Recalling the Days When Ice Cream was a Luxury

Once it was a Treat for Holidays, Sundays and Birthday Celebrations. Compared to the Ice-Cream of Yesterday Think of All the Combinations Available To-day in Ice-Cream.

Ice-cream when I was a little girl, was a treat which was reserved for Sundays, holidays, birthday celebrations and other parties. Each time it appeared on the table my father would tell me this was the reason that we often bought this ice-cream and took it home with us in paper buckets of the day and served it half-melted at home. On Sundays, however, it was delivered packed in salt and ice.

In general, the quality of the "bought" ice-cream was not nearly so good as it is to-day when we can buy it at all drug stores and confectioners, packed often in dry ice. There are innumerable flavours, some of them modern inventions. Buttered pecan ice-cream for instance, is beginning to rival the ever popular vanilla and chocolate, which have always been standbys. Caramel, coffee, pistachio, peach and even lemon ice-cream as well as burnt almond and bisque, are curs for the choosing.

The combination of ice-cream with a sauce of contrasting flavour is of comparatively modern invention. In drug store circles this is known as a sundae, and there have been a number of stories as to the origin of the name. The most plausible one relates that an ingenious clerk on a summer Sunday when the charging apparatus at the fountain was out of order, poured the syrup used for sodas over ice-cream. In any case, the so-called sundae rivals the soda in popularity. This idea was adapted for home use. Crushed fruit, preserved ginger and other fruits, maraschino cherries and their syrup, mixed fruits known as utti frutti, butterscotch and chocolate sauces have all found a use in glorifying the standard vanilla ice-cream. Salted nuts are often added to the two latter sauces. Melted marshmallows, flavoured with mint, make a good sauce for chocolate as well as for vanilla ice-cream. Hot maple syrup and honey or a plain syrup also combine well with pecans, walnuts, pistachio, nuts, toasted almonds and Brazil nuts. Toasted coconut without a sauce gives a final touch to ice-cream of any flavour.

More elaborate desserts are made by combining small meringues or cream puffs with ice-cream of any flavour, or by putting a layer of ice-cream between slices of cake and dressing this with a sauce. And then there is baked Alaska, which has the reputation of being a difficult dessert to make but which really can be prepared easily in every kitchen.

Just one more suggestion, and perhaps the best of all. Nothing is better than a combination of branded fruits for ice-cream. You must begin very shortly if you wish to have it ready for use next fall. As the fruits come into season, they are put with sugar and brandy into a covered crock, where each one does its part in the development of the perfect sauce.

Maple Sugar Sauce

1 1/2 cups maple sugar
1/2 cup cream
1 tablespoon butter
Stir sugar and cream together over a low fire until sugar is dissolved. Cook three minutes. Remove from fire. Add butter and beat until sauce begins to thicken.

Maraschino Sauce
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup boiling water
1/4 cup maraschino cherries, cut in halves.
1/2 cup maraschino syrup
2 tablespoons butter
Mix sugar and cornstarch and add gradually to the boiling water, stirring constantly. Boil five minutes, and add cherries, syrup and butter.

Branded Fruit
Put one pint of brandy in a stone jar and add the various fruits as they come into market. To each quart of fruit, add an equal amount of sugar, cover and stir the mixture each morning until all the fruit has been added. Raspberries, strawberries, apricots, peaches, cherries and pineapple are the best fruits to use.

Orange Sauce
Grated rind of 1/2 lemon
Juice of 1/2 lemon
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
Salt
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix grated rind, fruit juices, salt and egg yolks, beaten slightly. Stir over hot water until the mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add the beaten egg whites gradually, beating constantly. Cool and add vanilla.

Pineapple Mint Sauce
1 cup crushed pineapple
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
Green colouring
6 drops oil of peppermint
Stimmer pineapple sugar and water ten minutes. Cool, colour and add peppermint. Chill before serving.

Ginger Sauce
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
3 tablespoons chopped crystallized ginger
Cook sugar, water and ginger ten minutes. Cool and serve.

Melba Sauce
1/2 cup currant jelly
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup pulp and juice of raspberries
1/2 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
Add jelly and sugar to raspberries, and bring mixture to the boiling point. Mix cornstarch with cold water and stir into raspberry mixture. Stir over medium fire until the mixture is thick and clear. Strain and cool.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By ELSIE PIERCE
FAMOUS BEAUTY EXPERT

CLAUDETTE COLBERT'S extraordinary personality is very definite. Her beauty centers around her eyes which are highlighted with eye-shadow and mascara.

"Flawless Beauty doesn't Click in Hollywood" Says Paramount Make-up Expert.

We find ourselves quoting Wally Westmore's advice quite frequently in this column. Not only because he is regarded as an ace make-up specialist, but because his advice is so sound, but because it is usually so encouraging to the average woman. And, after all, it is the average woman who is nearest this column's heart.

According to this make-up specialist a ravishing beauty has little or no chance of being a motion picture star. "The woman with perfect features, with what is called flawless beauty, doesn't click in Hollywood."

Which should please us, even if we are not on a movie contract, because Hollywood's standards should certainly be good enough for us.

"Actresses have selling points—things about them which stand out and make you remember them."

A face that is interesting, a personality that is charming makes for a more compelling beauty than merely perfect features.

Westmore points out that Claudette Colbert sells herself as a beauty through her large and beautiful eyes, with their long, naturally curled lashes, beautiful brows and depth of expression.

The rest of her face is not extraordinarily beautiful... and does not need to be. She does the rest of the excellent job through personality.

Point Up Your "Selling Points"
Much as we have emphasized that perfection of features is not the all-important or the foremost requisite of modern beauty, I don't think we have quite convinced the average woman. Because if more women were convinced, more women would be encouraged to point up their "selling points"... to enhance their best features and then develop their charm, cultivate their personality so that they would compel interest and admiration, and "be remembered"—in a favourable way, of course.

Very often for the sake of interest, screen stars emphasize their worst feature, and so cleverly that it becomes the outstanding and beautiful feature, the thing we remember about them.

Analyze yourself, take an inventory of your good points and start the "pointing up" job. To my mind the two basic steps to beauty are "HEALTH and GOOD GROOMING" not necessarily perfection of facial features.

Successful Tag Day At South Porcupine

Institute for Blind Exceed Last Year's Results. Other South Porcupine and Dome News

South Porcupine, Ont., June 12, 1937. (Special to The Advance)—The members of the Finnish Lutheran Church held a bazaar and tea in the Parish hall on Friday afternoon. The handwork and embroidery shown for sale was of excellent workmanship and the coffee bread was all sold immediately. We hope the financial result was satisfactory. This little band of loyal Finns has lost Mr. Kuitonen who was their pastor. He left for Winnipeg a week or so ago, and they are keeping up their work and services on Sunday afternoons in the Anglican Church, until the appointment of another minister.

Miss Dorothy Farrell, who is to marry Mr. Cyril Pierce next Wednesday at 4 p.m. in St. Paul's Church, was the honoured guest at a surprise wedding shower at the home of Mrs. Ken Farrell on Wednesday evening. About twenty of her friends met at the house, and as Dorothy came in a bell full of confetti which was hung behind the door overturned, showering her with the contents. After a happy evening gifts, all in white and red enamel-ware for the furnishing of the kitchen of the bride-to-be, were brought in on a wagon by two little girls for the guest's acceptance. A very nice lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. Guance, of Cochrane, was visiting his sister, Mrs. A. Lyman, of Strachan avenue, this week and left with Mrs. Guance (who was visiting) for Cochrane to-day.

Mrs. Charles Gihau, of Rouyn, and son Jack, were visiting this week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hurley.

Mrs. Scott and son Douglas, of Copper Cliff, are visiting at the home of Mrs. T. Farrell.

Mr. Cyril Waters left on Saturday for three months' vacation at his home in Norwood and points south.

The Ladies' Guild, recently formed by the Consumers' Co-operative Association in town, met at Mrs. H. Rogers' home on Strachan avenue on Wednesday night. Knitting and tating were done, and more suggestions for future work are going to be brought up at the next meeting which will be held at the Masonic Hall on Wednesday, June 16. New members are specially requested to attend.

Thursday was tag day for the Blind here. Mrs. J. Armstrong was convener of the organization for this end, and the result of the tagging was most satisfactory. Girl Guides E. Dogie, B. Cummings, T. Miner, D. Deacon, V. Bessette and I. Repsy, led by Captain Bessette of the Rangers, did excellent work in the afternoon, and Scouts Evans, Walker, Pearce, Burton and Fera were on the job as well. A larger sum than that collected last year was placed in the bank to the credit of the organization for the Blind.

Mr. Lightbody, of the Dome, arrived home from England on Wednesday.

Owing to the absence of Dr. Fraser at the conference of the United Church in Toronto, services at the United Church to-morrow will be held by Messrs. Higginbottom and Vacher.

The local ladies who attended the Diocesan Convention of the W.A. at Iroquois Falls, returned on Thursday. Thirty-five delegates were present from the different centres—Cochrane, Monteith, South Porcupine, Iroquois Falls, Kapuskasing, Watabeg, Corrie Centre and Porquis Junction—and two days' session were held in the parish hall.

Mrs. Blackburn of Monteith was elected us the story about the fawn lad who came to the big city of one thousand inhabitants and tasted ice-cream for the first time. He took a huge mouthful and the resulting effect made him think that a practical joke was being played upon him. He was with difficulty restrained from beating up his host! To-day it would be hard to find anyone who had not been introduced to ice-cream early in life.

While ice-cream was often made at home in my childhood, a special treat was a visit to an ice-cream parlour, where for some unknown reason the tables were always marble tops and as cold as the cream itself. There was always a cold, dank feeling in the dark rooms even on the warmest day. Per-

Funeral Last Week of Late James Mowat

Old-Time Hudson Bay Factor was Father of Mrs. Fidler, Timmins.

The funeral took place on Thursday last of James Mowat, old-time Hudson Bay factor, and father of Mrs. Fidler of Timmins. The late Mr. Mowat was widely known and highly esteemed in the Montreal River area where he had lived for a great many years. The funeral service was held at the family home on the Montreal river farm where the late Mr. Mowat resided, and interment was made in the family cemetery on the farm. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. S. Weaver, pastor of Haileybury Baptist Church, in the absence of Rev. W. A. Beecroft at the United Church conference. The large number of floral tributes expressed the regret at the death of Mr. Mowat, the high regard in which he was held, and the deep sympathy felt for those bereaved. After the death many old friends from Temagami and other sections of the North visited the home to express their sorrow at the death, while there were numerous floral tributes sent.

The late James Mowat was one of the real pioneers of the North Land. For sixty years he had been a well-known figure in the district, and he knew the North as few other men living to-day know it. Always friendly, always genial, and always ready to do his part, he enjoyed a wide measure of regard and esteem. His last days were spent quietly on his farm on the Montreal River at Mowat's Landing, where he settled in 1899 after serving 20 years with the Hudson's Bay Company. His death came after only one day's illness.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Fidler, of Timmins, and Miss Lizzie Mowat, at home; and by three sons, Charles and Joseph, at home; and Duncan, of Latchford.

The late James Mowat was born near Kirkwall, in the Orkney Islands, on Nov. 13th, 1855, and so was over 81 years of age at the time of death. In 1877 he came to Canada for the Hudson's Bay Company and was employed by that famous firm for over 21 years. For fourteen years he was factor at the Fort Matachewan trading post. In the 21 years he spent with the Company he travelled the waterways and trails of the wide territory in which he was employed and learned much indeed about the whole North Land. In 1899 he resigned from the service of the Company and settled on the farm at Mowat's Landing. His wife died last November, and since then he had not been in the best of health or spirits, though he was actually ill only a day or so before death came. He was around as usual on the Sunday previous to his death.

The bridesmaid, Miss Grace Harwood was attired in an all white afternoon ensemble, and also carried a bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The groom was attended by Mr. Bill Martin.

After the ceremony, close friends and relatives were entertained at the home of the groom's parents, 185 Elm street, north, and in the afternoon a wedding supper was served.

In the evening, the bride and groom

Impressed With Excellent Service of the Telephone

A Mexican Indian, who had never been away from the small town where he was born, set out to explore the wonders of Mexico City. He became intensely interested in the hotel's hot and cold running water, lighting arrangements, and elevator. All this was bewildering, but the idea of the telephone was inconceivable.

"Do you mean that I can get anything I want by talking into this thing? Could I even order a pair of shoes?" he demanded. Reassured by the bellboy, he lifted the receiver, and no sooner had he listened to the first words of the operator than he threw the telephone to the floor in terror. "Dios mio!" he cried. "Without my even saying I wanted a pair of shoes, her first question was 'Que numero?'"
