Juvenile Fish and Game Association Organized

Open to Boys as Well as Girls. To Feature Conservation of Wild Life. Association to Be in Three Divisions. Field Day Planned. Interesting Contests to Be Featured. Hope to Have Famous Fisherman Visit Here

It was definitely decided to proceed with the formation of a juvenile organization to affiliate with the Porcupine Fish and Game Protective Association at a meeting held in the Daffodil Tea Room in Schumacher Thursday night.

The membership fee in this new organization was set at twenty-five cents and it is open to girls as well as boys between the ages of 12 to 18 years. All members of the juvenile club will be supplied with a club button.

The juveniles will be given instruction in the conservation of wild life the use of rods, guns, compasses, and, in fact, everything that an outdoor boy or girl should understand.

The juvenile club will be organized in three separate divisions, one in Timmins, one in Schumacher and the third in South Porcupine.

It was decided that members of the senior organization would contact the principals of the various schools in the district and solicit their support in the project.

Three committees were appointed to contact the schools:—Cliff Brooks and Frank Evans will look after the South Porcupine division; W. J. Hannigan and C. W. McDonald will contact the Schumacher schools, and Fred Ooman, Jack Brady and C. A. Remus will be responsible for the Timmins division.

The teachers will be asked to inform the pupils of the new organization and instruct them in the manner in which they may enroll. Members of the senior club are willing to go to any school at any time and lecture the pupils on the work to be undertaken by the club.

Later in the summer a combined field day for both senior and juvenile clubs will be held. At that time prizes will be given to the winners of the fly-casting contests and other events which will be sponsored for both clubs.

James R. Todd, president of the senior organization, stated that he would give one fly rod and reel to the juvenile who caught the largest trout on a fly this summer. He will also give one complete bait rod and reel to the juvenile who catches the largest pickerel this summer. In order to compete in this contest, one must be an authorized member of the club, and the Boys to Have Happy Time at Kiwanis Boys' Camp

Camp to Be Ready for Opening by July 6th. Charles Joliffe, of Toronto, to Be Camp Director This Year. Some Particulars About the Success of the Camp Last Year.

Preparations are now in full swing for the opening of the Kiwanis Boys' Camp at Barber's Bay. Last year the camp opened on July 6th, and the committee in charge of the boys' work report that it will be ready by the same time this year.

Last year the camp was started from scratch and practically hewn from the "virgin forest." Heavy tree-stumps and dense underbrush were cleared away and sleeping cabins erected for the boys. Three of these sleeping cabins were built, each accommodating ten boys who slept on double steel bunks.

The boys attended camp last year in four groups. In all seventy-five boys had the opportunity to enjoy the hospitality of the Kiwanians. These boys took their turn at helping the cook. They carried water and milk and picked wild berries for dessert at their meals.

Camp activities are carried on in accordance with a strict schedule. The boys rise at an early hour in the morning and "lights out" is sounded quite early at night, in order that the boys may derive all possible hours in the sun and yet secure their necessary rest.

One day each week the boys are taken to another lake which is two or three miles distant from the camp and there they are instructed in swimming, and diving, and would-be fishermen are taught some of the finer points of the art. Swimming, football, baseball, softball, horseshoe, pitching, boxing and all indoor sports are included in the regular activities of the camp. Following each meal the boys carefully wash their own dishes, and are held responsible for their own cabins.

Last year the regular picnic of the Kiwanis Club was held at the boys' camp. Each member was instructed to take an individual set of blue enamelware dishes. At the completion of the picnic these dishes were left behind so that this year's campers will not have to worry about dishes.

Last year fifteen boys learned to swim under the direction of experienced instructors who were picked from the older members of the camp. The boys at last year's camp showed their appreciation of the generosity of the Kiwanians by adhering strictly to the camp rules and obeying the wishes of their leaders. Only two articles were reported missing during the entire season.

A large building measuring 22x50 feet was erected last year. This building is used as a dining hall and as a pavilion for rainy days. An ice-house was also built last year and during the winter it has been filled with ice for the use of this year's campers.

The Kiwanis Club has acquired the services of Charles Joliffe of Toronto as camp director for this year. Mr. Joliffe was assistant-director at the Bolton Fresh Air Camp for a number of years and has considerable experience in other forms of boys' work. The Bolton camp is sponsored by some of the foremost charitable institutions in Toronto and is recognized as one of the best of its kind in the world. From this selection it can easily be seen that the Kiwanians are sparing neither effort nor money to make their camp one of which the district may well be proud.

This year's camp is being laid out under the direction of Mr. Joliffe and his recommendations are being carried out in full. Two new cabins are being built, trails are being cut, a council ring has been formed and the sports field is being surveyed. It is expected that at least 150 boys will be accommodated this year.

A. F. McDowell, chairman of the boys' work committee, reported on the work being carried on by his committee. He said that during the past month circulars have been sent out to all institutions interested in boys' work. The T.P.A.A.A. all public and separate schools, churches, the Children's Aid Society and all other organizations have been asked to furnish the Kiwanis Club with a list of boys who, in their belief, are worthy of a two weeks' stay at the camp. Replies have been received from a few of these organizations but the time is getting short and the committee desire that all these lists be in not later than the week ending June 12th.

SEARCH ALMOST FINISHED FOR NEW TIBETAN DALAI LAMA

Since the death of the last supreme ruler of Tibet in December of 1933, a search has gone forward for the infant supposed to possess the reborn spirit of the former Dalai Lama. (According to Tibetan religion, a Dalai lama never dies but is reincarnated in new form when his spirit leaves the old body.) News from this strange tradition-bound country on the "roof of the world" intimates that the Dalai Lama is expected to be chosen almost any day now. The failure of the priests to agree on one of the several "candidates" which have been brought forth has postponed selection of a new Dalai lama for some three years, but it is now understood that a child from the province of Am-do has been selected as having the qualifications required for the Tibetan religion. If chosen he will live at the famous monastery at Lhasa.

South African Veterans Hold Happy Time Here

Survivors in the North of Noted War Hold Reunion at the Legion Hall. Addresses by General Swift, A. C. Brown and Others. Musical and Literary Programme.

The annual reunion of the South African veterans was held in the Legion hall on Saturday evening. It is doubtful if the hall was ever graced with as many high officers of the army before. There were among the gathering, a general, two colonels, several majors, captains and lieutenants, and then the rank and file. About 40 South African veterans of the North were in attendance.

At 6:30 p.m., led by the Porcupine District Pipe Band and supported by only 38 legionnaires the "Old-Timers" marched to the cenotaph, where Gen. A. E. Swift, D.S.O., of Kirkland Lake placed a beautiful wreath in memory of Comrades Gone Before.

Returning to the hall, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion had a bountiful hot supper ready. The tables were very tastefully arranged and marsh marigold a lovely wild flower of the North, were much in evidence. The "Beef Steak and Kidney Pie" was the highlight of the dinner and the words of praise showed how the ladies had pleased the taste of all. A. C. Brown, president and chairman spoke for all when he congratulated the ladies on such a splendid dinner.

The toast to the King was responded to in fitting musical manner.

A lovely bouquet of flowers was on the head table with the compliments of the Northern Flowers. In expressing his thanks President A. C. Brown presented this bouquet along with another small gift to Mrs. Price president of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Mr. P. Lacroix gave his usual generous donation which was much appreciated.

Gen. A. E. Swift, in his address, said he and his comrades from Kirkland Lake always liked to visit Timmins, and if the Legion invite them next year, of course they will come once more.

A. C. Brown told how he found out the South African war was all over. He thanked the Legion members for assisting in making the evening such a success.

Mayor Bartleman, offered the visitors the freedom of the town in a brief and happy speech.

Among others who spoke were Austin Neame, Col. Allie, John Mackay.

A programme of music and songs planned by F. Curtis and T. Parsons made a fitting end to the event. Vocal solos were rendered by Mr. Johnston, Percy Harris, Ron Jones, George Starling Sr., Paddy Rowe and others. Les Mackey, told Habitant stories much to the amusement of all. A. Pearce, tin whistle solos and Victor Drega, piano accordion selections, the latter made his usual hit. W. A. Devine acted as the pianist. Community singing filled in the open spots of the programme.

At the close of this programme the South African veterans assembled for their annual meeting.

Another Double Drowning

Body of Anthony Perreault Found Floating on Night Hawk Lake.

The body of Anthony Perreault, employee of the Ryan Diamond Drill Company, was found floating on Night Hawk Lake late Saturday afternoon. Perreault was wearing a life-preserver but it was not fastened correctly and authorities believe that Perreault had become exhausted in the cold water and had drowned. Company officials state that if the preserver had been worn correctly, it would have kept the man's head out of the water.

Perreault along with John Strom, a fellow-employee, had been working on the west side of the lake and had set out on Thursday night to cross the six miles of choppy waves. They are known to have been towing a pointer behind their large motorboat which was loaded with heavy drilling supplies.

When they did not arrive at the opposite side of the lake, company officials notified the provincial police. Officers White and Strickland searched the lake, and Mr. Ryan chartered an aeroplane and attempted to locate the bodies from this. Saturday morning the pointer was found near the shore but there no sign of the motorboat or the men. It is thought that the load was too heavy and the pointer was cut loose.

Later in the afternoon A. Anderson and Hugh McEachern discovered the body of Perreault floating on the water, but so far, neither Strom nor the motorboat have been found.

The Provincial Police and company officials are continuing dragging operations but as it is not known where the boat was swamped, this is proving a very difficult task.

This is the second double-drowning casualty within one week.

On account of the small attendance the annual meeting of the Timmins Board of Trade, called for Thursday evening last, did not conclude all its business, the matter of the election of officers for the ensuing year being left over to another meeting to be called by the executive.

The chief business dealt with on Thursday evening was the report of President W. O. Langdon. This report was of much interest and value and showed the efforts of the Board of Trade for the benefit of the town.

The meeting was called for 8 p.m., and was called to order at 8:30 p.m.

The attendance was very small—worse than usual, indeed. The president commented on the small attendance, and pointed out that ample notice had been given in the local newspapers.

Those who were present for the meeting were: W. O. Langdon, S. Bucovetsky and F. A. Burt; and Messrs. McDowell, Cohen and Doyle—in all eight persons.

The report given by the president was an interesting and comprehensive one. As pointed out by the president, the Board had been active during the past year and had accomplished much for the advantage of the town.

Among the matters in which the Timmins Board of Trade had been actively interested during the year, Mr. Langdon referred to the following:—

1. Necessary improvements to the Ferguson Highway and particularly the need for and wisdom of constructing a 30-foot cement road from Timmins to Pamour. That the approaches to the government had been favourably received and further that the government had promised such road construction throughout the North as would be satisfactory to all those reasonably minded. Further, that this Board of Trade had never lost sight of the necessity for the Ferguson Highway forming a link or part of the Trans-Canada Highway. In this connection it was pointed out that the route of the Trans-Canada airway was west to North Bay, thence north along the Ferguson Highway to Kapuskasing and from there west.

The Child's Health Conference will be held in the basement of the public school at Schumacher on Friday afternoon, June 11th, from 3 to 5 p.m. All mothers and their babies are invited to attend.

The third annual dance recital and children's dress ball by the pupils of Miss Margaret Easton, presented on Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon in the Masonic hall, was a decided success. With colourful costumes and evident ease and grace, the performers danced their way into the hearts of their large audience.

In introducing the recital, the first evening, G. A. Macdonald referred to the success of the previous two annual recitals, and the assurance thus given of the excellence of the present year's event. He said that the successes were based on the undoubted talent and charm of the pupils, the skill and infinite patience of Miss Easton, and the kindly interest and co-operation of the parents. He thanked the members of the District Pipe Band for their assistance in providing "heavenly" music for the Scottish dances.

The first number on the programme was the "Highland Fling," presented by a group of young ladies dressed in the traditional Scottish costume. The music was supplied by Pipe-Sergeant O'Neill on Thursday, and Piper Finlayson on Friday. The dancers were Kay MacMillan, Francis Watt, Jane McIsley, Jessie Scullion, Elsie Yates, Barbara Honey, Gwendolyn Robb, Lalia Webber, Rosamond Rinn, Betty Rinn, Arlie McCharles, Betty Simpson, Jean Shields, Marjory McChesney, and these graceful young ladies gave an effective presentation of this classic dance.

The twins, Kathleen and Gwendolyn Lake, locking very sweet in red polka dot dresses, white embroidered aprons, large bows at the waist and red kerchiefs tied around their heads, solemnly danced their way into the favour of the audience in the "Piklaniny Prance." Looking as much alike as two peas, the young ladies were a great attraction with their bobbing curls and sparkling eyes.
