Differ as to Cause of Death in Accident

Doctors Not Agreed as to What Caused the Death of Mrs. Laura Dionne.

Temagami, June 17.—(Special to The Advance)—Doctors differed regarding the cause of death of a 110-pound mother of twelve children fatally injured when two automobiles crashed near the crest of a hill a half mile north of this village late last Saturday afternoon, and as a result of which tragedy separate enquiries were held here and in Halleybury before two district coroners this week. While Dr. Cyril H. McGowan, of Temagami, who attended the victim, asserted in signing the death certificate that a fractured skull had been fatal to Mrs. Laura Julien Dionne, 59-year-old woman from Saint George De Beauce, Quebec, Dr. J. H. L. Brennan, of the Misericordia hospital at Halleybury, who performed the post mortem, swore there were no signs of a fracture and he considered death to have been due to hemorrhages in the chest cavity induced by ruptured blood vessels.

Dr. Brennan testified to this effect both at Halleybury before Dr. W. C. Arnold and a jury, and also here before Dr. A. E. Ranney, of North Bay, who sat alone. He told both sittings that the autopsy had disclosed a contusion about the size of a 25-cent piece on the victim's chest and he considered the resultant hemorrhages severe enough to have caused death, although at Halleybury witness said he had not found any of the larger blood vessels ruptured. Dr. McGowan, who was called to attend Mrs. Dionne and who flew with her to Halleybury soon after the accident, told Coroner Ranney of a contusion on the woman's forehead and of a broken windshield in the husband's car, against which she had been thrown, and he said that in the absence of other physical symptoms he came to the conclusion Mrs. Dionne had sustained a fractured skull. She had been unconscious following the accident, opening her eyes briefly as she entered hospital and asking for a drink, but relapsing into a coma immediately.

Evidence given at the hearing in Temagami told of the accident which happened when Louis Karr, Winnipeg carpet salesman proceeding from New Liskeard to Sudbury, collided with Amadee Dionne, driving to Val d'Or to visit his son, Paul Dionne, merchant there. Each was accompanied by his wife.

Following the accident, Karr was arrested by Provincial Constable Braney on a charge of criminal negligence, on which he was released on $2500 cash bail to appear for preliminary hearing at North Bay on June 28. It is understood he will elect jury trial. Karr was represented at the proceedings here by Harry Reynolds, North Bay barrister.

Arrest in Toronto Horse Race "Fixing"

Charge of Conspiracy Laid Against Well-known Toronto Man.

(Yesterday's Globe and Mail) Manny Feder, 26 years old, well-known Toronto race-track character, was arrested last night by the Toronto police as the first definite move on the part of city and provincial authorities to quell the year-old race "fixing" alleged to have been practised by a betting ring at the expense of Canadian tracks.

Feder's arrest, which is said to be the forerunner of others, climaxed a week of concerted investigation by Inspector Charles Scott of the Toronto force and by Inspector Albert Ward of the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Provincial Police.

He was taken into custody by Patrol Sergeant McKinney of Dundas West (No. 2) Station as he stepped from a taxicab to proceed to his brother's home on Lawton avenue.

Removed to No. 2 station, he refused to make any statement, and was subsequently released on bail of $5000.

Dates Back a Year

The charge against him is one of conspiracy to defraud. Police allege that he bribed certain jockeys in connection with a race run at Thorncliffe track in June of 1936. This race was won by Deedie at a 3-to-1 pay-off. Investigations to date reveal, it is said, that this horse carried heavy betting, and that considerable of what is known as "comeback money" returned to the track to lower its winning price.

The warrant for Feder's arrest was authorized by Crown Attorney J. W.

McFadden after several consultations with officials of the Attorney-General's Department. The accused has retained E. J. Murphy, K.C. as counsel.

The racing investigation, considered one which would develop into the biggest turf story in years, was commenced by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations prior to the opening of the present season.

Eight jockeys were placed under suspension, five of them the day before the Ontario Jockey Club meeting at Woodbine Park opened on May 22 and three a week later.

I.C.R.A. officials refused to issue any statement as to the reasons for the suspensions, but unofficial information linked at least some of the license cancellations with the so-called jockeys' ring of last year. Incidents at several Canadian tracks were linked with the stories, and the name of at least one well-known man was prominently mentioned.

The eight jockeys were among the leading riders of last year, and failure of the I.C.R.A. to name a definite term for their suspensions or to release information as to the cases has had racing circles seething with gossip.

The racing group continued their investigations, and in the meantime police took up the case. After the last meeting of the I.C.R.A. last week, no information could be secured as to whether the cases of the jockeys had been discussed again.

Attorney-General Leduc ordered the inquiry into the alleged irregularities and deputed Clifford Magone to act.

of great importance to discriminating women

- With absence of fanfare, Shragge's are quietly preparing their new Salon for the hospitable reception of their patrons.
- When you visit us you will find the appointments pleasing and in good taste. Two floors will be given over to the display of distinctive apparel.
- It will interest you to know that the opening day will see only freshly unpacked ladies' wear, rushed from the style centres for this occasion.
- We are also carrying on at our old location, 12½ Pine Street South, for a short time until our stock there is sold so that not one garment will be moved to our new Salon. The fashion centre of course will be the Salon in the Empire Block, where we hope to see our old friends and make new ones.

You are invited to the opening, this Friday and Saturday, of

Seven Races Daily at Dufferin Park

About $36,000 in Purses Attracts Best Horses.

Everything is in readiness for the Dufferin Park running race meeting that gets under way at the Toronto half-mile track this Saturday, June 19 and incidentally closes down the spring season of racing in the Queen City for this season. Woodbine opened it, followed by Thorncliffe and the Long Branch session came to a conclusion Wednesday, June 16th.

There is no more popular track than Dufferin, situated as it is in the very heart of Toronto and easy of access from all over. This year there is no amusement tax and the admission of one dollar covers everything. There are seven races daily, with the first race getting under way at 2.30 p.m. In the neighbourhood of $36,000 is given away in purses during the meeting which explains why the best runners in these parts are being held over for this session. Of interest also is the fact that the minimum purse is no less than $700, the same as rules at Woodbine Park, Canada's leading mile track.

The Daily Double is again on the first and second races, and there is a new service that will be appreciated by betters in that the approximate odds on the first and second race are posted before the running of the initial event to give patrons an opportunity of figuring out what the double prices will be. This service was inaugurated at Long Branch and proved so popular that it will be continued at Dufferin Park and will probably be in use at Queen's Park, the Orpen-Hare track in London where an eleven-day meeting gets under way on Wednesday, July 21.

As at Long Branch, the saliva test will be in effect at Dufferin Park, every winner and any other horse selected by the Stewards or recommended by the track veterinarian being subject to a test of the saliva for traces of stimulants. This is the first time the saliva test is being used at Dufferin.

One dollar wagering of the combination variety will again be in effect, these wagers being a dollar for first and one for second; a dollar for first, one for second and another for third and a dollar for second and one for third, being known respectively as the "$2 combine," the "$3 combine" and the "Nought-one-one." There will be the regular $2 wagering and of course the Daily Double will be a two-dollar wager.

A feature of the Dufferin racing is the number of distance events, in some of the races the horses having to pass the grandstand three or four times, making for exciting sport. And there are quite a number of sprints, but even in the shortest of these the horses have to pass the grandstand at least twice.

Given favourable weather, Dufferin is expected to set new attendance and wagering records. It is interesting to note that this one-time despised half-mile track and a larger mutual handle last fall than any other track in Can-

Air Force Pilots Withdrawn from Civil Flying Service

Because all the available pilots of the Royal Canadian Air Force are required under the Dominion's enlarged programme of defense to train new recruits in the flying corps, commercial aviation companies are to be given the opportunity of taking over certain Federal Government services which the flying corps has hitherto been carrying out.

The flying corps pilots, it is learned, will permit from forestry patrol duties, from aerial photographic survey work, and from services co-operating with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The departments chiefly affected by the withdrawal are the Parks Department, the Department of Natural Resources, and the Justice Department. In these departments the statement is made, however, that the services from which the flying corps pilots are being withdrawn will not necessarily be discontinued. While some of them admittedly will be pruned, the bulk of them would be carried on by means of contracts entered into with private commercial aviation companies.

Miss Lucy Benard Honoured at Surprise "Shower" Party

Miss Lucy Benard, who became Mrs. J. Romain this morning, was honoured at a surprise shower at the home of Mrs. Garroway of Golden avenue, on Tuesday evening. Many friends were present to wish all future happiness to Lucy who has lived in Timmins all her life, and has a long list of friends. She was presented with a lovely array of miscellaneous china. The hostess, Mrs. Garroway, served a lovely lunch, and the evening was spent at games and other entertainment.
