Asking for Change in Date of Assizes

Haileybury Lawyer Taking Matter up with Chief Justice Rose to Avoid Disfranchisement of Many.

Haileybury, Aug. 31.—Because of the conflict of dates between the Ontario general election and the sittings of the Assizes here, J. A. Legris, K.C., president of the Temiskaming Law Association, has taken up with Osgoode Hall the possibility of postponing the court sessions for a week or two later than the scheduled date of October 4 in Haileybury. Mr. Legris wrote to Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., chief justice of Ontario, in the matter, but the answer intimated the matter came within the jurisdiction of Hon. Hugh Rose, chief justice of the High Court, who is at present in Europe and will not be home until September 11. The question, however, will be taken up with him immediately on his return, it was stated by Mr. Legris.

In his letter making the request, Mr. Legris pointed out that already there were six criminal cases, four jury civil actions and a half dozen non-jury cases down for disposal at the court, over which Mr. Justice Hogg is to preside. Mr. Legris noted that the worst feature of the present situation is that approximately 100 persons, he estimated, would be virtually disfranchised if the present dates stood, because their presence would be required here and they would not be able to return to their homes, where these are at any distance, to vote.

He asked for early action in order that if the request were granted the sheriff's work in subpoenaing jurors and others would be facilitated.

Mr. Legris, using the lengthy civil list as a basis, also asked that a special non-jury court be arranged to meet the requirements of litigants in the district. He noted such an arrangement had been permitted before when representations had been made on the heavy lists set down for one sitting, but stated the schedule of courts provides for only one session this fall. The calendar of judicial appointment provides the information that the Fall Assizes are scheduled to open at Sault Ste. Marie and North Bay on October 4, also, with Cochrane, Assizes due to start the following day.

Fire Chief Maxwell-Smith, of South Porcupine, Elected as Second Vice-President.

South Porcupine, Ont., Sept. 1st, 1937. Special to The Advance.

Having just returned from Oshawa where we attended this convention, the following notes at first hand may prove interesting.

A very large list of delegates registered, from west as far as Edmonton, east to Halifax, and north to Cochrane. The president, Chief C. DeFields, (who by the way asked us first of all whether the roads in the North had improved—he came up here last year to attend the Temiskaming Firemen's convention in South Porcupine), presided, supported by Chief Hartley, of Brockville (1st vice-president) and Chief H. Longval (2nd vice-president) of Shawinigan Falls, with Chief Jas.
