Canada Leads in Use of Planes for Freight

Poundage Grows Steadily. Mining Fields Chiefly Responsible.

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—Canada leads the world in the use of aircraft for the shipment of freight and express carried by aircraft in the Dominion has grown steadily and rapidly, increasing from 2,372,467 pounds in 1931 to 25,387,719 pounds in 1936, including freight carried by provincial aircraft. Commercial aircraft during 1936 flew 7,100,401 miles and carried 22,947,105 pounds of freight and 1,107,060 pounds of mail, which was 28 per cent. more traffic than carried in 1935. The number of paying passengers carried by commercial aircraft was 97,888 and non-paying passengers numbered 11,835. The personal miles flown, including paying and non-paying passengers and crew was 18,373,117 and the miles for freight and mail was 1,155,624.

The principal activity of commercial aircraft operators in Canada during 1936 was the carriage by air of passengers, freight, and mails, to mining fields in the more remote parts of the country. Their work also included forest fire patrols, timber cruising, air photography, flying instruction, advertising, shore passenger flights, etc., in various parts of the Dominion. The freight carried consisted largely of machinery supplies, etc., for mines in the northern part of Quebec, Ontario and the western provinces and the Northwest Territories. Many of these mines are accessible only by canoe in the summer and dog team in the winter or by aircraft. In most of the mining country of the north there are numerous lakes which provide suitable landing for aircraft with floats in the summer and with skis in the winter.

At the close of 1936 there was a total of 155 air harbors in Canada, not including those under construction for the trans-Canada route. Licensed aircraft, including private flying clubs, commercial and Dominion and provincial engaged in civil aviation numbered 450 as against 380 in 1935. These do not include military aircraft.

A noteworthy feature of civil aviation in Canada during 1936 was the high degree of efficiency with which operations were carried out. Only 16 persons were killed and 21 were injured in civil aviation, of which commercial air lines were responsible for ten deaths and sixteen injured, including six mechanics injured in shops, etc. The commercial aviation averages show per one million passenger miles 0.522 passengers killed and 0.835 passengers injured, and per million crew miles, 0.569 crew killed and 0.227 crew injured.

IN MEMORIAM

KEIZER—In loving memory of our darling little girl, Bernice, who passed away to the Great Beyond, August 16th, 1935.

Our darling shines in the light of God. His likeness marks her brow. Through the valley of death her feet have trod. But she reigns in glory now. Through the shadowy veil of by-gone days We travel alone tonight. The dear little girl we loved so well Has just passed out of sight. Our hearts are sad within us Yet we thrill with a wondrous delight. For that beautiful angel in heaven Is calling "Mother" tonight. —Sadly missed by Daddy, little Brother, Jim, and "Mother".

Judges in "Pots of Gold" Contest Here

Three Prominent Citizens to Decide Winners in Weight of Ore Estimating.

There is very general interest in the original contest inaugurated by The Advance and sponsored by twenty-one of the leading merchants of the town. The contest is known as "Pots of Gold" competition, the first prize being a share in each of the producing gold mines of the Porcupine. There are other prizes in addition to this one, but the winner will have the distinction of owning a share in each of the producing mines of this area. The contest is based on the weight of the ore in glass bowls displayed in the stores of the merchants sponsoring the contest. Those bowls are of different sizes and the ore is of different types. The problem is to estimate the combined weight of all the ore in the twenty-one bowls. The rules of the contest have been published several times in The Advance. They may also be seen on the advertising material at each of the twenty-one stores sponsoring the plan. In any case that may arise that is not covered by the rules referred to the judges make decision in the matter. In all cases the decisions of the judges will be final and all contestants agree to this rule as well as to the ordinary necessary rules.

The following esteemed citizens have kindly consented to act as judges for the "Pots of Gold" contest, so all are assured of the fairest of judgment and just usage—

- Anase Seguin, barrister and solicitor, Timmins.
- M. B. Scott, of the Hollinger.
- H. C. Scarth, manager of the Imperial Bank, Timmins.

Heenan Party Spent Cold Night on Island

Plane was Forced Down on Trip to Foleyet.

Foleyet, Aug. 18.—Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, with Louis Fine, of Toronto, chief conciliation officer for the province, and Pilot Bill Emery were forced to spend the night on a small island in Lake Friday, near Laforet, when their plane engine conked out last night while they were enroute here from Toronto.

Shortly after passing over Sudbury about 6 o'clock yesterday, the plane developed engine trouble when it was 2,500 feet up in the air over Lake Friday. Pilot Emery brought the big Stinson down to a safe landing near a small island, which the party took for their headquarters until rescued.

Immediately after landing the pilot got busy on the wireless outfit, sending out messages of the location and the fact they had been forced down. An amateur, 500 miles west of the lake haven, picked up the message. He relayed a wire immediately to the Sudbury Forestry Base. Two planes were dispatched to effect the rescue. By the time these planes, piloted by Pilots Taylor and Crossley, arrived where the plane went down, it was too dark to attempt leaving there. With sleeping bags, after eating emergency rations, the party, enlarged by the two rescue pilots, spent an uncomfortable night.

The cool night air was rather chilling they said. Shortly after making headquarters on the island the party built an enormous campfire to keep warm. This morning they flew to the "Biscuiting" forestry base with the two rescue pilots and came on to Foleyet in another machine. It took three machines to convey them the 450-mile distance between this point and Toronto.

The minister of land and forests sustained a severe cut on his right leg when he fell through an old platform at the abandoned lumber camp on the island. The injury is not serious.

The big Stinson plane was left on Lake Friday with Pilot Bill Emery, and a mechanic arriving this afternoon from Toronto will make the necessary repairs. It is expected to take about two days repairing the machine.

the consumer Eats & Thinks

I see the price of meat's gone up.

My wages are not up yet, but no doubt if someone says something about it, they will.

Now that I come to think of it, these rises in wages that I get so happy about don't mean anything.

Because the amount I pay for food always increases at the same time, sometimes more than my wages.

The only way to really increase my pay, it seems to me, is to start a food shop of my own.

Then when food goes up, it'll be me makes the money out of it.

Then a rise in wages will mean something.

Eskimos Report Having Heard Noise of Engines

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 18.—Eskimos who reported hearing engines along the northern Alaska coast "four or five days ago", furnished first definite clues today in the hunt for the missing Soviet transpolar plane.

Natives, gathered at remote Barter Island to trade, told Pilot Bob Randall yesterday they heard the roar of engines and when they could sight no boat, decided it must have been an airplane.

Barter Island is on the 144th meridian, 300 miles east of Barrow. The search was halted from here yesterday by stormy weather.

The spot is 175 miles east of the 148th meridian, along which the six airmen planned to fly en route here on a 4,000 mile hop across the North Pole from Moscow.

Randall, Canadian airman flying a plane chartered by the Soviet Embassy in Washington, reported from Barrow the noise heard by the Eskimos "might have been the Russian plane."

None of the natives told of seeing the plane.

Randall, flying through murky clouds, covered the coast line between Herschel Island to Point Barrow, Alaska's northernmost tip, a distance of over 400 miles.

He said he landed "wherever I could find a native to talk to."

The Soviet plane, piloted by Sigismund Levanevsky, and carrying five others, was last heard from shortly after it crossed the Pole early Friday. Jimmy Mattern, noted American flyer, was here awaiting clearing weather to start his part of the search.
