Unemployed Men Should Broaden, Speaker Says

Older and More Experienced Men Could be of Great Value but Could Also be Worse Than Useless. Training School for Girls for Domestic Work Urged for Timmins.

"How Old Are You?" was the subject of an address given the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting on Monday by Percy A. Boyce, Principal of Schumacher Public School.

It was difficult, pointed out Mr. Boyce, to find a job for a man forty years of age. It grew more difficult as the man's age increased.

An older and more experienced man could be of great value but he also could be worse than useless.

An elderly man should do specific things. He should broaden out but guard against broadening too much and thereby spreading his activities too thin. A man was as old as he was able to think and do, rather than the number of years he lived.

A man should take stock of himself, thought the speaker. He asked the members of his audience to ask themselves in what they believed. In what did they believe in religion, education. He advised his hearers to list the things in which they actually believed and thought about.

Men should get down to the business of thinking. Character should have length, width, height and depth. Men were as old as they thought deeply.

Mr. W. W. Tanner, Principal of the Timmins High and Vocational School, thanked Mr. Boyce for his address. Mr. Tanner reported on the Vocational guidance committee. He recalled that a Dominion commission had been appointed to deal with the question of re-employment for young men who were out of employment or who were unemployable through years of inactivity.

The commission had advised that a sum of money be apportioned from the Dominion government and that the amount be equalled by a contribution from the Ontario government. It would be administered by the Department of Labour.

Recently, said Mr. Tanner, he noticed that the Department of Mines was going to train 50 young men for positions in mines. They would receive $10 a week for maintenance while training.

The Department of Welfare had begun a programme for educating girls for domestic work. Six centres were to be established and Mr. Tanner thought that no better place could be chosen to establish one than Timmins.

In Timmins there were no factories or places where girls not educated to do house or office work might find employment. There was a scarcity of girls to do domestic work and if a number were trained here they would be assured of employment after their course.

Guests at the meeting were Charles Irvin, of Toronto; Wyatt C. Irvin, of Timmins, and Albert Houle, of Timmins.

Four Former Cobalt Men are Candidates

Thomas Church was Born in Cobalt. Now Candidate in South Cochrane.

Cobalt, Sept. 23.—(Special to The Advance)—The names of four former citizens of Cobalt, one of whom was born in the camp, and who, in the periods of their residence here, played various parts in the life of the community, appear in the list of candidates already nominated to contest the Ontario general election on October 6 next. The quartet, now living in other parts of the province, and who represent three political schools of thought, are Rcscoe S. Rodd, K.C., running as C.C.F. candidate in the Windsor district, A. Kelso Roberts, Conservative candidate in St. Patrick's riding, Toronto, Joseph E. Cholette, designated by Ontario Liberal headquarters as the accredited party candidate in Nipissing, and Thomas Church, running under Farmer-Labor auspices in the riding of South Cochrane. Mr. Church is the native son, having been born here while his father was employed at the old Cobalt Lake property. Their home now is in Kirkland Lake.

Further, Mr. Roberts, in securing the nomination in his riding, defeated another man with a long connection with the Cobalt camp in Hugh H. Sutherland, connected with the well-known La Rce mine for many years. Mr. Roberts practised law here for a time some years ago and was town solicitor. Later, he went to Kirkland Lake and then to Toronto, where he specializes in mining law. Mr. Cholette, former member of the Cobalt town council, conducted a grocery store on Lang street before moving to North Bay, where he now lives. Mr. Rodd is a son of the late W. R. Rodd, for years since the early days in business as a shoe merchant here, and the son spent his earlier life in town. Mr. Rodd is also president of the Ontario Prohibition Union, and his late father was actively connected with the Committee of One Hundred during the O.T.A. agitation.

Boy Scouts Apple Day on October 9th

Annual Event to Aid Two Worthy Causes.

The Boy Scouts are world famous for their "Good Deeds." Each Boy Scout is expected to do some "good deed" each day and it would be surprising how many of the lads keep constantly well ahead of their schedule in this respect. Few adults would be able to equal any of the boys in the matter of daily good deed. A striking example of this tendency to "good deeds" may be noted in connection with the annual Apple Day held by the Boy Scouts throughout the Dominion. The avowed purpose of Apple Day is to raise money for the various purposes of the organization. This year the funds from Apple Day are to go to Dominion headquarters of the Boy Scouts to be used to pay registration fees. The money gathered thus is used to send executives to places where there are no Boy Scout troops organized. This in itself is a "good deed." But that doesn't half tell the story. In the first place the Boy Scouts made the one "good deed" breed other good deeds. The Apple Day naturally helps the apple growing industry, as the boys are earnest and effective salesmen and the Apple Day very naturally stimulates the apple business as the boys sell a large number of apples in Ontario. That may be classed as good deed No. 2. Next the apples make excellent health food or the buyers, their tendency being to pleasant eating and health to the people. That makes good deed No. 3.

Apple Day this year is on Saturday, October 9th. On that day—all day—the Boy Scouts will be out on the streets selling attractive specimens of Ontario apples. Everyone who buys an apple—and everyone anyone buys an apple, there will be three or more good deeds recorded—the Boy Scouts will be helped in their finances, the boys will profit by receiving pleasing, healthful food, the Ontario apple industry will receive encouragement and support. Remember Apple Day, Saturday, Oct. 9th, and help the boys and their other commendable "good deeds" for the day.

Season of Harvest the Theme at St. Matthew's

The season of harvest will be the theme of the services in St. Matthew's church next Sunday, when the special music and decorations will blend with the spirit of thanksgiving which especially characterizes these services year by year. The Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8.30 a.m., and the other services will be held at the usual hours of 11.00 a.m. and 7.00 p.m.

Huntingdon Gleamer—A young couple in Aberdeen have been forbidden by their landlord to have any children. If they do they must leave the house. The identity of the couple is being kept secret, but the matter has aroused tremendous indignation and is being investigated by the Aberdeen House Proprietors' and Factors' Association.

There were forty-four cases on the docket for police court on Tuesday, aside from charges against juveniles. Because many of those charged pleaded guilty and paid fines before court, the session was less than two hours long.

Most of the two hours was taken up with traffic charges. Twenty-two defendants paid fines for charges ranging from failing to have proper equipment to reckless driving.

Fined For Reckless Driving
Elmo Kallio contested a charge of reckless driving against him but was convicted and fined $10 and costs. Norman Lawson was the first witness for the prosecution. He said that he was a passenger in a car that was involved in an accident at the corner of Commercial and Preston avenues.

The automobile in which he was riding, said Lawson, slowed down at the intersection, and when it was half way across, he saw two glaring headlights. Before he knew it the car in which he was riding was over.

Charles Percival, driver of the automobile, said that he looked both ways when he arrived at the intersection and saw no one. He was half way across before he saw the lights of the other machine which hit his car broadside. "He was practically on top of me before I saw him," he said.

The accused man had not been drinking, said Constable Thompson. When police arrived the Percival car had been turned on its side and righted again. The officer produced a plan and Magistrate Atkinson had Percival and other interested witnesses up explaining on it the directions in which the two cars were travelling.

A passenger in Kallio's automobile, E. J. Brunette said that he saw Percival's car while they were still thirty feet from the intersection. Kallio slowed, saw Percival hesitate at the intersection and apparently assumed that he was to cross first. When they got to the centre of the intersection the Percival car spurred ahead and they struck it in the middle. Brunette admitted that Percival had the right of way.

Mrs. Brunette corroborated her husband's evidence and Kallio's story was substantially the same. At the conclusion of Kallio's evidence Magistrate Atkinson asked him: "If you had given the right of way there never would have been an accident would there?"

Kallio did not reply and His Worship said: "I will take your reply for assent."

Summing the case, counsel for the defence, A. Wetmore, said that all he wanted was justice.

"That is all you will get. And I don't want remarks like that. $10 and costs," said Magistrate Atkinson. The fine with costs came to $21.

"Another Dive," Says Magistrate

Fred Gates received a term of three months hard labour when he was convicted of keeping liquor for sale. His residence will be made a public place for a year.

In this police again used the system that has before obtained convictions for them. An officer went into the witness box and gave a long, detailed list of the results of several days' observation of places in question, complete with details of all visitors.

Constable Guolla told of observing Gates' house from September 1 to September 8. He told of many visitors coming in and out of the house at all hours of the night. Police looked in the windows and saw men and women drinking beer. They even saw the proprietor receive payment for beer.

On September 8 the place was raided. Three men were in the kitchen drinking beer and three more were in the front room of the house engaged in the same pastime. One man was seen to take a mouthful of beer.

A case of beer, an extra pint and a bottle of wine was found in the proprietor's bedroom. A roomer was awakened and asked if he had beer in his room. He drowsily replied in the negative.

Said His Worship: "This is just another of those dives." He passed sentence.

Dismisses Reckless Driving
Fred Pugsley was freed of a charge of reckless driving when the Magistrate found no concrete evidence of the offense.

Constable Guolla said that he went to Sixth avenue and Maple street intersection where there was an accident. He found Pugsley's car in the centre of the road. Pugsley himself was uncertain in his speech and unsteady on his feet so the constable assumed that he was under the influence of liquor.

Sergt. Devine gave similar evidence, but admitted that Pugsley did not appear intoxicated when he left the station half an hour afterwards.

The magistrate ascertained that police had no more evidence of the actual nature of the accident and dismissed the charge. He was not interested, he said, in whether or not Pugsley had been drinking. There was no evidence that he had driven recklessly.

Tries to Thwart Dogcatcher
His efforts to thwart the dogcatcher cost A. Leblond $5 and costs of $8.75. (Continued on Page Eight)
