GRIEF-STRICKEN MOTHER OF SLAIN CHILD

Mrs. Floyd Stephens, mother of Jeanette, eight-year-old child who was slain with two other children after being lured into the hills near Inglewood, California, treasures her child's little doll, above, which Jeanette left in the house before the disastrous picnic.

the long body and short legs I added 5 to 7 pounds (because the body or trunk weighs more than the legs) and if of the short body and long legs type I subtracted 5 to 7 pounds.

Thus while the man of average or normal build should weigh 150 pounds, one with the long body should weigh 155 to 157 pounds and if of short body and long legs he should weigh 143 to 145 pounds. Similarly with women. The average weight for the average woman of 5 feet 4 inches is about 130 pounds and the same rule (adding or subtracting 5 pounds) according to length of legs and body applies.

Of course, the above applies to adults—men and women of about thirty years of age, as we are not "supposed" to get much heavier or lighter after the age of thirty.

However age enters into the matter from the insurance or health standpoint. Thus Dr. Milton Thorp, Nashville, Tenn., in a letter to the Editor of the American Medical Association, gives an interesting formula which conforms to the usual "standard weight" tables issued by insurance companies. "Multiply the number of inches above 5 feet, by 5 1/2 and add 110 for adults under 35 years of age. For adults over 35 years of age add 10 pounds more. Thus for a person 25 to 30 years of age and 70 inches in height, 10 times 5 1/2 plus 110 equal 165 pounds. If 35 years of age the weight should be 175 pounds."

While Dr. Thorp gives no tables for women, if we multiply every inch over 5 feet by 4 1/2 (instead of 5 1/2) and add 110 pounds, it would be about right. Thus a woman of 5 feet 4 inches, 30 years of age would weigh 4 times 4 1/2 plus 110—128 pounds; very close to 130.

Considerable Improvement Made in Floor for Saturday Night.

When Mr. Sun again peered down on the town after an absence of four days, he drew a crowd to the ball park where the Lions Club carnival is in progress, and this crowd stayed on both Friday and Saturday to enjoy the dancing for which Gordon Archibald and his orchestra supplied the music. For Saturday night, a great deal of work had been done with the floor on which the dancing took place, and it was certainly a compliment to the people who had worked on it. On Friday, of course, it was rough and still wet from the rain which had poured down on it during the past days, and the people who were present both nights remarked on the great improvement, and they all certainly had plenty of fun.

Posed as Police Officers and Seized Quantity of Beer

Cochrane, July 3.—Dorlen Bisant and Rosario Gignac were placed under suspended sentence by Magistrate E. R. Tucker in Cochrane police court when they appeared on a charge of theft committed at Smooth Rock Falls.

The theft was committed in a most peculiar and brazen manner. The two accused walked into a house at Smooth Rock Falls, represented themselves as policemen and confiscated three cases of beer which were in the house. The two men, found guilty of the theft, were ordered to make good the price of the stolen beer.

STONE THROWN THROUGH WINDOW OF MAYOR'S HOME

Among the acts of mean and malicious damage last week was the throwing of a stone and smashing a window at the home of Mayor J. P. Bartleman. It appeared a particularly mean piece of senseless damage with danger to anyone in the house who might have been near the window.

Old Home Week Dancing at the Riverside Pavilion

The Old Home week dancing at the Riverside pavilion drew to a close with the final dances on Friday and Saturday. Andy Cangiano and his orchestra supplied the music at both of these dances, a merry crowd being present to enjoy the fun. On Saturday, with the weather once more cleared up, an especially large attendance characterized the dance. Several outsiders made pleasing remarks about the smooth floor at this popular dance hall, which always draws the crowd.

Charltons have Competitive Success But Fiscal Flop

A despatch from Montreal says that Charlton Athletic's North American exhibition soccer tour was a competitive success but a fiscal flop, according to Secretary Sam Davidson of the Dominion Football Association. "Though complete figures were not available, Davidson said there would be a considerable loss on the venture. Despite box office failure, Charlton went through its United States-Canada trip without a single loss. The team wound up its visit Thursday with a 4 to 0 win over an all-Montreal squad.

Philadelphia Preparing Haven for Prizefighters

The City of Philadelphia is to have a sheltering haven for down and out prize fighters. An imposing structure of 17 rooms, which is located in the northern section of the city, has been purchased by the Veteran Boxers' Association. The organization plans to provide a free meal and a place to sleep for those members of the "ring and resin" profession who have lost their earnings and now are broken and friendless.

The association already has assets of $4,000 and a membership of 357. The funds have been raised largely through having picnics, theatre parties, etc. Any old-time pugilist can join the association, whether he is able to pay the set membership fee or not.

Governor-General to Tour Far North

Lord Tweedsmuir First Governor-General to Cross Arctic Circle.

From Quebec City last week came an interesting account of the original tour undertaken by Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada. He left Quebec on a 10,000 mile trip that will make him the first Governor-General to cross the Arctic circle. On this remarkable trip, practically all forms of summer transportation will be used, including airplanes, canoes, motor boats, automobiles and horseback riding, some of the places to be visited will be of outstanding interest. Perhaps from the tour "John Buchan" may secure material for many books.

The tour, believed the longest continuous journey ever made by a Governor-General in Canada, will take his Excellency and three members of the Government House staff down the Mackenzie River to Aklavik on that great river's delta, across a narrow strip of water by air to Herschel Island in the Beaufort Sea, and back to civilization by air.

The journey will mark the first time a Governor-General has flown on a long trip with sanction of the Government. The only other personal representative of the King known to have flown in this country is Earl Willingdon. The Willingdon's made only a few trips, however, and Lady Willingdon told newspapermen the Government asked them to stay on the ground, fearing they might be hurt.

Lord Tweedsmuir will see life on one of the nation's roughest frontiers. His boat will be an old-fashioned stern-wheeler, his fellow passengers, traders, miners, prospectors, missionaries, nurses and Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

He will be taken through the new mining fields that yield radium ores. At Aklavik he will see a town close to the shores of the Arctic where the Eskimo, gone modern, thinks nothing of the airplane, electric lights, radio and other recent developments of civilization.

At Aklavik he will tend modern hospitals, schools, churches, built and equipped with materials taken by boat more than 1,500 miles down the great river.

The two sections of the party will meet at Edmonton, Aug. 12, and go to Burns Lake in the interior of British Columbia, proceeding from there by automobile and on horseback across some of the wildest country in Canada, through Tweedsmuir Park and out to Bella Coola, near the spot where Alexander Mackenzie, the great explorer and a Scot like the Governor-General, tasted salt water and knew he had reached the Pacific on his historic march across Canada from Montreal.

Jailed After Year's Search But Slipped Away Again

Fred Brown, understood to be a trapper, who was jailed at Amos about a month ago following a search for him of a year's duration, slipped out of the jail last Monday morning and nothing has been seen of him since. He was wanted on three charges of theft of trappers' equipment which he is alleged to have taken 18 months ago at Sennerette. Since then he had hidden in the bush and the police had been on the watch for him. On being located a few weeks ago he was lodged in Amos jail to await his trial.

Two officers of the Abitibi patrol of the Quebec Provincial Police left Noranda on Wednesday to conduct a search for the fugitive.

Paid Unusual Form of Bet at Val-D'Or Last Week

(From Val d'Or News)
Entertaining aftermath of the Louis-Braddock fight in Val d'Or was the bet paid off by the losing supporter of Jim Braddock, one Jay Killoran, who at high noon on Wednesday, dressed himself in fur coat, cap, snowshoes and a cigar, and wheeled the winner of the bet, one Bill Holley, from the latter's barber shop on Main street to Whiston's store on the same dusty thoroughfare.

Watched by a large crowd of noon-hour siesta-takers the pusher of the cumbersome vehicle with its gloating passenger, found the going a little tough at Lalonde Corner, what with the cigar and snowshoes and all and finally minus snowshoes, hat, wheelbarrow and cigar he gained the safety of the busy Whiston store. The bet was declared paid and the siesta-takers went back to their siestaing.

Skylines Express Pilot Likes Haileybury Airport

(From The Haileyburian)
When Pilot Tom Williams of the Skylines Express, visited the Haileybury airport last week to re-fuel his machine, he expressed to The Haileyburian his appreciation of the facilities provided here. It made a splendid stopping place, he said, admiring the sheltered landing stage and the wide stretch of water for landing and taking off. The company maintains a daily service from Toronto to Sudbury, Matatchewan and Timmins, connecting at Kirkland Lake with its through service to Montreal and Quebec, but an occasional call is made here.

Globe and Mail:—The man accused of strangling three children in California has a police record which showed him to be a dangerous character. The man who killed the beautiful New York artist's model a few months ago has seen the inside of asylums. Others share the responsibility of their horrible crimes.

That Body of Yours
Age—Height—Weight
Many years ago, finding that the table of weights and heights didn't just seem to work out correctly in a number of cases, I tried to work out one that I thought would be more accurate. I had the records of hundreds of examinations.

I soon learned, as others had learned before me, that there are various types of individuals—the long lean and the short stout type; the long stout and the short stout type; the type with the short body and long legs; and the type with the long body and short legs. I decided therefore to strike an average weight for the man of average height—5 feet 7 inches—and for a woman of average height—5 feet, 4 inches. Then if the individual was of the type with
