Report on Kiwanis Camp Given Club on Monday

Boys Gain Weight and Health at Camp. Many Learn Swimming. Work of Cook and Cookie Praised. Claude Desaulniers and Team Place First in Car Ticket Sales. Ernest Stevens First for Individual Sales.

Average gain in weight of the group of boys whose period at the Kiwanis Camp ended on August 13th, was just over three pounds. During the period half of the non-swimmers in the group learned to swim. At the regular Kiwanis meeting on Monday the report of the Camp Director, giving information on camp activities, was read. Francis Duggan resigned as cookee and his place was taken by Jim Bateman. Duggan's work and the work of the cook, Albert Taylor, received high praise from the director.

Some of the boys had to be sent home and disciplinary measures taken with others. Camp life ran much more smoothly when the trouble makers were removed.

Claude Desaulniers and his team placed first in ticket sales for the automobile which was drawn for during the Kiwanis Carnival here several weeks ago. Second place in sales was taken by P. Moisey and his team and third by Phil Kinkel and his team. Highest individual sales were made by Ernest Stevens.

The report of the net proceeds of the Carnival was not yet available as many of those from whom the Kiwanians bought goods and materials necessary, have not turned in their accounts. The next meeting of the club will take the form of an open air barbecue and ladies' night to be held at the Buffalo Ankerite Mine on Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Kinkel will be host and hostess.

Hon. C. McCrea Definitely Out of Politics Now, he Says

(From Sudbury Star)
Hon. Charles McCrea, former minister of mines and member for Sudbury in the Ontario Legislature, was a visitor in Sudbury over the week-end, in connection with a number of mining properties in which he is interested in the district. He went by plane to Afton island on Lake Ramsay, played golf at the Idylwyde Golf and Country Club Sunday afternoon, and renewed acquaintances with many whom he met casually. The fact that his visit coincided with the Conservative convention this week, was merely coincidence, Mr. McCrea said.

Record High Temperature in Rouyn and Noranda Area

The first week in August was a "scorching" in Timmins and district—at least some days were—but as one local man said, "It's cool here compared to Rouyn and Noranda." He had just talked over the phone to Rouyn and had been told that the thermometer there (Saturday, Aug. 7th) stood at 104. That looked too hot to be true. Official figures in The Rouyn-Noranda Press show that the figure quoted was slightly exaggerated, or the thermometer had gone foolish with the heat. The maximum temperature on Saturday, Aug. 7th at Rouyn and Noranda was 94 degrees. The Rouyn-Noranda Press, however, notes that while 94 degrees was the official maximum, local thermometers registered much higher, some of them indeed going to 110 degrees. Unofficially then Rouyn and Noranda got a high as 110, but officially only to 94 degrees. But let no one be fooled! Ninety-four is mighty hot, officially or unofficially.

Canada's Large Show of Stamps at Toronto Fair

For the first time in the history of the C.N.E. a display of stamps will be shown. This, the Canadian National Philatelic Exhibitions, will be on the mezzanine floor of the Automotive Building. It will be the largest exhibit of stamps ever shown in Canada in one group. There will be on display Canada's rarest stamp, the twelve penny black (Scott's No. 3); also several specialized collections of prominent collectors comprised of: Canada, Bermuda, Early English, Great Britain's Postal History, France, French Colonies, Belgium, New Guinea, etc. There will also be a large number of other frames displayed by collectors. Post Office Department and stamp printers.

TAKING PRECAUTIONS
"Step up here, O'Brien, and let me have a good look at ye!"
"What's the idea?"
"I've got some insultin' things to say to ye, an' I want to be able later to identify ye positively as the man who struck me."

Woman Mayor Found West in Very Serious Condition

Mayor Barbara Hanley, of Webbwood, only woman mayor in Canada recently returned from a visit to Saskatchewan, found the farmers of the drought area in a terrible plight.

She travelled west by train to Moose Jaw, where she stopped over en route to Bounty, Sask. She also visited at Mossbank, Sask.

"Of course," she said, "there was no indication of the drought in the city of Moose Jaw, but when we got out of the city, it was so pitiful that my daughter, Ella, wept."

When she visited Saskatchewan, many Ontario buyers were already in the province buying up what cattle were left. There were no signs of feed and they were disposed to sell livestock, which they would be unable to keep.

Just Trying to Kid the Prospector from North

The following is from that ever-happy source of good yarns and amusing incidents—the "Grab Samples" column of The Northern Miner:—

A tale is going around about one of our Northern prospectors who came to town this spring, trying to raise some money to hit the bush for the summer. In the interests of economy he took a room in a private house up around Bloor street. However his regular haunt was the old stamping ground of the Northerners, the King Edward Hotel. There he parked day by day in the hope of making a contact with a "stake."

One day he met some other old-timers and they wound up in a hotel room for an all day and all evening session. Early in the morning he decided he had better go home and, once on the street, he pointed it might be a good idea if he walked all the way, to sober up a bit. Presently he discovered that the navigation was exceedingly rough. There seemed to be a heavy wind from the port quarter that kept turning him to the west. Repeatedly he rechartered his course but each time he was blown off it. Reluctantly he was forced to the conclusion that he would have to run for some port. He did not know exactly where he was but, blundering along the street he finally came to sign which read "Hospital" and he staggered up and pushed the night bell, sitting down on the step to meditate and to await whatever action the gods decreed.

Humour Proves Strong Weapon Even in Strikes

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)
A strike is usually a very serious business for both employer and employee, but there must have been many humorous incidents in connection with the recent strike epidemic in the United States—incidents which, at least temporarily, relieved the tension.

One of these was recounted by the United Press in a news item. It told of a butcher in Oklahoma City who unpicked his shop when striking employees stationed a man in front of it with a placard telling their troubles. The butcher hired a negro mammy who was said to be full of years and of ample girth, and had her walk along side the picketer, with a sign reading: "Just Married."

Magistrate Gould Holds His First Court Day Here

North Bay Relieving Magistrate Occupies Bench Here While Magistrate Atkinson on Holidays. Docket on Tuesday Was Comparatively Light. Assault Case Main Item.

Magistrate M. G. Gould, of North Bay, conducted his first court session here on Tuesday afternoon. Through arrangements made by the provincial government, Magistrate Atkinson, who regularly handles the Timmins court, is having an official holiday, the first since he has been off the bench. During his absence Mr. Gould has been appointed special magistrate.

Remanded cases and pleas of guilty shortened the court session considerably on Tuesday. The one criminal case of any import was that of Sylvia Asselin and Mrs. Florence Lebrun, of Mounjoy township who were charged under the same information with common assault. They were alleged to have assaulted Louis Pelletier by striking him on the face, kicking him on the body and scratching his neck. After hearing the evidence, Magistrate Gould dismissed the charges.

Through an interpreter Pelletier, an elderly man, testified that Albert Lebrun, who was charged under the same information with assault, but who did not appear in court, came to his house and struck one of his boarders who was sitting on the verandah. The boarder fell on his back, said Pelletier, and he caught Lebrun to restrain him. While he was on the ground, scuffling with Lebrun, Asselin kicked him and punched him on the head and Mrs. Lebrun grabbed him and scratched his neck.

"I still have marks," said Pelletier. He wanted to show the court the marks on his back where he was kicked but the magistrate and court officials modestly declined.

"You had no marks on your back and neck next morning, did you?" asked Asselin. The complainant said that he did have. Mrs. Lebrun asked Pelletier how he could see who kicked or scratched him while he was scuffling on the ground, in the dark, with Lebrun. The question rather stumped the witness, who, after a long interval, replied, "I saw him."

Maurice Rioux said that he saw Asselin kick Pelletier twice while he was on the ground. Mrs. Lebrun grabbed the complainant by the shirt tail and pulled.

Denied Hitting Pelletier
Asselin denied that he hit Pelletier. He said that Lebrun struck him and that two of them were fighting on the ground but he did not interfere. Pelletier started to fight with another man and then progressed to the scuffle with Lebrun.

Mrs. Lebrun brought out the fact that Pelletier was "tight." His wife tried to pull him off Lebrun but he was too "tight" to effect a rescue, the witness said. She denied that she had scratched or hit Pelletier. She tried to pull him off but did not strike him.

Charge Withdrawn
Ernest Albert, who was charged last week with being drunk, and who was given a week to bring medical proof of his testimony that he was not given to drink but to epileptic seizures, again appeared in court. A letter was produced from a physician in Quebec and another from a Timmins doctor backing Albert's statement that he was an epileptic. The charge against him was withdrawn.

Fred Snell entered a plea of guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $5 and costs or ten days. On the same charge Hans Kristensen was given suspended sentence and told to get out of town. His home was not in Timmins. Also convicted of disorderly conduct William Jackola was fined $5 and costs or given the alternative of ten days.

Reckless Driving Charges
James H. Peterson was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving and Eugene Lauzon was assessed $25 and costs for the same offence. Pete St. Pierre and Harry Tremblay were charged with reckless driving but were given a weeks remand.

Charges of drunkenness against two men were withdrawn while another was fined $10 and costs.

Charges of theft against Ben Crossette and Hildegarde Martel were remanded for a week.

A week's remand was given Kenneth McLean, charged with the wilful destruction of property, and a similar charge against Kalle Ahola was withdrawn.

There were eleven wage charges under the Master and Servants Act. John Majnarick was ordered to pay Oscar Neveu wages of $20.45 and Oliva Neveu wages of $14. Mike Balek was given eight days to pay Barbara Pustine wages of $13.85, and Oscar Brisette was given the same time to pay pages of $5.10 to Sylvio Boyer. Brisette was also ordered to pay Albert Dumoulin $28.60. There were four charges against Brisette. Only two of them were heard. Percy Reitapple was given a week's adjournment in a charge under the same act against him, and Allen McLeod was ordered to pay $15. A week's adjournment was given John Szenoski and a charge against Homer Goulet was withdrawn. Both were charged under the Master and Servants Act.
