Technicolor Coronation Pictures to be Shown Here

On Monday and Tuesday, June 7th and 8th, there will be special Technicolor Coronation pictures shown at both the Palace and the Goldfields. These remarkable pictures will also be shown at the midnight show on Sunday night.

The Coronation was admitted to be one of the greatest and most impressive spectacles in the history of civilization. The richness of the costumes, the pageantry of the immense procession—these and the other outstanding features of the event could only be given their full value by the use of colour. These Technicolor films are said to make a picture of the great occasion that will thrill and delight all. Never has there been more general interest in an event than is still being evidenced in the recent Coronation, so it may be expected that there will be full houses at both theatres for the special Technicolor Coronation pictures at the midnight show Sunday and on Monday and Tuesday, June 7th and 8th.

Huntingdon Gleaser—A railway worker at Bjelovar, Yugoslavia, may inherit most of the $3,000,000 fortune left by his brother, who has died in New York. Mirka Arvoja by name, he was asked what he will do when he gets the money. "I shall go on working on the railway," Mirka replied. "I like the work. Besides, I get $25 a month, and I should not like to lose the pension of $15 a month for which I have already worked 27 years."

Jury Gives Verdict in Death of G. Farr

Find Death Due to Over-drinking and Exposure.

Following a deliberation of only twenty minutes, an inquest jury, impanelled by Coroner H. E. Montgomery, decided that Guy Farr, aged 34, who died in St. Mary's hospital in the early morning of May 13th, had come to his death as a result of over-drinking and exposure.

Dr. J. W. A. Greig, who performed the post-mortem on the body shortly after death, said that he had detected an odour in the blood. He took samples of Farr's blood and urine and sent them to Dr. Frankish, provincial pathologist, for purposes of analysis.

Dr. Greig read Dr. Frankish's report of the analysis. 3-10 c.c.'s of alcohol were found in every 1000 c.c.'s of blood. 6.72 c.c.'s of alcohol were found in every 1000 c.c.'s of urine. Dr. Frankish advised in his report that Farr had died from alcoholism. Dr. Greig said that although this was quite possible he believed that exposure might have been coupled with the alcoholism to cause the death.

Mrs. Anne Berinsky testified that she found Farr lying on the tracks near the Fesserton Mills. She said he was clenching his fists and frothing at the mouth. She ran to the house of a neighbour who summoned the police.

Constables Garipey and Thompson were called and they said they received the call at 5:50 a.m. on the morning of May 13th. They said that although he was unconscious, they believed him to be alive because the body was very limp. They rushed him to St. Mary's hospital where he was examined by Dr. C. E. Irvine and pronounced dead.

People who accompanied Farr on the eve of his death testified that he had taken eight pints of beer at one hotel in town and then had left to go to a house on Cameron street. Some of the party left at this point, but the rest accompanied him to the house, where he is said to have taken another three pints of beer. Farr left this house early in the morning and that was the last he was seen until Mrs. Berinsky found him on the tracks.

The jury was composed of: Foreman W. Rinn, John Dalton, H. Herman, I. K. Pierce, A. DesRoche, A. G. Carson and C. Desaulniers.

What the Speed Fiend Says as he Speeds Along the Road

(From The Kiwants Magazine)

On with the dance! Step on it; we are late! Hello, there are a couple of cars that have run into each other head on! Hurry past! There are dead and wounded people lying there on the grass. We might have to go to court as witnesses, or carry some of them to a hospital! Shoot the gas to her. You can pass that truck before we get to the top of the hill. Hurry! Gosh, you almost hit that old lady! Why do people allow women as old as that to get out on the highway? They are all hem-minded. We might have hurt her. There is a hole you can break through in that line of traffic. Give her the gun, Gee, that was close! Did you hear that fellow swear? We didn't hit him. What's he got to complain about? Blow that horn and make that guy get over where he belongs! Why, the fool won't give us the right of way! He can't be going more than forty-five. How can he expect to stay on the pavement at that pace? Hit her up around the right side there! Boy that scared him! Maybe that will teach him to keep over where he belongs! I thought for a minute we were going to turn turtle. Look, there is another accident! That car is on its top with its wheels in the air! Looks like a bug on its back, doesn't it? There was blood on the grass. Some one must have been badly hurt. Crazy fools, they don't know how to drive, yet they get right out into traffic. Watch that woman! She is driving all over the road! Run up alongside her and give her a blast on the horn! Whew! Didn't her fender nick ours when she swerved? I believe it did. Thank heaven she didn't lock fenders with us. It might have caused an accident. I hate women drivers. Cut around that fellow. Never mind the curve. There isn't anything coming. Crash!

Where am I? What has happened to me, doctor? My leg has been taken off? My God!

Provincial Officer had Fight with Wolf

Constable Stromberg has Adventure with One of the Sault Pets.

Temagami, June 3—(Special to The Advance)—A story of having chased, overtaken and partly run over a timber wolf on the main highway while proceeding to North Bay on official business Monday night was brought back here the next day by Provincial Constable R. O. Stromberg. The officer said that, while in the Wilson Lake section south of here about 9:45 p.m., the animal ran out from bush on the east side of the road and continued down the highway for about a hundred yards right in the light thrown from the head lamps of the large car he was driving. The wolf apparently slipped and turned a somersault as he put on power to catch it. Constable Stromberg said, but it had taken fright also at the lights of an approaching car and turned off the road again. Not, however, before the automobile was up to it and so close that one of the wheels apparently passed over its tail. The officer stopped the car and got out as the beast turned into the bush again, but although he could hear it among the trees he did not see it after it left the road, he said.

Milwaukee Journal—Minneapolis librarians find that children still read "The Last of the Mohicans." Young movie-goers, perhaps, trying to detect the author in an error.
