs. The school will be painted this summer also and the chairman of the property committee was authorized to get in touch with a painting contractor. A letter from Mr. David Smith, of the Community Welfare Board, advised the board that they should teach handicraft for the girls during the summer in conjunction with the manual training class. Nothing definite was decided in this regard. It will be necessary to buy two large clocks for the new school but these will not be put in until school is over. A price was secured on the desired timepieces and it was found a clock having two faces, each sixteen inches in diameter, would cost $32.00. The clocks will be run by electricity and will be of the new type which will continue to operate for at least two hours after the power goes off, in case a shutdown is necessary. The planting of trees in several of the school yards was discussed and it was decided to plant twenty-five trees in both the Moneta and the Mattagami school grounds. Mr. E. J. Transom, principal of the public schools, advised the board of several small accommodations required at the Mattagami school. These were discussed and will be installed immediately. A special meeting of the board will be held in the Central school on Friday 21st, at 5:00 p.m. This meeting will be called to discuss the advisability of changing several teachers, who, according to authorities do not measure up to the high teaching standard held in the different schools. The matter of salaries for the coming year will also be discussed at this meeting.

Rev. Mr. Millar is Honoured at Banquet

(Continued from Page One) along the right ways. Speaking of his own inexperience as a boy—an experience duplicated by that of a great many boys—he referred to the reading of adventure and detective stories and so on. He had no known what he was really missing in the way of pleasure in reading. His mother showed him a much better line of reading—better in every way—even more interesting for the boy. "Introduce your boys to Charles Dickens and authors like him," Rev. Mr. Millar advised, "and in the years to come your children will remember your wisdom with gratitude and affection, for out of such books they will get so much more of interest, as well as inspiration." In his closing words Mr. Millar's deep feeling and sincerity were so evident that the whole audience was greatly touched. So marked was his emotion that his voice began to falter but he recovered and concluded with an appeal that made the deepest impression on all. As he sat down again, there was a moment or two of silence and then the crowd of fathers and sons broke into round after round of applause. Mr. Moisiey, who had to clear his throat several times, then called on Master Herb Hutton, member for this riding in the Ontario Boys' Parliament to present Rev. Mr. Millar with a little token of appreciation from the boys. Herb Hutton stated that he was not a speech maker, but he ably touched on the work of the Tuxis and Trail Rangers, and asked Mr. Millar to accept the gift and to open the gold package before the gathering. Mr. Millar arose again, and displayed a gold watch chain with a pocket knife, and said he would wear it as long as he could, and if anything happened that he could wear it no longer, he would keep it in a place where he could always remember the boys. There was also a photo Mr. Moisiey had given him of the hockey team, and he would like every member of the team to autograph it on the back so that he would have special personal remembrance of each one of them. The gathering broke up after the singing of "O Canada." W. H. Wilson accompanied at the piano for the singing.

Cobalt Anglicans Want to Continue Separate

Cobalt, May 20.—(Special to The Advance)—Members of St. James' Anglican church here are not in favour of having the parish amalgamated with Halleybury parish, as had been suggested in a proposal said to have originated in the sister congregation. At a vestry meeting held here Monday night, a resolution was adopted unanimously to put members on record as favouring a continuance of the church here on the present basis as a mission field and the bishop of Algoma will be advised the congregation is prepared to carry on if a single man is appointed to succeed the rector, Rev. E. A. Irwin, who leaves Cobalt at the end of May for his new parish of Wainfleet, in Niagara diocese. Rev. Richard Haines, of Halleybury, who exchanged pulpits on Sunday with Rev. Mr. Irwin, was present for part of Monday's meeting. The question is slated for discussion at St. Paul's later this month.

Doesn't Think Much of Canada's Ways in Radio

The following is an editorial from The Northern Tribune, of Kapuskasing: "How was your radio on May 12th? Were you able to get good reception of the coronation proceedings from some American stations? The Canadian stations were poor, leading us once more to wonder why the C.B.C. has the colossal gall to charge a $2.00 annual license fee for something we don't get up North. "We tried the Canadian log several times, but it did not compare with the stations across the line, which were hooked up specially for the occasion. However, we caught one part from Toronto just where a band was concluding with "God Save the King," and this was immediately followed by a blast about somebody's belly-ache tablets! For goodness sake, have we got to put up with that kind of alleged supervision from the Canadian Radio Corporation, and like it, on Coronation Day of all times? "It is proposed to increase the power of a few Toronto and Montreal stations so that the North can have better reception. We still maintain that the C.B.C. is putting the cart before the horse in paying so much attention to programs liberally interlarded with utterly tiresome advertising blarney, instead of building across Canada a chain of powerful broadcast stations that will let people hear the best that is on the air from this continent and abroad. They are chary about its cost and they stall and dodge over it, deferring to commercial interests. We imagine the whole chain of stations would cost less than one naval unit, yet such a radio chain would be immensely more serviceable to the cause of imperial unity and world peace than the whole present or prospective Canadian navy. There is no blinking the fact that radio plays a vital part in avoiding wars as well as in prosecuting them. Call it propaganda if you will—even when it is altruistic and wholly peaceful in intent. Just listen to Berlin and Rome station broadcasts in English some time of you doubt the value put upon radio propaganda by the Nazi-Fascists. To counter such biased material as that, the British Empire ought to have a world-girdling radio service second to none; and Canada should play its part in that great chain by constructing a strong coast-to-coast chain."

Kapuskasing Board of Trade Banquet

Jos. A. Bradette, M.P., One of the Chief Speakers. (From Northern Tribune) The first annual dinner of the Kapuskasing and District Board of Trade held at the Inn on Wednesday night, was in every way a success. The dining room, tastefully decorated with red carnations on the tables, was filled with merry diners, many of whom were ladies. Seated at the head table with Mayor Noble, who acted as toastmaster and chairman, were Mr. Joseph Bradette, M.P., Mr. J. A. Habel, M.L.A., and wife, Supt. Atkinson of Cochrane and daughter, Rev. Father Chabot, President Davis and executives of the Board of Trade and their ladies, Mrs. Noble, members of the town council, and members of the coronation celebration committee. Messrs Bradette and Atkinson had motored up from Cochrane after taking part in the afternoon celebration there. After a fine banquet had been served and the toast to the new sovereigns enthusiastically honoured with a toast and the national anthem, Mayor Noble briefly eulogized the useful work that had been done recently by the Board of Trade, and spoke of it as a necessary local institution. The town council had been glad to have the board's co-operation in a number of matters, and that co-operation had been most effective. He thought the annual "get-together" banquet an excellent idea. The banqueters were favoured with piano selections of high merit throughout the evening by Miss Myrtle McGrath, Miss Germaine Hamel and Mr. John Outram. Miss Hamel's pupils introduced a novelty number. Mr. H. J. Svetman on behalf of the board presented Messdames Noble, Davis and Habel with bouquets of roses, paying tribute to the gentler sex. President Davis gave a thumb-nail sketch of the activities of the board recently, emphasizing that without the help of the town council and the backing of the citizens in general the results would have been less noteworthy. The Board of Trade here was a truly representative body, working unselfishly to promote the interests of the town, the district, and the North. A still larger membership would fortify the board in its future work. He was happy to see so many attend this first annual dinner, and thought it might become a fixture. Mr. Joseph Bradette, the federal member, expressed his pleasure in being able to attend this pleasant function. He complimented the board on its pushfulness, and said the right thing to do was to keep agitating. He had been glad to do what he could to assist the board's projects as they came before him at Ottawa, and he, too, extracted pleasure from the fact that a fair degree of success had attended their presentations. Mr. Bradette then spoke of the great significance of the coronation proceedings in London that day, which so strikingly testified to the unity of the British empire today. His own race borne in Canada, made no reservations in this loyalty to the crown, recognizing in it a sure guarantee of civil and religious liberties. When the many diversities of race, tongue and creed throughout the empire were considered, it was a phenomenon that the great British commonwealth of nations held and endured so well. Democracy was a cherished ideal wherever the British flag waved, and all these varied peoples were resolved to maintain their precious heritage. Mr. J. A. Habel followed, in English and French, with similar sentiments and then discussed the plans of the provincial government in the North. He was very glad that the repeated requests of the board for a bridge at Fauquier had at length borne fruit; tenders had been let for the bridge abutments, and the work would proceed to completion. He said the roads of the district would be put in good shape this year, including much work on settlers' roads. Bridge approaches would be straightened also. He asked his auditors to realize that there had to be taxes before there could be expenditures. The finances of Ontario had considerably improved, and there would be some easing of the tax burden; nevertheless, if people wanted certain projects carried out, the money had to come from the people. Mr. Habel's remarks about the prospective development of the district were listened to with much interest. Mayor Noble took the occasion to compliment C.N.R. Superintendent Atkinson for arranging the much improved train service to Kapuskasing, and this sentiment was heartily endorsed. Chairman W. Brubacher of the entertainment committee was complimented for the excellence of the banquet arrangements. Sault Ste. Marie Star:—New idea at Ottawa: Stop the export of nickel and copper from Canada and there would be no war. There used to be another one: That nations would not fight because it wouldn't pay even if they could get the money. And before that a Russian professor proved that there never would be another war because it was impossible for men to advance against machine guns. Ottawa should know by this time that theories seem to blow up when men want to fight.

Pains All Over His Body Kruschen Made Him Feel a New Man

Read the experience of this man who had rheumatism so badly that at times he was prevented from working. "About 10 months ago," he writes, "I suffered terribly with rheumatism and neuritis. The pains were all over my body and some days I could not even get up from bed to go to work. A friend visited me and suggested that I should try Kruschen Salts. I did so, the result being that the pains seemed to gradually disappear. I have been going to work ever since without a break, thanks to Kruschen Salts, and I feel a new man."—A.R. Rheumatic conditions are frequently the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolved acid from the system.
