

Court Does Not Approve of Too Much Free Liquor

Fishing Party Seemed to Use a Lot of Liquor. Case of Indecent Assault Dismissed. Some Jail Terms Given at Tuesday's Court. Large Number of Cases on Docket.

"It is just another method of advertising," commented Magistrate S. Atkinson in police court Tuesday afternoon, dismissing the charge against Irvine Young, that of keeping liquor for sale. Evidence was brought forward by the defence to the effect that although provincial police officers had caught several people on Young's premises drinking beer, it had not been paid for but had been given to the drinkers.

Lots to Drink
Provincial Constables Johnston and Strickland told the court of their search of the premises and the finding of a part bottle of whiskey and 140 pints of beer. The beer, they testified, was found in a cache below the floor of the house. Constable Johnston said that he had checked Young's beer purchases and found that he had bought 144 pints of beer on Friday, June 11th, and there were only 40 pints of this particular brand left when they raided the house on Sunday, June 13th.

Evidence also was brought forward to the effect that quite a number of beer caps were found in a receptacle in the adjoining refreshment booth. These, however, were not produced in court.

P. C. Strickland said that as he entered the house, Mrs. Young was in the act of emptying the contents of two beer bottles into a pail in the kitchen. Young was called to the stand and explained the large consumption of beer with the statement that he had entertained a fishing party over the week-end and that he had arranged a party for them. Members of the fishing party gave evidence in corroboration with Young's latter statement. One man said that he alone had drunk nine or ten bottles of beer.

Another defence witness testified that he had left a dance in Timmins and had gone to Young's home, arriving about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. He said that he had known Young for about five years. He, along with all other witnesses, swore that the beer had been given to them by Young.

Drinking Lots
Loretta Flanick was found guilty on a charge of drunkenness and was fined $50 and costs. She was convicted in February this year on a similar charge.

Constable Devine testified that he had arrested the woman at 4:45 Tuesday morning, after she had refused to pay the fare for a taxi in which she had been riding.

In the Bag—but Not "in the Bag"
Marcel Sequin was arraigned in court on a charge of having liquor in other than a private residence, but the charge was dismissed because of lack of evidence.

Constable Devine testified that he had stopped a taxi driven by Sequin as it came out of a lane between Kirby and First avenue and had discovered five bottles of whiskey in a club bag in the car. He said that he had seen a man come out of the rear of a house and put the bag in the car and this had made him suspicious. Constable Devine said that as he rushed to stop the car, the man who had put the bag in the car had rushed back into the house. It was then that he discovered the liquor in the back of the car and ordered Sequin to drive to the police station. On the way to the station, the constable testified that Sequin had admitted knowing what was in the bag and had told him where he was supposed to have taken it.

Sequin, in his evidence, said that he was employed by the Bluebird Taxi Company. He said that he misunderstood the officer when he was questioned on the night of the arrest, and swore that he did not know what was in the bag. He said that he had received a telephone call to go to the rear of 14½ Pine street south, and when he had arrived there he had been given a bag and told to take it to a Wilson street address. He contradicted the constable's story in saying that he had been apprehended several feet from the car, and no inside as Constable Devine had stated.

Magistrate Atkinson said that although there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction, he was not at all satisfied with the statements of the accused. He recommended that the local police suspend Sequin's taxi permit.

Shouldn't Allow Too Much Drinking
Morris Chartrand was fined $50 and costs or thirty days when he was guilty of a charge of permitting drunkenness on his premises.

Constable Johnston of the Provincial Police said that he had searched Chartrand's house and found four men drinking, two of whom were quite drunk.

Magistrate Atkinson ordered that the house be made public for one year.

Charge Lowered but Fine More
Mike Gentile, Mountjoy township, was found guilty of having liquor in a public place and fined $300 and costs or three months. The original charge in the case was keeping liquor for sale, but insufficient evidence necessitated the lowering of the charge.

Provincial Constables Johnston and Strickland told of entering Gentile's house and finding nine people present, two of whom were drinking beer at a table. Some of the people ran outside as they entered, the constables reported. Constable Johnston asked the accused if he had any beer and the latter produced 18 pints but he had a permit to cover the purchase. While searching the outside premises, the officers discovered another two cases of beer in a cabin to which the accused claimed ownership but he declared that he knew nothing of that find.

Thought It Was His Birthday
Gentile took the stand and said that as it was his birthday, he had called a few friends in and they were enjoying a bottle of beer when the officers walked in. He said that previously four other people had dropped into his adjoining refreshment booth and he said because they were good steady customers, he had also given them a bottle of beer.

Magistrate Atkinson ordered that the place be made public for one year.

Didn't Write Right
Earl Cameron was sentenced to do three months on each of two charges of forging, the sentences to run concurrently. The charges were made after Cameron had been discovered issuing worthless cheques.

A charge of receiving and holding stolen goods, which had been laid against George Leblanc was withdrawn. The charge followed alleged buying of an acetylene torch from the person who had previously stolen it from Mascioli's gravel pit.

Not Right to Fight
Nelson Holtman, Edward Newton and Joseph Cummings all appeared on (Continued on Page Three)

Nurses Graduation Dance Big Success

One of the Most Pleasing Social Events Held on Monday Evening.

About one hundred and forty couples were on hand to enjoy the Nurses' Graduation dance at the Badminton Club hall on Monday night. Al Pierini and his orchestra supplied pleasing music for the occasion, which was the greatest success of any nurses' dance for some years. Lovely summer evening gowns were worn by the ladies, the men being very handsome in summer flannels. The hall was decorated with large bouquets of flowers, making a fitting setting for the colourful gowns worn by the ladies.

Each of the graduating nurses, Misses Lydia H. Last, Bessie R. Bugera, Opal C. Shaw, Rita M. Thrasher, Jean M. Alton, Jewel D. Anderson, Minerva E. Watson, Kathleen D. Porter, and Elaine M. Fitzpatrick was presented with hypo set. The presentation was made by Dr. Robson and Miss Farr, on behalf of the R.N.A.O. The graduating nurses all wore white gowns with corsages of yellow roses.

A delicious lunch of sandwiches, cake, tea and coffee was served during the intermission, and the dance, which lasted into the "wee hours" of the morning was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Department Ready to Buy Young Bears

Game and Fisheries Branch Will Pay $15 Each.

The Department of Game and Fisheries wishes to advise any one concerned that they will buy young bears which were born this spring. The female species are especially desired but all will be purchased at the rate of $15 each.

Anyone having any of these animals which they wish to sell should get in touch with Phil Boudreau, game warden.

Public May Inspect Lions Model Home Monday

Barney Sky Builder Doubts if Model Home Could be Duplicated in Timmins for $8,000. Building Modern in Every Detail. Tickets Still on Sale.

Townpeople and visitors will be able to see the completed interior of the Lions model home on and after Monday, it was learned to-day from those in charge of construction. Many have visited the site but have not been permitted inside because the builders are still busily putting on the finishing touches. "The way things are going now, it will be ready for visitors on Monday," said Barney Sky, builder. "Due to improvements in interior design made within the past few weeks, I am sure that the house could not be duplicated in Timmins for less than $8,000," and that estimate doesn't include the lot which is also being given away by the Lions Club to the holder of the winning ticket.

Everything has been included to make the model home a true model of the best in design and accommodation possible in Canada. So far as electric wiring is concerned, the plan is said to be the ultimate. Even automatic clothes closet lighting is provided. The atmosphere of the home will be just as pleasant as modern heating and air conditioning can make it. The newest "split unit" hot water heating, with concealed radiators, is being installed. Heating bills will be low, for the house is completely insulated.

Interior decoration includes crystalline ceilings, attractive and efficient. The two large concrete terraces, front and rear, will be pleasant features for spring, summer and fall. A heated, attached garage will give the automobile all the comforts of home.

Draw tickets are still being sold by members of the Lions Club, many local merchants and at two out-of-doors stands, one in front of the post office and the other one at Molsley and Ball's. The draw will be made by Mayor J. P. Bartleman at midnight, July 1st, in the ball park.

Try The Advance Want Advertisements

Famous Kazoo Band Here Again July 1st

Lancashire Lads who Made Such a Big Hit Ten Years Ago to Celebrate Old Home Week.

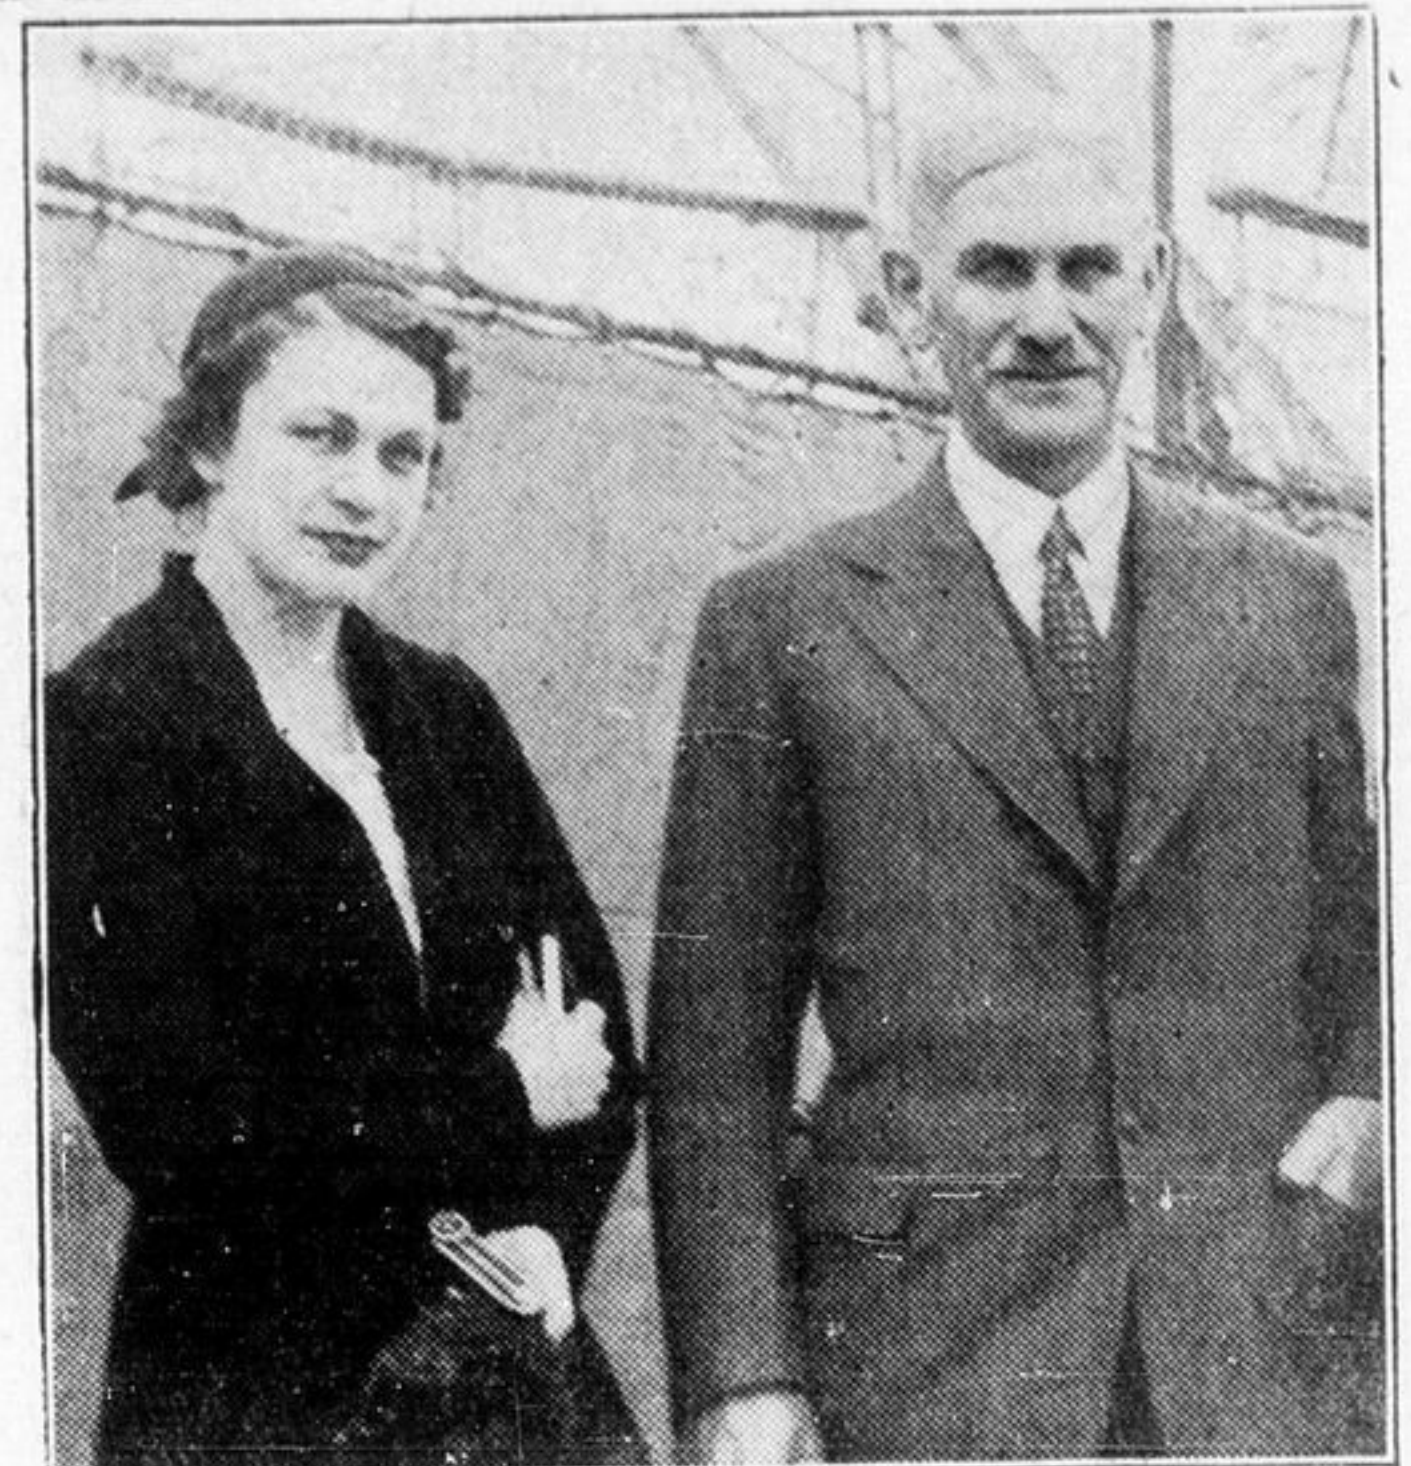

There will be general interest to "Old-Timers" in the information received this week that after an absence of ten years the "Noted Kazoo Band" of Lancashire and other parts, will again make a personal appearance in Timmins.

The bandsmen have been kept in constant training since they made their first appearance here on July 1st, 1927. Walter Wilkinson, its famous leader, states that "the membership has grown with age and the 'Kazoo' are becoming more and more mellow in tone." The resplendent uniforms have naturally become a bit torn and tattered but the lads will be out in full regalia on Dominion Day, July 1st, 1937.

Wishing to enter into the spirit of Old Home Week, W. Wilkinson secured the support of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, the Lancashire Social Club and the Timmins Cricket Club, to sponsor the appearance of this bunch of bandsmen (or what you like). They made a great hit here in 1927, the work of the conductor being a feature, and there is not the slightest doubt that next Thursday the "Lancs' Kazoo Band" will be one of the funniest hits of the big parade.

The Sudbury Star—Radio and airplane are immensely important factors in war, and in peace they are no less so. Instances of their valuable aid in saving human life have been frequent of late years in Northern Ontario. The air messages of mercy have been employed to good advantage.

ONTARIO CABINET MINISTER RETURNS

Withholding any comment on Ontario politics, the Hon. Peter Heenan, Provincial Minister of Lands and Forests, returned to Canada on the Empress of Britain after several weeks' absence in England. With Mr. Heenan is his daughter, Miss Gertrude Heenan.

Over 28 Cars Coming to Legion Convention

Legion Meeting Told of Big Motorcade from South for Convention.

There was much business transacted at the Legion meeting on Monday in the downstairs hall of the Legion building. Austin Neame occupied the chair.

Four new members were accepted and two took the obligation. Finances are in sound condition once again, due to recent activities, such as the car draw and Conklin Shows. Much correspondence was read.

All committees reported favourably and special effort is to be made to have Major Powers, minister of pensions, visit one comrade in hospital while on his visit here.

The committee in charge of float for the Dominion Day parade will have a representation of "Timmins Town Council 1912" in the procession.

The convention programme committee reported as progressing. It was difficult to secure ads, but it was thought the programme could be produced at small cost to the branch.

General business witnessed some hot discussion and no good purpose seemed to be served by the attitude taken by some members. Resolutions were passed for presentation at the convention to be held here in August.

R. Hardy received the appointment of sergeant-at-arms, but a notice of motion put forward asked for this office to be an elected one from Jan. 1938.

Mention was made that billets were needed for a great number of the visiting delegates and those who can accommodate any of the visitors are asked to state the number and rates asked, to Austin Neame or James Cowan. A motorcade of over 28 cars will be coming from Southern Ontario for the event, and this no doubt will be camped at Gilles Lake park.

Maybe Laughing at the Dictator May Help Some

(Baltimore Sun)
Before a play can be produced in Berlin a great many solemn preliminaries must be complied with. Among them is the production of birth certificates by the actors and authors to assure the citizens of the Third Reich that their appreciation of the drama will not be contaminated by non-Aryans. Such a request was received by Sinclair Lewis and Sydney Howard, co-authors of "Dodsworth," which a German impresario wanted to produce in Berlin. Herr Bartsch had to have the "antecedents" of Messrs. Lewis and Howard in writing. He got them as follows:

Dear Mr. Bartsch:
I am afraid that with deep regret we shall be unable to give you certificates guaranteeing that we are Aryan. Who knows what ancestors we may have had in the last few hundred years? We really are as ignorant of them as even Hitler is.

In answering, please use our proper legal names: Sidney Horowitz, Sinclair Levy. Yours sincerely,

Sidney Howard,
Sinclair Lewis.
Somehow we feel that "Dodsworth" has about as much chance of being produced in Berlin as the later Lewis-Howard collaboration known as "It Can't Happen Here"—about as much chance, indeed, as that this comic letter will be read by any German other than a somewhat jittery Herr Bartsch.

Rouyn Man Cracks Skull in Scuffle Sunday Night

Gregoire Hebert, of Rouyn, a lumberjack, is in the Youville hospital at Noranda suffering from a fractured skull, while Alphonse Boivert is under arrest on a charge of assault causing bodily harm. The story gathered by the police is that Hebert, under the influence of a few drinks, picked a quarrel with Boivert. Eventually Boivert hit Hebert, the police think more than once, and Hebert in falling from one of the blows struck his head with the resulting fracture of the skull. It is said that Hebert on other occasions tried to provoke a fight with Boivert. It is expected that the injured man may recover. In the meantime, however, Boivert is being held on the assault charge.

North Bay Nugget—Execution of any and all who hold views contrary to government edicts has become quite a sport in Russia. Merely a matter of establishing one-way thinking.

Salvation Army General G greets Refugees

General Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army, greeting Basque refugee children upon their arrival in London.

Central Hotel

South Porcupine's Completely Modern Hotel

Now offers the public up-to-date hotel accommodation at reasonable rates by the day, week or month. The rooms are comfortably furnished and attractively decorated. A dining room service particularly suited to the most discriminating people

Licensed purveyors of wine and beer under the Ontario Liquor Control Act, 1937

TOIVA SAARI
Proprietor

Bruce Avenue

South Porcupine