

Does Pasteurizing Less Value of Milk?

Health Experts Reply that Nutritional Value is Practically Unchanged.

(By J. W. S. McCullough, M.D., D.P.H.) Doctor Reedman of the School of Hygiene, University of Toronto, says ization, that the most recent studies show that the nutritional value of milk is practically unchanged by properly conducted pasteurization, while Wilson, Minett and Carling in the Journal of Hygiene publish their findings of carefully controlled observations showing that the

From Iroquois Falls ten years ago came the story illustrating the ingratitude of some people for kindness shown them. A Ford car was stalled by the side of the road near Val Gagne, when an Iroquois Falls car came along. The young man driving the Falls car was connected with a garage in the Paper Town and after noting that the Ford would have to be taken to a shop for repairs, he invited the passengers to get into his car and he would run them into town, and then if they wished he would return and get their car so that it could be repaired. This was agreed to and the young man carried out his part of the agreement with efficiency, kindness and promptness. The Ford was left by the side of the road while the tourists were carried to town and then the chauffeur went back and secured the Ford, which was then repaired at the garage. The people in the Ford had the Iroquois Falls young man arrested en a charge of theft, claiming that he must have stolen a couple of grips that were in the Ford. The young man | Kellogg in London.

How to Keep Friends in the Warm Election Time

(From Brampton Conservator) Not long before his death the late Hon. Thomas Norris, a former premier of Manitoba, told us the following story. Mr. Norris was a native of Peel. His father, who was an ardent Liberal, was a close friend of the late James Scott. a local merchant, and an equally enthusiastic Conservative. Mr. Norris was in the habit of making purchases weekly at Mr. Scott's store. An election contest was in progress. Instead of giving the usual order Mr. Norris purchased four times the regular quantity. Ask why the great increase he replied: "Jim, you and I are good friends. I want the friendship to continue. If I come in here during the next three weeks you'll be talking some of this Tory stuff. I'll get mad and lick you. That's the reason. Get this order ready and I'll see you when the contest is over." Which gives one the idea that in those days party feeling ran as high as it does today. Moral: If you fear a break in old friendships order a month's supply of provisions as soon as the writs are issued, stay at home and be at peace with all parties.
